Wilson sets tour, signs TV contracts

BY ADAH K. JENKINS

MAIL-BOX: From New York news that Robert Wilson, the well known tenor, has just singed a five - year contract with Decca Records to record eight albums per year, including classical and semi - classical works.

Following the release of the first album in January Mr. Wilson will embark on a cross country tour, and concerts in Australia and South America in the spring.

Early in 1961, Mr. Wilson is contracted also to appear on the Garry Moore, Ed Sullivan and Jack Paar television shows. He is under the personal management of Beverly Schecter of New York.

A number of teachers and advanced music education students of the city and from Washington attended the recent lecture - recital by James Friskin, one of the foremost interpreters of the music of Bach, in Leakin Hall.

WITH DISARMING informality Mr. Friskin gave a scholarly and exhaustive study of the French and English Suites, Partitas, two and Three - part Inventions and the masterly "Chromatic Fantasia and Fugue." Two Preludes and Fugues from Book I of the "Well-tempered Clavier" were included also.

The term "well-tempered" meant "well - tuned," and was applied to a clavier or harpsichord forerunner of our modern piano, which was tuned to play in all keys, both sharps and flats.

Johann Sebastian Bach, the greatest of a century and a half of Bach family musicians, was the first musician to write in all the twenty - four major and minor keys. These two volumes, often called the pianist "Old Testament," consist of a prelude and fugue in each key.

Mr. Friskin dwelt at length on the selection of suitable material, from the shorter movements of the suites and partitas, that are suitable for the less advance student. He also stressed the importance of making the counterpoint in Bach like a real conversation, meanwhile searching for the emotional message of each work.

There was a question and discussion period following the recital, which was sponsored by the Baltimore Music Teachers Association, Mrs. Hilda Perl, president.

A recital by students of elementary advancement was given by the Piano Teachers Activity Group last Sunday at Coppin State Teachers College. The teachers are sponsoring a Christmas recital and social for representatives from each studio, to be given at the home of Mrs. Gladys W. Davis later in December.

United Artists is distributing "Exodus."

Nancy Wilson on Steele Xmas show

CHICAGO — When producer Larry Steele brings his Smart Affairs revue into the Tivoli Theatre here during the Xmas week he'll surprise his audiences with a fast moving show that will include the nation's fastest rising singer, Nancy Wilson.

On the lookout for new attractions, Steele said he was impressed with Nancy after hearing her Capitol record album. Though he's never met her, her voice won him over and he contacted her agent, John Levy, and worked out a contract for her appearance.

BALTIMORE AFTER DARK

On The Town

WITH THE PUB CRAWLERS

Hi there, and cherry hello to all you lovers of life.

It's ye old Crawlers here on another set of seven, inviting you to latch on for a gay buggy ride around the town.

Speaking of gayety, it abounds near and far on the after dark circuit, let's take a peek.

This week's mecca of gayety can be found at 714 S. Broadway. That's where Billie's Interracial Show is throwing a splashy shindig tonight (Friday).

It's the grand opening at this ritzy spot and no effort has been spared to include all the trappings and trimmings.

There'll be gobs of chow and door prizes, all for free, yet.

Dishing out the entertainment will be Mae Daniels and her fabulous Harlem Revue.

Mae is heading and meeting a swinging show, featuring the exotic twisters, Lady Lakeeta, Dolly Mack, Vickie Williams, plus Sylvia and Claude Hubbard.

Staged three times nightly, it all comes at you from the intimate, but gay Fiesta Room.

* * *

NORTH END LOUNGE'S Floyd, Irvin and Jimmy are doing their bit to help the sunrise of the Big B in its bold bid to snatch the late watch crowd from their former habitats.

So far the job has not been too difficult. With Herman Hawkins, the jazz singer, and Gary Bartz, the jazz player, no wonder. It is the most.

Also blazing back on the route of the Crawlers is the Clover Club, down East Fayette St. way. To say this spot jumps is like saying sugar is sweet.

If you've ever made it, you know there's no room for disagreement. The Honey Boys are playing the tunes.

Earl Omaro is fast becoming a fixture at Knotty Pine. The cat has been pleasing itchy feet these for many moons.

And according to his legion of gay stompers, like old spirits, he improves with age.

ANOTHER TWOSOME, or rather threesome, that go together like ham and eggs are Red Fox, Ruby Glover and Count Lantz.

Without one, the others could never be the same. Take it from the Crawlers, this is a swinging combination.

The season of fine fixings and sippable sips is upon us. And to enhance your appreciation for same, drop in on Wendell Wilson and his Vilma.

If you're with it, you've gotta know you can't disagree to agree that you should make this spot a must on your night's outing.

Watty, Cornell, and Richard, that's the nucleus of the fabulous times patrons are having at the Lucky Number these brights and darks.

Watty, as you know, is lord and master who oversees the proceedins. And while Richard dishes out fine fixings from the newly-opened kitchen Cornell Muldrow does the same, only his is the magic of organ music.

* * *

WHILE YET ON that Poplar Grove Street, there's another place where gaylifers meet and greet.

This would be Carnival Lounge, where the Mello Jacks are tearing up Jack (that's no stage joke).

The sign reads: "Still Held Over-" Who? Elsie Von, Kiss Fire, Mari-Jay, Ameda, Flink Johnson and Mickey Fields.

Where? Let's not be lames. . . Chick's Lounge, of course.

* * *

ANOTHER OLD acquaintance joining the Crawlers' caravan this week is the Friendly Ghost himself, Casper Pigott, and his way out lounge.

It's hard to say what's on the Scary One's mind at the moment, but in the past he has thrown such things as fish fries, old fashioned hoedowns, lumberjack camp meeting, and who knows what else?

You should dig him and the gang.

* * *

THE CRAWLERS also welcome the Spot back to the stroll. A more appropriate tag would be the house with the mile-long bar.

That's to give you room to roam, according to personable Roland, the major domo.

Still on the Main Drag, Avenue Musical Bar is now the scene of Sonny Til's Revue.

Needless to say, it swings, so make it there and see for thine self.

A step to the south of there and you'll run into the incomparable Charley Burns, holding sway at his Atmosphere House, Casino Supper Club.

Charley's silken touch, first made famous in the heyday of the late 1017, is quite pronounced here.

Guess who's on the organ, the terrific Lou Bennet, natch.

* * *

FRANK AND Happy ask you to breeze to the spot that's "just 12 minutes' ride from your house."

Where? Where else but Dotson, Glen Burnie way.

Sammy Jay and his Swinging Affairs proves each seven that there is something new under the sun.

There's a lot of shakings at Astoria, too, these dusks and dawns.

Bob and Lou are waiting for you, so you know, like make it . . . that's swinging.

The gang down Fremont Avenue way, Herb's Melody Bar, where else, is winging as per usual. Join 'em, you dig it.

That's it . . . be eccccl ya!
