Alpha Kappa Alphas fete sorority head

by Lula Jones Garrett

Following the conference of ... ton, who was conference luncheon the Maryland League of Wom... ...en's Clubs Saturday, Alpha ... Special guests were members of Kappa Alpha sorority entertained of the executive committee of for their supreme basileus, Dr. the League ... Marjorie Parker of Washing... The reception was held in the home of Mrs. Verniece Reynolds, basileus of the host chapter, Epsilon Omega, where, from a beautiful flower-banked table the guests partook of fancy sandwiches, tiny cakes, nuts and punch . . . and became more and more aware of the charm of brilliant Dr. Parker.

YOU PAY your money and you take your choice . . . come Monday.

But all for good causes, Sabine.

But of course you won't wait until Easter . . . for, for instance, there's the ultra affair of tomorrow, (Saturday), when the Lawyers' Wives entertain.

The Wives met the challenge of a loaded evening at their recent meeting with Doris Coleman, chairman.

They first listened to City Councilman Walter T. Dixon, who had been invited to discuss Ordinance 215. They reviewed their revised constitution. And they completed plans for their Hat Show and Card Party on Saturday night.

And there was still time and energy left, plus healthy appetites, to socialize and enjoy their hostess' tempting repast.

A worthy student will benefit from the card party which will be held at Morgan Student Union Building. The money raised will be used to purchase books or other essentials.

Participating in this busy evening were:

Lucile Fitzgerald, Bernice Buckner, Martha Allen, Catherine Greene, Shirley Harding, Adele Foreman, Georgia Howard.

Madeline Murphy, Margaret Kogan, Rosa Murray, Zaidee Koger, Margaret Mason, who heads The group.

Marcella Compton, Gwendolyn Howard, Shirley Pinkett, Anna Williams, Lorraine Hayes;

Alice Koger, Dorothy Young, Thelma Foreman, Clarice Parrish, Daisy Josey and Ruth Rosedom.

THE LINKS' committee, which is planning an Easter Monday luncheon and bridge at the Belvedere - Sheraton Hotel, met this week to wrap up their arrangements.

Emma Michaels hosted the meeting, which was attended by Helen Burwell, Yvette Murphy, Etta Phifer and the hostess.

The Links, of course, have any number of worthy projects . . . having done such a magnificent job on that for NAACP, they are now turning their aims towards ferreting out and assisting exceptionally talented students.

Of immediate interest, too, is the convention in Los Angeles, Calif. in June. Rea Butler heads the local chapter.

IN THE meantime remember that you'll be in high fashion this Easter if you wear your old hat and a new receipt for the price of a hat which you have sent to the NAACP Freedom Fund.

This is the project sponsored by national presidents of major sororities . . . including Delta Sigma Theta, Alpha Kappa Alpha, Zeta Phi Beta and Sigma Gamma Rho.

The funds will be used for defense of those students in the South who are sating in jails rather than you may sit down at lunch counters.

ON THE NIGHT after Easter Sunday the Ladies of Today, (50 or so them, will be holding forth in the Famous Ballroom at a party which will take the form of a cabaret affair.

Hostess on this occasion will include Valentine Atherton, Bettina Baker, Ann Blair, Sylvia Briscoe, Evelyn Burton, Elizabeth Carter, Laurette Datcher, Meldora Datcher, Ethel Day, Helena Hodge.

Also Mary Hailey, Mildred Johnson, Victoria Jones, Mary Lee, Vivian Moody, Esther Morris, Shirley Pinkett, Sarah Stevenson, Mercedes Singleton and Beulah Westcoff.

AND PLEASE, guests, please do not forget the spring Bandle . . . benefit which . . . the Women's Democratic Campaign Committee of Maryland is staging at Chatrm Centre on Tuesday.

Parents have been asked to bring, garments for men and women, that are clean, seasonable and in good repair for the Nearly New Shop at Crowns on State Hospital.

Victorine Adams is general chairman and Geneva Griffin is program chairman.

IN THE NONCE: Morgan State College colleagues showed a cavalcade of good wishes upon Editor D. Draper prior to his leaving his Morgan post here, Thursday.

Mr. Draper, business manager at the college for the past seven years, resigned to take the administrative staff of the African Project Center for International Studies of New York University.

Morgan President and Mrs. Martin D. Jenkins launched the party whirl Saturday (March 26) when they entertained at their campus home for Mr. Draper and his wife, Emma.

Guests, members of the Administrative Council and other officials of the college, were Dean and Mrs. Albert N. Whiting, Dr. and Mrs. McDonald Bando (She is Thelma, Morgan Dean of Women), Messrs. and Mesdames J. Percy Bond, John G. Gloster, Elmer S. Patterson, Julius H. Taylor, James E. Nix, Edward N. Wilson, and Mr. Harry E. Jackson.

On Monday, the staff of the Comptroller's Office, led by Mr. Stricker and Miss Beatrice A. Mayo, assistant comptroller, entertained at luncheon and presented Mr. Draper with a pen and holder.

The set matched the desk set given Mr. Draper by his colleagues on the Administrative Council. Participating in this fete were Evelyn Berry, Cecelia Cox, Eva Criegler, Estella Grant, Thelma Jones, Ernestine Martin, Mildred Potash, Bettye Spriggs, Lucretia Whitten, and Alvin B. Watson.

The staff of his own office presented the out-going chief with a desk lazy susan and personalized memo pad. Participating in this presentation were Mr. Gloster, Reuben Rosenberg, Ella H. Pierce, Miriam Curtis, Louise Cook, and Estelle Thomas.

On Tuesday, heads of the business departments entertained at still another luncheon, presenting Mr. Draper with a leather secretary and a set of cuff links. Joining in this presentation were Grace L. Burke, Margaret Sinclair, Mary J. Spellman Messrs. Jackson, Gloster, Patterson and Rosenberg, and Joseph Perches.

Mr. Draper leaves immediately for his New York post. He is to be joined in New York in early summer by his wife and their three children.

THE LAST meeting of "The Pals" was hosted by Annie Thompson, who planned a superbly unique and refreshing evening.

Mrs. Thompson "carried the group abroad", with a travelogue based on her experiences on a European tour this past summer. She highlighted points of interest about each country and showed them some souvenirs, which included linens from Brussels and a beautiful coat from London.

Then "The Pals" were shown slides photographed by Annie. A fitting repast was served with native dishes of Italy, Spain, and France. The musical bands were special guests for this affair.

Attending the meeting were Ollie Olivers, Donald Parkers, James Thomases, Raymond Taylors, George Hunters, Aaron Ellises, Milton Allens, Charles Lynches, and Vernell Lockwoods.

Maters enlarge circle to include community

In April of 1956, realizing the truth in the maxim "In Unity There is strength," 12 young mothers met to organize a mother's club to be known as Mater II.

They were to become the sister group to Mater I, an already thriving mother's club.

IN ITS infancy the club's thoughts were centered upon their own children. Since the club consisted of young inexperienced mothers, there were many new problems to face each day.

The group soon came to realize that through discussions, films, book reports that motherhood was indeed an exciting and challenging job. The children on the other hand had many opportunities to share in, to contribute to, and participate in many worthwhile experiences such as trips to farms, movies, train rides, parties, exhibits and paint shows. With their own feet firm on the ground, and seeing much growth in their offsprings the group began to look outside of its circle, and into the community.

There they found many needs for services namely Christmas baskets, Community Fund participation in forums and visits to the sick children of the community.

The latter project, visitation of hospitalized children has been selected as the main project for this year.

THE MATER'S look forward to many more years of service, both to their family and to their community. Theirs is the hope that they will be able to expand their services to the community in the coming years. Realizing full well that the need is great.

The one fact that all of them will agree upon is that the past four years together have been one filled with wonderful moments. The theme of "togetherness" permeates throughout every club activity. Indeed in unity there is strength

Segregation is cancer in Breast of America—Parker

Segregation was termed the "cancer in the breast of American Democracy" by Dr. Marion Parker, who addressed close to 400 women, here, Saturday.

Dr. Parker was speaker at the luncheon session of the Maryland League of Women's Clubs.

"THERE IS NO such thing as a local issue," he said. "No American, anywhere in this nation is any safer than are the young people in South Carolina upon whom the police turned fire hoses in answer to a last protest peacefully expressed.

"The people in Macon County who are denied the right to register are fighting Democracy's battle.

"A Democracy can only exist on the basis of a free electorate. The vitality of our whole legislative policy is being sapped by the one - party system in the South.

"That is why entrenched committee chairmen elected by qualified voters in their districts often make a mockery of the due processes of law," Dr. Parker said.

URGING HER hearers to "not discount their power," she advised them to pool their strength however small, with those who want a society where all men are equal.

Said she:

"Thinking people know that America cannot protest and deplore the brutality which leads South African police to fire upon natives who are protesting carrying identification cards, while in the South of America police are turning tear gas on young college students.

"I say reasonable people will not be ashamed to admit any significant differences between a protest against carrying an identification card, and a protest against having to carry a sandwich and a thermos if one is to be away from home at certain hours".

POINTING OUT that colored Americans have made the first step in their "inescapable responsibility" to strengthen Democracy by organization, she listed other steps necessary.

These steps, as outlined by Dr. Parker, include long-range planning; becoming thoroughly informed on issues and situations; letting the people who count know that we are concerned by attendance at board meetings, hearings, court cases and through conferences, letters and the press; and not losing by default.

DR. PARKER, who is director of practice teaching, State of Maryland Department of Education, was introduced by Mrs. Flossie Dedmond, program coordinator for the conference.

The luncheon was the final session of the 17th annual conference of the Maryland League of Women's Clubs, which is headed by Mrs. Lena K. Lee.

Mrs. Rosalie McGuire, first vice president, presided at the luncheon.

Gardenias dance in tropical setting

The setting was a balmy night on a tropical isle. State palm trees lowered branches to meet a heavily laden fruit and delicatessen bar below. An ever flowing fountain and beautiful maidens sparkling the scene.

This was the atmosphere which greeted guests who attended the annual formal dance, held in the Alcazar, Friday evening, by the charming Gardenia Club members.

Each member wore a corsage of gardenias, and their husbands and escorts were identified by boutonnieres of white carnations. Capt. Marshall Bass of Fort Meade presented the hostesses to the ensemble during the intermission.

THEY INCLUDED:

Mrs. Mabel Driver, president of the club, who wore an orchid brocade sheath trimmed in velvet with matching slippers for receiving; the vice - president, Mrs. Lena Dixon, crowned in pink chiffon; Mrs. Ethel Freeman, financial secretary, who selected baby blue chiffon;

Also Mrs. Ann James, whose taffeta gown had a white background imprinted with pink and red roses, Mrs. Margie Cole treasurer, wearing black satin with matching slippers; Mrs. Bordie Addison, business manager, in figured brocade thread and in gold with a white back ground with matching slippers; Mrs. Edna Dungee, editor, in rainbow tulle enhanced with silver trim.

Also Mrs. Florence Ringgold, recording secretary, who selected a gown of flowered pink silk with matching slippers and Mrs. Ruby Carter in a delicate blue lace.

AFTER THE DANCE, the Gardenias were entertained at breakfast by Mesdames Mabel Driver and Margie Cole.

Escorts of the hostesses were Martin Driver, William Addison, Eldridge Dixon, Daniel Ringgold, Johnny Carter, Earl S. Brett, Hilliary Thompson, Herman Smith and Burton Thomas.

PRINCE HALL MASONS and members of the Order of Eastern Star from Baltimore and all sections of Maryland gathered at a gigantic mass meeting on Sunday in Baltimore. Over 2,000 persons in attendance, filling every seat of the Masonic building at Lanvale St. and Eutaw Pl., which the group officially takes over in December. Purpose of the meeting was to make plans for completing payment on the new building. Grand Master Willard Allen is seated at extreme right. At speaker's rostrum, T. Norwood Brown, Annapolis' city councilman.

YWCA opens membership campaign

The 1960 membership campaign of the Baltimore Young Women's Christian Association is being launched today (Friday) in all three branches and the area center.

Goal for the drive is 1,000 new members with each branch naming its own quota of new, associate, or sustaining members.

According to Mrs. Mary Spellman, chairman for the Madison Avenue branch membership drive, her committee has agreed to try to enroll 300 members with the emphasis on sustaining members.

YEARLY DUES in the YWCA are only $3 yearly for women and associates, $1 for girls under 17 years of age, and $5 to $50 for sustaining membership.

Serving on the membership committee under the team leader, Mrs. Virginia L. Brown, are:

Mrs. Annie M. Bennett, Miss Rosalind Allen, Mrs. Mabel Frisby, Mrs. Rachel F. Dodd, Miss Fannie R. Glascoe, Mrs. Mary Holmes, Mrs. Addie E. Rowland, Mrs. Jessie L. Parker, Miss Sally Stewart, Mrs. Eva Taylor, Mrs. Lillian S. Watty, Mrs. Virginia B. Smith.

Also on the committee are Mrs. Arnetta M. Moore, Mrs. Edna Talbott, Mrs. Margaret Ward, Mrs. Ethel J. Day and Mrs. Loretta Watty.

Serving ex-officio are Mrs. Lilian Parrish, chairman of the committee on administration for the branch, and Miss Estelle Thomas, executive director.

Mrs. Norman M. Gross, metropolitan chairman of the YWCA campaign, announced the following quotas for other branches of the YWCA: Central Branch, 300; International Center East Baltimore Branch, 150; North Area Center, 200; and the metropolitan group, 50.

MEMBERSHIP KITS were given out at the Madison Avenue kick-off rally on March 31 and over 30 members have agreed to work on the campaign, a series of coffee nurses will be given by them to help introduce the community to the work and the program offered by the YWCA.

"The YWCA for 105 years has served the community and individuals through a varied program of activities which ranges from spring to adult education, all of which is made possible through funds from the Community Chest and partly by dues from members," said Mrs. Spellman.

"Today the YWCA is a more vital force in the Baltimore community than ever before, cooperating ever more closely with other groups and agencies in the city and speaking out forcefully for its beliefs."

Mrs. Spellman was referring to recent action taken by the board of directors of the Association when, in stating their belief in the dignity of the individual and the right of all people to participate equally in community facilities, the board voted to sent a letter of commendation to the management of Rochfield Kohn which has opening its dining facilities to all.

The board further voted to write the management of other stores urging them to follow suit.

Hughes-Johnson tea honors debutantes

Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Price Hughes and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clinton Johnson were hosts, Sunday, at a tea honoring their debutante daughters, Misses Carolyn Bernice Hughes and Carol Elaine Johnson.

The tea was held in the Morgan State College Christian Center, which was banked with cut flowers for the occasion.

GUESTS WERE introduced to the receiving line by Mrs. Carol Diggs. In line in addition to Mesdames Hughes and Johnson and Misses Hughes was Mrs. Clara DeShebert of New York, aunt of Miss Johnson.

For the tea both of the honorees wore pale blue. Miss Johnson's gown was of organza with an embroidered waist, and Miss Hughes, a lace top. Both frocks had very full skirts and both debutantes carried a corsage of pink roses.

Pink rose corsages were also worn by the mothers, and Mrs. Diggs. The latter selected a frock of silk print in shades of blue. Mrs. Johnson's gown was of blue chiffon, a sheath, over taffeta. It was adorned with a self rose at the waist and brief tabs of the taffeta.

Mrs. Hughes wore pink lace, and Mrs. DeShebert, a silk print in rose and red, with red slippers.

Mrs. Marie Broom and Mrs. Marjorie Moses were auxiliary hostesses, and Mrs. Eloise Parker kept the guest books.

THE LONG flower - banked table from which fancy sandwiches, cakes, nuts and mints were served, had tea and coffee poured by Mrs. Anita Wheatley and Mrs. Pearl W. Parham.

Mrs. Wheatley was chic in navy silk with matching accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Jackson wore an all - white ensemble, her frock lame and a hat of imported straw and tulle. Her corsage also was of roses.

THE ME-DE-SO Debutantes, who is a mutual club, share all of the individual parties, include:

Misses Ann Victoria Adams, Myrtle Jackson, Peggy Wilson, Sandra Scott, Juania King, Virginia Lottier, Rosalie
