Tourin' Turner

By E. S. McDANIEL

The testimonial dinner sponsored by the PTA of the Havre de Grace Consolidated School last Tuesday honoring Leon S. Roye for 50 years of service as principal will be long remembered by all who shared in this celebration.

Fresh cut flowers made attractive centerpieces for each of the tables thereby enriching the surroundings and making it more pleasant for the feast against a background of soft piano music.

With dinner over, the guests went to the auditorium for the program with the president, Charles E. Nealy, presiding.

The platform was completely filled with educational, fraternal and religious friends of the honoree. Some of the state legislators from Havre de Grace came up from Annapolis to share in this great honor bestowed on Mr. Roye.

THE SPEAKER was Edgar A. Smith Sr., principal of the Oakland Elementary and Junior High School, College Park, Maryland.

Benjamin S. Carroll, assistant superintendent of schools for Harford County praised Mr. Roye very highly as he made the presentation of the 30 Year Service Pin.

There were presentations from the Maryland Congress of PTA, the Masons, the faculty, other faculties, the student body, churches of the area, the alumni, and other groups that I am not able to recall at the present.

There were large packages, there were small packages, there were certificates, there were plaques. A silver tree with red apples was presented. I watched very carefully to see what was inside one apple that was being pulled apart by the presenter who was also curious. Yes, there was a silver dollar neatly concealed in the heart of the apple.

Another package was opened and it contained a Turkish fez with a gold tassel. The fez is usually red in color, but this one was green—you guessed it, green with good United States dollar bills.

J. Leo Jones, one of the founders of the PTA in the county 30 years ago, stole the show when he got up to introduce the honoree.

Mr. Jones, whose sight is fading him now because of age, had to call Mr. Roye when he was ready for him to give his acceptance speech.

By this time, Mr. Roye was so filled up with the review of his life during the past 30 years that he had brought his handkerchief from his pocket.

Mrs. Roye was presented a large bouquet of American Beauty red roses. She was very attractive in a gold metallic sheath with gold slippers. Her corsage was a large orchid.

Special music was furnished by the Community Chorus, the Elks Choir, and Mrs. Otelia Bullock.

MRS. FRANCES B. BRUCE, Turner Elementary School principal, has returned to her position after being confined to her home for two weeks.

Don't forget that the Heart Force will be Feb. 28 through Feb. 28. Your Captain, Mrs. Bernie Jones, is asking that you set aside your contribution to fight the greatest killer — heart disease. Please lend a helping hand when the ladies come to your home for the Heart Fund.

Have you given your membership to one of the workers from the YMCA? The Y offers a variety of activities to boys and girls, as well as to men and women. The program of the YMCA grows with the amount of support that is given from the community. You can support the Y with a membership.

The Rev. James A. Everett is directing the 1960 Member-first time that he has directed the drive, won't you support him? Joseph Olive, program secretary, is also assisting in this drive to be a great success.

In order for any project to be a success in any community the campaign, by the citizens of the community must show a great amount of concern about the particular project by supporting the same. We cannot expect too much from the outside for our YMCA unless we the citizens of Turner Station show that we are willing to help by paying our membership dues during the campaign.

Saves 58 miles of travel,
25 hours of time
and $12.11 of expense in two weeks
by phoning friends, family, doctor and department stores

Mrs. Carroll of Catonsville, Maryland, uses her phone to chat with a friend about a change in time of the Card Club meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll are active in their church, the P.T.A. and the Boy Scouts. These activities combined with raising two teenagers (Patricia 16 and Phil 13), make their phone an important part of running their home.

Like other busy wives and mothers, Mrs. Carroll has many activities to attend to each day. She knew her phone was a help to her—but she thought she'd like to know exactly what it saved in time, money and travel. To find out, she kept a telephone diary of all calls made or received for a two-week period.

Her diary showed that phone calls saved days of waiting for information . . . hours and miles of travel on everyday errands, and friendly visits. Not surprisingly, the money saved on travel was greater than the cost of her phone.

Maybe you'll never keep a telephone diary—But if you take a few minutes to think of the value of your phone to you, we believe you'll agree that your phone pays for itself in convenience and in money saved as well.
