CAMPUS NOTES

Engagements — the pro, con

By LAVANIA RICE
SPEAKING OF PEOPLE

Douglass Peakins— Doug has been making plans for enrolling in one of the art schools in up-state New York this fall. Some of his works were displayed at the Y during the latter part of the year.

Emmanuel Vaughn — Spent the majority of his holiday going over various college catalogues. He is now a senior at Morgan.

Rose Coleman — In addition to studying, Rose spent a great deal of time in D.C. and New York.

Glenn McGill — The ex-fashion editor of the "Notes" who is now in the Navy was in town a few days after Christmas. On returning to the service Glenn will be stationed in Kansas.

Rose Miles — A senior at Virginia Union, is making plans for attending grad school next year.

Isaac Gray — Spent the majority of his holiday anticipating the Colts game, and after seeing it spent his time getting over the event.

Aliceteen Brown — A student at Cortez Peters, did quite a bit of traveling; she spent some time in: Ohio, Washington, Virginia and New York.

PLACES AND THINGS

The holiday was kept in a festive groove by several parties local and otherwise. A few of the parties given were: Howard Neal's, The Upsilon Lambda Chi's, Rose Coleman's, William Johnson's, Lillie Clayborne's, Harry McNeal's.

If you attended any of these affairs then you know that they were really swinging. If you were out of town then you missed a real ball.

DUE TO the fact that it seems to be some sort of tradition for the young ladies to come back to school either married or engaged I thought it would be rather interesting to ask a few of the students on campus:

"In this modern day and time do you think that the engagement period is significant?"

Louis Jones — "The significance of the engagement period has lost its importance, because in this modern world people are no longer tied to traditional bonds."

Donald Hall — "My opinion of the engagement period is passe, because usually when a date is set it is more up, and in many cases, the affair never comes off; nowadays it seems to be the trend to meet today and get married tomorrow. I think that this is called the 'Love at first sight' madness."

Margie Grier — "Yes, it has a great deal of significance; it is the period of time for the couple to understand each other, before taking a serious step such as marriage."

Ralph Williams — "Yes, it helps to determine one's mate for marriage. After all one might make a grave mistake, in several cases, they do, and this has been proven."

Eyvette Burgen— "Yes, I think that it's very significant, because between the engagement period and the marriage the young lady can buy her necessary items, and then use the fellow for "Breach of Promise" if he changes his mind."

Harry Boatswain — "Other than the fact that it makes your intentions clear, NO."

Charles Miles — "Yes, because it takes time to get to know anyone, and after several years one still doesn't know one completely, but the engagement period is a good start."

WELL, now that the Christmas Holiday is over, it is time to get down to serious studying.

I am sure that you don't wish to be reminded, but there are exactly three more weeks before finals, and some will be given before this time, so like the "Beatles" say "Like, man you betta get with it."

And I would also like to wish you all a very prosperous new year, especially in school.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Looking back on any year — It was the best of times, it was the worst of times; it was the age of foolishness, it was the age of wisdom.

It was the epoch of belief, the epoch of incredulity. It was the season of light, the season of darkness; it was the winter of despair, it was the spring of hope."

9 from Morgan at 18th confab

Nine Morgan State College students were among approximately 3,000 students who attended the 18th Quadrennial Student Conference on the Christian World Mission, Dec. 27 to Jan. 2 at Athens, Ohio.

The ecumenical conference was sponsored by the United Student Christian Council and the World Student Christian Federation.

Two of the conference leaders were Dr. Martin Luther King, and Bishop Leslie Newbigin of the United Church of South India.

Attending from Morgan were Calvin Allison, Jamaica; Evelyn Abrams, British Guiana, Norma Duncan, Jamaica; Annette Cooper, Bahamas; Grace Rawlins, Bermuda; Elaine Joy Russel, Jamaica; Zelma Weston, Jamaica; Ismay Wilson, British Guiana, and Virginia Burke, Maryland.

The Rev. Roy W. Joellenbeck, adviser to Presbyterian and United Church of Christ students on the campus, accompanied the students to the conference.

Varied activities planned for seniors

By DELORES COUSER

The senior year for the February graduates of Edmondson High School will draw to a close with a variety of activities, according to Pat McLaughlin, vice president of the 12A Class.

The 12As last appearance before the student body will be on Jan. 29 at their farewell assembly.

"The View" advertising campaign, which is still in progress, has not reached the 50,000 goal but so far, $1,800 worth of ads have been sold.

Free year books are to be given as prizes for selling ads. So far there have been 25 winners.

If a student sells $15, he will receive a paper back book and if he sells $25 he will receive a hardback yearbook with his name engraved in gold on the cover.

High salesman in the school will receive a transistor radio, according to Mrs. Mary Tronzone, head of the Business Education Department.

The classes which have collected the highest amount are 10B 2-$131 with Evelyn Humphreys, high salesman of the class; 11B6-$119 with John Stemler collecting $170, and 11A3-$104 with Ethel Collette.

EXCHANGE VOWS — Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Saunders who were married on Wednesday evening.

She is the former Rose Morgan, former wife of Heavyweight Fighter Joe Louis. He is a Baltimorean now a practicing attorney in New Jersey.

Carpenter, the physician's wife.

ON THURSDAY, Mrs. Saunders told the AFRO: "Louis and I have been questioned and called long distance and haunted by hundreds of friends. All of them keep asking 'when are you going to get married?'

"Last night (Wednesday) he said to me, 'Rose, let's go on and get it over with,' — so we just went to the church and got married."

She added, her voice bubbling with happiness: "I have such a wonderful husband, such a fine man. I love him so much. I am so happy."

For her wedding, Mrs. Saunders selected a gray, sheer wool with a chantilly lace top. Since the bride was also instead of a hat, she wore a simple sheer veil.

"HE DID NOT give me an engagement ring," the new Mrs. Saunders said and added, "but my wedding band is the most beautiful I've ever seen.

"It is platinum' with four square cut diamonds."

After the ceremonies, Mr. and Mrs. Saunders were toasted with champagne at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Carpenter, 1127 an hour after midnight.

Mrs. Saunders and her husband went to his home at 727 Garfield in Jersey City.

THE NEW Mrs. Saunders reports that they will reside in Jersey City, in the "old but lovely" home but will keep her Edgecombe Ave. apartment in New York as well.

Mrs. Saunders also disclosed that her husband is in the process of moving his law offices to a building he has recently purchased.

"No honeymoon anytime soon," she remarked. "He has a wonderful practice and this is a busy time for him.

"We'll go later."

Mr. Saunders is a native of Baltimore, graduate of Morgan and the Howard U. Law School. He is a member of the Lafayette Church and is a noted criminal lawyer.

He served for a number of years as corporation counsel for Jersey City, and was named municipal judge in 1956.

He was married, during his college years to Mrs. Beatrice Saunders, but was divorced in 1947.

Mrs. Saunders' marriage to Joe Louis, the heavyweight champion was annulled in May 3, 1959.

versed gastric tube" operation.

A MONTEFIORE surgeon, Dr. Henry Heimlich, operated on her about six weeks ago. He constructed a reverse gastric tube, bringing "the open end of the tube out in the neck beneath the angle of the jaw.

The day after Thanksgiving, he joined the openend of the gastric tube to the esophagus at point where the esophagus originates from the pharynx. This point was immediately above the level of the complete obstruction of the esophagus.

A tube approximately one inch in diameter and 7½ long enough to reach from the stomach to the throat was made from the greater curvature of the stomach.

This tube is made by cutting into the anterior and posterior walls of the stomach.

The long-prayed for miracle occurred when Mrs. Dixon swallowed her first solid food.

Mrs. Dixon, who has two grown sons by a previous marriage, never lost faith during 29 years of praying for the impossible.

Art lecture

The first in a series of Sunday afternoon lectures for the general public will be given at the Walters Art Gallery on January 10 by Miss Dorthy Kent Hill on the subject, "Bronzes from Egypt: Land of many Gods."

This illustrated lecture, repeated from last September 21, will deal with the development of bronze casting in Egypt and its delicate workmanship and exquisite decoration, and with the religious themes that inspired much of the work.

Admission of the Walters Art Gallery, at Charles and Centre Sts., is always free.

Morgan will lose 3rd acting head with prexy's return

Morgan State College will lose its third acting president within a three-month period Tuesday (Jan. 12) — but this time be a happy circumstance.

Dr. Edward N. Wilson, Morgan registrar, appointed to the position of Acting President by the Board of Trustees following the death of Dean George C. Grant, will step down when President Martin D. Jenkins returns from a three-month tour abroad.

Mr. Wilson will have served as the acting head of the institution for less than one month.

Preceding Dean Grant as Acting President was James H. Carter, who died October 29.

Dr. Jenkins, on a European lecture tour since October returns to the campus on Monday.

MOVING OUT — Following a hearing on a show cause summons and the approval of Magistrate Calvin A. Douglass of Western Police Court, Mrs. Beatrice Lewis, 56, 1800 block of Baker St. removes furniture from the Christ United Baptist Church, 1600 block of North Ave. Mrs. Lewis, a former clerk in the church, told the magistrate these were items which she had purchased. She testified she was asked to leave.

Board takes action against 5 firemen

The Board of Fire Commissioners took disciplinary action against fire fighters Tuesday.

Three firemen were suspended for a total of 62 days. Two were given a total of 15 days continuous duty.

The suspended firemen were Firefighter David Pitkin Jr., of Engine Company 25 who was accused of being intoxicated and asleep while on duty.

Pitkin was given a 16 days suspension. He told the Board that he was not intoxicated, but was suffering with a "terrible cold" and had drank "two toddies."

A superior officer testified that when he went to investigate a peculiar noise in the station house on December 27, he found Pitkin, a veteran of seven years in the department, snoring on the watch desk.

FIREFIGHTER William Turner of Engine Company 20 was suspended for 30 days.

Turner was charged with failing to report for duty on December 29.

When asked why he told the board, "I was just sick."

Firefighter William M. Jackson of Engine Company 25 was given a 16 day suspension for failing to report for duty on December 27.

Jackson said he lost track of time after he stopped in a tavern to watch the championship game between the Colts and Giants.

Firefighter Nathaniel W. Dixon of Engine Company 55 was given 12 days continuous duty for being 20 minutes late on December 25.

Dixon, who was married on Christmas Day testified: "I overslept."

Thomas Kelly of Engine Company 22 was given three days continuous duty for leaving the station house without permission.

Kelly said that he stepped out to telephone his wife.

IN ONE other action Tuesday, the Fire Board awarded commendations to eight firemen and officers.

Lt. John V. Magruther of the Fire Investigation Bureau was commended for an investigation which resulted in the arrest and conviction of a woman responsible for a three-alarm fire on N. Charles St. last September.

George E. Lloyd, a fire alarm operator, was commended for conduct displayed in assisting in the apprehension of a suspect who was later found guilty of automobile theft.

Six firemen were awarded commendations for the rescue of victims in fires.

At a fire in the 1500 block of Light St., last December 5, Meyer and Theodore J. Heying Jr., of Truck Company 6 removed an unconscious man from a third-floor building and then revived him with a resuscitube.

Lt. Earl M. Russell and Firefighters Johnny L. Buckson, Bernard J. Finnessy of Engine Company 9 and Franklin J. Walker of Truck Company 9 were cited for their rescue of an unconscious occupant in a house on Broadway last December 18.

$375,000 asked by 2 seamen

Two personal injury suits totaling $375,000 — one asking $300,000 and alleging permanent disability — have been filed in U.S. District Court here in Behalf of two Baltimore seamen.

The complainants are Winfred Larkins, 31, 297 block Winchester St., and Lloyd Nicholson, 37, 2200 block Riggs Ave.

Mr. Larkins, who is asking the $300,000 from the Gulf Oil Co., charges in the suit that he received permanent injuries to his right leg on December 29, 1958, allegedly when a wire snapped on a portable cover in his quarters on one of the company's ships.

MR. LARKINS, father of three children, must continue to take treatments, it is charged, because physicians are unable to give him a necessary operation.

Mr. Nicholson, who has four children, has placed his suit against the Continental Oil Co. and is asking $75,000.

His suit charges that he was severely injured on December 14, 1958, in a fall the result of an ice formation on the company's ship then in waters off the New Jersey Coast. Mr. Nicholson and Mr. Larkins are represented by Amos L. Meyers.

Randolph for steel price controls; sees railway peace without strike

By MOSES J. NEWSON

Labor leader A. Philip Randolph is now convinced there should be a public authority to pass on steel price increases and that the "sick" railway industry will avert a strike.

Mr. Randolph, an AFL-CIO vice president and president of the 8,000-member Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, conferred with leaders of the Baltimore unit this week on the threatened railway strike.

Viewing the steel strike settlement as a "significant victory" that will favorably affect the outcome of the bargaining between railway management and union, he nevertheless declared:

"STEEL IS so vital to the life of the American people in that it enters into almost everything purchased.

"It ought to be in the hands of some public authority, not a for group seeking to make profits.

"This would not involve taking the steel properties from the people who own them.

"It would take from the managers the right to make price raise decisions.

"The operation and management of steel should be responsible to the public and decisions of price raises decided on the basis of general welfare."

* * *

MR. RANDOLPH said there surely would have been legislation had not the strike been settled but he doubts there will be "any major legislation now," which will deal with collective bargaining.

The key issue of "featherbedding" a modern-day complaint brought on by automation, will affect in some way all railroad workers, Mr. Randolph said.

However, he says the issue will not affect members of the Brotherhood and other non-operating employees as it will such personnel as firemen and brakesmen, many of whom management claims draw pay for no work.

In negotiations which started Nov. 1, the Brotherhood has requested 25-cent hourly increases in wages and other benefits including holidays and up to four weeks vacation.

They now get no paid holidays and a maximum of three weeks vacation.

Companies involved - the Pullman Company being the largest, have sent back counter proposals, as they have with other railway unions, and a showdown looms in the near future.

$10Gs bail on assaults

"I found her in the doorway at the bottom of the steps with the knife imbedded in her left shoulder up to the hilt."

Officer William Thieman gave this statement during his testimony in Western Police Court against Thomas Johnson, 21, 1600 block of W. Lafayette Ave.

Mr. Johnson was held for the grand jury in $5,000 bail on a charge of stabbing Miss Virginia Watkins, 16, 1400 block of Pennsylvania Ave., at her home on Nov. 23.

An additional $5,000 bail was set for cutting Miss Watkin's mother, Mrs. Geraldine Watkins on the same date.

Mrs. Watkins, according to the officer's testimony, was attempting to prevent the assault on her daughter.

Officer Thieman told Magistrate Calvin A. Douglass the defendant drank a mixture of wine and rat poison at his home after the assault.

He was treated at Franklin Square Hospital and released, the officer stated.

Mrs. Watkins, a former waitress at a restaurant near her home, was released from Provident Hospital Nov. 29.

The case had been postponed twice because of the serious nature of her wound.

The defendant pleaded guilty to stabbing Miss Watkins but not guilty to cutting her mother.

Cpl. Elliott saves twins from train

The quick action of a Baltimore County detective, Cpl. Armond Elliott, has been credited with saving the lives of two blond youngsters who stood petrified with fear on a railroad track as a speeding train approached.

Cpl. Elliott, who is attached to the vice squad, pushed one of the youngsters to safety and picked up the other one and ran down an embankment.

A few seconds later, the train, with its whistle and lights flashing, passed the spot where the youngsters had stood.

The incident took place at the old Bengies Rd. crossing, the same place where three children and a taxi cab driver were killed last January when a train hit the cab.

The rescued youngsters, a pair of sixyear-old twins, Timmy and Tommy Mercure, were on their way home Tuesday afternoon when Elliott drove by in a car.

Seeing how the youngsters were standing motionless on the tracks, he halted the vehicle to rescue them. He said he was afraid to shout because he did not want to scare them.

Two injured in collision

Two drivers were injured in a collision Sunday at Bond and Madison Sts.

Miss Gloria Jean Richardson, 17, student, of 1131 N. Bentalou suffered a heavy jaw and Anapia A. Coard, 54, laborer, 522 E. 21st St., sustained an injury of the right leg.

A packed car owned by Dennis M. Foster of 220 N. Allen St., was also damaged in the 4 p.m. accident.

Police charged Miss Richardson with failing to give the right-of-way at a stop sign.

Dad of 3 jailed 180 days; sought to get money to move

A father of three children was given 180 days in District Jail Wednesday for allegedly stealing two auto batteries from two vehicles. He admitted the theft to get money to move his family, police testified.

The defendant, John C. Barrett, 29, 2000 block First St., NW, suddenly lapsed into subdued silence after hearing Judge Thomas Scalley imposed sentence on him. The scene was in Municipal Court.

Charged with larceny, Barrett was nabbed Tuesday night in the 200 block of Elm St., NW, after police found the batteries in the back of his truck. He had taken them from two cars in the block.

Speaking in his behalf, Barrett's attorney, Melvin M. Burton Jr., told the court that his client was a victim of hard circumstances. He said Barnett was prompted to commit the act because of deep depression.

About a month ago, said Burton, the defendant went out of town to attend a relative's funeral. Upon his return, his former employer reportedly told him that someone else had taken his job. He worked as a porter in the 5400 block Georgia Ave., NW.

His money gone, he could not pay his landlord, who was demanding the rent. He was told to pay up or move, the attorney said.

Desperate, Barrett drove away in his truck to get rent money. Having failed in his efforts to borrow it, he resorted to the criminal act, concluded Burton.

The attorney said Barrett's family was still living at the above address, but he didn't know how long they would be there.

Frontiersmen re-elect Dr. Harris president

Dr. Bernard Harris Sr. was re-elected president of the Frontiers Club at its Tuesday meeting.

Also serving a second term are Samuel T. Daniels, vice-president; William B. Day, secretary, and O. Leonard Roey, treasurer.

Dr. T. Andre Pitts, who served as last year's program chairman, was elected second vice-president.

New officers are Charles Jones, assistant to the secretary and Nimrod Dobson, assistant to the treasurer.

Members of the nominating committee were Chairman Paul Henderson, Robert Jackson, Nimrod Dobson, the Rev. Daniel Ridout, and Walter T. Dixon.

The officers were sworn in by the Rev. Mr. Ridout.

PLANNED SAVINGS

SAVE A SMALL AMOUNT REGULARLY
It's much better to plan to save a small amount regularly and actually DO it than merely to hope to save a large amount "sometime." Wishful thinking seldom pays off. Money in the bank always does!
