MAYNARD FERGUSON

Ferguson's big band due for Ford show

The sound of the big bands is scheduled to return to the Baltimore scene on Saturday Feb. 13, when Maynard Ferguson plays a concert at Ford's Theatre.

Regarded as one of the best bands in the country, the Ferguson outfit has elicited warm praise wherever it has played, and this includes colleges, jazz festivals and the famed Birdland in New York, where the group has made a number of successful appearances.

A trumpeter of the first rank, the Canadian born Ferguson organized his band in 1952 after cutting his musical teeth with the bands of Jimmy Dorsey, Charlie Barnet and Stan Kenton.

At a time when big bands were considered a thing of the past, Ferguson breathed new life into the field with the excellence of his outfit.

His concert at Ford's starts at 8:30 p.m. and tickets are now available.

The program was made up of representatives from the local churches. It was presided over by the district secretary of Cultivation, Mrs. James A. Johnson, who was chairman of the affair. She looked very charming in blue lace with matching accessories.

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority holds its annual Founders Day Program; Dallas Pace gets top Boy Scout award; Interest high in Junior Red Cross program;

• • •

The Annapolis Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority held its annual Founders' Day program at the beautiful residence of Dr. and Mrs. J. Alexander Wiseman on Spa Road.

Activities were conducted in the oak paneled club room of the Wiseman's spacious home where crimson and cream-colored marigolds, the Delta colors, were used in the decorations.

Mrs. Gladys Byram Sheppard of Baltimore was the guest speaker and was graciously introduced by Soror Mary C. Brown, after which the chapter president, Soror Matilda Harrison, presented a crimson and cream colored corsage to Mrs. Sheppard.

Mrs. Sheppard, a writer of great ability told of her experience while writing her latest book, the warm and living story of a great lady in a crucial period of the nation's history, "Mary Church Terrell-Respected Alien Person." She used the book as a basis of discussion in a question and answer period with the group.

A native of Memphis, Tenn., Mrs. Sheppard, a teacher of history, is a graduate of the University of Chicago. She holds a Maier's Degree from New York University and is a member of Kappa Delta Pi.

She is also a member of the Baltimore Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and has served as national president.

Among her published professional articles are "Book Shelf of Negro History" "American Heritage Magazine; "Teaching Maryland History;" "Middle States Council for the Social Studies."

She is the wife of Dr. J. Douglass Sheppard, physician in Baltimore.

MANY OF the sorors accepted copies of Mrs. Sheppard's book, which she had autographed. Two copies will be placed on the Delta Library Shelf in the Anne Arundel County Public Library, never-ending source of society maintains and purchases books of the highest calibre for the Annapolis reading public.

An autographed copy was provided also for Soror Wysonia Morselle of Central State College, Ohio, in honor of her mother, the late Soror Josephia Morselle of Annapolis.

The program continued with the sorors pledging themselves to re-dedicated service "to the growth of Delta and its youthful potential."

They further resolved to "continue to build upon the foundation; to lay old stones and new, to increase the durability of Delta; to express appreciation and confidence in the future of Delta and to keep burning the jewels of compassion, courtesy, devotion, fellowship, fidelity, frankness, justice, purity and temperance with united strength."

After this, a short social hour was held, during which the birthday cake, white - frosted with crimson flowers, was cut by Soror Sylvia Richardson with Sorors Ethel Wilson and Sallie Fletcher looking on.

• • •

DR. WISEMAN, the husband of Soror Rose Wiseman, took moving pictures of the evening's activities. Soror Fletcher, a member of the Baltimore Alumnae Delta Chapter, and a teacher in the Baltimore public schools, accompanied Mrs. Sheppard to Annapolis.

Other members of the Annapolis chapter are Sorors Mary Randall, Mary V. Wiseman, Ann Goodwyn, Lilyan Burrell, Orvilla Taylor, Muriel Holland, Jean Sparrow, Louise Blakestone, Eloise Duvall and Nan Wright.

Mr. Pace serves as scoutmaster in Anne Arundel County is a member of the Organization and Extension Committee, and is instructor for the Leader Training Committee.

A native of Bristol, Tenn., he did his undergraduate work at Knoxville College, where he earned a B.S. degree in chemistry.

He received his Master of Science degree from the University of Michigan and has done further study toward his doctorate at the same school and Harvard University.

Pace has lived in Annapolis for about 12 years, in which time he has taught chemistry at Bates Senior High School and presently serves as head of the science department.

Last summer, he was one out of 40 educators accepted for a Science Institute at Princeton University, sponsored by the National Science Foundation in 1959 with Mrs. Eleanor Waring of the Anne Arundel County Board of Education, director of special services, and the Rev. Robert Bower, minister of the Harundale Church and Mrs. William H. Richardson, children's librarian of the Anne Arundel County Public Library at Annapolis, as lay co-chairmen who work with the teacher-sponsors in the public schools.

The Rev. Mr. Bower and Mrs. Richardson serve in an advisory capacity.

The annual membership drive continued in the Schools every fall when every child in each school can become a member of the Junior Red Cross.

There is no set membership fee per child. Usually each classroom sends in at least 50 cents from the elementary school and at least $1 for each group of 100 pupils or a fraction thereof for the secondary school.

The advantages of this enrollment each year include: Children find for each chapter, provides necessary money for materials and have needed the Junior Red Cross program, and gives each child the feeling of sharing the human work of the community and the nation through activities that are carefully integrated with the school curriculum.

QUALIFICATION FOR membership grows out of one of three things or all on the part of pupil or sponsor:

(1) That the child make a voluntary contribution which should be earned or saved by personal effort or sacrifice on his part;

(2) That the pupil has assisted in a group project to earn a group contribution

(3) Or that the pupil has demonstrated a desire to participate in a Junior Red Cross activity, whether he has contributed money or not.

In this work of the county, the schools are particularly concentrating on the making up of gift boxes, which are distributed internationally, and other gifts and favors for institutions and hospitals in the area.

Further activities will be developed in other areas as the work in the county becomes more fully organized and conducted.

Each school has its own club, which serves to give training in organization procedures and the experience of working together in unity and harmony.

The following schools and their activities for the fall are:

Rosewood School, 37 Christmas stockings, gifts and favors; Linthicum, soft toys, and 100 gift boxes; Overlook, 30 gift and 100 Thanksgiving favors, which were sent to the Baltimore City Hospital; 100 Christmas favors to Henryton and 148 Christmas favors to Crownsville, and toys for Rosewood;

Also Pasadena, 72 gift boxes and 60 soft toys; Brooklyn, 23 gift boxes; Pumphrey, 23 gift boxes; Sunset, 30 gift and Sundyside, 30 soft toys and 100 rookies of Crown ville; Adams Park, where making of 25 hand kerchiefs; three clothes scarves and 10 wash cloths.

Also Belvedere, 36 gift boxes and Halloween favors to the Anne Arundel General Hospital; Germantown, completed 30 gift toys and 100 favors for Mt. Wilson T.B. Hospital at Pikesville; Ivy Leaf, 31 gift boxes; Tracy's Landing, 14 gift boxes, and Owensville, 20 gift boxes.

THESE ARE not necessarily accurate as to completion of reports of activities of the various schools for activity report sheets are just being received by leaders. A sponsor's check $200 was collected from Anne Arundel County as the result of the enrollment.
