THE 35th PRESIDENT — On Jan. 20, 1961, Senator John F. Kennedy will take the oath of office as the United States' youngest President. This picture was made in February of this year when Mr. Kennedy went to Annapolis to file in the primary. The AFRO's political writer, Max Johnson, is advising Mr. Kennedy how to get out the vote.

Voters praise new President

"I know he'll be a successful President. Didn't he go down in Georgia and get Dr. (Martin Luther Jr.) King?

"I believe if I were in the same kind of trouble down there, he'd deliver me.

"Who did I vote for?

"You can say I was on the polls for Nixon but I had Kennedy in my heart. . . .my heart told me how to vote."

This was the prevailing sentiment among AFRO readers during a post mortem election survey conducted just hours after Sen. John F. Kennedy officially became the 35th President - elect of these United States.

The survey followed close on the heels of one of the most tense Presidential elections in recent years which saw Mr. Kennedy claim the chair in the White House and sent Vice President Richard M. Nixon on his way to Whittier, Cal.

Voicing the opening piece of eloquence was an old line Republican, Mrs. Flossie Hicks, 1002 N. Eden St., who is a veteran of numerous election wars.

However, on Tuesday, Mrs. Hicks joined with millions of other colored voters who have been credited with sending the Massachusetts Senator to Washington.

Mrs. Hicks was replying to queries of a roving reporter.

* * *

AS HE HAD done in pre-election polls, the reporter

(Continued on Page 22)

Nixon backers want to forget

It was hardly any problem recognizing Nixon backers Wednesday.

Perhaps it was the result of the all-night TV vigil as the marathon contest unfolded, but a member or Nixon rooters were a little less than hospitable on the day after the night before.

Then, maybe they took the cue from the Vice President himself who showed a "never-say-die spirit" before conceding.

Whatever the cause, they seemed perfectly willing to forget the whole business as soon as possible.

* * *

A POLL - TAKER, bent on getting opinions on the new President, John F. Kennedy, found this out in no time flat when he started asking several persons the leading question.

During the survey, obvious Nixon supporters fell into several categories. However, most noticeable were:

Those who were too busy to talk, or had dire predictions for the country under the new President-elect.

"The Democrats always get into wars" a Nixon booster declared, refusing to give her name.

"I'm in a hurry and have no time to answer silly questions," said another, adding:

"I voted for Nixon, what of it?"

* * *

THEN THERE were those in whose breast hope sprang eternal.

Even after Vice President Richard M. Nxion conceded defeat in his bid for the White House, one woman said:

"Don't be so sure that Kennedy will be President. Before it's over, Mr. Nixon may take both California and Illinois."

Respondents that popular votes were little use to the Vice President in view of Mr. Kennedy's heavy electoral vote lead, she countered:

"We can always demand a recount."

"But recount 60 million votes, ma'm?"

"They counted them one time, didn't they?"

They did, didn't they?

GEORGE COLLINS

THESE TWO CARS were involved in an accident in the 2600 block W. North Ave. shortly after 9 a.m. Thursday morning during rainfall. Streets were wet. No one was seriously hurt in the mishap which was near Coppin State Teachers College.

SMALL GIRL who was shaken up in accident is moved from the scene. Traffic was tied up for short time as result of early morning accident.

Exciting show to benefit YMCA

Twenty top acts will be presented on Thursday, Nov 17, at 8 p.m., when the Druid Hill Ave. branch of the YMCA presents a fabulous Carnoval of Stars at the Douglass High School Auditorium, Gwynns Falls Parkway and Pulaski St.

The exciting show is being staged for the benefit of the YM. Tickets are on sale at the Y, 1619 Druid Hill Ave., and the Central Y, 24 W. Franklin St.

The spotlight will be on such outstanding popular singing artists as: Ethel Ennis, Lois Gilden, Delores Stokes, The Surgeons, "Chuck" Richards.

Other features will include: Robert McPherson (judo), George Peck (magic), YMCA tumblers plus hand balancing by Ernest Furblur, assistant physi Ernest Furblur, assistant Physical education on Secretary; June Lynn (acrobatic dancer), The Arena Players, Gilmore Majorettes, Greenmount Models, The Marveleers (instrumental combo), Meredith Birch, Jr. and Cubanos.

Eddie Morrison and Preston Madison Line, Deborah London Group (concert dance), Billy and Shirley of Chick Webb Center (modern dance); Dorea and Snooky (dance team), the Cha Cha Six, and TThe Teenagers.

Ask court to reverse cafe case

Two New York attorneys asked the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals to strike down the white - only service policy of a Pulaski Highway restaurant, Wednesday.

A reason is expected later.

Lawrence R. Bailey and Joseph L. McLemore, representing Miss Sara Slack, New York newspaperwoman, entered this plea before the three judge panel.

Miss Slack charged that she was refused service by the Atlantic White Tower Systems, Inc., while she was an interstate passenger, here.

Since the restaurant benefits from interstate commerce, the lawyers argued, it should not be permitted to segregate customers on the basis of color.

The appeals court was asked to reverse a lower court ruling which allowed the restaurant to refuse service to colored people.

JOIN THE NAACP 15,000 Wanted

Edgar W. Douglass, 57, dies; prominent West Balto. leader

Funeral services will be held tomorrow (Saturday) at 1 p.m. at Morning Star Baptist Church for Edgar W. William Douglass, 57, 509 N. Arlington Ave., who died at his home on Tuesday.

Burial will be in Arbutus Memorial Park.

Mr. Douglass was an assistant manager for the Mutual Benefit Society 27 years. He was also an active member of the Division of Underwriters Association.

Active in civic affairs, he was the organizer and president of the West Baltimore Citizens League, chaplain of the Republican City Committee and, in 1950, a 4th District candidate for the City Council.

He served as the elected Ward Executive to represent the people of the 18th Ward, the area bounded by Fremont, Carrollton and Edmondson Aves. and Pratt St.

He was frequently lauded by the AFRO for his untiring efforts to obtain better lighted city streets and for his activities in civic improvement. The Better Lights during the 1940's.

His letters to the editors and correspondence with city officials, mayors, governors, US Senators, showed his interest as a citizen for a period of a quarter of a century.

MR. DOUGLASS had not suffered serious illness recently. He worked at the Mutual Benefit Firm's Day Monday.

His wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Douglass, told the AFRO that he remarked at breakfast Monday morning that he felt better than he had in 27 years.

However, on Monday evening he dressed to attend a meeting of Morning Star Baptist Church Finance Committee and probably suffered a stroke while she was at work, Mrs. Douglass said.

She was to have met him at the church, but instead found him unconscious sitting in the living room with his feet on a brassock.

He never regained conscious ness until shortly before he died Tuesday at 3.35 p.m.

MR. DOUGLASS was born Nov. 25, 1902 and would have celebrated his 58th birthday in two weeks.

During his boyhood he moved with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Craig Douglass, to Concord, N.C.

An energetic youth, he came to Baltimore in 1920 and was graduated from Douglass High Evening School in 1943. Later he attended Morgan State College.

He joined the Morning Star Church in 1933, became active in all church functions and served as a member of the Usher Board. He was chairman of the Finance Committee.

HARRY O. WILSON Jr., president of the Mutual Benefit Co. told the AFRO that Mr. Douglass came to the firm during the early depression years and was noted among employees for his constant interest in the progress of the company.

Mr. Wilson said: "He was a valuable citizen and a valuable employee.

"He trained and worked with scores of agents. He worked his way up to superintendent, to assistant manager.

"He was one of our dependable assistants and we shall miss him greatly."

Mr. Douglass divided his time between his church, his work and the West Baltimore Citizens League for which he received a State of Maryland Charter on March 9, 1943.

Dedicating the organization to the betterment of the community, he also made it an instrument to register citizens to vote and to help them secure rights as citizens.

As late as 1958 he wrote letters to secure equal employment for colored citizens. A letter dated July 2, 1958 to a US Senator requested help on a Social Security problem for a neighbor.

He frequently corresponded with Theodore R. McKeldin during his term as Maryland's governor.

* * *

ON THURSDAY Richard Gilbert, attorney and chairman of the Republican City Committee told the AFRO he was at the Douglass home shortly before Mr. Douglass died on Election Day, Tuesday.

He disclosed that Mr. Douglass was affiliated with the organization as one of its finest workers for many years.

Mr. Gilbert said: "Mr. Douglass was a very fine, sincere person.

"His death is a great loss to the Republican party and to the entire city."

Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, NAACP president said: "I also knew Mr. Douglass as a churchman and a civic worker stated: "It was a great loss to the town of the passing of this great citizen.

"It is a loss to our entire community.

"Mr. Douglass was a religious leader and a community worker interested in the welfare and advancement of his people.

"Baltimore has lost a great citizen."

The Rev. Nathaniel Wicks, Morning Star pastor, will preside at the funeral service.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Douglass; seven sisters, Mrs. Margaret Fisher, Misses Ruby and Sudie Douglass, Concord; Mrs. Madie Thrash, Miss Julia Douglass, Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. Mattie Moss, Mrs. Pearl Mack, Baltimore;

Also, three brothers, the Rev. Benjamin A. Douglass, Oakcondy; Lindwood Douglass, Chicago; James Douglass, Baltimore.

EDGAR W. DOUGLASS
Civic worker dies

Stray bullet injures man

An innocent bystander was struck by a stray bullet Tuesday when two men renewed a six - month - old feud.

According to police, Clifton Parker, 3000 Windsor Ave., suffered a bullet wound of the side when the men struggled over a gun at Pine and Saratoga Sts.

Mr. Parker was treated and released from University Hospital.

The altercation took place when an unidentified man, who fled the scene, attempted to pistol - whip Bernard Johnson, 32, 100 block W. Lexington St.,

Mrs. Mitchell's purse snatched

Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell reported the theft of a purse containing $6 to Central District Police Wednesday.

The purse, valued at $15 was snatched from a media in the attorneys office at 1239 Druid Hill Ave.

The suspects, two teenage boys were chased four blocks by Robert E. Watts, former Traffic Court Magistrate.

Honor Roll awards set

Presentation of the AFRO Honor Roll plaque to the Board of Directors of the YWCA of Baltimore, will be made on Monday evening at the annual electors' assembly and dinner.

The assembly will be held at 6 p.m. at the Central Branch Park Ave. and Franklin St.

Speaker of the meeting will be Miss Rosalie V. Oakes, staff member representing the foreign division of the National Board YW in South Africa. She will tell of her two-year assignment there.

The YWCA of Baltimore and its Board of Directors won a place on the annual AFRO Honor Roll published in April 1960, because of its consistent advocacy of democratic principles" during the years 1958 and 1959.

Specifically, the YW was cited for integration of its day and residence camps, Mrs. Carl Wheelock is president of the board.

Safety reminder

WASHINGTON

The D.C. Department of Motor Vehicles says turning-signal lights are beneficial safety appliances but asks drivers and walkers not to believe in them implicitly. 'How many times have you driven with your flashing unknown to you? Careful drivers are survivors.

AUTO INSURANCE
WE HANDLE "PROBLEM" CASES
E-Z TERMS
SR 22 FILINGS JR 11
Jerry's Insurance Agency, Inc
1002 W. NORTH AVE. LA. 3-3100

Sponsored by the
Y.W.C.A. & GOVANS DRIVING SCHOOL
6 Hrs. Driving Instruction
4 Hrs. Classroom Instruction
TOTAL 10 HRS. Plus Year's Membership in Y.W.C.A. ALL FOR $30
HO. 7-6900 DAY. MA. 3-6443
(Mothers starting by this week will have Home Class personally visit their children)

FOR COMPLETE SERVICE
Call
Pen Mar Company, Inc.
FOR
ESSO FUEL OIL
AND
BURNER SERVICE
1320 N. MONROE ST.
CALL — JULIUS JOHNSON LA-3-1881

POLITICS:

Campaign lesson

By MAX JOHNSON

Out of this Presidential race has come a distinct lesson to both parties that might well shape the pattern of their future campaigns.

The Democrats, in the past, have campaigned on party principles, holding Thomas Jefferson up as shining example.

The Republicans have been selling Abe Lincoln for years.

In this campaign, Kennedy used a new approach.

He soft-pedaled Jefferson, and identified himself with the thinking of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Nixon, on the other hand, chose to sell himself in the likeness of Lincoln before colored citizens — and on the principles of President Dwight D. Eisenhower in general.

* * *

EACH MAN had his party standard bearer out of the past.

Each had his modern Presidential hero.

Now, all of these heroes are dead except Eisenhower.

So — the election results might well set up these pertinent points for consideration in future campaigns of both parties.

* * *

THE REPUBLICANS can no longer sell Lincoln to the colored citizens.

The Democrats, as Kennedy did, must stand on a party standard bearer in the memory of the living — not somebody out of the dusty files of history.

Of course, the Republicans will force modern day Hero in President Eisenhower.

But — they over - looked the old adage, the truth of which has been proven time and time again.

A dead hero is more popular than a live one.

This is one analysis of the Presidential election . . . and I'm going to stick by it.

New assaults seen on electoral college

With John Kennedy's Presidential election victory over Richard Nixon being one of the closest in history new assaults are being planned on the electoral college method of electing the President and Vice President.

At last one Senator has already pledged that he will introduce legislation in the January session to abolish the electoral college. This will not be a precedent — there have been over 100 previous unsuccessful attempts to establish the popular vote as the only determinant of the Presidency.

As close as Sen. Kennedy's margin was in the popular vote — only 50.2 per cent — he was far from having the narrowest. In the 1888 victory of Benjamin Harrison over Grover Cleveland, Harrison got only 49.3 per cent of the popular vote while Cleveland got 50.7 per cent. Harrison, however, got 55.3 per cent of the 401 electoral votes and walked off with the election.

At one late stage of the 1960 ballot counting, Sen. Kennedy had over 63 per cent of the 537 electoral votes.

* * *

MUCH CLOSER also, by comparison, was the 1916 race between Woodrow Wilson and Charles Evans Hughes. Wilson, a Democrat, won only 51.7 per cent of the 17,667,827 popular vote and only 52.1 per cent of the 531 electoral votes.

Kennedy's popular vote victory was one of the very few where the winner had less than 51 per cent of the popular vote. In 1880, James Garfield won with 50.5 per cent of the popular vote and 5.9 per cent of the electoral vote.

One of the more recent close votes was the 1948 Truman-Dewey contest. Truman won it with 52.3 per cent of the popular vote and 61 per cent of the electoral vote.

Where the popular vote is concerned, Roosevelt in 1944 did but a little better than Truman against Dewey. P.D.R. polled 53.7 of the popular vote against Dewey — only 1.4 per cent more than Truman did. In the electoral vote, however, Roosevelt trounced his man by 81 per cent — one of the largest electoral vote percentages recorded.

NARROW VICTORY margins are standard in America's Presidential elections. And, at each one, there is usually a call for the abolishment of the electoral college — although only one vote has been recorded where the victor's popular vote per centage was below the loser's.

Opposition to the ending of the electoral college tradition has, however, held firm. Chances are that the winner of the 1964 Presidential campaign will still be elected by the electoral college.

EEOC, Fire Board set meet on firemen charges

Baltimore Equal Employment Opportunity Commission Board has scheduled a meeting with the Fire Board Nov. 22 to discuss racial discrimination in the Fire Department.

Complaints have reached EEOC about assignments, the use of abusive language and station house facilities for colored firemen.

The EEOC Board plans to meet with the Fire Board at the Fire Department headquarters.

* * *

THE DIXON Public Accommodations Ordinance, scheduled to have been discussed and voted on for recommendations to the City Council, was shelved at Wednesday's meeting.

Dr. Mildred Otenasek, board chairman, noted that four members were absent, and stated the ordinance should not be acted on unless all members were present.

Philip A. Camponeschi, EEOC executive secretary, revealed that the agency's report, held in conjunction with Equal Employment Week, will bring new entries to Peale Museum at 4 p.m. Monday.

GEORGE COLLINS

Dr. Moore named laymen's speaker

WASHINGTON

Dr Parlett Longworth Moore, president of Coppin State Teachers College, Baltimore, Md., will be the principal speaker Sunday morning at East Capitol Methodist Church. 14th and Independence Ave., SE. Dr. Moore will speak for Layman's Day observance.

Born in Westapunk, Md., Dr. Moore came to this city to study at Howard University and was graduated in 1926 with the bachelor of arts degree in education and mathematics. Afterwards, he went to Teachers College, Columbia University for his master of arts degree.

In 1950 he was promoted to dean of the Junior College in Rockville, serving at the same as principal of the senior high school. He left that position in May 1956 to accept the presidency of Coppin State Teachers College.

Crime shows decline on

There was little business at Western Police Station on Election Day. Only one case was entered on the docket for the morning session.

Mrs. Williams still critical

BALTIMORE — Mrs. John T. Williams, wife of the president of Maryland State College, remains critically ill at Johns Hopkins University this week. She entered the hospital on last Friday.

FIRST HAND REPORT — Morgan State College's Institute for Political Education staged an election rally on Tuesday night which featured telephone reports from newspaper reporters in the field. Dr. G. James Fleming, head of the Institute, is talking to Jimmy Booker of New York's Amsterdam News. Through special systems the conversation was amplified so the audience could hear the report. Assisting Dr. Fleming is Miss Sally Robinson, a junior from Salisbury. The Baltimore AFRO-AMERICAN was represented by James D. Williams, assistant managing editor.

50 OUR FIFTIETH YEAR 50
HIGH QUALITY
FUEL OIL
Prompt Metered Delivery
Also our gallon
Budget Terms
HEATING EQUIPMENT
Cleaned, Serviced, Repaired
LOW PRICES
HIGH QUALITY COAL
Lynbrook Po. Hard,
#3 or nut..... $18.90 ton
Red Blaze,
Egg or nut soft.. $14.95 ton
Red Blaze,
R.O.M., soft... $12.95 ton
Every Ton Screened
Honest Weight Guaranteed
MU. 5-1224
W. SEGALL & Co. Inc.
50 OUR FIFTIETH YEAR 50

WINTERIZE YOUR CAR NOW
Call WI. 7-9847
Free Pick-Up and Delivery
WALLER CITIES SERVICE
2121 EDMONDSON AVE.
Bill Parker Bill Waller

Two Freed In Fatal Pa. Ave. Crash

(Story in Column 1)

BLUE STREAK EDITION

Baltimore Afro-American

69th Year, No. 34 | Copyrighted 1960 by AFRO-AMERICAN Co. for all material previously printed in the current National Edition | BALTIMORE, MD., NOVEMBER 19, 1960 | ★★★★★★★ | 32 PAGES | 15 CENTS

Two freed in fatal Pa. Ave. crash

Criminal Court Part Two was crowded Wednesday.

The courtroom atmosphere was charged with anxiety and excitement.

Suddenly the buzzing came to an abrupt halt . . .silence prevailed . . .one could nearly feel the 125 heartbeats of each individual spectator.

Two defendants sat on the front seat nervously moving their hands.

Judge J. Gilbert Prendergast at last broke the silence.

"The defendants may have been negligent, but I can find no evidence here of gross negligence.

"As to each of you. . .the verdict is not guilty."

With these words Judge Prendergast gave freedom to Mrs. Loretta Neal, 28, 2000 block W. Lexington St., and Frank V. Smith, 49, 1100 block Carrollton Ave., both charged with automobile manslaughter.

* * *

THE VERDICT came after two hours of testimony, none of which was given by either defendant.

Mrs. Neal, mother of eight, was the driver of the car which killed three small children and permanently injured their mother on Aug. 5.

Mr. Smith was the driver of the car which was in a collision with Mrs. Neal's at the intersection of Pennsylvania Ave. and Gold St.

Mrs. Neal's car went out of control, ploughed down the sidewalk and killed the three children.

Dead as a result of Baltimore's worse traffic accident of the year, are Arthur, 3, Celeste, 4, and Edith Landrum, 9.

Their mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Landrum, 28, 2203 Di-

(Continued on Page 2)

JOIN THE NAACP 15,000 Wanted

Annual Membership Drive Now On. Give today to protect your rights!

Last day to get free diabetes test

Today (Friday) is the final day to get free diabetes tests at the Medical Research Armory, 505 W. Fayette St. near Paca St., from noon until 9 p.m.

Eye tests and chest X-rays are being given free in the same armory.

Tension In La.

INSIDE

- SCHOOL BOARD upholds reading of Bible in class, despite last-minute protest ..... Page 32
- FOUR ON TRIAL in gambling den holdup . . Page 32
- THE HARBOR TUNNEL three years later, Thanksgiving and memories ..... Feature Page 17
- NAACP ASKS Rights Unit to investigate local Police Department ..... Page 16

OES welcomed to $171,000 Temple

More than 900 Masons and members of the Myra Grand Chapter, Order of Eastern Star were present Tuesday when the first meeting was held in the new Temple, 1301 Eutaw Place.

The occasion was the final day of the Myra Grand Chapter's 64th annual session.

Dr. Willard W. Allen, Masons grand master emeritus, and the Grand Master Samuel T. Daniels and their guests were received by the Myra Grand Worthy Matron Olivia P. Bates at 12 noon ceremonies.

On Monday, the Masons heralded in a new era for the organization with the purchase of the new Temple, a former Jewish Synagogue, for the sum of $171,700.

Included in the purchase are the buildings from 1301 Eutaw Place to 1309 Eutaw Place, former synagogue and school of the Oheb Shalom congregation.

The buildings include gymnasium, meeting rooms, large and small auditoriums, offices, halls and other multi-purpose rooms and kitchens.

Present at the settlement were Dr. Allen, Dr. Daniels, Elmer T. Hawkins, president of the board of trustees; Alvan S. Stanley, grand secretary; Charles H. Gordon Jr., secretary of the board of trustees.

* * *

AT THE MYRA Tuesday session, the altar of the main auditorium was banked with flowers. Members of the lodges, dressed in traditional garb, made the occasion impressive and colorful.

Addressing the gathering, Dr. Allen said: "We are proud of what we have done to finally come into our new Temple.

"But, our Prince Hall Masons have always done big things and we have always come through with the splendid help from Myra Grand Chapter.

"This is indeed a wonder-

(Continued on page 22)

Location unsettled for Congressional district

By MAX JOHNSON

Where will they put Maryland's new Eighth Congressional District?

Will Baltimore be affected by the necessary re-shaping of some of Maryland's seven Congressional Districts to add an eighth?

Is this an opportune time for more equitable re-districting of Baltimore's Third, Fourth and Seventh Districts?

These are some of the pertinent questions that arose in political circles this week, as Maryland was given a new Congressional seat because of population growth.

Decision on where and how to shape the new district within the State's existing seven will be made by Maryland's General Assembly.

* * *

HOWEVER, Gov. J. Millard Tawes is expected to do much of the General Assembly members' thinking for them on this matter.

The State's Congressmen are also expected to play a consulting part.

Congressmen Samuel N. Friedel (7th D.) and Edward A. Garmat (3rd D.) expressed the opinion Thursday that the city might be affected, probably their districts.

Congressman George H.

(Continued on Page 2)

THIS WAS THE second day of integration in New Orleans as two little girls enter the McDonogh Elementary School. A New Orleans police officer is standing guard at the door. Integration began on Monday with three pupils in this school and one in another.

Fear new 'Little Rock' in crises

By SAMUEL HOPKINS
AFRO Staff Reporter

NEW ORLEANS, La. — Worried leaders here on both sides of the high-tensioned school desegregation issue are working frantically trying to head off "Another Little Rock."

In the forefront of the effort is Clarence A. Laws, NAACP field director, a veteran of the Little Rock explosion.

On Thursday, following the arrest Wednesday night of more than 200 persons, most of them colored, Mr. Laws issued a public plea for calmness on the part of all concerned.

At the same time, he termed the violence, tensions and racial clashes something of a payoff for public lethargy toward racial injustice and political bigotry.

(See Photo Page 13)

* * *

"ALL OF the trouble," Mr. Laws said, "stems from nonconcern on the part of white leaders to racial injustices and the demagoguery of politicians who make capital of the race issue." In addition to Laws, a number of local officials issued urgent pleas for calmness. These include Mayor Chep Morrison, the chamber of commerce and City Supt. of Police Joseph I. Giarrusso. Supt. Giarrusso expressed cautious optimism, saying: "There has been a general tapering off of tension." While there was a decided decrease in public demonstrations on Thursday as compared to the two previous days, both sides appeared determined to push the school desegregation to a showdown.

* * *

AN EXAMPLE of the determination on part of those who insist that school segregation is discontinued is the attitude of the father of one of the four little girls whose admittance to two public schools previously attended by only white. On Thursday, the child's father was fired from a filling station job he had held for four years. His reaction was: "I'll keep my child in school and try to get another job." The station, located in New Orleans, is owned by W. E. Smith who resides in Orleans Parish outside the city.

On the same day the man was fired, police rushed to a Longshore Union Hiring Hall Local 1418 and broke up a

(Continued on page 13)

In Every Neighborhood
There's an AFRO Carrier Available for Prompt Home Delivery Service
MULBERRY 5-6015

Secrecy pact violated, pupils' names revealed

NEW ORLEANS, La. — The parent of one of the four colored children who entered two previously segregated schools on Monday was fired from his job because of an untimely slip a local source told the AFRO Thursday.

"Identities of the four children were closely guarded to prevent harm to them, their homes or their families during the disorder here. The agreement to keep the names secret was made by the school board and the police department.

Attorneys for the children, from the legal defense branch of the NAACP, concurred in the agreement and told newsmen that no names and no pictures of the children, their families or their homes could be published.

The office of Roy Wilkins, national NAACP executive secretary, did not maintain the agreement. the New Orleans source stated. He said that the Wilkins office authorized Time and Life Magazines to interview the children and their parents and also take their pictures.

Cleric jailed for seeking service

WASHINGTON

A minister on his way to address a social justice meeting was arrested Monday when he sought service in a Hyattsville (Md.) cafe.

The Rev. Perry Smith of Brentwood was delayed as a result of his arrest in appearing before a meeting sponsored by the Leagues for Universal Justice and Goodwill at Greater New Mt. Zion Baptist Church, Sixth St. and Maryland Ave., NE.

He told the audience that he

(Continued on Page 2)

No colored newsmen, however, were admitted to the press conference.

A second press conference which coincided with the arrest at which television and news reel cameras were set up.

"This could do irreparable harm" the New Orleans informant told the AFRO. He noted that one parent had already lost his job.

In other civil rights cases, the names of the colored participants have been avidly sought by segregationists. Following their disclosure, they have been subjected to the loss of their jobs, foreclosure of mortgages and even the dynamiting of their homes.

To prevent this, the New Orleans authorities decided on secrecy. A local source said, in part, some of the final put on them by the legislature was because they refused to give up the names of the schools to which they were going to send these children or the names of the children.

What's Cooking In Our Town

Coming events

NOV. 18

A joint meeting sponsored by the Maryland Council for Hearing Impaired and Aphasic Children Parents League for Aphasic Youngsters and the PTA of the Maryland School for the Deaf, Frederick, Md., will be held in the Baltimore Memorial Stadium meeting room, 33rd St. and Ellerslie Avenue at 8:30 p.m.

The public is invited to hear Dr. Royce Williams, Rehabilitation Director for the Deaf of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Mrs. Jo Foxwell will interpret for the deaf.

NOV. 19

The Wanderer's masquerade ball will be held at Wilson's from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m.

Door prizes for the winners and a good time for all are the things in store for those attending the first card party of the Sovials at the YWCA, 1916 Madison Ave. Time is 8 p.m.

The M. J. Naylor Chapter of the Morgan State College Alumni Association will sponsor a card party in Memorial Refectory, beginning at 8 p.m. Bridge, pinochle and whist will be played according to Vernon Pennington, president.

NOV. 20

Sixty-fifth Annual Men's Day at Payne Memorial AME Church, Madison and Laurens St, Rev N. B. Carrington will be the guest speaker. Rev. W. P. Mitchell is the pastor.

* * *

Musical and appreciation program in honor of Willis Jefferson, Baltimore pianist, at Greater Harvest Baptist Church Harlem Ave. and Ashburton.

* * *

Sacred concert given by the Sanctuary Choir of Union Memorial Methodist Church, Harlem and Warwick Aves., 5 p.m.

Miss Ruth Fegley, executive director, Baltimore Fellowship House, speaks for the Baltimore Ethical Society, 3800 Gwynn Oak Ave., at 11 a.m.

* * *

The Rev. Matthews R. Silver, pastor of the Concord Baptist Church, will speak at the 3 p.m. Thanksgiving mass meeting of the NAACP at Sharp Street Memorial Church, Dolphin and Eliing Sts.

* * *

A socialist analysis of capitalism at 2720 Reisterstown Rd. The discussion is at 1:30 p.m.

* * *

Dr. C. Edouard Ward, head of the Music Department of South Carolina State College, in an organ recital at Douglas Memorial Community Church, Madison and Lafayette Aves., at 4 p.m. The public is invited. No admission.

* * *

Gospel Choir day at Orchard St. Methodist Church. Time is 3 p.m.

* * *

Pi Beta Sigma Sorority invites you to travel with them to Italy, France and Spain via motion pictures. Guest speaker

(Continued on Page 21)

Meetings open to public

CITY COUNCIL meets Monday in City Council Chambers, City Hall, Fayette and Holiday Sts., 5 p.m.

ZONING BOARD meets Tuesday in Room 231 at City Hall, 1 p.m.

EEOC in emergency meeting at 2 p.m., Room 310, People's Court House, Fayette and Gay Sts.

CITY PLANNING COMMISSION meets Wednesday, 2 p.m., Room 400 of Municipal Building, Lexington and Holiday Sts.

MAIL OR PHONE
your "for rent" or "for sale" ad now. For a few cents you can reach many prospective customers.
REMEMBER:
AFRO CLASSIFIEDS
628 N. Eutaw Street
MU. 5-6015

Television Football Lineup

— SUNDAY AT CHICAGO (NFL) —

— DETROIT LIONS —

No.	Player	Hgt.	Wgt.	Position
44	Danny Lewis	6:01	200	Off. halfback
72	Roger Brown	6:05	290	Def. tackle
31	Dick Lane	6:02	195	Def. halfback

— CHICAGO BEARS —

No.	Player	Hgt.	Wgt.	Position
24	Erich Barnes	6:03	198	Def. halfback
25	J. C. Caroline	6:01	190	Safety
28	Willie Galimore	6:01	187	Off. halfback
49	Charles Bivins	6:02	212	Off. halfback
70	Herman Lee	6:04	247	Def. tackle
84	John Farrington	6:03	217	Off. end

— SUNDAY AT LOS ANGELES (AFL) —

— BUFFALO BILLS —

No.	Player	Hgt.	Wgt.	Position
42	Elbert Dubenion	5:09	197	Off. halfback
72	Jim Sorey	6:04	270	Def. tackle
50	Monte Crockett	6:03	210	Off. end

— LOS ANGELES CHARGERS —

No.	Player	Hgt.	Wgt.	Position
29	Jesse Thomas	5:10	180	Def. halfback
23	Paul Lowe	6:00	180	Off. halfback
51	Rommie Loudd	6:03	226	Linebacker
75	Ernie Wright	6:04	275	Off. tackle
124	Erich Barnes	6:04	198	Def. halfb