ANNUAL DIVINE DAY celebration by the Jerusalem Temple No. 4, Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, was held Sunday at the Ebenezer AME Church, the Rev. S. A. Thompson, pastor. Participating nobles included, from left M. Brooks Waters, scripture; Alfred A. Dixon, imperial second ceremonial master; John A. Craven, illustrious potentate, and E. Jerry Williams, second ceremonial master. The celebration was also observed by Jerusalem Court No. 1, Daughters of Isis. The Rev. Thompson delivered the sermon.

Women's Day at Payne AME

The Women of Payne Memorial AME Church, Madison Ave. and Laurens St., observe their 53rd Annual Women's Day, on Sunday, March 20.

At 11 a.m. the sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Mrs. Laura Edwards of Severn, Md., member of the Methodist Conference.

At 3 p.m. the guest speaker will be Mrs. Maude William, member of Ames Methodist Church, and supervisor of case workers applications for the Children's Division.

A musical program by the choirs will be held at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Georgia P. Mitchell is general chairman; Mrs. Vilora Henderson, chairman, and Mrs. Emma Hyman, publicity chairman.

The Rev. W. P. Mitchell is pastor.

New loan fund for Methodists

NEW YORK — The Methodist Investment Fund, Inc., has been org nized as a new national Methodist agency for making loans to churches for building purposes. The fifteen directors of the Fund, meeting recently in Philadelphia, elected officers and approved loans totalling $369,000 to seventee Methodist churches in fourteen states.

Chorus celebrates

The F. C. Atkins Male Chorus recently celebrated its second anniversary at Psalmist Baptist Church, North and Druid Hill Aves.

Officers are Worthington Richardson, director, and Fielding Taylor, president.

Members are:

John Jordon, Orsell Robinson, Harold O. Davis, Frederick Brooks, Alexander Green, James Cottrell, Alvin Richardson and Vance Standley.

Rev. Bryant backed for bishop's mantle

Officers and friends of Bethel AME Church, Druid Hill Ave. and Lanvale St. have unanimously endorsed the candidacy of their pastor, the Rev. Harrison J. Bryant, for the Bishopric in 1960 at the General Conference in Los Angeles, Calif.

Their efforts have been united in an organization known as the "Friends of the Rev. Harrison J. Bryant for Bishop in 1960."

In its resolution supporting the Rev. Mr. Bryant it was noted that he had sacrificed his own early education to help his parents maintain family unity.

* * *

HE RETURNED to school at the age of 21 and his educational background includes the AB degree from Morgan State College, Columbia, S.C.; the B.D. degree from Payne Theological Seminary, Wilberforce University, Ohio, and further graduate study at Union Theological Seminary, Drew and Wesley Theological Seminary, Westminster, Md.

In his 34 years of service to the AME church he has pastored in South Carolina, Ohio, Arkansas, Kentucky and Maryland.

He has served as dean of Jackson Theological Seminary, Shorter College, Little Rock, Ark.; trustee of Wilberforce University and Kittrell College.

* * *

PRIOR TO coming to Bethel in 1949, the Rev. Mr. Bryant served as pastor of St. John's Church in Baltimore and during his pastorate a $125,000 church renovation and beautification program was completed and paid for.

His most recent achievement at Bethel has been the exterior beautification of the historic church.

In its espousal of the minister's candidacy, the group cited him as:

"A candidate exemplifying a rich African Methodist heritage; a sound educational endowment; a dynamic progressive pastor and civic leader; a man of courage, character and integrity, a Christian gentleman."

Seeks Charlottesville City Council post

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. — Charles C. Johnson, local funeral director, has become the seventh candidate and the first colored person to announce his candidacy for nomination to the city council.

A committee has been organized to support Johnson. The Democratic primary will be held April 5.

CAMPUS NOTES

Students united in support of protests

By LAVINIA RICE
COMMENTS ON THE MARCH AT NORTHWOOD
By COLLEGE STUDENTS

GUS DOWARD — "I endorse wholeheatedly the attempts of all Morgan students, and of all students in general to fight for the rights which are inherently theirs.

The right to sit, to congregate, and socialize in a public place is a legal and natural right of all citizens of the United States.

We cannot wait indefinitely for the right to enjoy these rights, we must have them now, with courage fortitude, and diligence we will get them."

GENE STEWARD — "I feel that this Civic Interest Group will be successful in its attempts to integrate certain facilities at Northwood. 1960 seems to be the year for the colored person to demand their (equal) rights and obtain them.

"Never have such uprisings been followed through so successfully. (The various demonstrations in the south.)"

* * *

PHILLIP SAVAGE — "In a democracy all people are supposed to enjoy certain inalienable rights. If one group in that society is denied the same rights enjoyed by another group in that same society, marches, demonstrations, or any other form of protesting is justified. I stand 1000 per cent for the march."

* * *

GEORGE RICKS — "It is indeed gratifying to see that the protest movements have been conducted in the orderly, non-violent manner that they have been.

"Owners of businesses and enterprises should by now realize that it is highly paradoxical to solicit and accept the patronage of any group of people, and then limit the areas in which these same people may spend their money.

The citizens of this city are indeed behaving as citizens should in demanding their rights. CITIZENS MARCH ON UNTIL OUR GOAL IS REACHED."

NATALIE CHEW — "I think that the march is a good idea, and should be carried out in a continuous manner.

"I also feel that the high schools and other civic organizations should take part, and not limit their march to just the Northwood area but other such communities."

DeANN BROOKS — "I think that the march is an excellent idea, and if more protests are encouraged the students as well as the business men will benefit."

BLANCHE JAMES — "This march will give those students staying on campus an opportunity to enjoy other recreational activities, other than those offered, and also give them some place to take their out of town guests.

"I also think that due to the present trend of things, that it is a right that should not be denied to anyone."

PERSONALITY OF THE WEEK:

This week our personality is Miss Lillian Brooks. Lillian is a junior at MSC and an English major, preparing herself for a future in the field of secondary education.

Among Lil's extra curricular activities are: a member of the Morgan Players (she also directs some plays) she is also quite interested in such outdoor sports as tennis, swimming, and horse - back riding.

Lil's favorite colors are green and pink which constitute the majority of her summer wardrobe. In the line of music, she prefer jazz to rock and roll, and enjoys spending several hours listening to one of her favorite artists, Miles Davis.

Lillian also has plans for teaching a few years and later attending graduate school to obtain her masters.

* * *

SPEAKING OF PEOPLE

YVETTE C. BURGESS — Has been cast as "Mofea." This play will be presented in May as a part of the dedicatory exercises for the new Fine Arts Building.

ROBERT SMITH — Has been preparing himself for a part in one of the major plays being presented for the "Play Production Class."

CARL TUCKER — Is making plans for pledging Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity this fall.

McNAIR TAYLOR — A senior at Coppin State Teachers College is making plans for a vacation in California.

DORSEY SKINNER — Is quite happy about his newly acquired status. He is now the president of the "Beat-Five."

COMING EVENTS

On April 1, the Yale Russian Choir will present a program at 8 p.m. at Morgans Christian Center.

Dr. Brain is touring the schools

"If I had grown up in Baltimore, perhaps I, would not need to do this in this way, but since I am from another locality, I think the best way to get acquainted is to visit."

The above statements made by Dr. George B. Brain, newly appointed superintendent of schools, on Thursday, explains his visits to local schools within the past two months.

Dr. Brain says he has been on the scene in more than 30 schools since the first week in January and "will probably be looking around until school closes in June" to complete the tour of the 190 public schools in the city.

* * *

THE SUPERINTENDENT'S visits are arranged by area directors who have been asked to point out to him the oldest schools, the newest schools and schools showing overcrowding and other problems with which the administration may be concerned.

Dr. Brain says he plans to visit the "general picture" or the "learning climate" of Baltimore's public schools and discover teacher, pupil and facility problems.

So far his opinion is this:

"I have seen some very fine schools; some dedicated teachers and personnel doing a superb job, under sometimes very trying circumstances of old buildings, crowded classrooms.

"I am pleased with what I have been doing done in instruction."

* * *

HE SAYS HE slips away at some time during the week to visit whetever he can fit the tour in with his program at the office.

Here is what Dr. Brain wrote in a letter to the principal, Thomas Milbourne, after his visit to the 66-year-old Hill Street Elementary School located at Sharp near Montgomery St.

"The school was built in 1894, has 12 rooms, cafeteria, 12 teachers, counselor, librarian and 356 pupils, an average of 32 children per class. Mr. Milbourne has been principal since last January. Daniel Etheridge heads the custodial staff.)

"Dear Mr. Milbourne: It was indeed a pleasure for me to be a visitor in your school on Tuesday, March 1.

"I want to express my gratitude to you for the kind and warm reception which you gave me and for your willingness to permit me to observe the various classes under instruction.

"I was most pleased with the general climate which you and your faculty have developed to insure the best learning opportunities for a splendid group of boys and girls in one of Baltimore's oldest schools.

"Although I recognize that you work under the handicaps of crowded facilities not equipped with many of the modern conveniences and almost devoid of activity space, it would appear to me that these handicaps have not seriously hampered the ability of your staff to achieve their basic purpose. I was most pleased to learn that the maintenance division has been able to modernize some of the facilities and to provide for your use storage areas so essential to the conduct of a modern school.

"I ASSURE YOU of my honest and sincere cooperation in helping to improve the conditions under which you and your good people must work.

"Kindly convey my admiration to your custodial staff for their efforts in maintaining good housekeeping habits throughout the school.

"I would hope that you'd also convey my personal appreciation to your student group for their well-behaved conduct which I observed as the student groups passed through a central location for picture-taking purposes.

"My visit to your school was indeed a pleasant one and I commend you for your leadership effort. Kindest personal regard. Sincerely, George B. Brain."

Dr. Brain also looked around "from cellar to garret!" at the Cherry Hill Elementary School No. 144 and at Elementary School No. 121.

Among schools he has visited on the tour are:

Eastern, Western, Douglass, Forest Park, Southern High Schools and City and Junior Colleges; Elementary schools 27, 27-A, 129, 121, 125, 60, 14, 15, 56 and 44.

Also, Mergenthaler, Winston, Poly, Edmondson, Leighwalk, and Woodburn schools.

Observation class

Second semester registration for the Parents' Pre-School observation class are now under way at the Cahill Recreation Center, Clifton Ave. and Gwynns Falls Pkwy.

The class, sponsored by the Parent Education Program of the Department of Education, is held each Wednesday 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

The class gives pre-school age children, two to four years, play experiences under trained guidance.

Supervisor of the program is Dr. Katherine W. Taylor and Mrs. Rebekah Mitchell is instructor.

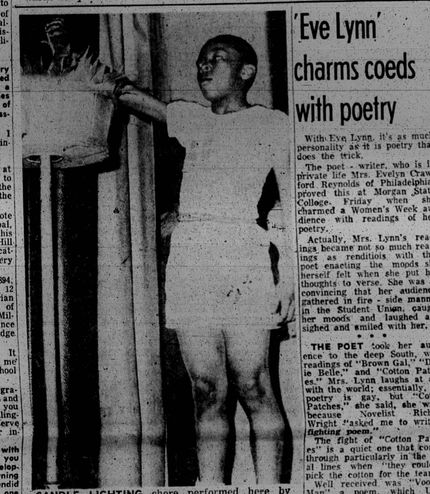
TAPE BREAKER—Vendetta Stokes, right, breaks tape in four-person (one not seen) 30-meter dash for girls which was part of the Modified Olympic Games held at School 145. Christine Sneed came in second, Janice Welchel, third, and Fern Leeper was last.



CANDLE LIGHTING chore performed here by Thomas Gatewood was part of the pomp and ceremony that went with the Modified Olympic Games at School 145 this week.

THERE WERE all kinds of game competition during the Olympics held this week at School 145 and a champion for each of them. In the area of rope skipping Veronica Bradford was one of the best.

Mitchell and Ruff were colossal

Two young men, three instruments — piano, French horn and double bass — dwarfed by the massive stage.

Strains of magnificent music floating to the furthest corners of a huge auditorium;

An audience, now sitting in tomb - like silence; then bursting into thunderous and prolonged applause. And at the end, pleading cries for "more, more, more!"

This was the setting in Peabody Concert Hall, Tuesday evening as 275 music lovers were enraptured with the magic of music.

* * *

THEY WERE attending the Young Musicians Series concert to hear the artistry of two masters of "high art," modern jazz.

The concert featured the Mitchell - Ruff Duo, a two-man combo that has created sensation from the most remote hinterlands of America to Red Square in Moscow.

Purpose of the concert is to further the study of young musicians.

On piano was Dwike Mitchell, graduate of Philadelphia Academy of Music. And alternating on French horn and double bass was Willie Ruff.

Willie is the master of music out of Yale, class of '34.

* * *

COMBINING the softness of the classics with the bouncy frills and riffs of jazz, the duo spellbound the audience for two hours.

From 8:30 to 10:30, with a brief intermission, Mitchell and Ruff rendered hits, old and new to wild acclaim.

At the finale, encouraged by feverent pleas for more and five curtain calls, patrons left the auditorium breathlessly whispering, "wonderful."

Mitchell, native of Jacksonville, Fla., is a former student of Mme. Ari Jambor. Until he and Ruff joined forces in 1955, Dwike had been a member of the Lionel Hampton Band.

HE CONSIDERS his association with Hampton and tutoring of Mme. Jambor as treasured highlights of his career.

Explaining the popularity of the group, Dwike says:

"We have been a hit primarily because of our efforts to give jazz intellect. And we have enjoyed warm reception everywhere.

"The Russians showered us with gifts, flowers and admiration. They, like all of America, were wonderful."

Ruff, crew - cut, 28-year-old music master, says he is interested in promoting the program of aiding youths in the study of music.

He said they are currently engaged in giving benefit concerts around the country for that purpose.

THE COMBO gave a benefit concert to aid in buying instruments for his hometown school band in Sheffield, Ala., Monday.

Willie, explaining the unique style of the combo, says their background in classical music and love of modern jazz has enabled them to blend the ingredients with great success.

At the end of the performance Tuesday, the combo entertained for more concerts. — GEORGE COLLINS.

'Eve Lynn' charms coeds with poetry

With Eve Lynn, it's as much personality as it is poetry that does the trick.

The poet - writer, who is in private life Mrs. Evelyn Crawford Reynolds of Philadelphia, proved this at Morgan State College Friday when she charmed a Women's Week audience with readings of her poetry.

Actually, Mrs. Lynn's readings became not so much readings as renditions with the poet enacting the moods she herself felt when she put her thoughts to verse. She was so convincing that her audience gathered in fire - side manner in the Student Union, caught her moods and laughed and sighed and smiled with her.

* * *

THE POET took her audience to the deep South, with readings of "Brown Gal," "Dixie Belle," and "Cotton Patches." Mrs. Lynn laughs at and with the world, essentially, in poetry is gay, but "Cotton Patches," she said, she wrote because Poet Laureate Richard Wright "asked me to write a fighting poem."

The fight of "Cotton Patches" is a quiet one that comes through particularly in the final lines when "they couldn't pick the cotton for the tears."

Well received was "Voodoo Man" a poem, which Ubie Blake has set to music. Mrs. Lynn took her audience to the big city with readings of "Going Steady," and "Thursday Gal." Love readings followed and then she closed with "My Red Dress."

* * *

MRS. REYNOLDS was one of several outstanding women who came to the Morgan campus for the Women's Week.

Another was Mrs. Gladys B. Sheppard, author of "Mary Church Terrell, Respectable Person." Mrs. Sheppard appeared in a "Meet the Author" program Tuesday, March 8, in the Student Union with Miss Barbara K. Walker of the Morgan faculty, introducing her.

TWO EXCITING travelogues were also featured in the first of these Mrs. Martin D. Jenkins, on Monday, March 7, enthralled coeds with items from her collection of objects d'art gathered on her tours abroad. Particularly fetching were tablecloths—of exciting fabric.

In a special gesture that delighted the audience, Mrs. Jenkins presented a leather - bag purchased abroad to "Miss Morgan," Miss Alberta Thomas, senior history major from Cambridge, Md.

In the other travelogue, Dr. Irene Diggs, Professor of sociology, took listeners around the world via an exciting collection of jewelry which she has gathered on her several global tours.

A HIGH point in the week came on Wednesday, March 9 when the Charm Club, organization of all freshman women, presented a Pre - Easter Fashion Show and a Charm Clinic.

Mrs. Bernice Monroe ably discussed the art of make-up while students demonstrated how one should apply cosmetics to match facial contours and complexion.

Mrs. Victorine Adams, proprietor of the Charm Centre, narrated the Fashion show, which featured not only Charm Centre originals, but gowns from the coeds (personal collection).

Miss Tonita Walker, president of the Charm Club presided; Miss Maxine Bethel, a member of the Dean of Women's Staff, directed the fashion show.
