Classy Loyola 5 Dunbar foe today

Two teams which may well be the best in the city stand between one another for the Division 2 crown in the Maryland Scholastic Association — and they clash today (Friday).

The classy Loyola five journeys to Dunbar High gym to meet the Poets in a showdown battle for the division title and the right to meet the Division 1 victor for the MSA championship next week.

LOYOLA, HAVING trounced Dunbar in their first of two meetings a month ago, looms as favorite to repeat. Even coach Sugar Cain is willing to admit that his boys are facing an extremely rugged foe.

"They're a really solid club through their first six men," the Dunbar mentor told the AFRO before the contest. "I think we may be a little better down the line — that is considering our bench strength.

"But Alex Cummings, Red Franz and Jody Satterfield make them tough, if we can't control them, we're dead.

"This is it," Cain lamented. "There's no tomorrow for either of us if we don't do it today."

IN SINGLING out the three Loyola big guns, Cain must be having been paying tribute to the lefthanded marksmanship of Cummings, and the brilliant under - the - basket talents of Franz.

The former is only 5-11, but his deadly eye has meant much to the Dons' success this winter. In Franz, Loyola possesses a 6-4 center with a magic rebounding touch. Throughout the season, Red has controlled both offensive and defensive boards for his mates, a most important item.

Satterfield serves as the team's floor general. He is smart and cagey, in addition to being 6-2.

"He's one of their most valuable men," says Cain. "He is the only player left from the team that met our first championship outfit. And he shows the benefit of four years of experience."

TODAY'S VICTOR qualifies to meet the winner of the Dunbar Poly contest, played yesterday (Thursday) afternoon at Poly.

Should the Poets win, it will mark the third time in four years that they have made the championship playoff. On two of these occasions, they triumphed to take the MSA crown. This includes the one last year which they captured by routing Patterson Park.

Huge throng watches pro cagers cavort at Md.

By SAM LACY

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — A disappointed crowd of nearly 15,000 fans watched Wednesday night as the world champion Boston Celtics humbled the Minneapolis Lakers, 121-110, at the University of Maryland.

Many in the strong of 13,581 cash - on - the - line customers who overran Cole Fieldhouse, were there to cheer for Elgin Baylor, the 23 - year - old, former Washington high school boy, who was making his first pro appearance before the hometown, admirers. But Baylor, dead tired from four road games in the last five days, showed only flashes of his great talent.

That accounted for the disappointment, a situation that could not be saved by the knowledge that they were witnessing in action one of the finest clubs in the history of basketball.

• • •

THE CELTICS, moving ever closer to the Eastern Division crown in the National Basketball Association, already are won the world title in a playoff with the same Lakers in 1959.

Boston's triumph marked her 53rd for the campaign, and this is a record for the league even with two weeks of the schedule remaining.

• • •

WHAT EXTRA satisfaction the fans got, it came from the sleight - of - hand dribbling, passing and shooting of Bob Cousy and the great all - round teamwork of the champions.

With rookie Rudy LaRusso setting the pace, the Lakers jumped in front early and at one stage of the first period were leading by as many as seven points. The young Dartmouth stringbean, however, could not go it alone and, as a consequence, the Celtics gradually whittled away at the advantage until it disappeared entirely.

• • •

THEN IT became the lot of Cousy, Russell and Co., to keep the fans entertained. The former put on behind - the - back dribbles, did a fantastic show of unorthodox passing and, once, dropped in a swishing shot without even looking at the basket.

Russell, by the same token, thrilled the audience with his spectacular rebounding, clearing the boards at both ends of the long court, passing off or shooting as the opportunity arose.

• • •

SAM JONES and K. C. Jones joined in the party (for Boston) as did the old reliables, Bill Sharman and Bill Heinsohn. In short, it was Celtic night from the beginning of the second quarter.

Baylor and his mates were alternately haggard and dull. Never were they the sharp unit which spilled the favored St. Louis Hawks from the role of defending titlists last year. Nor did they look like the contenders they were early in the season when they were impressing in television victories.

How I Serve Rated "A" Blend Whiskey But Save $1 Or More A Fifth

By Wilfred Van Ryh

I serve better quality whiskey but pay less because I get on facts well known in the liquor industry.

Distilling is strictly regulated quality controlled. Throughout the entire industry experts identify whiskey blend quality as either A, B or C. Yet some people more for a B or C blend than an "A."

How come? Because 91 or so of highly advertised whiskey costs is in things unimportant to quality: shipping, warehousing, labels, jobbers' mark-ups. I refuse to pay for things that add nothing to quality.

Fact: PRIDE OF BALTIMORE Blended Whiskey is rated "A" — the same rating as given every respect as the highest priced A blends.

Yet PRIDE OF BALTIMORE, blended and bottled here, saves the $1 or so others must spend on things that can't effect whiskey quality. Better Quality For Less

Bullets in for rough weekend

The Bullets plunge into their toughest schedule stretch this Eastern League basketball season since the Christmas weekend when they open a three-game slate, two straight on the road, Friday night in Wilkes-Barre.

After tangling with the Barons, the Bullets visit first place Easton at Phillipsburg, N.J., Saturday, then return home Sunday afternoon to tangle with Williamsport in a televised contest. It will be Hamilton Sports Boosters Day.

• • •

COACH BUDDY JEANNETTE'S charges, again only a game away from first, need only one victory to clinch a tie for a first division spot and just two to assure a spot in the league's postseason championship series which open March 12.

Big Bull Spivey continues to lead the offensive. He tallied 58 points in last week's two-game sweep from Scranton and Hazleton to hike his totals to 785 points, only 13 shy of league leader Tom Hemans of Williamsport.

• • •

MAURICE KING'S playmaking enabled the former Kansas cager to set a new Bullet assist record in Eastern League competition with 13 against Scranton Saturday night. Ralph Beard, with 11 against Easton last winter, held the old mark.

Charley Robinson, the local boy who did his college playing at Virginia Union, is expected to see more action this weekend too. A tough rebounder, he impressed with his follow-up shooting against Scranton and Hazelton.

—Douglass gets title

Ducks, off slowly and playing in - and - out ball through the better part of the season, were moving fastest of all at the end. Last at the semester break, they climbed to third place at the finish.

• • •

HAVING SEALED its division crown, Douglass now can relax this afternoon (Friday) as Dunbar and Loyola battle it out for the right to meet the Ducks in the playoff next week.

Payne and his boys wrapped up at least a tie for the division title two days earlier. On Tuesday, they whipped Patterson Park, 45-31, to avenge the only loss on their MSA slate for the campaign.

A MONTH AGO, the Clippers had taken the measure of the Ducks, 48-42. For a while Tuesday, it looked as though they were bent on another upset.

But Bill Hailey and Frank James rallied the Ducks from their one - point halftime advantage, 19-18, to move out in the second half and win with daylight between them.

Elroy Vaughn tallied 16 points to lead the winning pace, but Hailey's backcourt genius and James' strong board work were major factors in the Douglass triumph.

City's sports coach, Stevens, dies at 56

Funeral services were held on Saturday for Linwood Paul Stevens, who for over 19 years organized sporting teams throughout the city to provide boys with a good means of recreation and to combat juvenile delinquency.

Mr. Stevens, 56, 325 N. Payson St., died at Johns Hopkins Hospital on Feb. 17.

A native of Lovington, Va., Mr. Stevens came to Baltimore in 1924, and in that year, he became a member of Leadenhall Baptist Church.

For 15 years, he was employed at Lexington Market; and for the last 26 years, he was a shipping clerk at the Chemical Plastic Division of Fgod Machinery Chemical Corporation.

He was married to Miss Susanne Johnson of Baltimore on Dec. 17, 1941.

WHILE AN evening student here in Baltimore, he became interested in the training of athletes.

Over 15 trophies for league and city championships were won by his teams.

Mr. Stevens was instrumental in the work of the Clipper Athletic Club.

He was active in the YMCA, the American Sports Federation of Maryland and many sporting affairs throughout the nation.

Mr. Stevens became ill on Dec. 19, and was taken to John Hopkins Hospital on Dec. 11.

Several days after Christmas, he returned home, and his condition was reported good until Feb. 11.

Reentering the hospital on Feb. 12, Mr. Stevens remained there until his death, on Wednesday, Feb. 17.

Besides his wife, Mr. Stevens is survived by two daughters.

Johnson dumps Cherry Hill 5

Cherry Hill Junior High's basketball team was defeated by the narrow margin of 31-30 by Harvey Johnson Junior High on the latter's court.

Donald Hall and William Washington took the scoring honors for Cherry Hill with eight points each. Johnson Junior High's Pinckney was tops with 12 points.

In a preliminary game, Johnson Junior High's junior team, made up of 10 pounders, topped Cherry Hill's junior team 25-18.

In a return game one week later Johnson Junior High avenged their second victory by one point over Cherry Hill by a score of 24-23.

Johnson's Pinckney again led the team in scoring with nine points. Charles Strawder was high for Cherry Hill with eight points.

The preliminary game ended with the visiting team's junior squad winning 17-14.

OUTGRACED BY GRACIE — Glenn Atkins, Douglass High School diver, performs a difficult feat in MSA competition at Edmondson High pool. Graceful though he was, Atkins and other contestants were bettered by James Gracie of Poly. Undefeated in junior varsity competition in the first semester, Atkins was promoted to the No. 2 diving spot behind Ronald King by Douglass coaches in February.

CIAA swim at Morgan

A three - team battle for the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conference swimming championship got under way here yesterday (Thursday) afternoon at the Morgan State College pool.

Contesting the Golden Bears of Coach Stewart Brooks, will be mermen from Howard University and Hampton Institute. These same three schools were prominent in the annual conference meet here last year.

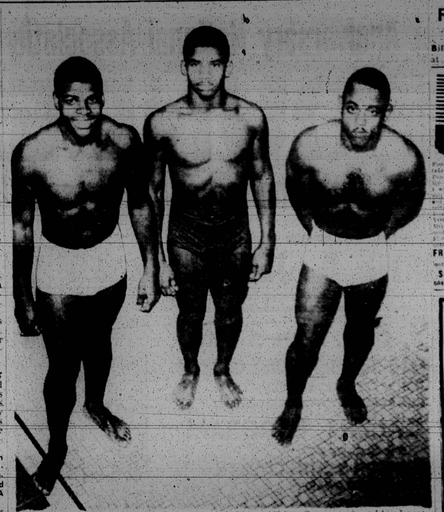
THE THREE - DAY program got under way with a time trial event in the individual medley followed by one meter diving trials.

Today's (Friday) sessions are set for 12:30 and 7:30 p.m. The finals are scheduled for 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. on Saturday.

• • •

MORGAN'S REGGIE HOLT is champion in the 200 - yard medley and backstroke. His teammate, Don Johnson is tops in the 100 - yard butterfly and 200 - yards. Howard's Clifter Bears hoping to retain laurels are Martin Cruise, 1-meter-diving, and Turner, 100-yard free-style over a 25-yard course. Turner broke a CIAA in this event recently.

Howard also has defenders in Chandler Wynn, 100-yard free-style (20-yard course), and Mel Ford, 1,500 meters. Hampton owns a pair of middle distance rulers in Carl Miller and Lloyd Lee.



DOUGLASS DIVERS — Samuel Green (center), junior varsity diving champion of the Maryland Scholastic Association, is flanked by varsity teammates Roland King (left) and Glenn Atkins. Green captured top honors in JV competition, and King, previously unbeaten, finished second in varsity events, edged by James Gracie of Poly. Atkins was unplaced.

Q—Have you seen Mr. Sample lately?

A—Yes, she visited my home, twice to my knowledge. Once she was alone and once with another young lady whose name I do not know.

Q—Who took you about the accusation was?

A—He told me it was the most alarming thing to him mostly because it was not true.

• • •

MR. PLUNKETT, Sample's teammate, told the court he first heard the news of the pending paternity charge from the young woman and had informed his friend.

"I never knew him to take a girl out," Mr. Plunkett said.

In summing up the case, State's Attorney Wheeler told the court:

"I feel this young lady would never have come into this courtroom if her accusation had not been true.

• • •

MR. SAMPLE'S attorney argued and Judge Manley agreed with him, that "the evidence does not warrant a finding of guilt. This is an unusual case which lacks that certain something which would make me believe her evidence is true.

"This man (Sample) has a reputation for truth and veracity which is good. This is not a man given to running around and carousing around."

Western District Magistrate Calvin Douglass sat at the counsel table and left with the plaintiff and her family after the charge was dismissed.

When Judge Manley said the words, "not guilty," the prosecuting witness was standing in the rear of the courtroom holding a baby girl, who had become restless during the two-hour hearing, and had been taken outside by a relative.

As Sample left our courtroom, a sigh of relief when the not-guilty verdict was given. The Sample's lingered in the courtroom to chat with friends after the trial.

Glen Burnie upsets Annapolis cagers

By BOB PINKNEY

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Glen Burnie High, spearheaded by the pop - gun shooting of ranger Harold Blondeau, with 19 points, outplayed, outshot, and outguilted Annapolis Friday night on the winners floor to roll up a convincing 62 - 48 County League victory.

Not only did the red - hot Gophers tear down a 14-game winning streak coach Bill Best boys had put together, but forced the County League race into a March 1st playoff between the two rage Titans at Severna Park High.

The winner of that contest will meet the second place opponent in the District 3 Tournament at College Park next month.

Glen Burnie left nothing to be desired, and made it plain and clear that AHS previous 77-58 victory earlier was noth-

Village, which is all colored.

Judge Maylan held the motion sub curia and the boy was sent to Boys Village.

In attacking the action, the complaint alleges that Boys Village is a racially segregated school which cannot provide a youngster with rehabilitation and training equal to that provided at Maryland Training School.

The complaint says that such segregation constitutes "physical and psychological inequality under the 14th Amendment to the Constitution" and is a denial of constitutional rights.

WHILE THE SUIT was filed on behalf of a boy, it also attacked segregation at the Montrose Training School for Girls, which limits its inmates to members of the white race.

The complaint makes the same allegations against segregation of girl offenders and says that the Barrett Training School for Girls, an all colored institution, is inferior to Montrose.

Segregation at the four youth institutions has been under fire for some time and the State Department of Welfare, which is charged with over all supervision of the schools, has attempted to have the charter of the Montrose School changed so that colored girls could be admitted.

However, the General Assembly refused to give its approval to such a move and the Department said it was powerless to act unless the schools could be integrated by legislative or judicial action.

"The present suit is designed to get a judicial opinion on the legality of segregation in the training schools that will serve as a guide in the future.

Named as defendants in the suit are members of the State Department of Welfare and members of the boards of the four schools.

Q—Was she late because pregnant?

A—In November.

Q—What year?

A—1957

Q—When did you give birth?

A—Aug. 19, 1959. (sic)

Q—Did you ever write him, did you collect Mr. Sample?

A—Yes, I did. I wrote him several letters and I wrote to his parents and I didn't hear anything from him at a man, all I wanted was support for my child.

"He told me he and his wife were separated and he was getting a divorce and that we would eventually be married. But that was just talk.

Q—Did you ever go to your house?

A—Yes.

Q—Did you ever go to your house?

A—Not a penny.

Q—Did he visit?

A—He visited in Oct. 1957 on the weekend of the 12th, and on the 13th.

Q—Did he visit after the child was born?

A—Yes. During the summer of 1958, once in Sept. or Oct.

Q—Did you have conversation with him about your condition at that time?

A—We never talked right out. When I brought the baby to see him he told me not to come down because of the embarrassment to my family and he would go as a big league player.

Q—Did you ever have sex with him?

A—Yes.

Q—Do you know he produced children?

A—Yes.

Q—Do you know of your own knowledge that he produced children?

A—No, he didn't.

Q—Did you have sex between 1 and 2 p.m. such day?

A—No, that didn't. Most of the time after meal time. And I didn't say it was late in question was during the football season.

Q—Was it?

A—In January.

Q—Was your kids war with you?

A—I explained a friend of Sample's asked me if he could see me.

Q—She then established the friends went to the movies, went to restaurant and she and John were alone.

Q—Was that the first time was near the end of Oct.

A—Yes.

Mr. Wheeler read a letter to the court in which she requested that the court withdraw the charges which she decided to go ahead with the charges.

A—I don't want to see him.

Q—Do you see any reason why I should make motion to withdraw?

A—No.

DENYING THE girls charges, Sample, a handsome, clean-cut youth, gave the following testimony:

Q—Tell us what was the situation in regard to requirements of the football team, especially Friday and the football season?

A—We always have practice at 3 p.m. Friday afternoon. If we have no games. The boys were alone. Friday was if we had classes or were late we had to be back at 11 or earlier, if possible.

Q—With respect to the halftime trip, what did you make a trip with that other couple?

A—No, sir. I didn't. No time at all.

Q—Do you know these people with whom you were arranged to have double dated?

A—Yes. He is a very good friend of mine and the girl now lives in Philadelphia. One night we went out and we were going to a movie, and I saw her there.

Q—Tell us what you was expected to do the supposed intimacies outside of Miss Aimee? Did they occur?

A—No, sir. Not at that time or any other time. I was expected to be a big league player, and my college coach told me not to have anything to do with women during football season.

Q—Tell us how the extent of your relations with Miss Aimee was.

A—I tried to be as friendly with her as possible. I was a gentleman.

Q—What about your calling at her home?

A—After the Maryland State, Morgan game, we and a certain of her friends were looking for a ride, and we took her home.

Q—When did you first hear of the complaint?

A—Sherman Plunkett and "Daddy"—Eugene Lipscomb came to me at practice one day sometime in Nov., 1958 and told me they were in a car with her and she stated she was going to make me take care of her child.

Q—Do you have any children by your wife?

A—Yes. A boy born March 4, 1956.

Q—Was you were at Md State—Morgan game you were a married man?

A—Yes.

Mrs. Sample wore a gold-plaid suit and was hatless for her courtroom appearance.

She corroborated her husband's testimony, telling of his desires to be a great football player.

She said such desires kept him from going against his wife's wishes, and before they were married, he had always conducted himself as a gentleman with her.

Under cross-examination, she testified as follows:

Q—How long have you known him?

A—I knew him before we went to school.

Q—Did you visit him at Princess Anne?

A—Yes, on several occasions. Once at homecoming. I met Miss Aimee.

A—That has never been one of his characteristics. I ever since he knew him, he has wanted to be a great man and he wouldn't do anything to harm it.

Q—Reference was made to marital difficulties and divorce.

A—We have never had any trouble. We have been happily married.

THE LANDLORD, Mr. Spellman, is the husband of Mrs. Mary C. Spellman, Morgan State College assistant dean of women. He gave his address as the 2300 block Poplar Grove St.

Mr. Spellman said he had invited Mr. Sample to live in his home because they were both graduates of Md. State, and Mr. Sample had the kind of character he admired.

"I do not smoke, and he doesn't either, and I like that," Mr. Spellman explained.

Highlight of Mr. Spellman's testimony:

Q—Was it anything unusual for old fraternity brothers to come to your home while he was with you?

A—We entertain such frequently, to congratulate him on making the Colts team, and it seemed the other boys at my home since the fall of 1958 when he first joined the Colts until this season was over. Miss . . . called personal times and on some occasions she identified herself, and on some the video for always asked for John. On the report said why she wanted him. Sometimes it would be other boys getting signatures and photos in the corner. Her sister came with her once.

Q—What was the conversation on these visits?

A—No more conversation than you would make on a television show on
