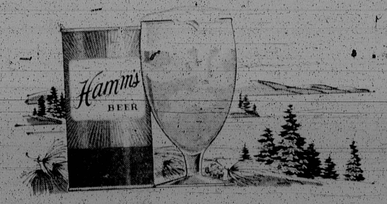
Hamm's is coming! The beer refreshing . . . as the land of sky blue waters!

Theo. Hamm Brewing Co., St. Paul, Minn.; San Francisco and Los Angeles, Calif.; and Baltimore

Commuter on an important mission



This is William C. Figge, President of the Theo. Hamm Brewing Co., St. Paul, Minnesota.

He's a long distance commuter. For the next few months, he will commute weekly to Baltimore from St. Paul. His job is to supervise the improvement and expansion of Hamm's newly acquired brewery in Baltimore.

This is Bill Figge's own pet project.

Every important improvement—from new fermenting and aging cellars to the new sterile yeast culture room—will have his personal touch.

And one morning soon he'll fly in on an extra special mission. He will then personally brew the first Hamm's Beer to be produced in Baltimore.

No one is better qualified for this job.

For, as well as being president of the Company, he has been Hamm's Master Brewer—

—as were his father and grandfather before him!

So you can be sure that when Baltimore-brewed Hamm's Beer first appears on the market sometime this spring, it will be superb—with the same crisp, clean-cut flavor that has made Hamm's one of the fastest-growing beers in America.

Hamm's has a uniquely refreshing flavor that people who appreciate a good glass of beer seem to like.

Bill Figge is making certain that Hamm's unique flavor and character will be faithfully duplicated in Hamm's Baltimore-brewed beer.

Hamm's . . . the beer refreshing as the land of sky blue waters. Soon to be brewed in Baltimore . . . yours at LOCAL PRICES

Easton's tan stars worry

Their five-game winning streak fractured by Allentown in an 82-81 roughhouse Sunday, the Bullets started making preparations today towards starting a new one against first place Easton Friday night in the Coliseum, and the key words were speed and defense.

"The Madisons, with Hal Lear, Dick Gaines and Wally Choice, can run all night," Jeannette explained, "and we're going to have to keep up with them. Let them get the ball off the board and they'll fast break you to death and we've been letting too many clubs get away with this.

"So we're going to have to run and try to stay right up on those fellows."

"MAURICE KING, for Harman and John Nacinicki are the fellows with the big jobs. "I'm hoping, too, Sherman White, Ed Roman and Lou Dickman will shake off their shooting miseries. If they start hitting big again, and White contains Jay Norman, we could be in business.

"Norman has been one of the chief reasons Easton's going so well. Sure, the other three boys do a lot of scoring, but he's the fellow who gets 'em the ball. Jim Radcliffe is another one. Norman isn't big but he jumps through the roof. Radcliffe on the other hand is aggressive."

THE MADISONS are a game and a half in front of the Bullets, who in turn are a half game ahead of third place Allentown. The Bullets also tangle with the Madisons Saturday night in Phillipsburg, N.J.

"They moved the game," Jeannette continued, "to handle an overflow crowd."

Ducks rate as factors in the MSA

Mask Payne and his Douglass High School basketers promise to supply some real fireworks for Division I of the Maryland Scholastic Association (MSA) this year.

The Ducks entertain Calvert Hall as both played their opening games of the 1960 schedule at 3:30 p.m.

Despite their loss of two of the three games played in pre-conference competition, Payne is confident his lads will give a good account of themselves when the serious action commences.

IT IS no secret that the Duck mentor is putting a great deal of dependance on Frank James, a 6-foot-5 junior, and two grad-uates from the varsity squad of last year, Kenny Hill and Frank Roach.

James, a fine rebounder was just coming into his own as the curtain closed in 1958-59. His use as a quarterback on the football team this past fall seemed to give the big fellow added confidence in himself.

Now matured, Frank figures to be the hub around which the Douglass machine will work.

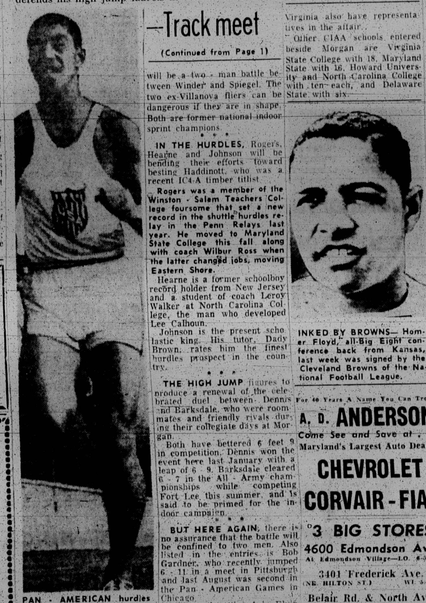
HILL AND ROACH set the pace for the junior varsity last year as it won the city JV title. The former is a strong man inside and the latter is being relied upon to give aid to Bill Hiley, Douglass' best outside man last season.

In addition to these starters, Payne has a raft of fine prospects on his bench. Chief among them are Elroy Vaughn, a 6-footer; Troy Jackson, 6-1; Jerry Crawford, 5-11, and Joe Mollett, 5-9.

EASTERN DEFENDER — George Dennis, ex-Morgan State College star, defends his high jump laurels in the colors of Shanahan A. C. of Philadelphia, at 5th Regiment Armory tomorrow (Saturday) night.



PAN - AMERICAN hurdles king Josh Culbreath shows his versatility tomorrow (Saturday) in the All - Eastern indoor meet in Baltimore. He's entered in the 600-yard run and regarded as a real threat.

NATIONAL SPRINT champ Paul Winder of Morgan State College, makes his debut in the 60 - yard dash at the All-Eastern indoor meet tomorrow (Saturday) at 5th Regiment Armory. Winder shares the world record of 6 seconds flat for the event.

—Track meet

will be a two - man battle between Winder and Spiegel. The two ex-Villanova fliers can be dangerous if they are in shape. Both are former national indoor sprint champions.

IN THE HURDLES, Rogers, Heagne and Johnson will be bending their efforts toward bestine Haddinott, who was a recent IC4A timber titlist.

Rogers was a member of the Winston - Salem Teachers College foursome that set a new record in the shuttle hurdles relay in the Penn Relays last year. He moved to Maryland State College this fall along with coach Wilbur Ross when the latter changed jobs, moving Eastern Shore.

Hearne is a former schoolboy record holder from New Jersey and a student of coach Leroy Walker at North Carolina College, the man who developed Lee Calhoun.

Johnson is the present scholastic king. His tutor, Daniel Brown, rates him the finest hurdles prospect in the country.

THE HIGH JUMP figures to produce a renewal of the celebrated duel between Dennis and Barksdale, who were roommates and friendly rivals during their collegiate days at Morgan.

Both have bettered 6 feet 8 in competition. Dennis won the event here last January with a leap of 6 - 9. Barksdale cleared 6 - 7 in the All - Army championships while competing Fort Lee this summer, and is said to be primed for the indoor campaign.

BUT HERE AGAIN, there is no assurance that the battle will be confined to two men. Also listed in the entries is Bob Gardner, who recently jumped 6 - 11 in a meet in Pittsburgh and last August was second in the Pan - American Games in Chicago.

Still another threat is Elvin Wesley, credited with a 6 - 8 effort in armed forces competition during the past year.

CULBREATH, though best known today as 400 - meters hurdles champion in the Pan-Am Games and the duel meet with Russia, was an established 800 - yard star before carrying his talents to the timber lanes.

Anchor man for three years on crack Morgan mile - relay teams, Josh, now running for the Philadelphia Pioneers, will tangle with his successor (at Morgan), Nick Ellis, and Johnson, the CIAA 440 titlist.

This trio will be joined by George Matthews, the Mason - Dixon titleholder from Catholic University, and Ed Polanowski, the Maryland Scholastic Association quarter-mile king.

THIRTY-ONE teams are entered in this biggest of all Eastern events. A total of 373 athletes will be seen in action.

University of Maryland, with 36 entries, tops the list. Morgan is next with 27 entries, followed by Georgetown University's 22, and Baltimore Olympic Club with 21.

Duke University, Witham and Mary College, Seton Hall and Virginia also have representatives in the affair.

Other CIAA schools entered beside Morgan are Virginia State College with 18, Maryland State with 16, Howard University and North Carolina College with ten each, and Delaware State with six.

INKED BY BROWNS— Homer Floyd, all-Big Eight conference back from Kansas, last week was signed by the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League.

Former net queen buried

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — Solemn requiem mass was sung here Saturday for Katharyn Irvis, former women's tennis champion, who died last week of pneumonia.

Mrs. Irvis, wife of K. Leroy Irvis of the Pennsylvania State Legislature, was the former Ann Jones. She won the American Tennis Association women's singles crown in 1945.

Surviving, in addition to her husband, are two sisters well known in Eastern social circles, Dr. Yvonne Jones and Miss Zora Jones, both of Springfield, Mass.

Interment was at the Jones family plot in Springfield.

Unbeaten Poets, improved Carver set to bow today

Dunbar High School's defending city champions, undefeated in pre-season competition, meet their first serious test in Mary land Scholastic basketball this afternoon (Thursday) on the East Baltimore home floor.

Coach Sugar Cain and his Poets take on City College always a formidable contender in scholastic cage circles.

At the same time, a vastly improved Carver High School quint visits Mt. St. Joe for the opening of its 1960 MSA schedule.

DUNBAR CLOSED out her preparatory campaign by trampling a 54 - 44 victory over Douglass High on Tuesday. With their two big guns—Rudy Peterson and Charlie Leach—leading the way, the defending champs moved in front early and were never headed, though tied at 10-all at the close of the first quarter.

At halftime, the Poets were leading, 31-15, and at the three quarter mark held a 37-28 advantage.

It was the fifth straight win for the classy Cainmen.

CITY EXPECTED to be counting on Lou Wimdass, a transfer student from Forest Park, uncovered a new talent Tuesday afternoon in the Collegians' 42-46 triumph over Mervo. Cliff Mellon was the spackplug.

Mellon, shifting his efforts from the gridiron, tallied 20 points to be top man for the afternoon. He may prove troublesome for Dunbar, and an unexpected surprise for coach Frank Lee, who took over the reins as replacement for the longtime City mentor, Andy DePasso.

Carver, meanwhile, takes the floor with a starting line improved by the addition of height.

Last year, when they wound up with a 9-3 record in Division 2, the Cubs were credited with an unusual feat. They did it with a relatively small team, marked by diminutive George Kimbrough.

Although the Carver captain could barely reach 5-4 with his high-heeled shoes, his deadly shooting eye was coach Sodie Whites' chief weapon through the first two-thirds of the campaign. Later, Horace Bass and Leo Mitchell found the range and figured prominently in the Cubs' stretch drive—LACY.

Satellites, new comedians of cage, coming

Ted Rasberry's amazing Harlem Satellites will play here Sunday, January 24, at the Coliseum.

The squad features Rookie (Hollywood) Brown, former Globetrotter and star of the Columbia movie, "The Harlem Globetrotter Story," which co-starred Dorothy Dandridge. Brown is one of basketball's finest comedians and is a deadly shot.

BROWN IS ably supported by Jim Dew, the 7-4 sky scraper, Webster Kirksey, a terrific ball handler and dribbler, Dick (Hooks) Hervey, the clowning newest clown prince Goose Junior.

The team compiled a 21-4 record last season against some of the better teams in the country.

THE SATELLITES will present basketball's most spectacular magic circle. It is done in complete darkness with the only visible objects being the hands, shoes and the glowing basketball.

This unique exhibition of television ball handling will precede the game.

The half-time show is featured by Joe Frisco's Circus act. These include Kandy, The Baby Elephant and Ko Ko and Foo Foo, the only basketball playing Chimpanzees.
