THE KAPPA Silhouettes garnered Wilson's Restaurant for a post - Valentine supper dance last Friday.

Bernice Brown, chairman, and her committee decorated the rooms using the Valentine motif of red and white. Corsages were pinned with silhouette Valentines and the men with the Kappa insignia.

The tables were decorated with the same theme and held the cutest Valentine place cards, compliments of Marilyn French. Cocktails were served prior to the dinner.

After a sumptuous meal and good conversation, Charles Tildon (Polemarch) and Nathaniel Uncles called for a good strong sign and prepared to rock into the "Madison."

Sweetest point in the evening was the forming of the "magic circle" as the men (led by Donald Matthews) serenaded their Valentines with the Kappa Sweetheart song, Charles Tildon (Louise) and Eddie Watson (Bernice) waltzed to the strains of the sweetheart song.

The following were present:

Messrs. and Mesdames Elwood Brown, Joseph Boston, Clarmont P. Carpenter Jr., Walt Carr, Robert Haynes, Richard Hobson, Melvin Johnson, Donald Matthews, Robert McQueen;

Dr. and Mrs. Laws Nickens, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Paog, Melville W. Pugh,

Dr. and Mrs. Ulhman Ray, Messrs. and Mesdames Richy, Enos E. Roberts, George Russell, George Taliaferro, Erroll Taylor, Edward Thornton, Charles Tildon, Norman R. Uncles, H. Wallace, Edward Z. Watson; and Dr. and Mrs. Archie Robinson.

THOSE VERSATILE Lawyers Wives are at it again.

Remember their fashion show of last year, when they modeled, narrated and even did their own entertaining during admission? (Entertainer Ethel Ennis ... Mrs. Jacques Leeds ... accompanied herself at the piano ... augmented, of course — for some very smooth crooning).

This year, to promote their pet project, the aiding of a worthy law student, the gals are plotting a hot show and card party on April 2nd, at eight in the evening, at Morgan College.

A "hearts and flowers" decor and repast in the Forest Park home of the Solomon Baylors set the mood for discussing the affair, President Margaret Mason and the other Wives are giving excellent support to Chairman Doris Cole.

Assisting Thelma Baylor as hostesses were Bernice Buckner and Martha Allen.

Also at the session were Lucille Fitzgerald, Marcella Compton, Catherine Greene, Anna Williams, Shirley Hargrove, Daisy Joyce, Margaret Koger, Jacquelyn Watts and Zaidee Koger.

THE DIANA KANE models ushered in the bright new look at a spectacular fashion show and cabaret party on Saturday at Wilson's Restaurant.

Every seat was filled with smartly dressed Kane patrons and the air was heavy with anticipation as Willia Bland, radiant in white brocade dinner suit and three - tiered white fox stole, began her welcoming remarks.

From the first appearance of Mary Payne in palest blue nylon sleeping creation, the show went easily thereafter by play-time garments, classic and contemporary daytime apparel beach wear, after six ensembles and original hat creations by Mr. Albert and furs by Mitchell.

The best kept secret of the year was revealed with the latest Diana Kane acquisition, Bernard Byrd. He was suave in continental interpreted attire.

Doris Allen and Catherine Highower designed and created the stunning cocktail dresses which they modeled, while Regina Britton showed important new hats with great chic.

At one point in the show, Florence Bowen removed a lavish Persian lamb great coat trimmed with mink to reveal a startling Bikini bathing suit ... speaking of a switch!

Lucille Kane, director of the group, was a real show stealer in black velvet with gold leaf embroidered cocktail overalls.

The Afro Jazz Quintet played excellent background music throughout the show and for rid compositions for dancing afterwards.

Interpretive dancing was by the Lee Dance Trio during the intermission.

THANK YOU ladies, keep up the good work, will be the theme of the reception Dr. Charles Ward is giving at his home on Sunday afternoon.

Dr. Ward is superintendent of Crownsville State Hospital.

The reception that he and Mrs. Ward are giving will honor members of the Women's Auxiliary headed by Mrs. Simon Carter.

Time is 2 to 5 p.m.

By the way, the Ladies Auxiliary will soon open a new canteen in the HV Building where very sick patients live.

This new canteen is done in lovely restful colors, turquoise and pink — should be very pretty when it is completed next month.

AND, recently, the Auxiliary installed 25 television tables (total cost $1,000) so that the television sets are now out of locked cages overhead and on a level with patients so they may operate them.

Earlier, the Auxiliary had installed five large television sets and serviced the 8 older sets throughout the hospital.

Another new Auxiliary project: establishment of a $1,000 loan fund for use of the professional staff.

More good news coming from the Auxiliary about its plans for the remainder of the year. Its meeting next Thursday, March 3, at 8 p.m. in the Mondawmin Methodist Church.

MISSES Andrea Hill and Ernestine Jones, Western High School students, were participants on the National Brotherhood Week program sponsored by Iota Chapter of Lambda Kappa Mu Sorority at the YWCA, Saturday.

They served on a panel discussion on "What Brotherhood Means to Us." There was a great deal of maturity displayed as these students aired their attitudes and approach to this controversial subject. A question and answer period ensued.

Soror Eleanor Moore added a delightful touch to the program with her rendition of "No Man Is An Island."

The program followed the business session of the regular monthly meeting of the sorors. A colorful repast featuring decoration and color scheme appropriate to George Washington's birthday, was served by Helen S. DeLeaver, Josephine Maxwell, Mary Mitchell, Eleanor Moore and Theodosia Owens hostesses.

Sorors present were:

Gladys C. Baird, Lucy J. Bond, Elsie Bowser, Eunice Brooks, Helen Brown, Valerie Brown, Doris Davis, Imogene Douglas, Fannie Ewell, Fannie Glascoe, Veta Greig, Glynnia K. Hill;

Frankie Hinchon, Pearl Jackson, Lillian B. Johnson, Myrtle Jones, Esther Morris, Susie Myles, Arabella Ross, Bertha Sembly, Bettye Shelton;

Zerita Skates, Dorothy Smith, Geraldine L. Smith, Iona Smith, Hattie Tilghman and Louise G. Turks. Naomi D. Johnson is basileus.

FUN BECAME the order of business as the Alpha Wives gathered Tuesday in their clubroom 910 Edmondson Ave. for their February meeting.

The only serious note was the report of the committee for the weekend trip. The group will leave Baltimore for New York May 20 and return May 22. The meeting adjourned.

Then the merriment got underway ... Yes you guessed it — The Madison Line. In the act were Frances Pennington, Thelma Lawrence, Mary Pitts, Susan King, Rubye Walker, Maxene Higginbotham, Ella Edgerly, Cecilia Hayshem, Marguerite Brown, Lucille Fitzgerald, Shirley Pinkett and M. Francis Mackay.

The hostesses were Mae Campbell, chairman; Catherine Adams, Hilda Higgins and Merrial Brinkley.

Confined to Provident Hospital where she underwent surgery is Ada Veney, vice - president of Alpha Wives — send a get well card.

Next meeting is March 22.

The Rev. Mr. Daniel has been a patient at Provident Hospital for a week after minor surgery.

We Wives hostesses at dinner-dance

The We Wives garnered a goodly crowd of the haute monde at the Variety Club for an evening of sipping, dining and dancing, Saturday.

To this end they had enough out - of - towners about to lend sparkle; a luscious catered supper, and the Hi Tones, with their songstress, entrancing Dot Kelly, to perfect the plans they had plotted.

And so, to coin a well-known expression, a good ... a mighty good time was had by all.

Not only was it a good time, but a highly eye-filling evening.

ELLA EDEMY'S chicly fitted white sheath will its twist of a ballet neck was attention attracting, and Kay Cater's beige satin had a deep decollette square neck.

Roberta Keets chose a chaste blue chiffon which, too had a square neckline, and Gwendolyn Tarter was smart in white satin.

Gwendolyn Spencer highlighted her pink brocade with red bag and shoes, and Ida Smith, her beige tunic frock with a huge red rose at mid-riff. Wore with it snarky rose printed black silk pumps.

Prettiest of pretty red frocks was the silk organza selected by Bettye Phillips, a strapless affair with a bell-shaped overskirt draped at the front the folds emphasize with huge self-material bows. Red sandals, long white gloves completed the ensemble.

Also lovely in red were Bea Wright, her frock snugly fitted, Miss Underwood, the skirt of whose frock was full and flowing.

VOGUE-ISH Verniece Reynolds wore black for the evening, and husband Medford gave her a close ... sh for high style. His dinner coat was of gray flecked Italian silk, his shirt of fine embroidered white broadcloth, and his black tie a mere excuse.

Also in black, crepe and sequins, was Priscilla Lansey, while Adele Foreman chose the charm of pale pink satin sprinkled with tiny red dots. Iris Mapp, always elegant, was, this time in soft green satin.

Ada Weaver was chic in white lace sheath, highlighted with red satin pumps; Margaret Armstrong, a black and white plaid skirt topped with black bodice; and Mae Dyson, pale blue lace and taffeta.

Ruby Reid's gown was also in a blue tone, it being white lace piped over blue and a ruff of pale blue chiffon forming a swag ... while Ivy Grinnage chose soft coral chiffon and a different note. Lillian Ross' royal blue frock had the prettiest sculptured neckline seen in many a day.

THE PARTY was the Wives' annual Valentine affair, with each greeting a flower-decked, candle-lighted table. The men in their lives displayed a variety of the guests' favorite drinks.

Taking on latter duties were Independent Keets, Frank Phillips, Glenn Tarter, Walter Dyson, Benjamin Foreman, Lee Wright, Medford Reynolds, Lawrence Mapp, Gaines Lansey, Sheldon Grinnage, Jones, Edward Smith and David Rice of Chicago.

THE HOSTESSES were:

Mesdames Vernice Reynolds, who was chairman of the party committee; Bettye Phillips, president of the club; Ivy Grinnage, Ada Weaver, Lillian Ross; also Mesdames Ida Smith, Roberta Keets, Gwendolyn Tarter, Mae Dyson, Adela Foreman, Ruby Reid, Iris Mapp, Priscilla Lansey and Margaret Armstrong.

downtown theatres, some drive-ins and the major hotels. One remaining difficulty is the "again - off - again" policy pursued by some managers and the maintenance of resistance to fair practices by some restaurants. A recent survey by Hopkins students revealed that some eating places in the university area barred Chinese.

The speaker pointed to public housing and the hospital situation as still pressing problems and suggested four steps for council action. The local Catholic hospital situation was described by the speaker as unspeakably bad.

He told of the failure of the administrator of one hospital to keep an appointment with him and the frustration of his efforts and attempts to confer with the sister - in - charge.

The meeting followed mass and a coffee hour, Miss Anita Williams spoke of her attending Fr. Lafargue's eigtieth birthday celebration last week in New York City. Fr. Lafargue is the founder of interracial councils.
