ANNAPOLIS DOINGS

BY ELOISE RICHARDSON

Activities among students at Bates High School have gotten underway, especially among the Student Council members.

Recently the following officers were elected:

Pearl Brown, president; Barbara Lee, vice-president; Evelyn Hunt, secretary; Betty Brooks, treasurer; Spears, chaplain, and Charles Hicks, sergeant-at-arms.

The twenty-four members of the executive committee, who are appointed rather than elected, are:

Winifred Prann, Alicia Parker, Cynthia Collinson, James Goodwyn, Carl Brooks, Purcell Gaskins, Ronald Jennings, Brice Wayne Wallace, Mary Brooks, Clifton Brown, Rupert Simms, Harry White, Leon Brooks, Ronald Howard.

Alan Joyce Chisholm, Shirley Johnson, Margie Thomas, Carlene Thompson, Carol Williams, Darlene Smith, Charles Pergerson, Clifton Thomas and Lorenzo Trotter.

Miss Joyce Chisholm was elected "Miss Homecoming" by the student body and will reign at homecoming activities on Nov. 9.

Four other senior girls were elected to serve as attendants for "Miss Homecoming." They are Waverlean Jerald, Darlene Thompson, Evelyn Hunt and Evelyn Hall.

THE HOMECOMING football game, which will culminate the homecoming activities, will be played by the home team and Mace's Lane at 8 p.m.

The Senior Chorus, made up of 140 voices, will make its first appearance of the school year at the United Nations Assembly the last of this month.

Members of the group will also participate on the program of the Maryland State Teachers Meeting. The group is under the direction of Mrs. Bernice Gibbs.

Glenn Brown, a member of the chorus, accompanied by Mrs. Gibbs, was a soloist on the program of the Order for the Maryland Women Legislators.

On October 17, three Bates students will attend the Post-White House Conference meeting at Laurel, which is under the direction of the Southern Regional Conference Planning Commission. Students are Ronald Jennings, Barbara Lee and Diane Nick.

MEMBERS OF the staff of Threads Magazine, who are tenth graders, under the leadership of Mrs. Rose Wiseman, are sponsoring a poetry contest.

Such a project has as its purpose, the idea of encouraging students in the art of creative writing.

New Members on the faculty of Bates this year are:

Enoch C. Jones, a graduate of Florida A. and M. University, and an instructor in building and trades; Mrs. Ray S. Lassiter, a student of American and Catholic Universities, the new art teacher; Miss Delores Alston, added to the language department, and Miss Mary E. Moore, an instructor in business courses. The last two are graduates of Morgan College.

• • •

FIRST GRADERS at Parole Elementary School were given the opportunity to get acquainted with other school faculty members and other staff members by making a tour of the school plant after the direction of their teachers, Mrs. Arlene Woodward, Mrs. Ethel Thompson, Mrs. Pearl Platten burg and Mrs. Helen Cook.

In addition to familiarizing the pupils with the school plant, the tour resulted in helping these pupils to gain a greater feeling of belonging to the large school family.

These pupils also arranged a display of pictures of themselves, taken when they were pre-schoolers, and they related many interesting stories about themselves.

Working on their farm unit for example, the second grade boys and girls visited the farm of Caldwell MacMillan at Crownsville and attended the Anne Arundel County Fair at Sandy Point State Park.

Mrs. Melissa Stepney, Mrs. Helen Chambers and Miss Marita Carroll accompanied the group.

THE GREEN Singers, a group of lovely sisters of Broadneck Methodist Church, will appear in a program at Wayman Good Hope AME Church on Sunday, October 16 at 4 p.m. Rev. Mrs. Irene Williamson is sponsor of the program and Willie Day is secretary. The Rev. S. Morse is pastor.

The Anne Arundel County Branch NAACP invites the public to its membership kick-off tea at First Baptist Church on Sunday, October 23 at 3 p.m.

A feature of the program will be echoes from the national convention of the NAACP at Minneapolis, to be presented by Mrs. Henrietta Johnson and Mrs. Ethel Wilson, who were delegates from the local branch.

There will be a special musical program and greetings will be given by Dr. E. Franklin Jackson, president of the Washington Chapter of the NAACP.

Mrs. Thelma Wauls and Mrs. Julia Foote are co-chairman for the tea. Dr. Theodore Johnson is president of the local chapter.

Recently it was learned that a Baltimore citizen has notified officials of the Citizens Planning and Housing Association of Annapolis and Anne Arundel County that a 147-acre tract of land would be available for a housing development for colored people, according to Mrs. Gregory J. Mann, president of the association.

However, Mrs. Mann announced that the landowner's name and the location of the property would not be disclosed at this time.

The need for property on which middle income colored families could construct their own homes was first brought to the attention of the county Commissioners by Mrs. Charles H. Rawlins, an association director.

The commissioners were individually contacted to aid in this matter by seeking likely locations for development in their districts. Two sections, Freetown in the third district, and Churchton in the seventh were mentioned by the commissioners.

Although not too much concrete information has been revealed, there is reason to feel there is hope for better housing in the various sections.

The commission should be congratulated for the fine work it continues to project into the community.

DR. AND MRS. Parlette Moore (Thelma) had as their house guests recently, Mrs. Vernon L. Smith (Hazel) and her young son Vernon II Bunjoy of Flushing, L.I., N.H.

Mrs. Smith, a niece of Mrs. Smith, is a supervisor in Foster Care and Adoption in the New York City Department of Welfare. Dr. Moore is president of Coppin Teachers College.

Mrs. Victorine Adams and Mrs. Verda Welcome were two very charming hostesses on Friday at a tea honoring Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, wife of the candidate for vice-president. Both looked lovely in yellow orchids and there was a conglomeration of beautiful hats floating around.

Isn't it peculiar? We can never appreciate our group of women so much as we do when they meet together and you get this beautiful picture of stunning outfits and above all, attractive hats. Mom may say some are very "crazy," but I always say it takes a "crazy" hat to bring out the beauty and charm of a woman.

The two hostesses were extremes apart in headgear. Victorine looked like a tiny doll in a black velvet close-fitting small hat, which hugged her head to the ears, while Verda was stately in a turban in the new deep shade of pink made up in tulle.

Don't forget Woman Powers' annual luncheon on October 23.

RACE RELATIONS EXPERT VOTES FOR KENNEDY —"I find Senator John Kennedy a man that I admire," says Frances Harriet Williams, Secretary of the Board of the St. Louis Urban League and former associate of the Truman Committee on Civil Rights. "I see him as a man able to educate himself, a man capable of real but controlled emotion, a man who rises to the situation at hand unafraid of opposition and willing to act on the important rather than be stopped by the difficult and unimportant. So I am for Senator John Kennedy for President. Hope you are also."
