FLEEING CUSTODY of territorial marshal, Audie Murphy takes cover in bunkhouse Sunday School room, finds himself in danger of discovery by Felicia Farr and her young charges. It's a scene from Universal-International's exciting western drama, "Hell Bent for Leather," which also stars Stephen McNally and Robert Middleton, now playing at the Harlem, was photographed in CinemaScope and

Cool sounds cool cool cool writer

ED. NOTE— Writer George Collins attended "Blue Fox Day" sponsored by the Maryland Jazz Society on Sunday at an Avenue night club. A hipster he, Mr. Collins turned in the following summary of the proceedings, which he assured us was written in English.— "cool" English that is.)

Sunday while most Inhabitants of the Big B were either shoveling or shoveling behind the four-inch blanket of white, the Maryland Jazz Society threw a swinging session and the cool cats blew up a storm.

The Society, composed of Jazz enthusiasts, held its blow-out in the Blue Room of Old Leland Cafe. It was in the form of a cabaret party honoring Roz Ford, leading local jazz spokesman and disc jockey.

An engraved, heart-shaped plaque, citing him for his contribution to jazz in 1959-60, was laid on the boss sound man.

The platter spinner who conducts the way out "House of Jazz" show on a local radio station, was also praised for "combating elements that have plagued jazz over the airwaves."

IN THE ABSENCE of Lenny Moore, sound hound and flying fleet-footed flash of the Baltimore Colts, Dr. Benjamin J. Kimbers laid it on Roz. Lenny was delayed in D.C. with a minor accident.

Now Dr. Kimbers is a local dentist. But, don't latch on to the kick that he is the typical tortured drill and ivory polish man. The cat is out there!

His collection of cool sounds numbers more than 4,000 LP's. In his presentation spiel, he said:

"I've dug jazz from way back. Because it is played in my office all day, I have been called a beatnik.

"But they (customers) are getting the message. The conservatives who heretofore have called themselves patrons of the classics have been seen tapping their feet to the cool riffs as they wait their turn in the hot seat."

In the opinion of the dancer Doc that the sounds are doing in rock and roll. He added the fact that jazz plates cost far more broad than those of the big-beat. Yet they are letting the race in grabbing coins from sax.

GIVING THE Doc a hearty amen on this score was the "High Priest and Keeper of the Keys" of the 200-member society, Mr. Stanly (Little Daddy) Lipscomb. At last, MJS is making it.

"We have copped plexs in fine cause for the cool sound more than enough years. But until recently our barg didn't dig it.

"Now, according to concert attendance and album sales, this down town is with it. And to MJS it's like nice man, nice!"

Furnishing sounds for the occasion was the swinging Mickey Fields Quartet.

With Mickey on sax, Roosevelt Wardell on piano, Phil Harris, bass, and the whaling young blood, Harold White, on drums, their way-out swinging was much too much.

Adding her bit as featured vocalist, Margie Schaefer cooed prettily. And if she had headed the pleas for more, she would have chirped all night. GEORGE "Cool" COLLINS.
