THAT ONE TIME a year when one can mill through a crowd in the Fifth Regiment Armory and run across practically every Maryland teacher friend is at the annual meeting of the Maryland State Teachers Association.

Found out that Roy P. Knight, vice - principal of Garnett High School, is a member of the exhibits committee for MSTA. Mr. Knight is also a member of the Music Educators Committee of Maryland.

Garnett's James A. Hill is a member of the convention Arrangements committee of MSTA. Mr. Hill and other members of the committee were housed at the Lord Baltimore Hotel. This marks his fifth year of service on the committee.

Montgomery County's (Rock Hall) Clinton Walker, one of five geography teachers at his school was recently called upon to teach a demonstration lesson for eight foreign professors, his supervisor and principal.

An interpreter translated each word. Later Clinton received notes of congratulations and thanks in various languages.

Congratulations are also extended to Cleaver Roxas, physical education instructor at Johnnycake Junior High School, who has received her National Basketball Officials rating, enabling her to officiate any place in the United States.

Cleaver is the second person to win the honor. Marita Stokes (Baltimore City teacher) was the first.

MUSICAL MOMENTS

Weldine Irvine scores with unique, entertaining concert

By ADAM K. JENKINS

A decidedly unique and entertaining concert was given by the versatile and talented Weldon J. Irvine at Grace AME Church in Catonsville.

Already well known in Maryland as director of one of the Baltimore Concert Bands and as instructor of music at Sollers Point High School, Mr. Irvine displayed his ability as a performer on 12 instruments and also as a vocalist.

In addition, he has the gift of showmanship and put over the program with humor and skill that delighted his audience.

Using selections from classic, semi - popular and spiritual music, he performed on brass, woodwind, bowed and plucked string instruments and on the piano; using violin, trumpet, trombone, clarinet, alto and soprano saxophones, tenor banjo, guitar and mandolin.

• • •

THE ENTIRE program was given from memory with admirable support by Bertie Valentine at the piano. Readings from Shakespeare and William Cullen Bryant completed the well - rounded program.

Mrs. Piney Ross was mistress of ceremonies and hostess, with Mesdames Sophie and Barbara Gray at the informal reception which followed the concert.

Congratulating Mr. Irvine were the Rev. C. C. Brown, pastor of the church and Mr. Fletcher, principal of Sollers Point High School.

LAST WEEK Richard Goodlake returned to his alma mater, Peabody Conservatory, to make his debut as a concert baritone.

Handsome and with a dignified and polished stage presence, he was received warmly by quite a sizable audience. His is a voice of goodly proportions which was used with conviction, especially in the bravura passages that call for that kind of production.

Although some of the mysticism of the Brahms, especially "In the Churchyard" and "May Night" seemed too elusive, the singer was decidely expressive in Schubert's "On My Lyre" and "The City."

• • •

THE FRENCH "chansome" (art songs) were programmed wisely, so that Mr. Goodlake had opportunity for expressing contrast in moods. An aria from "Triumph of St. Joan" (Dello Jolo) and a group of contemporary songs in English were of considerable interest.

In his humorous offerings with which the singer closed each group of songs, he was quite at home. No doubt, experience on the concert stage will bring added depth of emotional expression.

With Paul Ulanowsky at the piano one heard accompaniments of unusual excellence. Mr. Goodlake will make his New York debut this fall.

Barmaid Contest in final week

Today (Friday), Saturday, and Sunday are the last days for you, the reader, to help pick Baltimore's favorite barmaid.

Some 13 charming, young ladies from all sections of the city have entered the AFRO's Favorite Barmaid Contest.

One of these is going to win $100 and earn the right to wear the title, "AFRO's Favoite Barmaid of 1960."

If you haven't voted, or even if you have, clip out the coupon in this edition, write in the name of your favorite lady at the fountain and drop it in the ballot box.

You can find these boxes at all participating clubs.

The winner will be decided by the votes cast by AFRO readers, so VOTE! VOTE! VOTE!

That's the only way you can be sure that your favorite barmaid has a fair shot at the gold and glory up for grabs.

Contest ends, 2 a.m. Monday, October 24.

• • •

AS OF SUNDAY, the merry chase was being led by Irene Talley of the Red Fox Lounge.

Close on her heels was Dorthea Powe, who presides at the North End Lounge.

VONZELLA WALLACE
Chick's Lounge

Other front runners are locked in a battle for the ballots that is as hot as Matt Dillon's 45.

That was the picture, Sunday but it might have changed since then.

As a matter of fact, everyone of the lovelies has a chance to win.

Others in the running are:

Marjorie (Dusty) Jones, Casper's Lounge; Joan Downes, Maceo's Lounge (GO) Lucky Number; Anna Mae Smith, Virginia Summers, and May Collins, all Lucky Number;

Also Hannah McCain; Alhambra; Vickie Clarke and Dortrice Myers, both Red Fox; Marion Monroe, Maceo's, and Vonzella Wallace, Chick's Lounge.

• • •

VOTES WILL be picked up Sunday, in the presence of the tavern owner, they will be placed in an envelope and sealed.

They will be returned to the AFRO office, and counted by two unbiased judges.

The judges are David Glenn of the Urban League and Herman Katkow, president of the Pennsylvania Ave. Lafayette Market Association (PALMA).

Winners will be announced in next Friday's edition.

• • •

TUESDAY, November 1, Her Royal Highness will be crowned at a fabulous coronation ball.

Held at the club where the winner is employed, second prize winner and the five runner-ups will serve as the queen's court at the ball.

There is also added interest in the runners-up spots.

In addition to earning the honor of being in her Majesty's court, these winners also pick up cash prizes.

While second place finishers will automatically become $50 richer, the next five will receive consolation prizes of $5 each.

• • •

AS THE GIGANTIC contest, first ever to be sponsored by the AFRO sails into the fifth and final week, there is excitement a plenty.

Throughout the entertainment circuit, there is but one question:

"Who's gonna be the Queen of Barmaids for 1960?

Fortunately, no one knows. But you, the reader and night club patrons, can have a say who does.

• • •

AS MATTER of fact, it's entirely up to you.

Have you voted for your favorite yet? Remember you can vote as many times as you wish.

Just make sure that you use the official contest ballot, which is printed in this edition, as it has been for the past five weeks.

So upon whose head will the flittering crown rest, indicating that she is queen of all she surveys?

YOUR VOTE WILL TELL!

Garner guest of Ed Sullivan

NEW YORK (ANP) —Erroll Garner has been signed for a guest appearance on the Ed Sullivan Show, Sunday, marking the first of three appearances on the program by the pianist during the 1960-61 season.

Garner will open a three-week engagement at the Cresendo in Los Angeles on Nov. 4th. Garner's 1961 concert series under the auspices of S. Hurok will begin the first week in January, through May.

Garner's management is currently discussing an Australian tour in June for the pianist, with Lee Gordon representatives. Garner is also being scheduled for a concert series in the Caribbean area, by the Hurok Agency.

Tavern owner not guilty

An East Baltimore tavern owner, charged with murder in connection with the death of a 17-year-old boy, was found not guilty yesterday (Thursday) in Criminal Court.

Sterling B. Phillips, 35, a Rose St. tavern owner, pleaded self-defense before Judge James K. Cullen, for the death of Leroy Heath, 2500 block E. Hoffman St., on Oct. 22, 1959.

He died at Johns Hopkins Hospital with bullet wounds in the stomach.

Mr. Phillips was also found not guilty of assault to murder involving the dead boy's older brother, Thomas Health Jr., 23, same address, who was injured in the same shooting.

According to testimony Mr. Phillips had barred the brothers from his tavern, which was 50 feet away from the Heath home, after an argument.

Around the colleges

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — All-American halfback Ernie Davis scored the first touchdown to give Syracuse a six - point lead, then knocked down an end zone pass that would have wiped it out as the Orange defeated Penn State, 21-15, here Saturday.

Davis tallied his TD in the openinv period. And when the Nittany Lions were threatening to tie up the game with a chance of winning it in the closing seconds, it was Ernie who saved the day. He leaped high in the air to break up a pass from Galen Hall that was en route to the arms of State's Dan Jonas, standing alone in the end zone.

BE SURE TO VOTE on Tuesday, Nov. 8. Polls open 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. A good citizen knows it is not enough to register, he must also VOTE.
