Miss Murphy to be cited for work in Cherry Hill

An appreciation night honoring Miss E. Valeria Murphy, retiring director of Christian Education of the Cherry Hill Community Church, will be held at the church Tuesday, April 25, 8 p.m.

The church is located at 819 Cherry Hill Rd., at the corner of Woodview.

Miss Murphy leaves Baltimore April 26, to work at the Grace Presbyterian Church, Chicago, of which the Rev. Edgar Ward, formerly at the Cherry Hill church, is pastor.

For the past 16 years, Miss Murphy has been a driving force in the Cherry Hill community.

The AFRO took special notice of her accomplishments in 1958, when she was selected for a place on the special AFRO Honor Roll for Cherry Hill, and received an engraved plaque.

MISS MURPHY was born in New Orleans but moved to Brazil, Ind. at 13 months of age after the death of her mother. She graduated from DePauw University in Greencastle, Ind., with an A.B. in religious education and Latin.

She taught religious education and Latin at Roger Williams University in Nashville a year and religious education at Swift Memorial Junior College in Rogersville, Tenn. for five years.

In Baltimore Miss Murphy taught philosophy of education, public speaking and drama at the Baltimore Junior College, meeting at Douglass High School, before serving as director of the East Baltimore Cooperative Nursery School for 12 years.

When in 1946 the Presbytery of Baltimore decided to organize a Sunday School in newly developed Cherry Hill, Miss Murphy accepted the position of director of Christian education.

IN JULY 1947 after the Cherry Hill Community Church was organized, Miss Murphy played an influential part in the setting up and operating religious education, recreation and social groups which won wide national praise.

Miss Murphy and the Rev. Mr. Ward, under whom she will be working in Chicago, worked together for years at the Cherry Hill Church.

Miss Murphy has done graduate work in Latin at Teacher's College in Terra Haute, Ind. and in philosophy and education at New York University.

She lives here at 1804 Ruxton Ave.

Dedication held for Howard H. Murphy Cottage

"I am delighted that the board of Boys' Village is naming the new cottage the Howard H. Murphy Cottage.

"Mr. Murphy has rendered assistance to the state government in Maryland in many areas. He well deserves the kind of honor that the board is conferring upon him today.

"I want to join with his many other friends in saying to him that we heartily agree with the action of the board. The best of luck to him."

Thus spoke Gov. J. Millard Tawes as he delivered the principal address at dedication ceremonies in the Boys' Village gymnasium Tuesday.

He spoke to 400 persons attending ceremonies dedicating a new cottage, named in honor of Howard H. Murphy, AFRO comptroller and member of the State Board of Public Welfare.

The $220,000 Murphy Cottage will serve as an admission and orientation center. Now under construction, it will be ready for occupancy by late summer.

ALONG WITH the Murphy Cottage, a $400,000 educational building was also dedicated. It goes into operation next week.

The governor said the buildings mark the completion of the "dramatic transformation" of Boys Village.

"For the first time in its history Boys' Village will be able to operate a carefully designed classroom and shop building which can serve up to 300 boys," he said.

Calling the new structures a solution to the physical plant problem at the training school, Governor Tawes declared:

"Since 1947, the General Assembly has appropriated over $3,800,000 or capital improvement for Boys Village.

"The 1961 General Assembly accepted my operational budget estimated at over $1 million for fiscal 1962. My capital budget also include $77,000 to complete alterations and other improvements," he said.

The expenditures have made it possible for Boys Village to have classrooms, shops, reading clinics, and music rooms.

THESE FACILITIES make it possible to plan a special, all-day educational program, designed to prepare and train each boy for return to the community, the governor said.

During Boys' Village transformation, Governor Tawes pointed out, 10 new cottages, an administration building, staff dormitory, employee houses, and improvements in utilities and facilities have been added.

"Under the dynamic direction of its superintendent," he said, "this institution will rank as one of the outstanding institutions of its kind in America."

In his remarks, Mr. Murphy, described as "a champion of the underprivileged, leader of men, scholar and gentleman," said:

"Few can realize how far Boys' Village has come. I am proud to have been a part of helping bring about these changes and in making my contribution in the field of welfare and juvenile delinquency."

Mr. Murphy recounted the many changes at the training school, founded in 1873, by the late Enoch Pratt and others.

It was then known as a "House of Reformation" for colored boys. He related the various changes in the institution during the past 60 years.

These included the first colored member of the board, the late Dr. George F. Bragg, then rector of St. James P.E. Church. Elected in 1901, Dr. Bragg was returned to the position for the next 25 years, Mr. Murphy said.

Mr. Murphy quoted from Dr. Bragg's "Men of Maryland," in recalling the campaign to hire colored teachers for what was then known as Cheltenham.

The institution has completed a full cycle," the honoree said, adding:

"Today, as the result of the desegregation of training schools, we are recommending that the governor appoint mixed boards. Under the state's non-discrimination hiring policy, all training schools have mixed staff."

DR. CARL MURPHY, chairman, AFRO Board of Directors and uncle of the honoree, was among prominent guests in attendance.

Introduced as a "great man, fighter and leader," by Dr. William E. Henry Jr., chairman, Boys Village board, Dr. Murphy said:

"I thought this was one time I could sit in peace."

However, at 73, he said, he will remember the beginning of Boys Village. Dr. Murphy added that he also remembers when colored citizens first took interest in state institutions.

"I congratulate Boys' Village for its incredible progress over the past 50 years," he added.

Other members of the honoree's family were:

Mrs. Catherine Murphy, wife; Mrs. Patricia Robinson, New Rochelle, N.Y., and Miss Catherine Murphy, daughters.

Also John H. Murphy III, AFRO president, and cousin; James H., William H. and George B. Murphy, brothers.

Mrs. Alice T. Carroll, Mahlon Oswell, William E. Kirkwood, AFRO associates, and Judge Robert B. Watts.

Thomas J. S. Waxter, Dr. Alvin Thalheimer, and other members of the State Board of Welfare, and officials and staff members from all the training schools in the state, were among those present.

Albert P. Backhaus, director, Department of Public Improvement; James J. O'Donnell, director, State Planning Department and Louis S. Goldstein, state comptroller, brought greetings and congratulations from their respective agencies.

Music was given by the school choir and vocation and benediction were given by Fathers Dillard Brown and Leon Jaster, respectively.

At the invitation of Lawson J. Veney, superintendent, guests toured the new education building nd the campus while refreshments were served in the library.

Mr. Murphy devoted 26 years' service to the State Department of Public Welfare.

He was appointed to the Maryland Training School Board by then Gov. Deely K. Nice and served for five years.

In 1940 he was elected president of the Maryland Training School for Girls (Barrett School) and held that post for 11 years.

Former Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin appointed the honoree to the State Welfare Board in 1951. He founds out his 10th year in June.

Among his other civic and community activities Mr. Murphy holds membership to the national board of Americans For Democratic Action; Marriage Council and is past president, trustee board, Provident Hospital.

HONOREE AND GOVERNOR—Howard H. Murphy, left, in whose honor a $220 thousand Boys Village cottage was named Tuesday, engage in an informal chat with Gov. J. Millard Tawes and other program participants, following dedication ceremonies. Others are, from left, Louis S. Goldstein, Comptroller of the Treasury; Judge Thomas J. S. Waxter, director, State Department of Public Welfare, and Lawson J. Veney, superintendent of Boy's Village. Governor Tawes was guest speaker at the ceremony when a $500 thousand educational building was also dedicated.

GOING UP—The Howard H. Murphy Admission and Orientation cottage at Boy's Village, dedicated Tuesday, will be ready by summer. It will house new arrivals at the training school while they undergo tests and orientation as the first step of being rehabilitated.

THE BLACK MUSLIMS IN AMERICA

BY C. ERIC LINCOLN
Foreword by Gordon W. Allport

- Who are the Black Muslims?
- What are their aims?
- Are they a threat to America?
- Is their extremist philosophy hurting the work already accomplished by the NAACP and the National Urban League?

This first extended study of the Muslim Movement — an organization of over 100,000 Negroes who preach reverse segregation, hatred of whites, and who hope to establish a Negro kingdom in the American South — casts a new and penetrating light on the state of racial tension in America today. As a social scientist and an ordained Methodist minister, Dr. Lincoln, a Negro himself, writes with deep understanding and critical perspective. He makes clear how the Muslim Movement grew out of the tangle of American race relations; what its mass appeal is; what frightening implications it holds for America.

Characterized by Gordon W. Allport of Harvard as "one of the best technical case studies in the whole literature of social science," The Black Muslims in America will be welcomed by all who seek improved understanding of race relations.

a druggist who handles most prescriptions for a doctor knows the drugs the doctor knows and can fill them. Another pharmacist might have to order a pint of a certain drug just to get a spoonful for one prescription.

Dr. Harris said he did not believe physicians should become involved with pharmacists in the sale of drugs.

"I would consider it an insult if anyone suggested that I was controlled or owned by a pharmacist," he declared.

DR. HARRIS admitted that certain drug stores here compete for prescription business from physicians.

"I get calls from them asking if I know of anyone doctor coming to town. They say they have an office and the rent is reasonable. In some cities, I understand they install direct telephone lines in the doctor's office, but I don't think this is a problem here."

Dr. Harris said he knew of no member of the Monumental City Medical Association with a direct line to a pharmacy in his office.

THE FACT that costs in prescriptions do vary widely from drug store to drug store, was verified by Joseph Cullen, executive secretary of the Baltimore Metropolitan Pharmaceutical Association and the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association.

"This seems to be a situation which exists mainly in Baltimore where certain doctors direct prescriptions to certain drug stores and will not give a copy of the prescription to the patient.

"If a patient requests the prescription, the doctor tells him he has to go to a certain drug store or find another doctor. This practice is unethical," he said.

Mr. Cullen said his groups had reported the complaints to the medical associations.

He also said that private investigators had been hired but had been unable to secure any concrete evidence.

Mr. Cullen pointed out that a patient has the right to take his prescription to any drug store of his choice.

Prescription prices also vary from city to city. For instance, a prescription composed of ingredients costing fifty cents was sold for $1.50 in Baltimore, for $2.50 in New York City and for $1.75 in Washington.

The only answer short of governmental regulation, lies in the hands of the consumer. If, more customers will take their prescriptions from one drug store to another they will get a better price. If enough people do enough shopping around perhaps the pharmacists will get the message and bring their prices down to a fair, uniform level.

has these members:

David Sherman, Charles E. Falter and Senator Tau—who will resign this post also.

NOW — THE thing assumes a particular hue, when it is noted that the members of these two committees are also affiliated with the Pollack organization.

This, of course, means that the two replacements are also going to be Pollack men.

To think otherwise is a ridiculous waste of time.

So—the thing boils down to this: whom does Mr. Pollack want?

A majority of the voters, in the Fourth District are colored.

The Pollack organization has six of the seven lawmakers representing this district in the General Assembly, and only two of them are colored.

IN THE Fifth District, more than one-fourth of the registered voters are colored citizens, many of whom also support the Pollack organization.

This district has five of its seven representatives in Annapolis affiliated with the Pollack faction — none of whom is colored.

All of this brings right down front this unescapable point.

If Mr. Pollack is sincerely interested in the welfare and advancement of the colored citizens in the Fourth and Fifth Districts, this would appear to be an opportune time to show it.

PILGRIMAGE AND TOUR 1961
THERE IS STILL TIME FOR YOU TO SEE EUROPE THIS YEAR!

Father Robert Blakeley of the Episcopal Church of St. Alban the Martyr, St. Albans, New York, will again conduct an escorted tour to Britain and the Continent. Father Blakeley is a native Englishman and will show you his homeland as only a "native" can. The group will fly from New York on about October 1st, returning about 3 weeks later. We will travel as a happy family. All of your expenses including all transportation costs, all hotel bills and all meals together with tips and entertainment are included in the one all-inclusive price. The cost per person of this quite exceptional tour will be between $690.00 and $650.00. Congenial people of all races and all creeds are warmly invited to join us, but since the size of the party is deliberately limited you must apply now. It may be and is now Assistant Priest of St. Alban the Martyr on Long Island.

Tests and pins at which Father Blakeley is from England are recommended by AAA or the British Government Travel and Information Bureau or by both. Your comfort and well being is assured.
