Morgan, ranks depleted, on hand for bowl test

By SAM LACY

ATLANTIC CITY — A band of Morgan State College football youngsters, their faces masked in grim determination, worked out here this morning (Friday) as a final preparation for Saturday's Boardwalk Bowl contest with favored Delaware University.

The Conventional Hall playing field, where the bowl battle is to be staged, was made available to the two teams for their two final preps. The Bears drilled Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m., after Delaware's 10 a.m., morning practice. The order was reversed for Friday, with Morgan taking the field at 10 a.m., and the Blue Hens drilling at 2 o'clock.

• • •

The Morgan aggregation from head coach Earl Banks all the way down the roster, are constantly aware of a handicap they inherited when the school accepted the invitation to play here.

Since the game is played under National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) sanction, Morgan's use of her freshman playuse has been prohibited. As a result, six youngsters who played an important role in the Bears compilation of an 8-1 log for the season, cannot play.

Included among the first-year men ineligible to compete are tight end Greg Latta, flanker Curtis Davis, fullback Jimmy Joe, defensive guard Willie Melton, and defensive ends Jeff May and Clarence Seaford.

Latta will be sorely missed in the Morgan offense. He was the second leading Bear receiver and third in scoring behind junior Ron Mayo and Craig Gee.

• • •

In coach Earl Banks' revised starting offensive lineup, junior Richard Jackson of Baltimore, will be at tight end, and sophomore Wayne Jackson will open at fullback.

The rest of the lineup will show tackle Harold Bell, who is slated to be honored as "Small College Player of the Year" at the Pigskin Club banquet in Washington, D.C., tonight, (Friday); tackle Larry Watson, guards Ron Grant and Bruce Caraway, center Rollie Washington;

Quarterback Dave Freeland, and halfbacks John Sykes and Jimmy Lewis.

• • •

Delaware is easily the toughest foe the Bears have encountered in the last decade.

Ranked eighth among the nation's small college elevens, the Blue Hens have whipped the likes of Villanova, Lehigh, Bucknell and Temple.

They also are the defending Boardwalk Bowl champions, having defeated North Carolina Central of the CIAA, in the 1969 contest here.

6 colleges bolt CIAA, Hill heads new league

Six former members of the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA) formally ratified their break with the conference at a series of meetings Tuesday at the Shoreham Hotel in Washington, D.C.

The six schools — Howard University, Morgan State College, North Carolina Central University, University of Maryland, Eastern Shore; A and T State University, and Delaware State — joined with South Carolina State College of Orangeburg, S.C., to form the new Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference (MEAC).

• • •

Elected president of the new body was Talmadge (Marse) Hill of Morgan State College, Baltimore. Dr. Leroy T. Walker of North Carolina Central, was named interim commissioner, and Albert Smith of A and T, was elected vice president.

Present at the initial meeting were Coach Bill McLendon, former coach and athletic director at two CIAA schools and later with Olympic basketball teams and professional quints at Cleveland and Denver. There had been some speculation that he was under consideration for the commissioner's post at a salary of $18,000 a year.

• • •

Members of the new organization are pledged to field teams in eight sports at the varsity level, with scheduling beginning in the fall of 1971.

Aside from the recognized major sports of football, basketball and track, teams are to be entered in competition in baseball, tennis, swimming, golf, wrestling and lacrosse.

With exception of Morgan and North Carolina Central, all the schools in the new conference already were involved in baseball. Both the Bears and Eagles are now required to take to the diamond.

Lacrosse will be a relatively new undertaking, but delegates to the convention expressed the feeling that it is a growing sport on campus, and that it will help complete a well-rounded program . . . SAM LACY.

DARTMOUTH CAPTAIN — Stu Simms, former star at Gilman School in Baltimore, has been elected co-captain, along with Wayne Young of Tarrytown, N.Y., of the Dartmouth College football team for 1971. The 6-1, 215-pound Simms was a fullback on this year's unbeaten Indians eleven. Young was a linebacker.

When they're looking up to you, are they really looking down at you?

The station wagon on the left is known in some circles as a status symbol.

The station wagon on the right is known in the same circles as a mistake.

Now the status symbol is long and low and really quite beautiful.

Whereas the Volkswagen is short and high and really quite ugly.

The status symbol features a powerful engine.

A Volkswagen engine is not as powerful, but it'll go farther on a gallon of gas.

The status symbol boasts roughly 88 cubic feet of carrying space.

The Volkswagen has twice that amount, 176 cubic feet.

Conclusion:

If you're looking for something to show how big you are, then we suggest you get yourself a status symbol.

But if you're looking for something that's just plain big, then maybe it wasn't us who made the mistake after all.

Syracuse probe supports 'racism' rap by gridders

Syracuse, N.Y. (UPI) — A special committee has reported that it found "real, chronic" racism in the Syracuse University athletic department, but said it was mostly unintentional and common to American athletics in general.

The 12-member group recommended reinstatment of eight black football players suspended from the team for a boycott last spring to demand a black assistant coach.

The group also recommended Chancellor John E. Corbally Jr. "use his power to eliminate all racist practices which wither overtly or covertly threaten minority groups."

Head football coach Floyd "Ben" Schwartzwalder said he preferred not to comment.

The faculty-student-administration committee heard 40 witnesses in its 10-week study of the racial dispute. When the black athletics and the administration failed to reach an accord, the eight, including ground gainer Al Newton, stayed off the squad this season.

The panel said the school should attempt to have them "red shirted" to make them eligible to play another year.

The committee found no black players' complaints of name-calling and harassment, but said it could not substantiate charges of discrimination in medical treatment, team positions, discipline, academic advisement or recruiting.

However, it criticized the athletic department for showing an "unwarranted insensitivity" and not acting promptly on the blacks' demand for an assistant coach.

• • •

The report concluded "that racism in the Syracuse University athletic department is real, chronic, largely unintentional, and sustained and complicated unwittingly by many modes of behavior common in American athletics and long-standing at Syracuse University."

It also recommended several organizational changes to improve communications in such instances.

Birds open '71 season Apr. 7

The world champion Orioles will open their 18th season Wednesday afternoon, April 7 against the Washington Senators in Memorial Stadium, it was announced Thursday by executive vice-president J. Frank Cashen.

This will be the seventh time the Trioles have opened a season at home.

The 81-game schedule which comprises 76 playing dates will include 58 single night games plus three twi-night doubleheaders, eight afternoon games, two Sunday doubleheaders, and five Sunday twilight single games in mid-summer.

Cashen also advised that ticket prices for next year will remain the same as in 1970.

The Birds are scheduled at home for eight of their first 11 games.

After the opener vs. Washington, they will host Billy Martin's Detroit Tigers over the first weekend of the season in a four game series climaxed with a doubleheader on Sunday, the 11th.

Then after a mid-week series in Cleveland, the Orioles will return to entertain the Yankees in a three game set, Friday thru Sunday, April 16 to 18.

Clips eye revenge on Kings tonight

Although the Western Division leading Baltimore Clippers own a 3-1 series edge over the Springfield Kings, coach Terry Rearden's club has plenty of incentive factors available to spur them on in tonight's (Friday) clash at the Civic Center.

After turning back the Kings three straight times here in Baltimore, Rearden's Raiders took a season high pasting of 8-0 in the most recent meeting between the two rivals last Friday in Springfield.

The drubbing came just after the local heroes had scored straight road wins against Montreal in Halifax, and to say Clipper players, officials and fans were somewhat dismayed is putting it mildly.

After all, you don't lose 8-0 games in ice hockey very often.

The worst Clip loss, however, was a 10-zip beaut in Quebec, March 12, 1967, and that was Baltimore's best team until the current one. So, it can happen to the best.

Ashe defeated by Rod Laver

TOKYO (UPI) — Rod Laver of Australia outplayed Arthur Ashe of Gum Spring, Va., Wednesday to gain his second straight victory in the third day of the International Lawn Tennis Federation's (ILTF) $50,000 Masters tournament.

Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif. won an easy victory over Jan Kodes or Czechoslovakia for his second win in the six-day round robin tournament.

• • •

Laver, whose record is now 2-1, needs to pick up at least second place money ($9,000) in the tournament to earn more than $200,000 this year. First place money is $15,000.

Laver won 6-4, 6-2 over Ashe, who appeared to be off his usual form. His serve was effective, but he repeatedly missed easy shots.

An enthusiastic crowd of an estimated 6,000 turned out for the matches at the Tokyo Municipal Auditorium.

Union cagers to play 3 games before break

Virginia's CIAA teams have a light schedule for the rest of the month with exams and Christmas vacation, but Virginia Union University's Panthers have three games on the road before the holiday break.

The Panthers will take on the University of Maryland at Eastern Shore Friday, Dec. 11 at 8:30 p.m. in Princess Anne, Md., then travel to Baltimore Saturday, Dec. 12 to take a shot at Morgan State at 8 p.m.

The following Friday, Dec. 18, the Union players will challenge Howard University in Washington, D.C. at 8:15.

Virginia State has two classes on tap, Thursday, Dec. 10, the Trojans will play Howard at 7:30 p.m. in Petersburg, but will travel to Norfolk State Friday, Dec. 11 for an 8 p.m. game.

Hampton Institute will be in Oswego, N.Y., Dec. 11-12 to participate in the May Zel Basketball Classic.

A full schedule for Virginia and Washington, D.C. teams for December follows:

Dec. 10 — Va. State versus Howard in Petersburg, 7:30.

• • •

Dec. 11 — Delaware State versus St. Paul's in Dover, Del., 8; Hampton in Oswego, N.Y., 7; Norfolk State versus Va. State in Norfolk, 8; Univ. Md. at Eastern Shore versus Va. Union in Princess Anne, Md., 8:30.

Annual Christmas program at Coppin

On Friday, December 18, 1970 at 8:00 p.m., Coppin State College will present its Annual Christmas Program in the Pullen Gymnasium on the campus.

This yearly program will feature the College Choir, the Coppin Players, the Coppin Dancers, and the Instrumental Ensemble in a seasonal play, music and dance.

The choir and dancers are under the direction of Henry N. Freeman and Jerlun A. Manuel, respectively, both of whom have just returned to the college after a year's leave of absence for study in New York City. Miss Manuel was enrolled at New York University while Mr. Freeman studied at Columbia University.

Coppin Players are directed by Guilbert A. Daley University of America and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

The instrumental ensemble is directed by Ruffie London, clarinetist, who is serving his first year as a member of the Coppin faculty. Formerly, he was on the staff of the famed Florida A and M University band. He is a graduate of Florida A. and M. and Columbia Universities.

In recent years, these groups have performed throughout Maryland before educational, civic and religios groups. In addition, the choir has been seen several times over local television stations and heard in special programs on radio.

The program is open to the public.

Bear star D.C. honoree

WASHINGTON — Morgan State College tackle Harold Bell will be honored here tonight (Friday) at the annual Pigskin Club banquet at the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

Bell will be cited as "Small College Player of the Year."

He will occupy the dais along with such outstanding football names as Heisman Trophy winner Jim Plunkett of Stanford, and college coach of the year John Blackmon of Dartmouth.

Bell, a 275-pound, 6-4 senior from Dallas, Texas, will be flown to Atlantic City, N.J., immediately after receiving the award. He is scheduled to be in the Morgan lineup tomorrow (Saturday) when the Bears oppose the Delaware University Blue Hens in the Boardwalk Bowl.

Fired-up Bullets set for Warrior invasion

Baltimore is in the weakest division of the league.

And to back this up, critics are pointing to the fact that the Warriors, whose

Irked by constant reference to their indifferent record, the Bullets make no secret of the fact they are anxiously awaiting tomorrow's (Saturday) confrontation with the San Francisco Warriors.

The fired-up local five put it all together before the season's largest Civic Center crowd (10,655) Wednesday night, to wallop the classy Milwaukee Bucks, 127-97, but this gave them only partial satisfaction.

• • •

"I have just a feeling we're ready to move now," says Gus Johnson, the Bullets' handyman who never is at a loss for words whether it be praising the opposition or lambasting a lackadaisical teammate.

"You see the Warriors and what they did at the same time we were winning," Gus adds. "They bout the Pistons (110-99), who were as hot as Milwaukee a couple weeks ago, and Jerry (Lucas) and Jeff (Mullins) seem to be back in shape.

"That's why I'm looking forward to beating them now."

• • •

Aspersions have been cast on the Bullets' play this season, despite the fact they are leading their division in the NBA, by five games. Point is made that 16-14 record is just a game and a half behind the Bullets' log, are no better than third in their division, five games behind the leader, Milwaukee.

• • •

In Wednesday's victory, Kevin Loughery sparked a 40-point second quarter that blew out the Bucks' hopes.

Loughery accounted for 20 points in the second period, scoring eight points and adding six assists, as the Bullets spurted from a 30-22 first quarter lead to a 70-44 halftime bulge.

Wes Unseld, who hit his first nine shots, tied Jack Marin for game honors with 25 points. Earl Monroe scored 24 points, matching Lew Alcindor's total for Milwaukee, now 21-4.

Weightlift meet Sunday at Webb

The 6th annual power-lift weightlifting championships Chick Webb Recreation will be held Sunday at Center, commencing at 2 o'clock.

The pre-teen division will compete in squat and bench press lifts.

In the 13-19 teenage division, best-team and best-lifter awards will be contested for in squat and bench-press lifts.

And the same events will be held in the young adult class, comprised of contestants 20 years of age and over.
