Joy to the world, the Lord is come!

Christmas Greetings

TO THE MEMBERS AND FRIENDS OF

ISRAEL BAPTIST CHURCH

PRESTON AND CHESTER STREETS

"I will give you pastors according to mine heart, who shall feed you with knowledge and understanding"

Your Pastor Is The Gift of God

To tell you about His Book with pages fair,
To help you discover His will for you written there,
To tell you of the love of God manifested by His Son,
To magnify His Gift to us, the only Begotten One;
To tell you of a child born the greatest Gift of all
To praise with you the name which shall never cease,
Wonderful, Counsellor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father,
The Prince of peace, on Whom we may ever call;
To tell you of your neighbor who is often down and out,
To tell you that he is your brother no matter how you pout,
To tell you a deed of kindness, be it great or small,
To tell you of a good Samaritan who shows his love to all;
To tell you of a cross high upon a hill,
To tell you no man took the life of Jesus, He gave it with a will
To tell you of a word He uttered as our Lord,
To tell you the centurion said, "Truly this was the Son of God";
To tell you Jesus died, was buried, and rose again,
To tell you at God's right hand He intercedes for men,
To tell you He loves little childrens and blesses them by the way,
To tell you that humility shall receive its reward some day;
To tell you of the song the Angelic Choir did sing, "Glory to God in the highest on earth peace, good will toward men",
To tell you of a kingdom Jesus came to bring,
To tell you all who enter there must be born again;
To tell you I wish it were possible for me to be in your home today,
To share your joys of Christmas in the good old-fashioned way,
To tell you how I feel after thirty-two years complete,
To tell you your service through the years has been to me a treat.

000 plus a promise for an additional $50,000 from an anonymous donor.

At a meeting held a week ago Friday, 29 of the 32-member executive board of NOBC were present. They unanimously voted to investigate:

1 Federal and state aid to non-public schools.

2) The treatment of black students in Catholic schools. (Brother Davis said that this will be an intensive investigation, and it has already begun in Philadelphia, where the problem is too critical on high school levels.)

3) The Commission for Catholic Mission Among the Colored People and the Indians, an agency that has been in existence since 1800 A.D., which collects annually more than $2.5 million in church contributions.

* * *

According to Bro. Davis, the Commission is headed by an all-white decision-making body which excludes blacks and Indians from it.

On the investigation of the federal and state aid to non-public schools, Davis said that "NOBC will not support aid to Catholic schools unless the aid is in the interests of the black students."

Sr. Martin de Porres, president of the National Black Sisters Conference, also was present at the Monday press conference.

* * *

Meantime, another catholic group, leaders of the Emmaus House of New York, joined a coalition of peace groups sponsoring a 24-hour fast-vigil in front of the Justice Department in Washington.

The vigil began at 3 p.m. today (Friday) with an ecclesiastical procession from First Congregational Church and march to the Justice Department.

Those remaining for the fast and vigil are being commissioned with ashes on their foreheads made from papers symbolic of the present war policy. A tiger cage will be set up as a symbol of American toleration of political repression in America and Vietnam.

At 3 p.m. Saturday the vigil will conclude with a celebration led by Bishop Antulio Parrilla Bonilla the Puerto Rican bishop who often visits prisoners in the U.S.

Other concelebrants include Phillip Linden, SSJ, priest at St. Frances Xavier Church in Baltimore; and Richard McSorley, SJ of Georgetown University.

Mrs. Santa will give you the name of a needy family, or you may send Mrs. Santa a contribution (cash only-no food or toys), and she will use your contribution to help the neediest ones on her list.

Vanlanbingham services held

Funeral services for Benjamin L. Vanlanbingham, 66, 2325 Mosher St., will be held noon Saturday at Christ United Methodist Church. Burial will be in Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. Vanlanbingham died suddenly Wednesday in the North Arundel Hospital after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage.

He retired recently as an employee of the Coast Guard Yard, Curtis Bay, after 24 years of service. He also worked at Caplan's Drug Store.

He was born in Baltimore and educated in the public schools. He attended Clinton College, Rockhill, S.C.

He was a member of Waters AME Church for 30 years.

Remembered by his family as one who enjoyed people of all ages, he often assisted in community and church affairs.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Corinne Vanlanbingham; one brother, Alonzo Vanlanbingham; three sisters, Mrs. Beatrice E. Smith, Mrs. Elease L. Arrington, and Mrs. Nova V. Bell; and three brothers-in-law.

The Charles Law Funeral Home is in charge.

New HEW Rule To Aid Minors

WASHINGTON — Individuals under 21 eligible for help under the Federal-State Medicaid program will be screened and treated for health defects under proposed rules announced recently by John D. Twiname, administrator of HEW's Social and Rehabilitation Service.

Proposed regulations which appeared in the Federal Register will require State Medicaid agencies to spearhead the comprehensive planning necessary to make services available to accomplish the screening and treatment.

LAST RITES for Miss Frances Marion Reid, 70, retired Douglass High School teacher, were held Thursday at St. James Episcopal Church. Miss Reid, who taught home economics in Baltimore schools 43 years, was a charter member of the Epsilon Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and a member of the DuBois Circle, Baltimores oldest literary women's club.

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. Fayetteville State University has been selected as a site to give the Graduate Record Examination, Miss Dorcas Bradley, academic counselor, announced recently. Miss Bradley said that seniors at the institution will be permitted to take the examination free and the first testing date will be Jan. 16.

Correction

A photo and caption appearing in Friday's issue incorrectly stated that the Baltimore chapter, Tots and Teens Inc., gave $200 to the Anna Mae Hunter Home for the Blind. The correct contribution was $700. The AFRO regrets the error.

Last rites today for Mrs. Naomi B. Lee

Funeral services are being held today (Friday) at 1 p.m. at Gospel Tabernacle Baptist Church, Walbrook Ave. and Rosedale St., for Mrs. Naomi B. Lee, 1121 N. Fulton Ave.

Mrs. Lee, the sister of Mrs. Stuart (Evetta) Turner, died Dec. 13 at Johns Hopkins Hospital after an extended illness.

The Rev. Edgar L. Reid, pastor, will preside at the church and graveside at Arbutus Cemetery.

* * *

Mrs. Lee was graduated from Mary N. Smith High School, Accomac, Va., and Cortez Peters Business School, Baltimore. Her career as a secretary terminated after she left her post at the Second Army, Fort George E. Meade.

She was baptized at Shiloh Baptist Church in Virginia and continued membership in the faith at Gospel Tabernacle where she was active as a Missionary and all phases of church work including the Baptist Training Union and the Sunday School.

Mrs. Lee was also a member of the Kappa Chapter of the Iota Phi Lambda Sorority.

* * *

She was married to Robert E. Lee who died Jan. 16, this year.

Mrs. Lee is survived by her mother, Mrs. Rachael Wise; daughter, Rachael; granddaughter, Tara and a grandson, Shawn, who was a new source of life during her declining years.

Also surviving are three brothers and six sisters including Mrs. Turner, an Edgewood Arsenal employee and wife of the assistant to the president of Irvins Department Stores; Mrs. Mary Ames, also employed at Edgewood Arsenal; Mrs. Olga Savage, assistant nursery director at Gospel Tabernacle; Mrs. Celestine Jones, a Housing Authority employee; Mrs. Idelia Parker, a New York teacher; Mrs. Leota Taylor, a Baltimore teacher.

And an aunt, an uncle, 39 nieces and nephews; 40 great nieces and nephews; five great-great nieces and nephews.

Melvin Herriott, 15, Northwestern student

Northwestern Student

Funeral services for Melvin David Herriott, 15, 725 George St, were held today (Friday) at the Morton and Dyett Funeral Home. Burial was in Arbutus Memorial Park.

Melvin died Sunday in Johns Hopkins Hospital after a prolonged illness following internal surgery.

He was enrolled in the tenth grade at Northwestern High School but had recently been too ill to attend.

He took an active interest in basketball, guitar, art, and scientific experiments.

He joined Perkins Square Baptist Church last year and became a member of the Junior Usher Board.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Phyllis Herriott; grandmother, Mrs. Julia Herriott; two sisters, Lonnie Mae, 12, and Shirley Denise, 6; brother, Rodney, 10; two uncles, George and David Herriott; and five grand-uncles, Isaiah, Willie and George Murray and Nathan, Phillip and Elijah Herriott.
