Maryland colleges loom big in Penn Relays field

PHILADELPHIA — The State of Maryland presents its strongest track and field stars in many years at the Penn Relay Carnival here, April 28-29 with heavy entries received from Maryland, Maryland State, Morgan State and the U.S. Naval Academy.

Morgan State has stamped itself as one of the "glamour" teams in the 67th annual extravaganza of relay racing following victories in the sprint medley and one-mile relays at the Quantico men.

Captain Paul Winder, Lawson Smart, Lou Smith and Lee Martin proved both capable runners and baton passers to bring the Baltimore Bears victory in both races.

• • •

MARYLAND has its finest track team since Jim Kehoe took over as coach.

In the individual events, Bill Johnson is the top seeded man in the high hurdles, Nick Kovalakides is among the top six in the javelin throw, while defending pole vault champion Tom Glass may face his sternest competition from sophomore John Belitza who is a Philadelphia-area youngster from Pennsgrove, the home of Olympic champion Don Bragg.

The Terps have filed entries in all eight relay championship of America events. With Johnson anchoring the shuttle hurdles relay team, Maryland should meet Navy in the final in an event in which Winston-Salem is not defending.

• • •

THREE OF the top sprinters in the invitation 100-yard dash are Jonas Spiegel, Maryland, Morgan State's former national AAU indoor sprint champion Paul Winder and Navy's Pete Golwas who is running better than ever this season, turning in a 9.6 clocking in a triangular meet last week.

Lawson Smart of Morgan and Maryland's Chris Stauffer are among the top rated men in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles which event opens the two-day program.

The defending champion in the hop, step and jump is Ed Bush, Maryland State, while teammate Russell Rogers is rated among the top men in the high hurdles.

Ex-Giant star indicted in NY

NEW YORK (ANP) — Although he pleaded not guilty to the charges, Henry (Hank) Thompson, former World Series star and third baseman for the old New York Giants, was indicted here recently on charges of robbery, grand larceny, assault and violation of the weapons law.

The indictment was filed against him in General Sessions court. Judge Mitchell D. Schweitzer set his bail at $3,500.

Thompson, now 40, has been out of baseball for some time. When he was arrested in February, and accused of holding up a bar and stealing $37, he was listed as unemployed.

• • •

A MEMBER of the pennant-winning Giants in 1951, Thompson became a member of the first all-colored outfield in World Series history when he teamed with Willie Mays and Monte Irvin against the New York Yankees.

In 1954, Hank played third base and was the outstanding star of the Giants club which swept four straight from the Cleveland Indians to become world champions.

Clowns, Royals to play in D.C. and Baltimore

WASHINGTON

The rollicking Indianapolis Clowns played to good crowds in their opening games in Florida this week and are headed for two games in Maryland and Washington on May 5 and May 7.

The Clowns will meet the New York Royals at Baltimore's Westport Stadium on Friday night, May 5, and in Griffith Stadium in Washington on Sunday, May 7.

In the two opening games the Clowns edged the Royals twice.

• • •

ONE OF the few teams in baseball history to successfully combine topnotch baseball with the best in sideline entertainment, they come up with still another added attraction this season in the Flying Nesbits, top aero - troupe. They are travelling with the Clowns this season as guest stars.

That assures a top bill of baseball, comedy, pantomime and acrobatics. Certainly to keep him in hysterics while affording a real look at some of tomorrow's major league stars in action.

The Clowns have sent a number of name players to the big leagues, foremost of which was Hank Aaron, scintillating star of the Milwaukee Braves ball club.

Cards pitcher denies knockdown of Snider

LOS ANGELES — Bob Gibson, tan sophomore of the St. Louis Cardinals pitching staff, denied emphatically Wednesday morning that the ball which fractured the right elbow of Dodgers outfielder Duke Snider was a "knockdown pitch."

Snider was struck by a pitched ball in the Monday game here, which the Redbirds won over Los Angeles, 9-5. Gibson was the St. Louis pitcher.

• • •

IN A Tuesday telegram to President Warren Giles of the National League, Dodger vice president Buzzy Bavasi hinted that Snider was struck by a pitch that "may not have been accidental."

Bavasi asserted that the posely. There may be a few guys in this game who try to hurt people, but I am not one of them.

"I had no idea Duke was wire was not a formal protest but that the Dodgers' suspicions were worth noting when he (Giles) acted on their request to place Snider on the injured list.

INFORMED of the LA allegation, Gibson declared: "I did not hit Snider purhurt as badly as he is, and I regret very much that it happened. It most certainly was not intentional though."

• • •

CARDINAL manager Solly Hemus backed up his tan right-hander.

"Any charge of this nature is wrong. We've got a young pitcher out there," Hemus said, "and Snider has just hit an outside pitch over the screen. Naturally, we're going to try to pitch him inside."

• • •

GIBSON IS 25 years old and in his second year with the Redbirds. Born and raised in Omaha, Neb., he is a graduate of Creighton University there.

In 40 games in the majors, Bob has figured in 19 decisions, winning 8 and losing 11, with a 4.59 earned run average.

Morgan golfers shade Howard

WASHINGTON

Morgan State College's J. Ellis and W. Hall pulled out a bestball match in the closing stages of a dual meeting with Howard, to give the Golden Bears a 12-9 golf victory over the Bisons at Langston Course on Tuesday.

The Ellis-Hall combination took the measure of Howard's E. Gresham and M. White for the narrow 3-point margin.

In other matches, Howard's A. Lester defeated Morgan's E. Coleman and White of Howard, downed Ellis of Morgan, in match play:

J. Williams of Morgan, bested M. Kendrix of Howard; W. Hall of Morgan, topped E. Gresham, and J. Carter of Morgan, defeated W. Whitmore of Howard.

In the second of two bestball competitions, the Bisons' Lester and Kendrix paired to win over Coleman and Williams of Morgan.

DURHAM, N.C. (CIAA News Service) — Runners from Morgan State and Maryland State have been credited with fast times with the big meets yet to come, according to the first track and field release by the CIAA News Service, covering meet competition through last week.

• • •

IN THE LONGER sprint distance, the 220 -yard dash, Clifton Anderson, in his first season as head track coach at Maryland State, has three of his Hawk performers listed among the top runners. Phipps has run the course in 1.3, while Miller streaked the distance in 21.4. Bob Jordan, a freshman sprinter has a clocking of 21.8.

Charles Glasgow of Howard University has the fastest time in this event, a blistering 20.7.

JOE BROWN
Still champ — 'Ready for anyone, anywhere'.

Joe Brown Keeps Lightweight Title

Champ hurls broad challenge after 2nd win over Charnley

LONDON — Lightweight champion Joe Brown, convinced he now must sell himself in order to get fights, on Wednesday advertised a willingness to fight anybody, anywhere.

Relaxing in his Leicester Hotel suite following a second successful defense against Great Britain's Dave Charnley, Brown hurled a worldwide challenge at the boxing world.

• • •

"I'M READY to travel anywhere in the world to fight anybody who wants a shot at my crown," declared the 35-year-old stylist from Baton Rouge, La., by way of Houston, Texas.

A crowd of 18,000 watched as Joe pounded out his second decision in 14 months over the British and European 135 - pound king. Although the battle went the full distance of 15 rounds, Brown was clearly the master of his young British rival, whom he left groggy and soaking with blood at the finish.

• • •

SEEING Philippine promoter Lope Sarrel in the throng that jammed into his hotel quarters, Joey beat him to the punch by issuing his own challenge first. Sarrel flew to London to seek Brown's agreement to a defense against Flash Elorde in Manila.

The victory over Charnley was the tenth defense by Brown, a record for the lightweight division. It was the first title fight by him outside the United States, however.

• • •

OBVIOUSLY, it was because all his previous commitments had been for fights in his own country, that Brown felt the need to emphasize a willingness to travel.

Neither the champ nor his manager, Lou Viscusi, was immediately ready to pass judgment on the Sarrel offer. Both said, though, that the only obstacle to a match "anywhere in the world" would be the amount of money involved.

Patterson hedges on Liston defense

ROCKVILLE CENTER, N.Y. — Indications are that heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson has no intention of rushing into a defense of his title against hard-hitting Sonny Liston of Philadelphia.

Liston was on record with the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission and the Kefauver Congressional Committee Wednesday as having severed relations with his manager, Joe (Pep) Barone.

• • •

THE FIGHTER announced to the world early Wednesday that he had completed arrangements for the purchase of his contract from Barone, "to satisfy everyone concerned" that he desired to rid himself of any racket connections.

Liston had been accused of being controlled by interests headed by gamblers Frankie Carbo and Blinky Paterno, with Barone serving as his manager of record.

The Kefauver Committee, several months ago, deplored Sonny's relationship with unsavory characters and the chairman, Sen. Estes Kefauver, told him flatly to rid himself of the shadowy connections.

• • •

ACCORDING to Liston, he has agreed to pay Barone $75,000 for the managerial contract which has 14 months to run. And Barone on Wednesday confirmed this.

For two years, Patterson held that Liston could become a "logical contender" in his book "only when he gets rid of certain underworld characters" in his camp.

• • •

HOWEVER, the champ appears to be hedging on his promise to give Sonny a title shot when he clears himself of the bad influence.
