ANNAPOLIS DOINGS

BY ELOISE RICHARDSON

"If we had a strong President, who would insist that the Constitution of the United States be upheld, there would be no need for Civil Rights legislation," says Harris L. Wofford, professor of law at Notre Dame University.

He spoke Tuesday evening before a group of over 75 white and colored citizens in the House of Delegates chambers of the State House here.

Wofford, special assistant on civil rights to Senator John F. Kennedy in his presidential campaign, was the speaker and consultant for the Central Voters Association of Anne Arundel County at its open meeting.

Wofford also stated that Senator Kennedy is the best candidate for colored people to back at this time.

CHALLENGED DURING the discussion period of the meeting by a spectator who inferred that the Democratic candidate would be involved in a dictatorship, Wofford had this to say:

"While I do not go along with this attitude, I do say that if this type of leadership will prevent the bodies of colored youth from being fished from the creeks of Mississippi and the bayous of Louisiana, then every colored citizen should vote for such a dictator."

"Also, if this kind of dictator sees to it that colored people get fair employment, equal education, and are no longer second rate citizens, then that is the type of President that we need," Wofford further stated.

Wofford, a native of Johnson City, Tenn., is on leave from his post at Notre Dame at this time. Having an extensive background in civil rights, he served on the staff of the Civil Rights Commission in Washington in 1958 and 1959.

He is also the author of a number of books. He has studied and traveled in England, France, Germany, Czechoslavia, Sweden, Pakistan, Afghanistan and Israel.

In his present position he is ably assisted by Mrs. Marjorie McKenzie Lawson, the attorney, of Washington, D.C.

DR. MONROE GREGORY, president of the association, gave the purpose of the organization.

He stated that the body is one year old, is by-partisan, and that it does not attempt to influence voters to change their party affiliation, but to educate and enlighten all voters currently.

"We feel that it is high time that ill issues, particularly involving our colored citizens, be discussed publicly," Dr. Gregory said.

He stated that the meeting, a part of the association's educational program, must go on record as a project to stimulate thinking, directed toward improvement of existing conditions and the abolishment of certain detriments to progress.

Dr. Gregory, a practicing physician of Washington, D.C., is a resident of Arundel-on-the-Bay.

A graduate of the Howard University School of Medicine in 1936, he served on its faculty for 11 years.

The Rev. Clarence L. Davis, pastor of the Eastport and Annapolis Neck Methodist Churches, offered an impressive and appropriate prayer for the occasion.

Mrs. Joseph Hardesty and Thomas Baden Jr. were seated on the platform. Other officers of the association include Henry Wright, vice-president; Carolis Kimbrue, secretary, and Mrs. Marjorie Nutter, treasurer.

GEORGE BERNARD DAVIS, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Clarence L. Davis of Eastport, has returned to Colgate University for work in his senior year, after 10 weeks abroad.

While abroad, Davis spent the first five weeks in Nigeria, Africa, and then went on to Tripoli, Brussels, Paris and London.

He was one of 180 students from 100 colleges known as the Student Safari on the tour, and it was through the International Cooperation Agency that his fellowship was made possible.

Now back in school, Davis is serving as a student advisor to the college and is editor of the school paper.

WILLIAM H. RICHARDSON and Clarence Turner are among five appointees to the City Personnel Board, provided under the recently enacted merit system ordinance, approved by the City Council at its last monthly meeting.

The board was set up in order to establish an equitable and uniform procedure for dealing with personnel matters; to attract to municipal service, the best and most competent persons available;

Also to assure that appointments and promotions of employees will be based on merit and fitness as determined insofar as is reasonable by competitive tests, and to provide a reasonable degree of security for employees of the City of Annapolis.

Mr. Richardson is also serving on the Anne Arundel County Grand Jury for a six-month term.

APPOINTED — Mrs. Dorothy C. Atkinson was sworn in Tuesday as a member of the District Cosmetology Board.

Raphael A. Smith now lone tan captain in Fire Dept.

WASHINGTON

Captain Raphael A. Smith currently is the only colored captain in the District Fire Department. He is a captain at No. 4 Engine Company and has been a captain since Sept. 1, 1958.

Capt. Smith was promoted competitively from the regular U.S. Service promotional examination, scoring fourth place among forty-six lieutenants who competed at the time.

In an AFRO story in the issue of Sept. 17, on the retirement of Captain Joseph A. Briscoe, it inadvertently was stated "He was the last colored man to hold the rank of captain." This was incorrect and the AFRO gladly acknowledges the mistake and salutes Capt. Smith.

Jackson forces say he's still in charge

Dr. Taylor says history never favors those who try to take advantage

By RALPH MATTHEWS
PHILADELPHIA

Regardless of the outcome of litigation over the presidency of the National Baptist Convention, supporters of the Rev. Joseph H. Jackson said he is in charge of the administration of affairs for sometime to come.

This opinion was in a statement issued by Leon Higginbotham Jr. (of the law firm of Norris, Green, Harris, and Higgenbotham) who represents the Jackson faction and the convention directorate.

Supporters of the Rev. Gardner C. Taylor will almost certainly oppose this view.

In his statement Mr. Higgenbotham Says in part:

"SINCE THE dispute involving the presidency and control of the National Baptist Convention is of interest and affects the well being of more than 5,000,000 Baptists throughout the nation, it is important that the present legal status of the management of the Baptist National Convention be accurately set forth.

"Until there is a successor, legally elected, Dr. Jackson is the president of the National Baptist Convention and will remain its president until the courts finally decide this issue.

"This cannot be legally disputed by even the partisans of his opponent, for he was elected in 1959 and has a legal right to hold office until his successor has been adjudged by the courts as having been legally elected.

"IT IS ALSO important to note that there is no challenge in all the present litigation against the board of directors, who were elected in 1960, and who within the past 10 days elected Dr. Jackson as the chairman of the board."

"The National Baptist Convention must function continuously and in the event of a dispute over other offices, the board of directors is charged with the responsibility of carrying on the affairs of the corporation.

Dr. Jackson and the board of directors would, therefore, be charged with that responsibility.

So it is evident that regardless of the dispute over the presidency which if presented in litigation in our Philadelphia courts, Dr. Jackson will be in charge of the affairs of the National Baptist Convention for many months to come.

"WHAT WE are saying is that aside from any discussion of the merits of the fight between Dr. Jackson and Dr. Gardner Taylor for the presidency, Dr. Jackson is still, and will remain, the head of the Baptist convention until the final decision of the courts and this decision may be many months away.

"The issue presently before the Philadelphia courts is one of jurisdiction. The question for our local courts is whether they can determine who are the duly elected officers of a foreign corporation, and if so, can the decision be raised by a bill in equity and not by quo warranto."

DR. TAYLOR made his own statement concerning the state of affairs in the National Baptist Convention. He said:

"I bear no malice toward Dr. J. H. Jackson. I have, in the past, had a fondness for him.

"I think he is a good husband, a fine father and perhaps a pretty good man.

"But I consider it close to unforgivable for any leader to twist and cause simple, ordinary, trusting people; to take advantage of some sort of cleverness and chicanery to misguide them.

"This is what Dr. Jackson attempted to do in Philadelphia, to misuse people who have trusted him. But I say he did not and will not get away with it. History records no case of anyone who has defined the trust of people who sought to misuse them and who survived in the peoples' good will."

Have you as a community lost interest in the YMCA program? Have we overlooked the fact that a few Giants carry the responsibility of many? The Rev. Shelton A. Fleming chairman of the operating committee of the Turner Station YMCA, personally wishes to rally the community to a new birth of interest in the YMCA program. It has been suspended pending strengthening of interest.

The appropriations from the Community Extension Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association of Baltimore can not be retained without adequate local backing and participation.

AN APPEAL goes out to all citizens to consider the high objectives of the YMCA and to come forth prepared to stand firmly behind it. The Rev. Mr. Fleming may be reached at 639 Main St.

Heard from Robert and Helen Lewis the other day. They are cruising toward California on their vacation.

Elmira Tucker, a 1960 graduate of Hamgton Institute as an architectural engineer, has been employed by the city of New York. She is so elated over her position that she is going to delay the graduate study that she had a fellowship for the University of Southern California.

Frances Tucker is successfully teaching the blind in an area of Newport News, Va.

The Turner Station Recreational Council is conducting a door - to - door campaign to aid with the recreational programs that they are conducting in the community. The campaign may continue through the month of October.

The solicitors are David M. Barrett, Joseph Butler Jr., Tileston Venable and Mrs. Violet Floyd.

Gadabouting In Baltimore

Lambda Kappas initiate six members

with Lula Jones Garrett

Lambda Kappa Mu initiating six "Acorns," Saturday, ended the initiation activities with a banquet at Wilson's Restaurant.

Inducted at the same time was an honorary member, Philena E. Chase, executive director of the Baltimore Area Girl Scout Council, Inc.

Miss Chase, who has a bachelor of arts degree from Mt. Holyoke College, a master's from the New York School of Social Work and a Ph.D. from Columbia, has been an instructor at Columbia, a lecturer at Hunter and an assistant professor at Temple, among other accomplishments. She is the first white soror to be admitted to the chapter.

Other new sorors are Doris Brown Adams, Mary Johnson, Geneva Jones, Jean Julius, Priscilla Mason and Doris Ricks. Miss Jones makes the third of a trio of sisters who are members of the chapter.

The initiation and banquet drew a number of national officers, including Enid C. Baird of New York, grand basileus; Louise Boyce of Bayside, N.Y., second anti - basileus;

Also Celestine B. Harris, of Washington, regional director; Margaret Haywood of Washington, a past grand basileus; and Catherine Cowell of New York, a past regional director.

Baltimore also has two national officers: Ida B. Wroten, who is national epistoleus and Naomi D. Johnson, recent chapter president, and national first anti basileus.

Violet Hill Whyte presided. There were solos by Eleanor Moore, presentation of Miss Chase by Valerie Brown, presentation of the 1960 Acorns by Imogene Douglass, response by Miss Chase and the closing remarks by the newly elected president, Susie Myles.

There was a delicious dinner, the flower - decked tables no more lovely than the elegantly frocked ladies who sat about them. There was a great exchange of gifts. . . an altogether enjoyable evening . . . and then the sorors trooped off to the home of Mrs. Johnson for cocktails and an enlarged party.

Attending the banquet were: Louise Anderson, Gladys Bond, Lucy Bond, Elsie Bowser, Eunice Brooks, Valerie Brown, Doris Davis, Helen Deleaney, Fannie Ewell; Vets Grieg, Glymia Hill, Frankie Hinchen, Pattie Holloway, Myrtle Jones, Josephine Maxwell, Mary Mitchell, Eleanore Moore, Esther Morris, Susie Myles;

THE CREOLES opened their fall session last week.

After talking about and showing vacation pictures the group got down to business. There were many items on the agenda for the coming year; one which will be the final payment on a life membership to the NAACP.

Secret pals played tricks on their pals and Rosita Uncles' secret pal cleverly hid a pair of lovely pearl and gold leaf earrings which the recipient found as she was about to leave. Hostess for the evening was Willie Valentine.

The following members were present:

Margaret Austin, president; Rosita Uncles, secretary; Margaret Durham, treasurer; Elizabeth Ford, Margaret Hawkins, Alease Jones, Romaine Taylor, Willie Valentine, Catherine Young.

FAVORITE HOSTESS for the week was Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, who held forth at a dinner party at her home in Glyndon, Sunday, for her mother and dad, Mr. and Mrs. Norria Mack of Reisterstown, who celebrated their 77th and 78th birthdays. They have the same birthday.

This was the first birthday party the parents had been given in the 52 years of their marriage.

Of the six of their seven children living, the party was attended by Mrs. Johnson, of course, and her sisters, Mesdames Sarah Jordan and Martha Mack; also her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Mack.

There were also 46 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren about.

Out - of - town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jordan of Germantown, Pa.; Mrs. Lily White and Mrs. Naomi Jordan of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. John Greenlee, John Jackson, Beverly Jackson and Mrs. Nora Jackson of Ardmore, Pa.
