GUNPLAY EXPLODES IN REGENT'S THRILL FEATURE

Fast-pitched gunplay against the novel setting of a sultry town in the American South gives a startling and unexpected flavor to William P. Clayton's production of "Desire In The Dust," a Twentieth Century-Fox CinemaScope release now at the Regent Theatre starring Raymond Burr, Martha Hyer, Joan Bennett, Ken Scott and Brett Halsey.

Explosive, desparate, full of vengeance, this is the brooding figure of Lonnie Wilson, the young sharecropper (Ken Scott), who comes home after six years on a chain gang for a crime commited by his girl . . . and finds her married to another man.

As Melinda, daughter of the town's vicious and power-lusting Colonel Marquand, Martha Hyer is ruthless, beautiful and completely lacking in loyalty.

Miss Hyer's own life-experience as the daughter of a Southern municipal judge may be the clue to her realistic, searching performance in this difficult role.

'MAGNIFICENT SEVEN' HELD OVER AT MET

"Let's mosey down to the chuckwagon for some grub," drawled Horst Buchholz, and neither the accent nor the vocabulary identified him as one of Europe's most prominent film stars.

Buchholz, a young, dark-haired, sensitive-looking fellow in his early twenties was in Mexico making his first picture for an America company, "The Magnificent Seven," a Mirisch-Alpha production for United Artists in which he is starred with Yul Brynner, Eli Wallach and Steve McQueen, with John Sturges producing and directing.

The picture, filmed in De-Luxe color and Panavision, is held over now for a 5th and final week at the Met Theatre.

JOHNNY NASH IN ALBERT NEW DRAMA

For mounting terror and suspense there has never been a sequence on the screen like that in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer drama, "Key Witness," now at the New Albert Theatre in which a Los Angeles detective pursues a murderer on the Hollywood Freeway at night, the chase beginning by automobile and continuing on foot as the two men perilously weave in and out of and doge the heavy traffic in the which glare of thousands of headlights.

It is one of a number of remarkable episodes filmed on actual locations in the Los Angeles area for "Key Witness," starring Jeffrey Hunter, Pat Crowley, Dennis Hunter, Joby Baker, Susan Harrison and the popular young singer, Johnny Nash cast in a straight dramatic role.

"Key Witness" tells the story of Fred Morrow (Jeffrey Hunter), typical young American husband and father, who inadvertently has witnessed a brutal murder commited by a street gang leader who calls himself Cowboy (Dennis Hooper.)

When Morrow consents to identify the slayer in court, he pays a heavy price for his sense of civic duty.

LOVELY GINA STARS IN HARLEM SHOW

For sheer passion and drama, few films equal the impact of "Where The Hot Wind Blows," which opened Wednesday at the Harlem Theatre. Stars Gina Lollobrigida and Yves Montand give electrifying performances in this stirring saga of a Sicilian town and its people embroiled in a struggle for power and love.

Presented by Joseph E. Levine, the film moves at a peppery pace as it reveals the savage emotions of its characters.

Miss Lollobrigida, as beautiful as ever, plays an untamed servant girl, suspicious of men yet willing to sacrifice all for the one she loves.

Montand, in the role of the ruthless town boss, Brigante, gives a performance that bristles with excitement.

Supporting them in this powerful MGM release are some of the leading international favorites. The incomparable Pierre Brasseur brings a majesty into the part of Don Cesare, the town's old lord.

Dakota waxes

HOLLYWOOD — In a new single record being released this week by Capitol, Dakota Staton applies her dynamic song styling to "First Things First," a ballad written for the current Broadway show, "Tenderloin."

Jazz great Benny Carter arranged and conducted for the vocalist.

"First Things First" is a sophisticated song suggestive of the musically rich "Tenderloin" era of the 1890's. It is the work of the brilliant young song-writing team, Jerry Bock and Sheldon Harnick, who wrote the words and music for last year's Pulitzer Prize-winning musical smash, "Fiorello"

Ballets Africains Monday at Fords

On a frosty morning in December, 1948, a young African set foot on the soil of Europe for the first time.

He had just won a scholarship to complete his studies in France. Out of his necessity to earn his living came an idea which has flowered into one of the finest cultural ambassadors any nation or continent ever had — the Ballets Africains, which will open a three day engagement at the Ford Theatre on Monday, Nov. 14.

The young man's name was Keita Fodeba.

His idea was to found a group of students from Africa who make their culture, through its poems, songs and dances, known to the Europeans and also earn enough money so that he could continue his studies.

Quincy Jones story is true show business

NEW YORK —After an intended Broadway show folded in Europe last year, Quincy Jones was left with a band and no place to play.

His choice was to return to the States and disband or to try to get further bookings in Europe.

Considering the fact that he had no money and no booking agency, this seemed like an impossibility.

But, like many other show business stories, Quincy accomplished the impossible, convincing his 18 musicians to stay with him until he could get work for them.

* * *

AFTER A very shaky start in France, the band went on a successful tour of Germany, Italy, Spain, Yugoslavia, Sweden, Switzerland and back to France.

This is the first time that an American band was able to stay in Europe and work steadily for 10 months.

* * *

TO CONCLUDE this marvelous show business story, Quincy Jones and his orchestra returned to the States to play a 4-week engagement at one of New York's leading jazz club, Basin Street East.

$50 CASH is what the AFRO pays each week for news tips and photos. Simply call MUL. 5-6015, and ask for City Desk. Bring your photos in. If no answer, call LAF. 3-3024; or Wilkens 5-2522 or CEnter 3-5415.
