NAACP attorney guest speaker at Douglas Church

WASHINGTON

Oliver W. Hill, attorney of Richmond, Va., will be the speaker for the Layman's Day program at the Douglas Memorial Methodist Church, 1410 and H Sts., NE, Sunday, March 13 at 11 a.m.

Mr. Hill, who received both his bachelor and law degrees from Howard University, is serving as chairman of the State Conference of NAACP branches in Virginia and is well know for his legal work in connection with school desegregation in that state.

FATHER Joseph M. Connolly, SSJ of St. Gregory the Great Catholic Church, Gilmor and Baker Sts., distributes ashes to a parishioner before 7 o'clock mass Ash Wednesday as "Lent" season opened.

U.S. has no lesson to teach S. Africa

"We have no lessons to teach their home country and have the United States now does the right to vote.

United States have a lesson to teach us.

"We can look at you (U.S.) well people, who are of mixed blood and have the right to vote for four white Assembly members to represent their interest.

"Often million Bantu citizens 3 African inhabitants who have been assimilated in the tribes of the Union, have no voting privileges.

430,000 Asiatics which consist of Chinese and Indians who also have no voting privileges.

The purpose of the Social Service Association is to keep a liaison between the prisoner and his family, and to help him find work when he is released.

We minister to all prisoners over 18, regardless of race, color or creed; we deal with every case on its merit.

"This is often difficult because the law says that every racial group must be kept segregated.

"This is a great problem for our social workers.

"Telling how racial segregation operates in South Africa, Bishop Cowper said that "according to the Group Area Act, any person living out of the area of his racial group is forced to move to another area.

"There is compensation paid, but compensation paid to non-whites is much less than that paid to whites."

When asked the churches stand on racial problems, the Bishop Cowrey replied that the official attitude of the church is against Apartheid (segregation); however, the law prevents integration in the church.

The only stand the church can make is by constant protest." he said.

BISHOP COWREY continued, "Every non - white inhabitant of the community must have a pass at all time.

Requiem mass Saturday for Albert G. Hall Sr.

High Requiem Mass will be sung on Saturday for Albert G. Hall Sr., 2223 Gwynns Falls Pkwy., at Our Lady of Lourdes, Edgewood Rd. near Liberty Heights Ave., at 10 a.m.

Mr. Hall, 64, died on Tuesday at President Hospital. He had been ailing for a week.

He was born in Blue Mount (Baltimore County).

He had been employed by the Housing Authority of Baltimore City for approximately 10 years.

A born Catholic, Mr. Hall comes from five generations of Catholics.

The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Hall, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eunice Berry Hall; a daughter, Mrs. Audrey H. Thomas; two sons, Albert Jr. and Dr. William M. Hall; two brothers, Basil of Phoenix, Md. and William of Preston, N.J.

Four sisters, Mrs. Ethel May Hall of New York, Miss Elizabeth Hall, of Princeton, N.J., Mrs. Rosa Brown of Baltimore and Mrs. Ruth Thomas, of New York; five grandchildren.

Mrs. Clara M. Taylor

Funeral services were held Thursday at Grace Memorial Baptist Church for Mrs. Clara M. Taylor, 47, 1431 E. Preston St., who died Sunday at Johns Hopkins Hospital after a weeks illness. Burial was in Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. Taylor was the wife of Elijah Taylor and the sister of Mrs. Doris Burrell Rice, wife of mortician Charles A. Rice.

Mrs. Taylor was born June 16, 1912, in Lewes, Del., daughter Joseph L. and the late Edwina Street.

She and Mr. Taylor were married Feb. 14, 1953 and celebrated their seventh wedding anniversary this year.

SHE WAS a member of Grace Memorial Baptist Church for five years and was a deaconess.

She is survived by her husband; Mrs. Taylor; a stepson, Donald Taylor; another sister, Mrs. Annie Eichnie, Washington; three brothers, Joseph S., Washington, Preston St., Wilmington, and Evans St., Lewes, Del.

Two honored at New Shiloh

The New Shiloh Baptist Church, under the sponsorship of the Missionary Society and the Sunday School, recently paid honors to Mrs. Josephine Venable, and Mrs. Estella Flournoy as president and superintendent of these two auxiliaries, respectively, for their 10 years of faithful service.

The session was a banquet the lower auditorium of the church.

A program was presented with Mrs. William L. Jeffries as mistress of ceremonies.

THE TESTIMONIAL address was given by the Rev. Mrs. Cora Lyles, grand matron of Eastern Stars, of which honoree are members.

Bringing greetings from the United Baptist Missionary Women's Convention of Maryland was Mrs. Bessie Barrow, president, and from the Sunday School, Convention by its president, Mrs. Mabel Gee.

Many lovely gifts and donations were given by the New Shiloh Baptist Church Sunday School, Missionary Society, Junior Church, Elementary School, PTA, Union Baptist Church on Scarrows Point and the Mt. Olive Baptist Church, Turner Station.

Closing remarks were made by the Rev. William L. Jeffries, associate minister, New Shiloh Baptist Church and the Rev. James A. Everett, pastor.

Four bodies buried in deep snow

"Nothing slows us down," said a friendly graveyard superintendent, Roland Hall, Thursday about 4:15 p.m. as he prepared to close the Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Mr. Hall told the AFRO that the cemetery had buried four bodies during the severe snow storm which dumped more than eight inches snow on Baltimore.

The burials were held at 11 a.m., 2 and 3 and 4:10 p.m., Mr. Hall disclosed.

However, Baltimore National Cemetery officials firmly told the AFRO: "No, indeed, no burials."

Calls to Arbutus Memorial Cemetery and Westview Memorial Gardens offices gave no information. The phone rang but there was no answer.

Sunday services for Mrs. Ethel Burleigh

Funeral services will be held for Mrs. Ethel Burleigh, 28, the daughter of Mrs. Amy Burley and the late Oliver Burley, 227 N. Fulton Ave., on Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Morton and Dyett Funeral Home, 801 N. Fremont Ave.

Mrs. Burleigh died in New York on Monday, following a week's illness.

A native of Baltimore, she went to Brooklyn, N.Y. about ten years ago to live with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Peterson.

Mrs. Burleigh's last visit to Baltimore was for the March 14 funeral service for her father, Oliver Burley.

She had been ailing during the visit.

BESIDES HER mother and sister, Betty, Mrs. Burleigh is survived by sisters, Miss Ida Burley of White Plain, N.Y., and Mesdames Annie Turner Helen Miller, and Rosetta Mathews; three brothers, Harrison, James and Richard Burley (all of Baltimore).

Two children, Sheppard, 7, and Sheri, 1; 14 nephews and 12 nieces.

Benjamin Jordan

Funeral services were held for Benjamin Jordan, 72, 1133 N. Mount St., at Kelson Funeral Home on Thursday with the Rev. Rufus Dargean officiating.

Mr. Jordan died at his home suddenly on Sunday.

The retired stevedore was a native of Baltimore.

He is survived by three sisters: Mrs. Elizabeth Hooper, Miss Daisy Jordan and Mrs. Maggie Eyans of Jamaica, N.Y.

Tawes' teacher-pay plan now state law

ANNAPOLIS — Gov. J. Millard Tawes' pay raise plan for state teachers is now official.

The Governor signed Senate Bill No. 28 here Wednesday, which calls for a minimum salary scale of from $3,200 to $5,300, and a $300 increase for teachers with 11 or more years of experience.

Baltimore teachers got no raise under the plan because the salary scale now is $4,500 to $7,250.

This is the pay plan Gov. Tawes stood firmly and stubbornly behind. It will cost the state less than $5,000,000.

Strong lobbying by the Maryland State Teachers Association for a $1,000 to $6,000 minimum pay scale failed to shake the Governor and his legislators.

THEIR PLAN would have cost the state almost $17,000,000.

The legislators did not budge when there was offered a plan to raise the additional funds by lowering the state tax exemption from $800 to $700.

They listened, but decided not to bend to against a proposal to allow the political subdivisions to use the $300 additional exemption teachers have used for other merit teachers instead, if they so desired.

They did bend a little and accept this proposal for Montgomery County — which has a $4,500 to $7,900 scale, the highest in the state.

Gov. Tawes announced strongly that he would give little consideration — and a majority of the legislators said they — to any proposal that would bring on a new tax.

The state's new budget calls for no new taxes the coming fiscal year.

Law-makers retreat from proposal to double their pay

ANNAPOLIS — The General Assembly members — in a last minute decision against voting to double their salaries — but it took a big strong threat to make them do it.

Hyman A. Pressman, a militant Baltimore attorney, took a long, sour look at the lawmakers proposal to raise their to $5,600.

He said loudly that this might be an opportune time to test the legality of their $20-a-day allowances for secretaries — whether they have them or not.

The lawmakers got the message. It was a threat that hurt. So — they did a two back, with a big strong right then back into the same old salary (Madison) line.

Sanford promises new illegitimacy bill

By MAX JOHNSON

ANNAPOLIS — "I am going to bring the bill back next year— and it's going to have plenty of teeth in it."

Sen. John L. Sanford Jr., (D. Worcester) was speaking here Wednesday evening, telling the AFRO he plans to press for legislation to provide penalties for bearing illegitimate children.

"I am also going to bring in bills," Sen. Sanford, a former state's attorney in his county, said, "against adultery, and fornication."

He had introduced a bill to abolish the existing state law against adultery, labelling the $10 fine provided on conviction as "ridiculous."

This Proposal— Senate Bill No. 96 died a committee death in the Senate.

SEN. SANFORD'S BILL to fine and imprison mothers who have more than two illegitimate children was killed in the House's Judiciary Committee late Tuesday— after successfully passing the Senate.

Senate Bill No. 91 received an unfavorable report by a 24 to 2 vote.

The Baltimore City delegation and those from Baltimore County planned to amend their sub - divisions from voting on the bill, stopped the Eastern Shore delegation from petitioning it to the House floor.

This would have automatically killed the bill also, under a constitutional provision that only financial and state emergency measures may be considered at a 30 - day General Assembly session.

The death of the bill came following its second public hearing Tuesday.

The Senate's Judicial Proceedings Committee held the first hearing on the bill last week.

THE BILL at that time called for fines up to $1,000 and of imprisonment up to three years for mothers who give birth to more than two illegitimate children.

Also, further mandatory penalties would be the taking away of all such mothers' children, prohibiting such mothers from ever receiving any type of welfare or state aid— and then sterilizing them.

The Senate Committee amended the bill by providing that:

1. The courts should decide whether to take away the mothers' children;

2. She would be denied any further aid under the Welfare Department's aid to dependent children program only;

3. Such offending mothers would not have to undergo sterilization.

State Department of Public Welfare officials and representatives of the churches and civic organizations appeared at the first public hearing to strongly protest the bill.

THOMAS J. S. WAXTER, director State Department of Public Welfare told the Senate committee:

"I think if you will attack the problem of racial segregation, you will do something about illegitimacy.

"I don't believe this is the way to do it.

"I don't believe we can be God and say you can't do this and that."

Howard H. Murphy, AFRO business manager and state Welfare Department board member, told the committee:

"WE WANT to correct the evils in our (ADC) program, but we want to do it honestly.

"I am a believer in planned parenthood.

"I do believe a large part of this problem could be solved with planned parenthood."

The Senate's amended version of Sen. Sanford's bill did not please the protestors. They asked for the Tuesday hearing after the bill reached the House.

THEY SAID the same things against the bill— only more forceful this time because they were disturbingly surprised that the bill had gotten the serious consideration to advance it this far.

As before, the hearing attracted a number of interested citizens.

Present Tuesday was a group of Morgan State College students in classes of State Government and Legislative Procedure and the Institute for Political Education.

Members of this group were: Joan W. Lipsomb; David L. Adderley; James Williams; Jeanette M. Eady; Allan A. Stephenson; Clifton Henry; Agustin Doward; Norma T. Duncan, Charles G. Nixon and Matthew Gillett.

Also, Joan Butler; Bertran Wingate; Judith Grant; Vernon Gray; Willard Clayton; Anthony Gray; Rudolph Henderson; Walter Gill; Horace Smith; Hogal Moseley; Larry L. Jackson, and Saug Robinson.

They were accompanied by Morgan professors, Dr. Dwynal Pettigill and Dr. Alexander Walker.

Liquor license fee hike rejected

ANNAPOLIS — A proposal to increase Baltimore's liquor license fees, was rejected by the Baltimore City delegation here Tuesday.

Also turned down was the plan of Baltimore's Mayor J. Harold Grady for a title transfer tax, both of which were aimed at aiding the city to meet its next year's budget.

Mayor Grady has sought and so far been denied a special session of the General Assembly to get approval of some measures to meet his city's next budget, now estimated to have an $8,500,000 deficit.

City Council approval of any further Baltimore planning along these lines will be necessary before serious consideration will be given to a special session of the General Assembly.

Court of Appeals

ANNAPOLIS — Gov. J. Millard Tawes on Wednesday signed into law Senate Bill No. 7, authorizing an increase of from five to seven the number of Court of Appeals judges.

proved by the House of Delegates, which called for a constitutional convention for the purpose of rewriting Mary. land's aged constitution.

House Bill No. 55 was killed by an 18 to 11 vote in the Senate. Tuesday it had passed the House by a 67 to 55 vote.

This greatly dimmed any chances of some reapportionment plan for more equitable political subdivisions' representation in the General Assembly within the near future.

An administration-backed reapportionment plan presented as a bill by a commission appointed by Gov. J. Millard Tawes to study this matter passed the Senate last week— but was killed in the House.

The bill to call the constitutional convention was sponsored by Jerome Robinson (D. 4th D., Balto.) House speaker pro tem.

House stops vote petition bill

ANNAPOLIS — A Senate amendment proposal to greatly increase the number of names required for a candidate to get on a general-election ballot was killed by the House of Delegates Wednesday.

Senate Bill No. 109, sponsored by Sen. J. Avlin Jones (D., 4th D., Balto.) and seven other Senators set a minimum requirement of 10,000 names for a state - wide election, and 5,000 voters' names on all other election ballots.

The existing law requires 5,000 names for a state - wide election; 1,500 for a congressional district race; 750 for elections involving candidates in a legislative district, and 300 certified voters' names in all other elections.

Balto. bail bond bill approved

ANNAPOLIS — Final General Assembly approval was given here Wednesday to a bill authorizing a $825,000 bond issue for the expansion of the Baltimore City jail.

House Bill No. 95, sponsored by Marvin Mandel (D. 5th D., Balto.) chairman of the Baltimore City Delegation, passed the house on Tuesday, and the Senate on Wednesday.

Traffic warrants stop new auto tags

ANNAPOLIS — If there is a warrant standing against you in connection with a motor vehicle violation, you will not be able to get your new auto tags until it is cleared.

Gov. J. Millard Tawes signed into law House Bill No. 12 Tuesday, which sets up this new state-side ruling.

This legislation, requested by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, was declared an emergency measure, and became effective with Gov. Tawes' signature.

Lawmakers approve illegitimacy study

ANNAPOLIS — Gov. J. Millard Tawes signed legislation here Tuesday, authorizing him to appoint a special commission to study and report on the problems of illegitimacy among recipients of Public Welfare monies in the aid to dependent children program.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 1 directs that such a commission, when appointed, organize promptly and submit a report and recommendations to the Legislative Council not later than the coming Oct. 1.

2 plead guilty to lottery; fined $750

Two defendants were fined a total of $750 in Criminal Court Wednesday by Judge James K. Cullen after they pleaded guilty to lottery charges.

They were:

Charles Edward Planck, 27, 600 block N. Carrollton Ave., fined $500 and costs; and

Sam Delancey, 50, 300 block Pressman St., fined $250 and costs.

Officer James Saunders testified he arrested Planck in the 1200 block Edmondson Ave., Jan. 23 after the defendant dropped nine non-conventional numbers slips to the ground.

The officer said he recovered the slips and found they contained 60 numbers and $15.20 in play.

He also said $102 was taken from the defendant when he was arrested.

OFFICER SAUNDERS testified he had obtained a warrant for Planck before approaching him on Edmondson, because he had previously seen the man operating lottery.

In the other case, Sgt. Frank Sydnor testified he entered Delancey's Pressman St. apartment with a warrant Feb. 9 and found pads of paper containing 31 numbers and $4.95 in play.

Two injured in county accident

Verna Battle, 14, of the 2300 block Clifton Avenue and Arthur C. Pepper, 33 of the 500 block 48 St., were treated at City Hospitals for minor injuries Monday following a collision at North Point Blvd., near the Eastpoint Shopping Center.

The accident occurred after Mr. Pepper reportedly struck an automobile operated by Dennis Moore, 21, of the 2900 block Rigas Ave.

The Battle girl was a passenger in Mr. Moore's car, police said.

According to police, the Moore car was stalled and without lights at the time.

SMITH TO HEAD CANCER DRIVE AGAIN

Howard M. Smith, division commercial manager (oil sales) for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, will serve as vice-chairman for the 1960 Maryland Cancer Crusade.

This will be the fifth consecutive year that Mr. Smith has served in this capacity.
