HAZEL LOSES DEATH VERDICT MOTIONS

7 of family die in fire, 10 escape

"I've seen bigger fires before but this is the worst I've ever seen, seven people dead," declared Firechief Johnny Wood, head of the Mechanicsville Volunteer Fire Department.

He said he received the call at 2:46 a.m. when the temperature was about 18 degrees, "freezing cold."

"We had about 10 miles to go and we made it in 15 minutes but the house was already down," he said.

"Whoever called us had to go about ¾ miles to the nearest phone to call us to begin with.

* * *

"SOME OF the children were injured and the Rescue Squad took care of them, mostly scratches and bruises, and cuts, and then they went to a house not too far away for the time being. I understand they are now with relatives in Faulkner, Md.

"The children were injured from jumping out the second story windows.

"The house collapsed and continued burning.

"It was a five or six room frame house and the bodies were in different areas, like maybe the people were in different rooms.

"The body of the 3-year-old was near the body of the mother and father who were found near one of the chimneys.

* * *

"THEY WERE burned so you could only tell if they were male or female. You could only tell from the size of them who they were.

"The father was a tenant farmer. He didn't own the property.

"They were not exactly what you would call prosperous farmers, no, but the farm is good size. He rented it from a man down the road.

"From what we could tell, the house had a gas stove in the kitchen.

"There were two other wood stoves, just the oldtime tin, wood heaters, one in one room, one in another.

"The bodies of the seven dead are now at the Arehart Funeral Home, LaPlata, Md.

* * *

UNDERTAKER Roy Arehart, spoke from his establishment on St. Mary's Street, LaPlata.

"When they put the fire out we were told how many were missing and we began to search for the bodies," he said.

"We searched with flash lights and the flood lights from the fire engine's portable generator.

"We had to push back debris to find them."

* * *

J. J. LONG who resides in a home further down the road said his father, S. C. Long, is owner of the property.

He said: "We have known the Powells about 10 years as fine, hard working people. They attend the St. Mary's Catholic Church, in Newport.

"The house was just about 10 years old. It was in good repair. We kept it that way. It had electric and porches in good shape."

WANT A CHILD?—Meet Charles and Willy, Francine and Tammie. All four, and many others, have one important thing in common—they need a home and parents who will offer them love and guidance. Both the Family and Children's Society, 204 W. Lanvale St., and the Maryland Children's Aid Society, 57 W. 29th St., have children available for adoption now. The children pictured are among those actually waiting for a home. Both agencies are now urging couples who feel they would like to have a child in their home to take steps to make their dreams come true. For adoption information from the Family and Children's Society, call NO. 9-9000. For adoption information from the Maryland Children's Aid Society, call TU. 9-8267. Both agencies report most couples are surprised at the lack of red tape they go through and the speed at which the adoption process operates.

Bolton St. assault case ends

Judge S. Ralph Warnken on Wednesday denied a motion for a new trial under the Post Conviction Procedures Act, for Clifford Earl Hazel, who has been sentenced to death for rape.

In coming to his decision, the result of a two-day hearing in September, Judge Warnken ruled out contentions of defense attorneys Milton Allen and Jacques Leeds that:

1. The right of the court to try Hazel was dependent upon the findings and a report of the Department of Mental Hygiene as to Hazel's sanity.

Such a report was not furnished and if it had been, Hazel would not have been brought to trial because of his mental condition.

2. The testimony of Dr. Charles Ward, superintendent of Crownsville State Hospital, where Hazel was given a mental examination, was incorrect and false.

If the actual facts had been produced in court, Hazel would not have been brought to trial.

3. The court was misled by Dr. Ward and Dr. Hector Ramirez, both of Crownsville, who knowingly allowed the court to exclude from its consideration certain information which would have helped Hazel in his plea of insanity.

* * *

HAZEL, 33, was convicted in 1959 of the rape of a Bolton St. housewife.

A three-judge court sentenced him to die in the gas chamber, but his attorneys filed an appeal on the grounds that the man was insane. The appeal was denied.

But Hazel again won a hearing on a motion for a new trial under the Post Conviction Procedure Act on the grounds that his sanity finding was arrived at improperly.

This is the case he has now lost.

Hazel's attorneys have the right to appeal this latest decision.

However, if they do not petition for an appeal, Hazel will be brought back to Judges Joseph Carter, Anselm Sodaro and John Tucker, and sentenced again in the gas chamber.

IN THE latest court effort to save Hazel, Messrs. Allen and Leeds, defense attorneys, petitioned that Hazel was examined and certified to be sane by Crownsville State Hospital physicians when, according to Maryland law, they have no right to make such a certification.

The attorneys argued that it is the duty of the Department of Mental Hygiene to certify a person for trial in cases which might bring capital punishment or life imprisonment.

Defense attorneys also contended that the director of correctional psychiatry for the Department of Mental Hygiene, Dr. Jacob Morgenstern, sat in on one of Hazel's examinations at Crownsville, when it was agreed that the man was not fit to stand trial.

But they argued, Hazel was subsequently certified as sane and fit to stand trial, without the knowledge of Dr. Morgenstern.

* * *

HOWEVER, THE other psychiatrists at Crownsville testified that they advised Dr. Morgenstern of their subsequent findings.

In his 15-page opinion, Judge Warnken overruled all three points raised by the defense.

He added in his opinion that the law provides under certain circumstances, that findings and a report of sanity can be made by the superintendent of an institution rather than the head of the Department of Mental Hygiene.

He also found no validity in the claim that the testimony of Dr. Ward was incorrect and false, and that the court had been misled as to Hazel's mental condition.

NAACP official faces Miss. court

HATTIESBURG, Miss. — The state field secretary of the NAACP will stand trial here today (Friday) on a contempt of court charge resulting from remarks he allegedly made about a court decision.

Medgar Evers, 35-year-old native of Mississippi, was served with a subpoena last Friday charging him with contempt. He could receive a fine and up to 30 days in jail if convicted.

* * *

THE CHARGE is the outgrowth of a seven-year sentence given to Clyde Kennard, a chicken farmer, on a conviction of instigating a burglary. Kennard was found guilty of participating in the theft of five bags of chicken feed valued at $25.

A former University of Chicago student, he once tried to enroll at all - white Mississippi Southern College.

The state contends that Evers called the conviction and sentencing of Kennard a "mockery of justice."

Evers reportedly said: "In a court room of segregationists, apparently resolved to put Kennard legally away, the all white jury found Kennard guilty as charged in only ten minutes."

Judge Stanton Hall of the Forrest County Circuit Court, who tried Kennard will hear the Evers case.

In an editorial on the eve of Evers trial, the State Times, a white daily paper in Jackson, said in an editorial:

"The citation of contempt can be a means of abridging the rights of citizens. No matter what our opinion may be of segregation all individuals should be concerned."

Close but Baltimore's still sixth

The official census figures brought good news for Baltimore. It's still the sixth largest city in the United States.

For a while, on the basis of unofficial figures, Houston appeared to have edged Baltimore from the position.

Baltimore's official population stands at 939,024 while Houston's is 938,219.

Baltimore City showed a 10-year drop in population of 1.1 percent, from 349,708 down to the present 339,024.

Maryland showed a 10-year increase of 32.3 percent, climbing from 2,343,001 in 1950 to 3,100,689 in 1960, a climb of 758,688.

Psychiatry grant

The Psychiatric Institute of the University of Maryland School of Medicine has received a three-year grant totaling $58,319 from the National Institute of Mental Health for an experimental study of the psychiatric interview.

NAACP election set for Tuesday

In response to the NAACP's appeal for a city - wide extra push to reach its goal, contributions from campaign workers, life members, churches and organizations continued to pour into the branch office this week.

The Funeral Directors, Morticians and Embalmers Association paid $200 on their life membership. Dr. Emerson Walden, Dr. Richard Hunt, Dr. R. Garland Chissell, The Twenty Women and The Templars, Inc., each paid $50 on life memberships.

The Motion Picture Operators Union through George Douglass, and the Regent Theatre, each made a contribution of $50.

THE KNOX Presbyterian, Grace Memorial and Zion Baptist Churches gave their annual Thanksgiving offering of $105, while the Mt. Sinai Baptist Church sent its offering of $50.

"It is a great expression of support and we are saying to Thurgood Marshall who is holding the battle lines tight in New Orleans, 'We're with you'," declared Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, NAACP president.

The Northwest Protective Association, Mrs. Susie Hilburn, president, sent in $25.

The Barbers Union Local 785 continued to push toward its goal of 500 members, reporting 284 members and $375 to date. Cecil Little is captain of the drive for the union, Herman Saunders is president, and Pinkney Howell is secretary-treasurer.

* * *

THE NEXT report meeting will be next Tuesday night at 8 p.m., at Sharp St. Community House, Dolphin and Etting Sts.

The annual election of officers will be held.

Awards will be given to the workers reporting the largest number of members that night.

Mrs. Mary E. Hawkins and Mrs. Edith Allen, co-chairmen of the NAACP Christmas Seals Committee launched their sale of seals this week and urged all citizens to use them on Christmas cards and Christmas gift wrappings.

Troy Brailey, NAACP labor committee chairman, reported that pursuant to a directive of the NAACP board of directors at its last meeting, a conference was held Wednesday with J. Theodore Wolfe, president of the Gas and Electric Company concerning the hiring and upgrading of colored employees.

* * *

MR. BRAILEY stated that the committee learned that the Gas and Electric Company trains high school and college graduates for the various departments of the company and has had a nondiscriminatory policy for over a year.

He urged anyone interested in securing employment with this utility, to make application at the personnel office of the Gas and Electric Company and report to the NAACP on the progress of the application for employment.

J. B. Morgison, president of the C and P Telephone Company, wrote the association this week that L. M. Smith, vice president in charge of operations, will work with the association.

Support for rights bill is promised

Support of a proposed public accommodations bill slated for introduction at the coming session of the General Assembly has been promised by two county legislators.

The promise came Wednesday evening from Blair Lee 3rd Montgomery County, and Carlton R. Sickles, Prince George's County, both Democrats, and House of Delegates members.

The occasion was a mass meeting of Montgomery and Prince George's Counties citizens to stir up interest in the proposed public accommodations bill.

Mrs. Verda F. Welcome, Fourth District House of Delegates member, has said she will introduce such a bill.

State Senator J. Alvin Jones, the same district, plans a bill.

Dr. Furman L. Templeton, director, the Urban League here and Mrs. Bergl Williams attended from Baltimore.

Trial starts for Crownsville nine

ANNAPOLIS—Nine employees of Crownsville State Hospital went on trial here this morning (Friday) on charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors confined to the mental institution.

Judge Michaelson is hearing the case which is expected to last all day today, and perhaps longer.

The situation which produced the charges was brought to the attention of Dr. Charles S. Ward, hospital superintendent, by a patient.

Dr. Ward conducted an investigation and Anne Arundel County police were called in.

The State's Attorney's office formally charged the nine on Nov. 14.

Clubs set events to aid needy

From every section of the city, offers of help for needy families are reaching the ears of the AFRO's Mrs. Santa.

All week long, her telephone has been ringing steadily as warm hearted citizens of our town demonstrated once again, that there is still a meaning in Christmas.

They have been calling with offers of help for the families whose touching stories have been told in the pages of this newspaper.

They called because their hearts were touched by the plight of these unfortunate people, who will have no Christmas at all, unless someone cares enough to give them a helping hand.

In this edition of the AFRO, Mrs. Santa is printing 100 of these cases, and is hoping that your heart will be touched by them.

When this happens, just pick up your telephone and call Mrs. Santa here at the AFRO office, MUlberry 5-8015.

Give her the number of the case, and she will give you the name and address of the family, and all other information.

* * *

WITH WELL over 500 cases already on hand, Mrs. Santa needs a great deal of help, and she is hoping and praying that AFRO readers will answer the plea.

In addition to the individual calls Mrs. Santa received this week, she also heard from the West Side Social Club which is giving a benefit dance Saturday night at the Winchester St. National Guard Armory.

Officials of the club said Mrs. Santa will receive a healthy check from the dance.

The Federal Neighborhood Improvement Association of East Baltimore has pledged ten baskets to needy families, selected from Mrs. Santa's list.

Joseph Chester is president and Mrs. Sarah Trent is chairman of the Christmas project.

WILLIAM WRIGHT, director of the Town Choir, called Mrs. Santa to say the choir is presenting a benefit Christmas program at Trinity AME Church, Hoffman and Collington, on Sunday, Dec. 11, at 4 p.m.

The price of admission will be a pound of groceries to be used in baskets for families on Mrs. Santa's list. Mr. Wright is hoping that the affair will produce at least 60 baskets, so be sure to attend

Jack will not resign, lawyer says

NEW YORK — Hulan Jack will not resign from the presidency of the Manhattan Borough, his attorney announced: Carson DeWitt Baker, who defended Mr. Jack through two lengthy trials, said that his conviction early this week will be appealed.

This decision has local lawyers in an uproar. Some maintain that his conviction by a jury of seven men and five women automatically separates him from his $25,000 - a - year job.

Others maintain that his automatic discharge would not be effective until all appeals were exhausted. Still others maintain that in any case, the discharge would not be effective until after Jan. 1, which Recorders Court Judge Joseph Sarafite has set for sentencing.

Mr. Baker said that his cli-

Mrs. Santa, Regent to give Yule party

Once again, 2,500 youngsters are going to have a "swinging time" on Christmas Eve because of the AFRO's Mrs. Santa and the Regent Theatre.

The youngsters will be guests on Saturday, Dec. 24, at a fabulous and thrilling show at the Regent, that will feature a Jerry Lewis picture and a stage production offering the best talent in Baltimore.

This will mark the third year that the AFRO and the Regent have joined hands to present this Christmas treat for underprivileged children.

* * *

THE SHOW will be presided over by a gentleman, well known to the younger set, Sammy Jay of Station WEBB.

In addition, WEBB also plans to air the show live from the stage of the Regent so that those who are not able to attend, will still have the opportunity to hear top entertainment.

When the Christmas Eve show is over, the Manning and Shaw Realty Co. will present a bag of candy to each and every child, as its way of saying Merry Christmas.

The management of the Regent is donating both the use of the theatre and the film,

Say Cong. Dawson will be Postmaster General

"I don't know any more about it than you do. . . I have never in my life accepted something that's never been offered. . ."

Congressman William L. Dawson was talking to the AFRO on Thursday from his Chicago office.

He was asked to comment on newspaper stories, reportedly quoting reliable and authoritative sources, which say he is slated to be the next Postmaster General of the United States.

Should President - Elect Kennedy select him, he would be the first colored member of a Presidential cabinet.

* * *

NEW YORK newspapers, and in fact news stories published in all sections of the country, carried the report of Congressman Dawson's impending appointment on Thursday.

The N.Y. Herald Tribune published a page one story with his photo.

"I haven't seen all those papers, but I have had enough calls in here . . . yes, people calling from all over the country . . . but don't believe what you read in the papers," Congressman Dawson said.

Advised that news stories so far have correctly predicted Mr. Kennedy's appointments, Mr. Dawson had no comment.

Asked whether he had talked with President - Elect Kennedy, he answered, "yes, many, many, times."

Q— WHAT ABOUT recently in connection with an appointment to the Cabinet?

A—I haven't been East but once since the election, and it was over there only a minute, but I did not see him (Kennedy) at that time.

Q— If you do go into the Cabinet, what happens to your job, who will fill your Congressional seat?

A—I'll cross that bridge when I come to it. . . . I imagine there're a dozen and one just waiting. . . but I am making no statement. I have no reason to make a

"In 1939 the outfit cleared two million dollars.

"The daily take averaged $35,000.

"The operation was so big that we had 30 girls working in the office.

"There may have been a change in personnel but they are still doing business in the county.

"I know, I was in the middle of the business for years. I kept the books.

"You would be surprised if you knew how far this operation goes.

"Even I was surprised and I was considered one of the boys."

Those were the comments of a self admitted numbers writer.

IN AN EXCLUSIVE interview with the AFRO Thursday, the ex-lottery agent talked freely about what he called the "numbers business" in Baltimore County.

He not only gave figures but cited names, places and dates.

Without hesitation the speaker explained he wanted to "get things off my chest" because the racket bosses refused to pay him a $25,000 debt.

The ex-bookkeeper also said he felt dejected because he had never found the one thing he wanted most in life, respectability.

The speaker asked the question: "At this age, what

"When you want to break a former friendship you should do it gracefully."

That was the advice Magistrate Howard L. Aaron gave a physician who appeared at a complainant in Pine Street Police Court Tuesday afternoon.

The comment resulted from charges filed by Dr. Thomas W. Harris of the 1800 block W. Franklin St.

DR. HARRIS, a staff physician at Provident Hospital, charged that he was assaulted and struck by Miss Evelyn Louise Campbell, 33 of the 300 block Gwynn Ave.

Miss Campbell, a former claims examiner for the state unemployment office, pleaded innocent.

Miss Campbell was given probation before a verdict
