THOMAS H. TIPTON

Tom Tipton joins staff of Hamm Co.

Thomas H. Tipton, Washington, D.C., has joined the sales department of the Theo. Hamm Brewing Co., according to an announcement by William W. Wadel, general sales manager of Hamm's Eastern Division.

Mr. Tipton is the second new appointee to the company's sales force within a week. Only a few days ago William Bell's appointment as a salesman in the Baltimore area was announced. Tipton will work exclusively in the Washington area.

Mr. Tipton, 26, graduated from Dunbar high school in Washington in 1951 and in the fall of that year entered Morgan State College in Baltimore.

In 1953 and 1954, while still attending college, he devoted some of his time to radio announcing — first with station WITH in Baltimore and then with WEBB in that city.

FOLLOWING HIS graduation from Morgan State College in 1955, Tipton continued his announcing work as a member of the staff of WFGC in Morningside, Md.

In May of 1956 he entered the Army and was assigned to the Pentagon until he was discharged two years later.

Tipton resumed his announcing career following his release from active duty, joining radio station WUST in Washington.

Later he worked for a sales consulting firm before becoming associated with Hamm's.

On Good Friday at 12 noon, all churches of the vicinity will meet in a joint service at the Mt. Olive Baptist Church on New Pittsburg Ave. near South Lane.

A joint choir under the direction of Mrs. Evelyn Harris will furnish the music. Following the services, the annual Good Friday dinner will be served at the Community Center, 411 A New Pittsburg Ave. The Rev. Shelton Fleming is pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist Church.

The Seven Last Words of Christ will be discussed by the following ministers: The Revs. D. B. B. Banks, Greater St. John Baptist;

S. R. Bennett, St. Matthew's Methodist;

D. C. Bowman, Ebenezer Methodist;

Charles A. Ward, New Life Presbyterian;

Peter Jennings, Shiloh Baptist Church, Edgemere;

James A. Everett, New Shiloh Baptist;

W. H. Winston, Friendship Baptist Church, Kembridge, Va.

The Rev. Carlton O. Cooke, Union Baptist Church, Sparrows Point, and president of the Ministerial Alliance, will preside. The Rev. D. S. Thompson, pastor of Friendship Baptist Church is the Alliance secretary.

AT 8 P.M. on Good Friday, the Senior Choir No. 1 of New Shiloh Baptist Church will present a program of Easter music, Bernard Redd is director and organist.

The first service at New Shiloh Baptist Church on Easter Sunday morning will be held at 10 a.m. with the sermon by the Rev. William L. Jeffries.

The second service will begin at 11:15 with the pastor, the Rev. James A. Everett officiating.

National Library Week was observed at the Turner Station Public Library. Chairman was Mrs. Catherine Patterson, teacher at the Fleming Elementary School. Other committee members were Mrs. Freddie Durant, Mrs. Ruth Riddix and Mrs. Margaret Stokes.

The enthusiasm of the Sollers Point High School Science Fair reached its peak when the project of Sylvia Howard, a 7A student was inspected. Sylvia delved into organic chemistry when she illustrated and explained the molecular structure of miracle drugs. Her project was exhibited at the Johns Hopkins University State Fair on April 8 and 9.

WITH THE PUB CRAWLERS

BARMAID OF THE WEEK—is Mrs. Mildred Dupree, who presides over the mixables at the Fulton Bar. On weekends, she keeps a stern watch on the Mexican happenings in the Celebrity Room at the Club.

Hottest thing on the nightclub scene this week is the good news out of Washington that the federal tax on live entertainment in clubs is being reduced to 10 per cent as of May 1.

Many club owners who have been flirting with the idea of going all-out for these big, strong Madison lines, feel this tax reduction is the green light in the chase for topnotch entertainment.

* * *

YE OLDE PUB Crawlers went out winging on the town during the past brace of seven brights and dims, starting the big bad stroll at the Fulton Bar.

Didn't linger too long at the main bar, cause we wanted to investigate the "Madison" activities going on upstairs in the Celebrity Room.

Mounted the steps, and sure enough, Sister Sadie" was blasting, and the line was hitting the wing-dip T, as we made the scene.

There's a small admission charge (40 cents) to keep out undesirables, we were told, and if you ever wanted to keep up with the latest in the Madison, this is the place.

Sammy Jay (disc jockey) handles the proceedings, and along with his crew of instructors, they are never too busy to teach the patrons any steps they would like to learn.

The place really swings — action happens Thursday, Fridays and Saturdays, from 10 'til 2, and a friendlier group, you never want to see.

* * *

ZOOMED DOWN Edmondson Ave. to catch opening night at the Astoria where St. Jenkins and his combo are whooping it up.

Group features Willene Barton on tenor sax, and she never sounded better. Tis an organ combo, Larry Young Jr. pushing the pedals and keyboard, and they've really got a boss sound.

You might remember Willene from the last time she played the Astoria when she was teamed with another girl sax player, Elsie Smith. She's on her own now, and jumping all the way.

* * *

DIDN'T KNOW, and maybe you didn't either, that the Lucky Number Club out on Poplar Grove is known for its food as well as top entertainment.

No kidding. They serve meals from 8 a.m. til two p.m. with lunch a specialty. Asked Watty what the specialty of the house was — fried chicken, the man says.

Claude Grant's combo are still on tap with the music, and pick up on George Muldrow on tenor sax, when you get there. When the pub crawlers hit the place, I could have sworn that Ray Charles was singing — George is just that good.

* * *

There's one club in town which makes an absolute specialty of fancy mixed drinks. Talking about the Vilma tavern on Pennsylvania Ave. at Baker St.

I'd be willing to bet that you can't name a drink they can't prepare. This is a strong statement, but if you doubt it — try it.

CLUB TIJUANA is still the only club in town with a chorus line. Al Brown and the Tunetoppers are still on tap with the music, weekends. Al has been out on tour lately. His recording of The Madison has really put the group in the national spotlight.

Speaking of Madison, Wednesdays and Thursdays are THE nights at the Club. It's getting so the Tijuana is the "meet your friends" place, cause something is jumping there every night.

Downtown, when the Crawlers made the scene where Baltimore meets Greene, the house was winging like crazy. — A. Chick's Show Bar, there are always loads of happenings. And when you combine the artistry of Flink Johnson with the zany tactics of Baby Seals, mixed with pretty cooing of Shirley Fields, and throw in a couple of slinky appearances of Kitty Dean, the blonde fashion plane, how can you miss? Especially when you add "Mr. Show Business" George Craft.

Staging three shows nitely, Chick said there is no need for a special deal on the Easter week end. The proprietor put it this way: "This is no one-shot shop, we wing seven nights a week, so everyday is a holiday." The man's got something, too.

A STOP by the bridge, the Carnival Lounge, out Poplar Grove Way. The Mello-o-Jacks are knocking them dead with a variety of solid sounds.

According to owner Morris A. Richmond, beginning May 1, when the 10 per cent excise tax cut becomes effective, the spot will feature live entertainment; and he is looking forward to bringing in some glittering personalities.

Doing a yeoman job in helping the owner maintain the Hi-fi atmosphere of the popular spot are: Lois McIntyre, Doris Wychy, Elizabeth Day, Shirley Blake, Bobbie Holloman, and Estelie Jackson, charming bar maids, all.

Of course, the part played by manager James B. Hardy can hardly be overlooked.

At North End, Eastside haven for fun seekers, by popular demand, Bill Hayes reports the Garry Bartz Quintet is being held over.

This bunch of jazz men has picked a tremendous following during its brief stunt at the night spot.

Since coming out of the Juilliard School of Music in the Big Town, they have played on the pro circuit for a mere four months. But, can they whale?

Clubmen stripped of $10,300 by gunmen

Patrons in a private club near Frederick, Md., were literally stripped by a band of five holdup men Monday.

In addition to losing $10,300 to the gunmen, the group, all males, also lost their guns, temporarily.

The men were all in a two-room, log cabin called the Sparton Club. When the five gunmen struck, they ordered the patrons to face the wall, frisked them, stuffing money and jewelry in a pillow case.

An hour after the holdup, police stopped a car between Frederick and Washington.

Its passengers were:

Benjamin Grief, 31, New York City; Johnny D. Boyd, 43, Newark, N.J.; Willie Williams, 35, also of Newark; James C. Toland, 55, of Washington and Charles R. Graves, 35, East Orange, N.J.

They were charged with committing robbery and held in custody, in lieu of $25,000 bail. When arrested the suspects were riding in a 1960 Cadillac, listing Graves as owner. Most of the stolen money was recovered, police said.

Alumni succeeds in $50,000 drive

HAMPTON, Va. — The fund raising committee of the National Hampton Alumni Association has announced that the Memorial Scholarship Fund has reached its goal of $50,000.

Charles H. Williams, 1 Gayle St., Hampton, chairman, made the announcement.

"The rising costs of education make it mandatory," he said, "that alumni everywhere, especially those from private colleges, should make annual contributions to their alma mater for current operations and for scholarships for needy and worthy students."

Dennis L. James promoted by PA

NEWARK

Clinton Hill resident, Dennis L. James, has been promoted by The Port of New York Authority to auditor in the Comptroller's Department.

In his new position Mr. James will audit Port Authority revenues, expenditures and assets as well as the financial and operating records of leases, agents and contractors under contractual agreements with the bi - state agency.

Among the 21 facilities which the Port Authority operates are Newark Airport, Port Newark, the Holland and Lincoln Tunnels and the George Washington Bridge.

* * *

MR. JAMES joined the Port Authority in 1950 as a building attendant. Later he was promoted to accounting clerk and accountant.

A veteran of World War II, Mr. James served in the United States Army in the South Pacific. He is a graduate of Rutgers University. Mr. James is active in the Newark West Indian Cricket Club as well as the Port Authority Associates, an employee organization.

Nashville Y hit

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—An estimated $15,00 worth of damage was done Friday to the branch YMCA building in a three-alarm fire, believed to have started in an old elevator shaft.

Two city firemen were overcome while fighting the flames which were confined primarily to the third and fourth floors. Both were admitted to General Hospital and were pronounced in "satisfactory" condition.
