—Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving Day, for our Susan's miraculous recovery and for the prayers and help of all our friends."

Mr. King, now about to return to his family from another trip to South America, probably gave thanks for "everything" as did his wife and daughter.

Other King children are James, 14; William, 8; Nerissa, 4; Adrianne, 14 months.

of families in Baltimore that will know these emotions on Dec. 25, while the rest of the city celebrates the most joyous of holidays.

These are the families that the AFRO's Mrs. Santa tries to help through the generosity of AFRO readers.

For the past three years, Mrs. Santa has conducted this project and has been rewarded with the knowledge that thanks to warm hearted readers, many needy families have been able to smile on Christmas.

Starting with our next Tuesday edition, Mrs. Santa will begin publishing letters from deserving people asking for help.

Some of their wants are so simple, that they are pathetic. A doll for a child, a pair of skates for a boy, something to eat for a family.

EACH OF THE letters will carry a number. Anyone desiring to help one or more of these families, has only to call the AFRO office and Mrs. Santa will provide the name and address of the family, along with any other desired information.

Here's a perfect way for individuals and clubs and organizations to help really deserving families.

The Mrs. Santa project was first announced in the Tuesday edition of the AFRO.

Since that time, the office has been swamped with letters from the needy.

Mrs. Santa will continue to accept the letters until Dec. 15, after which no more can be accepted.

Letters should be addressed to:

Meetings open to public

Hall, Room 310 (subject to change).

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION meets Nov. 30 in the board room of State Office Building, 301 W. Preston St.

BALTIMORE URBAN RENEWAL AND HOUSING AGENCY COMMISSIONERS meet on Nov. 25 in the ninth floor board room at the Equitable Building, Fayette and Calvert Sts.

Businesswoman gives Frontiers job tips

Today's employers, particularly small businessmen, must learn to motivate personnel, the employees who render service, members of the Frontiers Club were told Tuesday.

Miss Flaxie Pinkett, of Washington, president and chairman of the board of John R. Pinkett real estate firm, was the speaker. She succeeded her late father two years ago. He was an ardent Frontiersman.

The speaker was introduced by Earl Koger, chairman of the club's one-day economic conference.

He described her as a person who holds an important position in the economic life of Washington as head of one of the nation's most outstanding businesses, a firm which is a model in efficiency."

The Pinkett enterprises began in 1932 in basement quarters with one person, now employs 33 persons, occupies the entire building at 1302 New Jersey Ave., N.W., and has more than 17,000 clients.

Miss Pinkett's tips to business people as to how they can provide leadership in inspiring employees to do their best, "whether you have one employee or one hundred," follow:

1. Setting goals (...I know where we're going")
2. Planning (...I plan to do it this way")
3. Delegation ("Will you do this for me")
4. Decisiveness ("I have decided")
5. Resourcefulness ("I'll find a way to do it.")
6. Integrity ("Count on me")
7. Patience ("I understand, let's try it again")
8. Courtesy ("Please" and "thank you" are so important)
9. Loyalty ("I've got a fine group here)
10. Job Training ("Here, let me show you")

MISS PINKETT urged her listeners to remember these points are for motivation of personnel "if the men and women we train are to give the most 'not only to the job but to themselves.'"

She suggested management must create a proper climate-provide pleasant clean, physical environment, well-equipped, congenial surroundings, and provide each employee with a job description so he gets 'clear' indication of what he is to do, and his relation to the complete job.'

She asserted that personnel policies should be reviewed periodically, "to correct weak spots."

CHARACTERISTICS OF a good job as outlined by the speaker:

1. Provides monetary reward-equitable salary
2. Offers permanency, opportunity for a career or lifetime of work
3. Business renders a bonafide service accepted by community because it serves a wholesome need
4. Provides employee happiness in his work so he loves what he is doing
5. Offers opportunity for advancement, and gives recognition for work well done

Miss Pinkett emphasized that the employer is duty bound, whether his is a small or large business, to acquaint workers with fringe benefits on the times off, leaves due, insurance etc.

Such information should be given promptly and thoroughly to workers if there is to be proper motivation of personnel, so they will, "feel part of the team."

DR. BERNARD HARRIS SR., president of the Frontiers acknowledged that Miss Pinkett's speech indicated 'she is an able torchbearer of what John R. Pinkett meant to Washington and our nation..."

Special guests at the meeting included:

Misses Elaine Lewis, Barbara Snowden, Anne Dorsey, Earl Koger Jr., of Koger Inc. Co., Maceo Paysour, prop. of Maceo's; Warren Shaw, Manning-Shaw Realty; Mrs. Doris Hill, co-proprietor with her husband, Ers Hill, of Avalon Shoes;

Mrs. Charlotte Downie, public relations counselor; James Bennett, food market proprietor; James Jones, Jones City Service; Leslie Wood, home improvement contractor;

And Henry James, funeral supply firm owner; Herbert E. Nutter and Joseph G. Locks, morticians; George Taliaferro, James Gillespie and Mrs. Elizabeth M. Phillips, assistant to the president of the AFRO.

Out-of-town guests were: Abner Lee, Richmond; Moses Jones, Petersburg, both representatives of N.C. Mutual; and Dick Carter, Cincinnati.

The Frontiers meet next week at 12 noon, the NW Boys Club, 215 N. Calhoun St.

—Court bill

man who is a Justice of the Peace?

HERE IS what the Municipal Court bill calls for:

That these will be 11 judges (They will be paid from $14,000 to $17,500 a year) and the first 11 will be appointed by the Governor for staggered terms.

At the end of an appointed term, the judges will run for election.

Those elected will serve for a term of 10 years.

The law also calls for a chief clerk, a deputy and assistant clerks, clerical help, probationary, stenographic and other employees.

The bill states that employees of the Traffic Court of Baltimore City shall be transferred from the Traffic Court to the Municipal Court as of the first Monday in May, 1961.

There are no provisions in the city or state budgets for the Municipal Court.

LAST WEEK, 12 persons, all of whom will be affected by the change were asked:

"How will the Municipal Court bill affect you"?

"Do you know how the court will operate and where it will be located"?

All of those questioned had the same answer: "I don't know."

As an afterthought a few added: "It's a mess."

IN THE General Assembly last year, the Court proposal was opposed by a majority of the city delegation.

The Governor and Assembly members from the surrounding counties favored the bill.

It is expected that the General Assembly will clear up "the mess" when it convenes for its 90 day session in January.

In the meantime as a Maryland taxpayer it is suggested that you hold onto your pocketbook.

You may have bought yourselves a lemon.

Christmas Seal Sabbath proclaimed by Grady

Christmas Seal Sabbath has been proclaimed for the week-end of Dec. 3 and 4 by J. Harold Grady, Mayor of Baltimore.

During this week-end, all city clergymen are asked to remind their congregations of the annual Christmas Seal Campaign for the control of tuberculosis.

The Maryland Tuberculosis Association is now conducting its 54th campaign which will last until Christmas Day.

In his proclamation, Mayor Grady said Bltimore remains among the first of the nation's large cities in the severity of its tuberculosis incidence.

Recent information from the United States Public Health Service lists Baltimore as actually being first in its TB case and death rates.

In addition, the proclamation states that public support of the 1960 Christmas Seal Campaign will permit the Maryland Tuberculosis Association to continue its practical programs of casefinding, medical research, patient services, educational programs and medical social services.

Those who have not received their Christmas Seals through the mails may obtain them from the association's office at 900 St. Paul St., Baltimore 2, Md. They may also be ordered by telephoning MU. 5-8881.

SCENE AT THE WEDDING — Sammy Davis Jr. and his Swedish bride, Mai Britt, pose with ceremonial wine chalice from which both drank in traditional Jewish marital rites at Davis' Hollywood home. Above is Peter Lawford attended by Los Angeles detective. Lawford, brother-in-law of President-elect John Kennedy, was one the two outsiders admitted to the actual marriage ceremony. Frank Sinatra (top) was the other. Sinatra stood as Sammy's best man. Bride wore a champagne brocade gown and couple were united under bower of white chrysanthemums.

State job office remains open today to process claims

Six of the 20 offices of the Maryland Department of Employment Security will remain open today (Friday) after Thanksgiving for the purpose of taking claims for Unemployment Insurance.

Governor Tawes granted State employees a holiday Friday, the day after Thanksgiving, where workloads permit.

Robert B. Kimble, Executive Director, said the Baltimore Office will take both new and continued claims today.

The other offices remaining open—Towson, Cumberland, Hagerstown, Cambridge and Snow Hill—will take continued claims only.

King to debate Va. editor on TV

NEW YORK — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. will meet James Kilpatrick, editor of the Richmond News Leader, in a head-on verbal battle Saturday night, Nov. 26.

The debate, to be aired over National Broadcasting's TV networks beginning at 9:30 p.m. will deal with the subject: "Are Sit-down Demonstrations Justifiable?"

New school to relieve No. 142

The City Planning Commission received and approved placing in its master plan Wednesday a proposed new elementary school in West Baltimore.

The new school would be located in the block bounded by Presbury, Payson, Baker, and Dukeland Sts.

This site covers 2.63 acres, and all of the present properties would be required for the new school except a converted slynagogue at 2003 Presbury St. which is School No. 142-A.

There are 52 families on this site who would be displaced.

THE NEW school has been deemed necessary by the School Board to relieve overcrowding at the Robert W. Coleman Elementary School No. 142, albrook Ave. and Smallwood St.

School Plant Planning Committee members have termed this "one of our most congested areas with two annexes and no relief determined."

School No. 142, as of Feb. past, had 506 pupils on part-time in 14 classes in grades one through four.

This term, school officials revealed that there are 590 pupils there on part-time and 18 classes including the addition of opportunity classes.

The School Board approved the new site on Oct. 27, at its last meeting.

SITE ACQUISITION cost has been estimated at $592,000.

The new school would cost about $1,500,000.

Location of the new school on this site would allow its construction while School 142-A remained in use, officials stated.

The site chosen has been termed the "best solution from the standpoint of location to serve the school population, cost of acquisition, and displacement of the minimum number of residents."

The block immediately to the north of the selected site has 2.01 acres and 59 dwelling units, and would cost $590,000.

THE BLACK immediately to the northwest has 1.98 acres, 50 dwellings, and would cost $585,000.

The block to the west comprises 2.91 acres, contains 70 residences, with acquisition cost set at $735,000.

The one on the south contains 2.86 acres, has 58 residences, with an estimated acquisition cost of $604,000.

Mrs. Hardison absent from Shore hearing

Mrs. Emma Hardison, Philadelphia music teacher denied a drink of soda pop on the Eastern Shore in August, did not appear when the case was called for disposition on Wednesday in the Princess Anne Circuit Court of Somerset County.

A bench warrant has bee issued by Judge E. McMaster Duer who termed her absence "a mockery of the court."
