bell. Another man came and Peter said we'd like to have lunch.

"He looked at me and asked Peter, 'Are you alone?'"

"Pettr said 'No, I'm not alone.'

"Then the man said, 'Then I can't serve you.'"

AT MILLERS, a man who identified himself as Theodore Cook, head waitier, told the AFRO:

"The only answer I can give is that it must have been that couple. We are not integrated, have not been since we were established. I was there but I wasn't the one who spoke to them."

He said the matter would have to be taken up with Mrs. Ella Miller. She could not be reached before AFRO press time.

VICACIOUS DIANA Sands told the AFRO about the humiliating visit she and Lonnie Elder paid to the White Coffee Pot Restaurant near the theatre on Monday night:

"We walked in. We didn't know we weren't allowed. No one came over. They just stared at us. A man came over to the next booth. We asked if we could get some service and he said, 'Only carry out.'

"We didn't believe it. We followed the man and he kept saying, 'carry out.' He couldn't look us in the eyes. He seemed ashamed. Others looked on, then just turned their heads.

"We still didn't think he could do this, so we went out and found a policeman. He told us they could do it. He said they didn't even have to give us carry out.

"We started to just sitin. "It's a terrible thing, like tearing you apart!"

LONNIE ELDER said when they approached the policemen, he asked if, "We had any legal rights and he said we did not, that there was an ordinance."

He called the experience "tormenting."

The AFRO contacted Alan Katz, son of one of the brothers who own the White Coffee Pot chain. He said one of them would have to make a statement. Myles Katz, his father, was unavailable. At press time Jerome Katz had not returned a call to his home.

cast also complained that they were unable to use the bar at the New Howard Hotel where they were stopping.

Claudia McNeil stopped at the St. James Hotel.

Jeanette DuBois, an understudy for Miss Foster, said a downtown movie, the Howard showing Elmer Gantry refused to admit her son Raj Gupta, also an understudy.

THE AFRO WAS unable to reach James Wall but his wife reported that he had been "upset and hurt" by the incident involving him at the Skippers Seafood Restaurant at 108 N. Eutaw St.

At that restaurant, a man who identified himself as Harry Skipper, and said he was the chef, told the AFRO:

"I don't know what to tell you. I don't know why we don't serve these people. It would be more business for everybody. I've been here 15 years from New York.

"The beer licenses here calls for white clientele only. There is nothing he (the owner) can do about it."

EDITOR'S NOTE: The law which required liquor licensees to serve either white or colored persons was upset two years ago. The courts ruled licensees could admit all.)

Asked who the owner was and how he could be reached, Mr. Skipper said, "I'll see you some other time."

THE INCIDENT involving Mrs. Beard occurred at the Fairfax Restaurant, 112 E. Lexington St., just a short distance from the courthouse.

Mrs. Beard had just finished sitting with a jury that was hearing a civil case.

"I went into the Fairfax for lunch with five of the white ladies on the jury. They had said 'come on let's have lunch together,' and so I went.

"Before this we had all eaten together in the Post

In later conversations with members of the jury she found that all of them, except one, favored her trying to take some type of action in regard to the incident.

SOMETIME AFTER she went to the Coffee Pot, attractive Miss Sands was served courteously at Thompson's one of the larger restaurant chains which serves all.

Since March of this year, when student sitdown leaders began a concerted campaign, most of the larger restaurants and lunchrooms admit all. Also open are most theatres, driveins, department store restaurants and lunchrooms.

At last count, it was estimated 115 public eating places serve all. By coincidence, the places selected by Haisin actors are among the few which have not altered their white - only policy.

Noteworthy

By HERBERT MANGRUM

There is a chance that October 2, 1960 will go down in history as "Blue Monday" for 225 men.

Some of the men have shown more than a passing interest in a raid Northwestern District Police made on a massage parlor the other day.

Here is the reason why.

The evidence, brought into court consisted of three three - by - five cases containing 75 cards each.

The raiders said each card contained the name and address of a "customer."

Should that evidence be revealed in Criminal Court, someone is going to have to do some tall explaining.

THE MAN who entered an Eastside bar the other night and asked for a "Loch Raven Cocktail" need never worry.

He will never be bothered with that morning after hangover.

Took me awhile to figure out the gent was asking for a glass of water.

Loch Raven is the source of the city's water supply.

The Walter Green branch of the American Legion is a reached the top and I will continue to do so.

"Good policing demands assignments on the basis of need and ability and not race.

"I do not know what the race of a man is when he comes up for promotion" the Commissioner added.

The Commissioner's comment concerning race was made a week after 44 new probationary officers were appointed.

The list containing the names of the new men designated members as white male (w/m) and colored male (c/m).

WHILE BALTIMORE drags its feet and is hesitant about giving the colored officer what one patrolman terms "a fair shake," other cities are moving forward.

Thirty - eight miles away in Washington colored officers are riding motorcycles, directing traffic, and serving under colored lieutenants.

In Richmond, Va., they are driving patrol wagons and radio cars.

In some sections of the deep South, colored officers are permitted to ride in cars although restricted to colored areas.

The Police Departments of Philadelphia, New York and other cities along the East Coast are well integrated.

Officers from other sections of the country, where an integrated force is in operation, joke about the plight of the colored officer in Baltimore.

WHILE THE lot of Baltimore's colored officers is not a happy one, there is hope.

1. The restrictions could be lifted on orders from the Police Commissioner.

2. The EEOC or Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has the power to investigate and adjust complaints of unfair employment practices.

3. Citizens could bring the matter to the attention of their Councilman and write letters to the Commissioner.

They could also send letters to the district police captains.

LENA IS FOR KENNEDY — "I'm no politician," says Lena Horne, "but it just seems to me that a Democrat like John Kennedy cares more about people. He cares more about all the things that still need to be done in this country, like more jobs and a better chance for everybody. Republicans talk pretty but Kennedy will do something about all the problems. That's what counts. That's why I'm for Senator John Kennedy for President."
