1926 and made their home in Severna Park 32 years

Great lovers of children, the Jenningses opened their home to 13 foster children whom they reared. Mr. Jennings still resides at the residence.

TWO OF Mrs. Jennings' nine sons did not serve in World War II, and are now career men in the Air Force. Home on emergency leave are John Henry Jennings, stationed in French Morocco and Oliver Jennings, stationed in Japan.

MRS. GENEVA JENNINGS

The other sons are Aaron, Howard, Wilton Jennings, Severna Park; Frank, Eugene and Greenberry Cager, also Severna Park, and George Cager, Baltimore.

The four daughters are Mesdames Edna Zellas, Geneva Smith, Odessa Murray, Severna Park; Mary Ricks, Baltimore. Seventeen grandchildren also survive.

THE DECEASED daughter-in-law had not suffered any serious illness, before her death on Sunday.

Her husband, George Cager, told the AFRO, "We went to market on Saturday and she cooked dinner Sunday. We are all shocked and still cannot realize she is dead.

"Mother had been ill for sometime, and we were expecting her death."

He said he rushed his wife to the hospital at 10 a.m. Sunday and she died at 4:15 p.m.

She had suffered failing eyesight, he stated. A daughter Gloria, age 16, left school recently to help her mother, he stated.

MR. AND MRS. CAGER would have celebrated their 22nd wedding anniversary on Nov. 27.

Mrs. Cager was born Feb. 24, 1922, the daughter of the late Mayme Bland Carter and William Bland, 866 Harlem Ave

In addition to her husband, daughter and father, surviving are an aunt, Mrs. Theresa Satchel, two brothers, William Bland, Philadelphia; Charles Bland, Baltimore; three sisters, Mesdames Eliv Carter, Gladys Buck, Louise West, Baltimore.

that Dr. Harris arose to state he was tired of "these stereotyped answers."

He went on to say:

"COLORED PERSONS will never get a chance to move ahead to political careers, unless somebody fires somebody.

"How are you going to get people to vote for you unless you give them patronage.

"Patronage is the lifeblood of politics."

Dr. Harris, visibly angry, continued:

"How long does it take us to mature in politics?

"PATRONAGE HAS got to be given to colored citizens.

"Somebody will have to take cognizance of these things.

"Colored citizens must learn to throw their weight where it can be felt, until these things are realized"

Dr. Harris then recalled some years ago a former Senator from Maryland had offered a colored political organization man here a janitorial job on Capital Hill in Washington, which was refused.

"How long," he asked, "must we take brooms and wash buckets?"

MR. FRIEDEL, in his formal talk, said he was campaigning on his record.

"I serve all the people all the time," he said.

He then went on to blast the Republicans' foreign policy charging particularly that Cuba "has the United States over a barrel."

Also, that the Benson Plan is costing $1,750,000 a day just to store surplus wheat.

In the area of civil rights, he said the NAACP had presented him a plaque for his efforts.

Another guest speaker was Ted Venetoulis, legislative assistant to Jim Wright, Texas congressman.

He gave a historical account of the Democratic Party, along the theme that it is the party of achievemnt

DR. ROBERT L. JACKSON, in commenting on Dr. Harris' remarks, said:

"It hurts when we have Democrats in office who do not carry out the principles of the party."

At last week's meeting, the Frontiers heard from Mr. Blum, the Republican who is seeking to unseat Mr. Friedel.

MR. BLUM devoted his formal address to civil rights advances made under GOP Administrations.

"The Republican record," he said, "is a record of action for freedom, not just talk."

Mr. Blum was also asked to state his position on placing qualified colored persons on his staff, in the event he is elected.

He replied:

"I definitely intend to place one and possibly two qualified colored persons on my personal staff in Washington.

"My reasons are as follows:

"Colored citizens make up 30 percent of the Seventh Congressional District.

"I believe in fair employment for all people.

"The only way to do this is to open up the Congressional staff to all people."

Mr. Blum, it was announced Tuesday, is to be invited for a second appearance before the Frontiers prior to the Nov. 8 general election.

The reason given by Dr. Thomas A. Pitts, program chairman, is that since he devoted his prior appearance in an address for his party, it was felt he should be given an opportunity to express his personal aims.

—Bank to hire

the Maryland Trust Co.

With resources of more than $400 million, the firm represents the city's largest bank.

Efforts to get banks to employ colored persons began in 1959.

At that time Tilton H. Dobbin, who is now president of the now bank, was the Fidelity vice - president in charge of branch operations.

Mr. Dobbin told the AFRO: "There is a very real possibility of colored tellers to come "pretty promptly."

He said he was aware of the changing scene in Baltimore employment.

Mr. Dobbin also said, later when he became president of the new bank, that a change in the all - white policy would probably come this fall.

THE FORMER Fidelity-Baltimore branches, in predominantly all-colored neighborhoods, with a large percentage of colored depositors, are:

Northwestern Office, 1808 Pennsylvania Ave.; Mondawmin office in the Mondawmin Shopping Center; Northeastern office, Gay and Monument Sts.

Substantial numbers of colored citizens also make deposits at the 13 W. North Ave., West Baltimore at Franklintown Rd., Western office at Baltimore and Carey Sts.

Previously there have been no colored employees at any of the 24 branches or at the main office of the old Fidelity - Baltimore or the Maryland Trust Co., except part-time porters.

HOWEVER, in September, Miss Shelia Gray, a June, 1960 Carver Vocational-Technical High School graduate, was hired in a federal bank.

She became the first colored person to be employed at a counter in the money department of any bank.

Miss Gray was hired full-time at the Baltimore Reserve Bank after she completed a training period there under the work - study program.

Among those elevated were Samuel T. Daniels of Baltimore, newly elected grand master of Prince Hall Masons in Maryland, and Calvin L. Kish of Georgia, formerly of Princess Anne County in Maryland.

Some $70,000 was added to the fund for the construction of a new Scottish Rite Cathedral in Washington and a $1,000 each was donated to the NAACP and the Grandmasters Council for the eradication of bogus Masonry.

Other contributions were made to the College Fund Association for the Study of Life and History and the Urban League.
