Gilden to box windup on Mims-Beecham card

Johnny Gilden, probably the most popular fighter with Baltimore fans in the past couple years, has been signed by matchmaker Sylvan Bass to appear in a special six-round semi-windup to the Southern middleweight championship bout between Holly Mims of Washington and Jimmy Beecham of Florida on Monday, at the Coliseum.

The Mims-Beecham go, a 12-rounder, will headline the inaugural show of promoter Benny Tretta's new Sports A'i, Inc.

Expecting to run regularly on a twice-a-month basis after the first of the year, Tretta plans to make this the first of a steady series of first class ring programs in what he is confident will be strong revival of the sport here.

GILDEN'S OPPONENT in next Monday's six-rounder will be Brown Lee, scrappy welterweight from Harrisburg who has made one previous appearance here.

Johnny, a former Kimpin amateur who cleaned up every welter title hereabouts while active in the 1955-56 run ranks, has lost only one start as a pro.

He dropped it to rugged, hard-hitting Joe Salci, the East Baltimore favorite whipped Salci twice in the three-bout series that brought Gilden to the front as this city's hottest current ring article.

Cage clinic Tuesday at School 180

A basketball clinic for coaches and players will be held in the auditorium of School 180, Cherry Hill Rd. and Seamon Ave., Tuesday at 7 p.m. Doors open at 6:30 p.m.

Daniel W. Clark, director of the Arundel Recreation Center, said top area coaches will be heard and basketball movies seen.

Coaches include Buddy Jeanette of the Baltimore Bullets on offense; Howard K. Wilson of Morgan State College on screen plays; William Cain of Dunbar on zone defense.

Artie Williams of Douglass on fundamentals of offense plays, throwing plays and fast break offense, and Joseph Wiles, official interpretator for the Baltimore Board of Officials on rules changes and interpretations.

2 ex-champs on Coliseum fight show

Three of the boxing world's best known figures — two of whom are former heavyweight champions — will appear as guest referees on the Monday night boxing show at the Baltimore Coliseum.

Rocky Marciano, Jersey Joe Walcott and Tony Galento have accepted invitations from Promoter Benny Trotta to handle the preliminary card to the Holly Mims-Jimmy Beecham main event.

Marciano and Walcott are ex-champs. Galento was ranked as the leading contender during the regime of both Joe Louis and Razzard Charles.

Each will referee one of the supporting bouts.

world's civilization began; Mr. Okello-Onyango, and Mr. Matumla will take their places in the government of their land when they return.

Mr. Okello-onyango, who taught school in Kenya, is studying economics at Morgan.

Mr. Matumla, whose father is chief of the Wamakonde tribe, studies business administration.

In America since September of this year, Mr. Okello-Onyango and Mr. Matumla, are most impressed by educational opportunities, "immensity," and "speed" of life in this country.

While they admire these things in the American civilization, they would not duplicate American life in Africa, if they could.

Given the chance to transplant some facet of American life in Africa, the young men say they would take America's ideal of democratic living and its "adventurous spirit."

"The young men see their homeland of 250 million peoples, many of whom have recently acquired their independence from outside governments, as a vast, urban, promising nation which will soon come into its own as a world power.

HOWEVER, THEY realize many aspects of their land will have to be changed—kke education.

"There is only one university, and that is in Uganda," says Mr. Okello-Onyango.

"Tall, slender and proud, Mr. Okello-Onyango says, "I wanted to advance my education, so I had to find it outside my country."

In America, the ideal of democracy has impressed Mr. Okello-Onyango.

However, he says, this country's failure to practice its ideal, is distasteful.

"America fails in denying some of its members all human rights," Mr. Okello-Onyango says.

Mr. Okello-Onyango is son of a Protestant priest, who recently retired.

Mr. Matumla explained that many students in Africa are deprived of the opportunity to attend school only because there is no room for them in the one university.

"If there are twenty students in a graduating class, (school)' officials have the right to select the few who can attend college.

"The other 15 may have fine records, but there is no room for them," he adds.

AMERICA'S SPEED has impressed Mr. Matumla.

"People here even seem to become impatient if one talks slowly—especially the girls," he says.

Mr. Matumla says he is not quite sure America's democratic system would be best for his country, at first.

"Democracy is best on long experience," he says. "With no experience, and so few educated, democracy may be abused if it is tried at first," Mr. Matumla says.

He feels a "modified" form of Democracy may work in countries where experience and education are limited.

Messers. Okello-Onyango and Matumla are eagerly awaiting the time when their countries will become independent.

They are preparing for the day at Morgan.

Twenty-two African countries have obtained their independence from outside powers and are members of the United Nations.

ALSO A NATIVE of an age-old civilization, Miss Roiba, a sophomore, is daughter of a Grecian baker.

She studies chemistry at Morgan.

When she arrived in this country a year and a half ago, Miss Roiba says she knew no English.

"All the English I know, I have learned while I was at Morgan.

"Everyone here has been so helpful to me," she adds.

Miss Roiba, who says she would like to work as a chemist in an American hospital for a while after earning her master's degree, plans to return to her home eventually.

She is employed presently in the Memorial Refectory.

There are approximately 12 other students at Morgan from Greece.

In a new country which is both strange and fascinating to them, Morgan's young Africans are interested in two things (among others, of course).

Are American colored girls prejudiced about the way a man looks? Will they accept them as friends?

Are colored people in America interested in going to Africa to help build a new land?

In America, where assimilation of races is more evident in the facial features of colored persons, these young students and most of their countrymen are proud of their skin and hair.

Both of them admitted frankly that when they consider marriage, they would prefer an American girl — but would an American girl prefer them? Only time and experience can tell.

While her independence is admirable, there is no place for it after the knot has been tied, they said.

In Africa, the man of the house is boss—this is unqualified, they indicate.

WITH HIGH hopes for their native land, these students, at most other Africans who get the chance to travel abroad, seek technically trained people to recruit to Africa.

However, both young men say, emphatically "We don't want any strings attached to any help we might get.

These are the young men striving to build a new, greater Africa, prepared to take her place as a world power —interested in American girls and help from their own people in America.

Physics teachers to meet at Morgan

The Chesapeake Section, American Association of Physics Teachers, will hold its Fall meeting at Morgan State College Saturday, October 22 beginning at 9:30 a.m.

High school teachers of science are invited to attend the sessions at the College, located at Cold Spring Lane and Hillen Road.

Luchheon will be served between the morning and afternoon sessions.

Colts face long time jinx in Detroit Lions

DETROIT, Mich. — After overbounding back from their only downs on one game, loss to ship the Los Angeles Rams, 31-17, last Sunday, the Baltimore Colts will risk their share of first place in the Western Conference of the National Football League Race against the Lions here Sunday. The Lions to date hold a 9-6 edge over the Colts, and won in 1958 and 1959 were the Colts able to defeat the Lions in their own den.

In Sunday's defeat of the Rams, Johnny Unitas continued his touchdown streak when on the first play of the fourth quarter, he hit Lenny Moore with a 22-yard scoring toss to make it 11 consecutive games in which he has thrown for at least one TD.

MOORE, in addition to scoring via the pass route, ripped off TD jaunts of 37, 34, and 1 yards. The 5-foot Lenny equalled a Colts record, his throng of 37,808 (the Colts third straight capacity crowd) to their feet in the third quarter when he returned a Lou Michaels kick 97 yards to the Rams 14-yard line.

The Rams defense held up and on fourth down, Steve Myhra converted the opportunity into 3 points with a 19-yard field goal.

Webb Center begins fall activities

Open House at the Chick Webb Center was sponsored by the Chick Webb Memorial Committee and the Ladies Auxiliary on Sunday.

More than 200 persons attended to see the beautiful multi-purpose room which was recently added and the redecorated lounge with furniture courtesy of Dr. Ralph Young.

Funds from the Memorial Committee's recent fund raising drive netted $1,200 for the multi-purpose room and other redecorating.

During open house, refreshments were served by the Wemm's Auxiliary while members of the center staff conducted groups on tours of the building.

Walter Edmonds, ceramics instructor, asks all interested adults to enroll in ceramics classes which run for 10 weeks at the cost of $10 for the course. Part-payment is accepted with balance in 30 days.

Mrs. Velma Webb York is adult sewing instructress, and all persons are invited to enroll.

Trapshooters win ten trophies at Saunders Day fete

WATERLOO, Md. — Sharp-eyed trapshooters walked off with ten trophies Sunday, climaxing a day on the firing line in observance of "Saunders Day" at the Falcon Rod and Gun Club here.

More than 200 guests from the Maryland-Washington area were present at the annual occasion honoring Dr. and Mrs. Frank Saunders of Baltimore.

Trophy winners were: B. Waters Jr., Class AA; T. Waters, Class A; Paul Edwards, Class B; Granville Wilborne, Class C; James Ford, Class D; N. Gilyard, two trophies, one rotating in Class E; G. Duvall, two trophies, one for marksmanship and for Patuxent Rod and Gun Club rotating honors in Class E; and James Bambry, handicap trophy.

William Nash served as master of ceremonies during the dinner when Ronald Rayne, a 28-year member of the Falcons, paid tribute to Dr. Saunders, who in response expressed his appreciation for the affair.

Mrs. Saunders was presented a satin rhinestone handbag by Mrs. Harry Macer, representing the women's auxiliary of the club.

Greetings were brought by William T. Duvall of the Patuxent Rod and Gun Club, James E. Banks of the Royal Rod and Gun Club, and K. M. Frazier of the Deep Sea Anglers' Gun Club. Harry Macer is president of the Falcon Rod and Gun Club.

$1500 second for Sifford

COSTA MESA, Cal. — Charlie Sifford, the No. 1 tan player on the major golf circuit, carded 277 to finish second in the Orange County Open tournament here last week.

The steadily improving Los Angeles pro was runner up to Bill Casper of Apple Valley, Cal., picking up $1,500 for his effort. Sifford was nosed out on the final round when he used 70 strokes to 69 for Casper, who was winning his third consecutive title.

THE THIRD finisher was Jay Hebert, winner of the recent Masters tournament at Augusta, Ga. Behind Hebert was Tom Nieport, with Tommy Bolt, Jack Fleck, Paul Harney, Billy Maxwell, Frank Stranahan and George Bayer among the big names in the trailing field.

The $1500 second place money raises Sifford's earnings for the year to an estimated $7,500.

POSE POET PROBLEM — Two of City College's best bets to offer trouble for Dunbar when the Maryland Scholastic Association rivals meet today (Friday) at City. Quarterback Bruce Barrett (left) and halfback Junius Wilson are being counted upon by coach George Young to get the Collegians even at 2-2 for the year, while dealing the Poets of Sugar Cain their third setback in four outings.

Earl Lloyd is named NBA coach

DETROIT, Mich. — Earl Lloyd of Washington, D.C., late last week became the first colored coach in the history of organized professional basketball.

The 32-year-old, former West Virginia State College star, on Friday received notification of his appointment as assistant to Dick McGuire, head coach of the Detroit Pistons. In addition to working the bench along with McGuire, Lloyd will move into a front office job as chief scout of the National Basketball Association team.

Announcement of Lloyd's appointment was made in Fort Wayne, Ind., late Friday afternoon following a conference in the office of Piston president Fred Zollner, millionaire automobile parts manufacturer.

LLOYD TOLD the AFRO that he was met at the Fort Wayne airport when he arrived with the Pistons for an exhibition game with his former Syracuse Nats teammates, Ottto Adams, secretary of the club, told him he was wanted in Zollner's office.

"It was then that Mr. Zollner told me that he was happy to go along with Richie's (Dick McGuire) recommendation, and that I was to become assistant coach and chief scout," Earl declared.

LLOYD ENTERED the NBA in 1952, with Syracuse. He played six years with the Nats and was a member of the 1954-55 championship quint. He is in his third year with the Pistons after a 1958 trade.

Following Earl's graduation from West Virginia State in 1952, he played one year with a revamped Washington Caps team before being signed by Syracuse.

Lloyd is married and is the father of one child.

EARL LLOYD

JERSEY JOE JABS FOR JFK—"A president's like a fighter," says former champ Jersey Joe Walcott. "He's got to get into the thick of things and come out swinging. To me, John F. Kennedy's like that. When he and the Democrats say they're going to do something about integration and poll taxes and FEPC, they mean it. That's why I'm for Senator John Kennedy and the Democrats — all the way. They need your vote, too."
