Ralph Bishop, Walter Gantt, Pell Kangas, J. Edward Fisher, J. Walter Fisher, W. M. Kendrick and Dr. Albert La Forest.

MRS. FREDERICK DEDMOND is hostess to the Philomathians on Saturday, at a delightful session, highlighted by dinner and a travelogue.

Ere members and guests entered into the program of the evening, they stood in a moment of silence as a remembrance of and tribute to a founder, the late Mrs. Carl Murphy, who was president of the club.

This was led by Mrs. Ralph Cook, who, with Mrs. Murphy, initiated the idea from which the club evolved in 1922.

Dinner was served in the library of the Madison Avenue Branch YWCA where Philomathian members and guests were seated at attractively laid tables.

In an informal and highly interesting talk, Miss Freddie Hill of the Department of Physical Education, Maryland State College, told of her 90-day journey around the world on a tramp ship, last year, along with showing her travel collection which ranged from carved tables to hand bags, from native dress to statues.

Miss Patricia Smith, of the Department of Chemistry, Maryland State College, who was with Miss Hill on the journey, and who was also scheduled to talk, was unable to attend.

Mrs. Mae W. Allen, vice president, presided.

Guests were Mesdames Rose Wallace, Medford Reynolds, Marshall Bright, Mark Patterson, Julius Taylor, Talmadge Hill, Mary Law, Phillis Tilley, H. Cardrew Perrin, and Misses Estelle Thomas and Jerlyn Manoel.

Members of the club, in addition to Mrs. Dedmond and Mrs. Allen are:

Mesdames Thomas I. Brown, Ralph V. Cook, Howard L. Corbin, Carol B. Diggs, John Hampton, W. A. C. Hughes Jr., Martin D. Jenkins.

Mesdames E. Everett Lane, William H. McAbee, Frank W. Phillips Jr., J. Douglas Sheppard, William H. Wright, Dr. E. Irene Diggs, Dr. Ruth Brett Quarles, Misses Carol Johnson and Miss Miriam Hughes.

WHO WOULD have expected that men would go ga-ga over women's hat?

That's just what happened Saturday at the Lawyers' Wives card party at Morgan's Student Union Building when Ruth J. showed her gorgeous creations. Or could it have been the charming models under the hats?

For Ruth J. had brought along three charmers: Connie Morell, Flora Johnson and Connie Johnson to show off her original chapeaux. She also drafted equally lovely Alice Koger and Shirley Hargrove of the Wives, to assist in modeling and to narrate.

The ladies oh'ed over the double wide, brimmed royal blue straw trimmed with Airlean berries, and ah'ed over the tiny brimmed Spider's Web of horse-net with its velvet, spider of a bow trapping a velvet-bowed fly in its high transparent crown.

But the men were fascinated by Sophisticated Lady — the wide-brimmed black straw trimmed with white leather, and they were completely snared by Friendly Persuasion, an egg-shell blanted chiffon circled with a black chin - length veil edged with egg shell. Ruth J. (Mrs. Croxton) was stunning in her original ensemble of off-white cashmere, the three-quarter length coat sporting three coca suede buckles for a front trim and a lining of orange jersey which matched the draped blouse, set off by a cocoa straw hat.

Cards? Oh yes, there were pinochle, bridge and whist with hoots and loads of prizes distributed by Anna Williams.

Due to the illness of her co-chairman, Doris Cole, Anna was assisted by the Lawyers' Wives proxy, Margaretta Mason. Doris ordered to bed earlier in the week by her physician, is home resting after a brief stay in the hospital.

Adding the profits of the card party to their Student Aid Fund, the Wives are already consulting with deans, as is their custom, to select a worthy student who needs financial help to complete his education.

AND ON Saturday afternoon, Clementine Carter and Frances Smith had a baby shower at the Millersville home of Mrs. Carter, for Mildred (Mrs. Earl) Henson.

Charming decorations of storks and umbrellas set the theme for the colorful affair. After the serving of refreshments the girls trekked to the gay club room, where they almost immediately set up a strong Madison line.

Having fun were:

Myrle Diggs, Louise Johnson, Gertrude Diggs, Alice Johnson, Maggie Poole, Rosie Newby, Iola Young, Alice Myles, Alice Henson;

Frances Smith, Ida Brown, Louise Alton, Ida Mae Henson, Geraldine Poole, Eva Diggs, Pauline Phillips, Margaret Phillips, Maggie T. Hall, and Rosalie Henson.

Joining in the showering, though unable to attend were Hazel Aulton, Audrey Tyner, Jeannette Johnson and Mary Henson.

ADD TO recent festivities the party given by the Baltimore chapter of Moles marking their first anniversary.

The affair was in the lush setting of the Dorchester Road home of Dr. and Mrs. A. U. Forte, and fun was with a gallaxy of games and other reasons for distributing a flock of prizes.

At the party were Moles and their husbands, other Moles and a guest, including:

Messrs. and Mesdames Irving Lockyman, Robert Bailey, Thomas McPherson, Glenford Dudley, Roland Williams, Wesley Stubbs, Patil Becham; Mesdames Josephine Rogers and Jacquelyn Spencer, Dr. Edward McDaniels (his Henrietta being ill at the time) John Woolford and of course, Dr. and Mrs. Forte.

ALPHA DELTA chapter of Chi Rho International Sorority held its regular monthly meeting Saturday evening at the home of Sorer Geraldine Hooper, 3420 Mondawmin Avenue. Members of the local chapter are young ladies in the business field and educational system throughout the city.

Following the acknowledgment of the meeting the group entertained nine business students who are to be initiated into the sorority this spring. Sorors Elsie Anderson, president, and Shirley Page; dean of pledgees, presided.

Hostess Geraldine Hooper served a lovely arrangement of delicacies buffet style.

Members present were:

Alice Autry, Mary Jackson, Sylvia Brooks, Patricia Sifficuit, Mabel Campbell, Shirley Chase, Frances Davis, Betty Dorsey, Julia Dorsey, Anita Duvall;

Yvonne Spadie, Arjorie Stanley, Ada Strickland, Geneva Swinton, Jocelyn Taylor, Marian Taylor, Joyce Woolford, Dorothy Workman and Gloria Woolford.

There also to enliven the evening were members of Sigma Phi Sigma Fraternity.

VEGETABLES, CARDS, kitchen ware, animals, paper boxes, dolls and lamp shades were transformed into "Mad Hats" at the Big Sisters Mad Hatters luncheon on Saturday at the Northan Avenue home of Willa Boulding. Co-hostess was Irene Douglass.

Members and guests divided their time between showing off their novel creations and viewing a spring millinery showing of hats designed by Lea Shar Milliners of West North Avenue.

Garnering first prize for the Mad Hats was Anethia Williams' Circus hat. The crown of the multi-colored straw hat featured the Big Top with a ferris wheel—complete with animals of the zoo parading around the brim. Lucille Woodson walked off as a queen with second prize, with a hat representing Queen Nefertiti. Each most unusual was the third prize winner. Mary Peck, hatted a strong master mail from papier-mache — tall feathers and all.

Awarding the prizes was a very hard decision for the judges, as there was a wide variety of many creative ideas.

Mable Byrd's hat of kitchen utensils, Carrie Sutton's hat for her "little girl's toys," — Ella Hughes' hat of vegetables tied in a colander, Bernice McDaniels' wig hat made from blue toilet tissue, Mary Robinson's Sputnik hat, and Gladys Parker's hat of every conceivable first-aid remedy all came in for honorable mention but there were only so many prizes available.

Those who modeled for the millinery show included Mesdames Madora Fames, Anetha Williams, Serena Holmes, Gladys Parker, Bernice McDaniels, Helen Gantt, Dorothy Powell, Bernita Fuller and Mae Chambers. Mrs. Lea Sharberlain was moderator and changed hats ever so often.

This was the fifth annual monthly social event of the Big Sisters Club.

Members and guests present included:

Mesdames Bernice Watson, Vivian Barnett, Credella White, Dean Powell, Bernice McDaniel, Estelle Venture, Carrie Staten;

Mesdames Alease Johnson, Idell Pugh, Helen Gattis, Serena Holmes, Lilyan Slater, Phyllis Shamwell, Madora C. James, Mamie Greene, Mary Peck, Helen Mae Chamberlain, Gladys Parker, Bernita Fuller, Ella Hughes, Imogene Douglass, Mable Byrd, Willa Boulding and Richella Walker.

Off The Beaten Path

By ELIZABETH M. OLIVER

Spring is the season which gives such delightful traditions, those which are light hearted and gay and those which are somber, too.

An example: "Nature's fine attire (blossoms and greenery) announces the season of desire."

And the old familiar chest-put: "In the spring a young man's fancy, lightly turns to thoughts of love."

* * *

SPRING ALSO brings Maundy Thursday, April 14, the Thursday before Good Friday which is filled with tradition.

The day commemorates four events: 1) the washing of the feet of the Disciples by Jesus; 2) the institution of the Eucharist; 3) the agony of Christ in Gethsemane and 4) the betrayal and arrest of Christ.

However, it is from the first event that the day gets its name, Maundy Thursday, from the Latin, mandare, which means commandment.

It was on Maundy Thursday that Christ washed his followers' feet and gave the commandments: "Do this in remembrance of Me. Love ye one another."

* * *

ST. MARK'S FEAST is celebrated on April 25 and marks a day especially observed in tradition and superstition.

St. Mark was one of St. Paul's favorite followers. A Christian martyr, he was stoned to death.

The tradition is that on St. Marks Day, April 25, the ghosts of those who will die during the following year, will appear in the churches.

St. Marks Eve, April 25, is observed in prayer and supplication so that ghosts of family, relatives and friends will not enter the church on St. Marks Day.

THE MOST delightful tradition comes at the end of April, just a few moments after dawn on May 1 when a magic moment may guarantee that all women can remain forever young and fair.

Here are the directions in rhyme:

On the first day of May,
Rise early, just at day,
Breathe in the morning air,
Bathe your face in the bright sparkling dew,
And, my lady, you'll always be fair.

TODAY IS Arbor Day in Maryland although the national and legal holiday is on April 29.

Arbor Day was proclaimed a legal holiday in 1872 to promote the planting of trees for shade and beauty and to restore the forests.

Legend also declares that the full moon which comes Monday, March 11, is the "pink full moon."

The pink full moon is the spring full moon and is contrasted with the fall full moon which is red.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wright, Washington, are parents of a girl born Wednesday at 7 a.m. the Washington Hospital Center.

Mother is beautous, blonde Barbara Robinson Wright, daughter of the Harvey Robinsons III, Riggs Ave., Baltimore, and former Douglass Hi queen.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL No. 182 pupils were delighted with Herbert M. Frisby's travel treat on the Arctic regions and Eskimos Tuesday.

One lucky kid was transformed into an Eskimo before their pupils' very eyes when Mr. Frisby decked him out in a real Eskimo parka and all the accessories brought from Eskimo land on his expeditions.

Mr. Frisby realized a 40-year old dream when he flew over the North Pole in 1956.

On top of the North Pole, he dropped a box — and here is a secret Mr. Frisby has told no one.

He wishes that some day the box will float away on melted glacier waters and arrive in some other land. Inside will be found, a large bronze plaque engraved with Matthew Henson's name and a smaller one engraved "Herbert M. Frisby, Baltimore, Md."

What wonderful dreams Mr. Frisby has — and they all usually come true.

LT. SANDRA WILLIAMS ORTEGA (Mrs. Julio W. Ortega) is now stationed with the Aircorps at Wright - Patterson AFB near Dayton, Ohio.
