Gadabouting In Baltimore

Spice, chic, sentiment spark Hampton fete

by Lula Jones Garrett

A hundred and eighty guests, a scholarship which took him through his academic course, gathered about the flower-filled tables in the Variety Club, Sunday afternoon for a session of reminiscing and reminiscing.

The Baltimore chapter of Hampton Alumni was holding its annual Fellowship Dinner this year particularly sentimental because, they had as guest of honor a much-beloved alumnus, Dr. Albert O. Reid particularly eye - fetching, because Baltimore Hampton women grads are about the neatest batch of femmes on the local scene.

Guests were greeted at the door by Melissa Perdue (wearing the most exotic batch of colorful jewelry this side of Siam) and welcomed to the affair by Catherine Adams (chic in lace-topped crepe frock and a headpiece composed of a single rose.)

The affair was presided over by Osceola S. Ailor, svelte in white brocade, and she had table sparkled by Mrs. Henry C. Johnson in a cowl-necked white wool, tiny flower centered hat. Mrs. D. O. W. Holmes in brilliant rose satin and a matching chapeau, and Mrs. Albert O. Reid, demure in a black silk shirtwaist frock.

In their roles as speaker's and honoree's wives, the latter garnered additional charm with the corsages that were pinned on them.

To set the tone, the Hampton record, offing sent along a photograph of Dr. Reid (which was passed through the audience) when he graduated from the college of 1903.

And Hampton Johnson—president of the Baltimore chapter, lifted of the honoree's achievements.

He spoke, of course, of his achievements on campus, the dinner were Major Walter R. Brown of Hampton and trustee of the Hampton Alumni Association, Oliver G. Taylor Jr., Hampton, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, James Bryant, business manager at Hampton and Doswell Brooks of Washington.

The arrangement committee included, other than Mrs. Adams and Mr. Ailor, Mrs. Osceola Ailor, Roscoe Montgomery, Mrs. Gross, Melissa Perdue, Saul Perdue, Patricia Page.

Catherine Royston, Raleigh Simultaneously, Osarew Geo. Payne, Thompson, Frita Meachuhn, Mrs. Gross, Melissa Perdue, Saul Perdue, Patricia Page.

THE TOWN'S SOCIAL calendar was sparked with a number of Fun-bottom and Boss parties gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lotters for a festive evening at their "beatnik" party. Guests were invited to bring enough to make guests to defy any sort of wrath.

Hostesses at the Friday night affair were Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, Helen Burwell, Mrs. Grant, Dolly Walker, Mrs. Lotter and Philathea.

CUTE JETTY L. DORSEY was surprised by her birthday at a dinner given in her honor by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dorsey, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Dorsey, Marvin Tay, Anthony Dorsey, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Young.

THE NORTHWEST Child Study Group gathered at the home of Mrs. Ellis for their most recent meeting. Virgil Clift was guest speaker. Mrs. Virgil Clift also is the author of "Costume of Children of Iran." Also present was co-hostess.

Incidentally, the group president Phoebia Clark, has been appointed a delegate (to the Sister) to attend the White House Conference on children at the end of Allen spoke.

Back to the meeting, those attending were Lucille Ophus, Harriet Dorsey, Ellen Johns, Marian Myers, Mary Sheffy, Vera Salinger, Mrs. Ellis, Marilyn French, Courtney Valentine and Anethia Williams.

A SATURDAY AGO, The Women's dispensed with a luncheon and dinner for their pretties for an evening of sparkle at the gorgeous Pine Ridge Road home of Iona Collins.

Just dripping it was from the drink chiffonom on the lower level, where dancing was much in order to the lavish bouffett elegantly served in the dining area on an upper level.

HAMPTON ALUMNI, photographed at the annual dinner in Baltimore, Sunday, included, left to right: Major Walter R. Brown of Hampton, Mrs. Maurice Adams, chairman of the dinner committee; Dr. Saul Perdue, Hampton trustee; Mrs. Nathaniel Ailor, who presided at the dinner; and Mrs. Henry C. Johnson, wife of the Baltimore chapter president.

HAMPTON ALUMNI dinner was attended by Henry C. Johnson, chapter president; Mack McAllister, attorney; Oliver G. Taylor, Jr. of Hampton, executive secretary of the national alumni association; and Truly Hatchett.

CHARLES H. WILLIAMS, member of the Hampton Trustee Board and chairman of the fund-raising committee, chats with Dr. Dwight O. W. Holmes, speaker at the annual Fellowship Dinner of the Baltimore chapter of the Hampton Alumni, in Baltimore, Sunday.

DR. DWIGHT O. W. HOLMES, who can shake up the most potent address rock-full fa batch of facts, a dash of advice and some pretty spicy humor) made one of the briefest and most telling talks of a long career.

He said that we have hadthe nail on the head in this ON MACH. A Galley 102 area. Remember that you make 10 times as much on what you give as on what you make. With giving you get the good will of the people. When you've got the people you can accomplish anything," said Dr. Holmes.

Dr. Saul Perdue introduced Dr. Holmes. The delightful music was under direction of Gerald Burkes Wilson. The benediction was given by William Boykins.

DR. REID received a beautiful bound red leather album filled with letters from friends. The committee had made requests from 50 prominent citizens for contributions and there was an equal number of unsolicited letters that came in. He wore a narrow silk smoking jacket and matching smoking cap, which to be comfortable while reading his letters.

Schmidt launches new, better loaf of Blue Ribbon bread

Curt Schmidt, president of Schmidt Baking Company, announced over the weekend, his organization's comprehensive plans for launching an completely new and improved loaf of Blue Ribbon Tenderly Twisted Enriched White Bread.

"The new Blue Ribbon Tenderly Twisted Bread, which is now being distributed to area food stores", he explained, "is the end product of the baking industry's most recent production achievement — the twist-baking process unit.

"A mechanical development pioneered by our baker that automatically and continuously braids bread dough into individual loaf pans which are then conveyed through proofing and finally baked into tempting loaves of bread that are excell any product which may have emanated from grandmother's proverbial kitchen."

"The twist - baking process" Mr. Schmidt continued, "is a long been identified with the production of a superior bread. By tenderly twisting the dough immediately prior to proofing the finished bread, takes on an improved texture and retains a nicked in flavor of oven freshness.

"Originally introduced by 19th century master bakers in Germany, the method, heretofore manual, until the recent development of the mechanical twisting unit located in our bakery, helps to produce a bread that is completely free of air holes and unevenness. . . . tender in texture and well flavored, which stays fresh longer from crust to crust.

"And through the entire process, is completely untouched by the human hand."

HE POINTED out, "our new mechanical unit for making Blue Ribbon Tenderly Twisted Bread is another example of man's restless, ingenious search for ways to improve on nature.

"For centuries bread has been baked by patience, by knack, by tradition and individual skill. The results were sometimes superb; sometimes disastrous, depending on the know - how of the baker. Recipes and formulas were often closely guarded secrets handed down from one generation to the next."

"In modern times," he further explained, the problems of mass production and wide distribution exaggerated all the short comings of the traditional method for baking bread. Twisting bread dough by hand did not fit into the schedule of a modern plant such as ours, with a bread production schedule in excess of many millions of loaves, annually.

"Because of the many consumer advantages found in bread produced by the twist baking process, we here at Schmidt's — not only had to find a mechanical method for twisting bread dough, but add to such a process the gentle and important touch of the master baker.

For anything less would have destroyed the sought after quality objectives. Most housewives are only too familiar with the exacting temperament of bread dough."

Mr. Schmidt concluded, "the streamlined baker - production methods — modern . . . packaging concepts and stringent ingredients and formula controls that go into the production of Schmidt's Blue Ribbon Tenderly Twisted Bread virtually guarantee the consumer a perfect loaf of enriched bread. Perfect from both the standpoint of delectability and high nutritional food content."

March 26 date set for MLWC 17th confab

Representatives of the 90 clubs, members of the Maryland League of Women's Clubs, will assemble here March 26, for the organization's annual one - day conference.

EVER NOTICE how some city employees remind you of the old WPA workers?

Saw one fellow at Park Ave. and Franklin St. shovel just enough snow to fill a tea cup, and then he had the gall to take a break.

Almost everyone had something to say about the Jack Paar TV show. I might as well add my five cents worth.

I liked the opening statement he made after being AWOL for almost 30 days.

When the applause died down he spoke these words: "As I was saying before I was interrupted . . ."

Wonder if the snow had anything to do with all those men who missed Monday's City Council session?

The government is always complaining about trying to balance the budget, but I won'der if anyone thought about the budget while they were transporting the president in bubble top car around South America?

If it was seen in almost every picture concerning the goodwill trip.

TO TOAST SESAME SEED— Place sesame seed in a large, shallow pan. Place in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Cool and sprinkle over fruit or vegetable or stir into cake or cooky batter or sprinkle over the top of unbaked cookies, rolls or biscuits.

Noteworthy

By HERBERT MANGRUM

Every day or so I find slips of paper in my pockets containing notes about things I want to mention in this column.

Found one with the notation, "Ford's Thea."

Recall that I had intended to say something about the antiquated firetrap.

If a fire ever breaks out in the old building it will more than likely go up in a puff of smoke.

Found another slip with the notation, "Franklin St., cleaners."

It made me wonder why so many men were working with shovels, tractors and trucks to get the snow off the street Wednesday when the weather man had promised more of the same within a matter of hours.

I wanted to ask, where have
