THERE HAS never been a more spectacular sequence in a motion picture than the thrilling chariot race depicted in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's Academy Award - winning "Ben-Hur" now at the Harlem. Charlton Heston, as Ben-Hur, and Stephen Boyd, as Messala, are the rivals who lead the competition in the race, filmed on a set covering 18 acres and 1,500 foot straightaways alongside a central Spina dominated by four huge statues. The William Wyler presentation was filmed in Italy and other foreign locales in color and MGM Camera 65.

LUCKY PICTURE in each edition. Find the circle about your head, come to the City Desk and collect $3. Your head could be circled in a street scene or at a sports event when you didn't even know the picture was made.

FIRST RUN FILMS

TWO TOP FEATURES AT ROYAL THEATRE

"The 3 Worlds of Gulliver," starring Kerwin Mathews, in Superdynamation and Eastman Color, is currently at the Royal.

Based on the Jonathan Swift classic, "Gulliver's Travels," it shows the spectacular adventures of Gulliver in the lands of both the tiny Lilliputians and the giant Brobdingnagians.

Recounting three crucial years in the life of the Roosevelt family a decade before FDR became President, "Sunrise at Campobello," based on the award - winning Broadway success, with Ralph Bellamy re-creating the role that won him top acting honors on the stage, Greer Garson stars opposite Bellamy as Eleanor Roosevelt in the second half of the Royal's Bill.

JERRY LEWIS BACK, REGENT HAS HIM

A wonderful fun-film is now at the Regent Theatre. It is "CinderFella" with Jerry Lewis in the title role and — as the title implies — he is male counter part of little, old Cinderella.

Only there have been many changes made, all of them contributing to the hilarity and originality of the comedian's newest gift to folks who like to laugh.

"CinderFella," which was also produced by Jerry himself, is told in terms of language, manners, customs, costumes and people of our times — in Technicolor, embellished with some great telos and enhanced by some mighty fine talent (in addition to Jerry's).

Ed Wynn plays the Fairy Godfather who helps Cinder-Fella woo and win the beautiful Princess, portrayed by Anna Maria Alberghetti. The role gives Wynn an opportunity to return to the type of comedy to which he was devoted for over 50 years of his life.

And as the Princess, petite Anna Maria comes into her own, for it is the kind of sophisticated part that gets her out of the rut of routine singing heroine she was in for too long.

THRILLER DILLER AT THE NEW ALBERT

"The Monster of Piedras Blancas," now playing at the New Albert Theatre, is what is referred to in show - business parlance as a sleeper.

A relatively low budget picture with a high entertainment content, this new Varmick Production is a new kind of horror-show, taut and suspenseful.

The monster in the case is a crabman, a crustacean mutate, left behind is the tide of evolution, a scaly creature seven feet tall, a thing driven to sunset on blood, horrible to look upon, deadly to encounter.

This beast of the past ages dwells in a cave at the base of some cliffs and its existence had been spoken of in whispers as a legend of loathing by the residents of those parts for years.

The lighthouse keeper, played by John Harmon, knows that someone, or something, strange is dwelling in the cave at the base of the cliffs, and fearing harm to himself or his daughter, prettily portrayed by Jeanne - Carmen, secretly leaves food for the creature.

'SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON' AT MET THEATRE

All the kings' ships and all the kings' men of olden times were not as fearsome to pirates as the devastating weapons Walt Disney planned for a great battle against freebooters in his $5,000,000 Panavision-Technicolor feature, "Swiss Family Robinson," now at the Met Theatre, filmed on location at the Caribbean island of Tobago.

The odds in the film story are a shipload of armed brigands against one family — a man and a woman, three boys, one girl and two dogs. But the family has a hilltop stronghold, courage, imagination and some of the most fearsome devices for defense ever inflicted on man.

And the family, whose motto is always "Be prepared," uses every one to gratifying advantage.

'BEN HUR' PLAYING AT HARLEM THEATRE

Hollywood sent the largest motion picture company in history to Italy to film "Ben-Hur" now playing at the Harlem. Years of preparation preceded the turning of the first cameras in Rome.

Throughout the months of filming, Metro - Goldwyn-Mayer, which produced the spectacular Academy Award-winning picture, planned everything to the last detail.

In such an outstanding operaweather, could be left to tion nothing, not even the chance. If rain or clouds made it impossible to film scenes out of doors, sets on sound stages had to be ready at a moment's notice. Chance is something a huge unit, filming a picture abroad, cannot afford.

Integrated picketing at jim-crow 'Porgy'

CHAPEL HILL, N.C.—The Carolina Theatre was picketed for two days here last week as a protest against the management's refusal to allow colored patrons to attend the all-tan "Porgy and Bess" film.

There is no theatre for colored persons in this small university town, and neither of the two white theaters has balconies for colored persons as is common in other towns in the South.

• • •

MORE THAN 50 people, about half of them colored and half of them white, participated in the demonstrations. Included were U. of North Carolina students, several faculty members, students and older members of the colored community, other white volunteers, and three faculty members of nearby Duke University, who reside in Chapel Hill.

• • •

THE MANAGEMENT had earlier turned down a request made by a group of colored ministers, that colored persons be allowed to attend the picture.

The UNC student newspaper, the Daily Tar Heel, and other campus groups backed the picketing action.

Pitt showman thanks Sammy

PITTSBURGH — When he was offered Sammy Davis Jr., for three nights, Feb. 9, 10, and 11, Mike Abriola changed his mind pronto in deciding to fold his Town House till after Lent.

Now he will grab spot attractions when they are available until he starts full week operations again on Easter Monday (April 3).

"THERE SHOULD be more guys like Sammy, Agriola told VARIETY. "look at all the guys he's putting back to work. If more people like him would come out, club owners could make a buck and keep the rest of their big staffs working all year around.

"Now, they would rather hang around New York, Hollywood or go to the inauguration."
