EAST BALTIMORE WOMAN DRAWS LIFE

New project has features for aged

By MAX JOHNSON

Specially designed bathtubs — extra wide doors with no thresholds to cause tripping — electrical plug outlets flip - high on walls, rather than on baseboards — buzzers to warn of sudden illness, are some of the safety and convenient measures planned for the elderly in the George B. Murphy Homes.

This low - rental housing project — formerly known as the George St. Project — will be the first of its kind here to have apartments designed particularly for aged and ailing tenants.

The project was recently renamed in honor of the late Dr. Murphy, former city school principal and secretary of the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers.

It covers five blocks, in these two adjoining sites:

1. Bounded by Fremont Ave., George St., Myrtle Ave. and Franklin St.

2. Bounded by Myrtle Ave., Hoffman St., Argyle Ave. and Biddle St.

* * *

THE AREA will have four high - rise buildings between 11 and 14 stories, and the remaining buildings will be two and three stories.

The George B. Murphy Homes will have 758 dwelling units and is presently the last low rent, public housing project planned by the Baltimore Urban Renwal and Housing Agency.

Harry B. Weiss, BURHA's director of housing management, revealed that the elderly will be housed in one 14-story building on Myrtle Ave., between Franklin and George Sts., which will also contain the administrative offices.

Mr. Weiss told the AFRO this building will contain 78 dwelling units for the elderly — six on each of the 13 upper floors.

These floors will also contain regular family units—but they will be so arranged there will be no children above or under the apartments for the elderly, with the noises children sometimes make.

* * *

IN ADDITION to administrative offices, the first floor is to contain a lounge for the tenants, toilets, and a small office for a social worker.

In front of the building will be a sit - out space for them, complete with benches.

There will be no medicine, but nursing care in the building will have two elevators.

One of these elevators, following the design of Dr. Mason Lord at City Hospitals, will be extra large — to handle comfortably any stretcher cases which may arise.

Mr. Weiss pointed out that four of the six apartments on each floor for the elderly will be known as "flatlets."

These flatlets — or efficiency apartments will contain a living room, with dining space and an alcove to serve as bedroom, kitchen and bath.

They are designed for a single occupant. There are to be 52 of these.

The 25 other apartments for the elderly will be in the same order, except they will be larger with a separate bedroom.

* * *

MR. WEISS noted these special features for the safety and convenience of the older tenants:

1. Electric stoves in kitchens will be installed, rather than gas, to insure against accidents there.

2. Door handles will be octogonal in shape, rather than round, for easy gripping.

3. Bathrooms will have ready bars to aid in getting in and out of the tubs.

4. The tubs themselves will be designed so that one edge will contain a seat, to aid also in getting in and out, and for the convenience of those who wish only to wash their feet and legs.

5. The front doors and those to the baths are to be extra wide, with no thresholds for the convenience of the older tenants coming to schedulated.

6. In the bath and bedroom will be a buzzer within easy reach which will sound in the hall and alert a neighbor should the elderly tenant become ill suddenly and need attention.

7. Each apartment will have its own balcony, for those who wish to sun themselves.

* * *

8. THE HIP - HIGH electrical plug outlets are designed to make unnecessary the stooping of elderly tenants to plug in an electrical appliance at the normal floor - level on baseboards.

9. In wheelchair cases, there will be special movable equipment in the bathrooms for convenient aids.

Other similar safety and convenient features are expected to make the George B. Murphy Homes a model of living aids for the elderly.

Rentals will be as those of the other units — based on incomes.

MAYBE YOUR'S IS HERE — Human beings being only human were up to their old tricks on Monday, the deadline for the filing of income tax returns. The last minute returns numbered 300,000 items, even though the deadline had been extended two days. This scene was taken in the Internal Revenue Service here in Baltimore on Tuesday. From Jan. 1 to April 17, the total number of returns received was 1,500,000. The workers are Miss Virginia Carter and Miss Delores Bacon.

Judge finds her guilty of murder

An East Baltimore woman, convicted of first degree murder, was sentenced to life imprisonment, this week.

Miss Lucille Hill, 35, 600 block Sterling St., was found guilty of the fatal stabbing of a friend, Leroy Banks, 34, in October.

Judge Dulaney Foster imposed the life term after hearing evidence that Miss Hill stabbed Banks with a knife she bought several hours earlier for the purpose.

Robert V. Lazzaro, prosecutor, introduced evidence which showed the 108-pound man was stabbed while sitting in a chair intoxicated.

IN A STATEMENT read to the court, Miss Hill was quoted as saying she "hit" Banks with the knife when he called her a foul name during an argument.

On the stand, she testified the stabbing took place when they struggled over the knife, after Banks attacked her with an ax.

Sgt. Joseph Stansky, Central District, testified he found the victim sitting in a chair and bleeding from two wounds of the neck while answering a complaint.

A search of the premises revealed the steak knife was hidden in a coal stove. Sgt. Stansky testified.

Prosecuting witnesses testified the couple had an argument the previous night and the woman stated she was going to buy a knife and "kill him."

Sergeant Stansky said no ax was found on the scene.

Hotel raid leads to divorce

Jerry Gardin of 526 N. Poplar Grove St., won a divorce from Mrs. Sylvia J. Gardin and custody of their daughter, after charging his wife with unfaithfulness.

Mr. Gardin said that he read of a hotel raid in which police listed his wife as the wife of another man.

In Circuit Court, he produced Sgt. Charles W. Goodrick of the Eastern Division of the Police Department, one of the officers participating in the raid.

Sgt. Goodrick said that eight couples, including one Sylvia Gardin, and Carl Davis, a service man stationed at Fort Meade, were registered as Carl Davis and wife of Red Spring, N.C.

He said that at the hearing, which followed both pleaded guilty and Mrs. Gardin was fined $10 and costs and the soldier was given probation before verdict. The husband was represented by U. Theodore Hayes, attorney.

Pedestrian in bus accident

Mrs. Lucille McClain, 49, 419 S. Paca St. was struck by a bus as she crossed the intersection of Paca and Camden Sts., Wednesday morning and was dragged a short distance before the bus stopped.

Mrs. McClain was taken to the University Hospital where it was reported she suffered several rib fractures and bruises of the right arm.

The driver was listed as Wesley Roberts, 500 block Wimmar Rd.

Appeal set in liquor transfer

The Baltimore branch NAACP has thrown its support behind a move by the Northwestern United Protective Association to appeal a Liquor Board decision.

The appeal is against an April 13 decision that permits Harry A. Harrison, owner of the Olde Mill Bar, at 604 N. Fremont Ave. to transfer a Class "B" beer, wine and liquor permit to 607 N. Fremont Ave.

The applicant requested the transfer because 604 was condemned by the Urban Renewal and Housing agency for the Harlem Park Urban Renewal Area.

AT A PUBLIC hearing on March 9, the application was protested by the Rev. Daniel J. Mulligan, assistant pastor of Saint Pius Catholic Church at Edmondson Ave. and Schroeder St., the Rev. Marcus G. Wood, pastor Providence Baptist Church at Edmonson and Fremont Aves. Also, the Rev. Arthur J. Payne, pastor Enon Baptist Church, at Edmondson and Schroeder, and the Rev. Moses Williams pastor of Zion Baptist Church.

Also by the Baptist Ministers' Conference, Miss Anita Williams, president, George Street Urban Renewal Council, the Mount Royal - Fremont Advisory Committee, and the NAACP.

The protestants contended that the proposed location of the Olde Mill Bar would be contrary to public interest, that three liquor outlets would exist within a half block, and the move would be contrary to the churches and their congregations.

IN RENDERING their decision the Board of Liquor Commissioners stated "In view of the fact that the Bridge has been in existence within 125 feet of the proposed location for 27 years, the Board finds that transferring the license to 607 N. Fremont Ave. is necessary for public convenience and accommodation."

The Board further stated "In view of the manner in which the present holder of the license has operated the establishment for the past five years, the operation of the business will not unduly disturb the peace of the residents."

In view of the protest from pastors of the three churches the following restriction will be imposed on the license:

"Establishment to remain closed on Sundays until 2 p.m."

The decision also pointed

Baltimore adds pork, gravy to donable foods program

Canned pork and gravy, a major food item for the State's needy families was distributed Thursday for the first time in Baltimore.

The initial distribution of the first 50,500 pound shipment to arrive in Baltimore was made to about 700 eligible people.

According to Edward L. Vogelman Jr., who directs the city program, pork and gravy will be available to Baltimore's 43,000 participating needy.

He noted that since January, the number of eligibles has increased by nearly 8,000 persons.

In all, nine carlots of canned pork valued at over $285,000, are slated to arrive in Maryland this month. Seven will go to needy in Baltimore with two scheduled for Washington County, Maryland. is receiving canned pork and gravy under President Kennedy's plan to improve the variety and quantity of foods available for the needy.

Under the Agriculture Department's expanded food distribution program, needy families in Baltimore have been getting butter, dried milk, flour, corn meal, lard and dried eggs, as well as canned pork.

Peanut butter is scheduled for future distribution.

Witnessing the distribution were James K. Morton, representing Governor Tawes; Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold Grady; Phillip B. Hern, Northeast area supervisor, Food Distribution Division, U.S. Department of Agriculture; James G. Bennie, director, State Department of Budget and Procurement, and Miss Esther Lazaurs, director of the city's Department of Public Welfare.

PERSONS ELIGIBLE for the foods do not have to be on welfare. They must fall into a family - size and income bracket set up by the State Department of Public Welfare.

A single person in a family can get food if he gets no more than $90 a month; two people in a family can make up to $125 a month; three persons up to $150; four persons up to $175 a month and five persons, up to $210 a month.

Large families should add $20 to the income for each additional member of the family to determine if they qualify.

Luke Holmes, 50, manager of employment agency, dies

Luke Holmes, 50, 3637 Wabash Ave., for 24 years manager at Day's Employment Agency, died Monday midnight at University Hospital.

He had entered the hospital two weeks ago, and was scheduled to undergo an operation for removal of a tumor on the spine.

The family said he entered a state of shock Monday and died unexpectedly.

Funeral services are set for Saturday 1 p.m., at the Macedonia Baptist Church, where he was a lifelong member.

A NATIVE of Baltimore, Mr. Holmes was the son of the late Daniel and Lottie Holmes.

He was educated in the Baltimore public schools, finished Douglass High, and was salutatorian of his class at the old Baltimore Junior College.

Survivors are a sister, Mrs. Ruth Booker, department store employee with whom he made his home; and two brothers, Lawrence and Daniel Holmes.

Burial will be in Arbutus Memorial Park.

ADA backs open policy in Project 1

The executive board of the Baltimore Chapter of Americans for Democratic Action has approved a resolution calling for a policy of non-discrimination in the Mount Royal-Fremont Project 1 of the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency.

ADA said it approved the overall project but the program should be "amended to include an unqualified guarantee of "open occupancy" which would positively prohibit discrimination in private contracts let to developers.

The organization said it is of the opinion that urban renewal is a vital necessity to the city.

However, the board said it firmly believes that this program will meet the basic needs of the city only if it is founded on the democratic ideals of non-discrimination.

"The Board does not believe that the program would be endangered by such devotion to those democratic ideals," ADA stated.

Earlier, the NAACP had also called for an ironclad guarantee against discrimination.

Workmen Compensation posts sought by lawyers

Monumental City Bar Association has recommended to Gov. Tawes that he give consideration to four of their members in filling the two new commissioner posts on the Workmen's Compensation Commission.

In a letter to the Chief Executive, Archie D. Williams, president, pointed out that the four persons were eminently qualified to serve as commissioner.

Workmen's Compensation Commission, as of July 1, will be increased by two members in line with legislation passed at the last Legislature.

The four persons recommended by the Bar Association are: Milton B. Allen, Linwood G. Koger Jr., William H. Murphy and Theodore Hayes. Mr. Hayes is now an assistant attorney general working with the State Accident Fund.

At present there are no colored members on the Commission. It is estimated that nearly half of the claimants before the Commission are colored.

Ask to locate aged home at 2307 Roslyn

A request to allow the location of a home for the aged at 2307 Roslyn Ave. will be aired before the Board of Municipal and Zoning Appeals this coming Tuesday.

Other cases scheduled to be heard, beginning at 1 p.m. in Room 231, City Hall, are:

Appeals to allow six families to be housed at 1913-15 W. North Ave.; the location of a barbershop at 506 N. Stricker St., and a case to prohibit the alteration of a building at 1925 N. Dukeland St.

The past Tuesday, the Board approved the location of a gasoline station at 2840 Annapolis Ave.

An appeal to allow a real estate office in the basement at 938 N. Fulton Ave. was postponed until May 16.

6 Towson students shaken up in freak traffic accident

Six Towson State Teachers' College students were shaken up in a freak auto accident Wednesday, at Charles St. and Homeland Ave.

They were riding in a car operated by Miss Sharon Murphy, 19, 3225 Vickers Rd. Her car was hit in the rear while she was stopped in a line of traffic for a truck making a left hand turn into Notre Dame College.

The impact of the collision set off a chain reaction involving two cars in front of her.

Mrs. John Heim Jr., 7741 Greenview Ter., driver of one of the cars, suffered face and head injuries.

The students in the Murphy car, which was severely damaged, were Melva Powell, Carolyn Ford, Ella Fairfax, Gloria Pasteur and Catherine Brown.

Is judgeship near for Mayor Grady?

Speculation sharpened this week over the possibilities of a Federal district court judgeship appointment for Mayor J. Harold Grady.

The House of Representatives in Washington passed a bill Wednesday to create 70 new federal judgeships — two of which are slated for Maryland.

The appointments would be those of President John F. Kennedy. Mayor Grady was an early supporter of Kennedy in his campaign for election, and was one of those who influenced his entry in the State's primary.

Prince Edward Co. 'circumvention' hit

By LOUIS LAUTIER

WASHINGTON, D.C. (NNPA) — In an unprecedented move, the Justice Department Wednesday sought to intervene in a suit to compel Prince Edward County, Va., to open its public schools.

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy and Joseph S. Bambacus, the United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia, filed a motion in the Federal District Court asking leave for the United States to intervene as a plaintiff in a suit brought by colored school students against the Prince Edward County School Board and other officials of the County.

Colored children in Prince Edward County have had no formal education since the schools were closed in June, 1959.

White children have been attending a private school run by the Prince Edward County School Foundation.

* * *

PUBLIC SCHOOLS in Prince Edward County were not opened in the fall of 1959 and have not been open since that time. There are no public or private schools for the approximately 1,700 colored children in the county.

The motion, filed with Federal Judge Oren R. Lewis in Richmond, declares that United States intervention is necessary to prevent "the circumvention and nullification" of Federal court orders and to "safeguard the due administration of justice and the integrity of the judicial process in the courts of the United States.

In a memorandum of points and authorities filed in support of the motion, the Justice Department asserts that Federal District Courts have jurisdiction to enjoin interference with and obstruction of their orders requiring the desegregation of public schools.

It cites a number of Federal court decisions to support the proposition that injunctive relief in Federal courts against violation of its interest in the due administration of justice as well as the interest of the original plaintiffs.

* * *

THE CLOSING of public schools to avoid compliance with a desegregation decree which schools elsewhere in Virginia remain open, the Justice Department said, is an "unlawful obstruction" of the decree.

The Department called the diversion of state funds from the closed schools to private, segregated schools "an unlawful circumvention" of such decrees.

"We have tried to work this out to permit colored children to go to school," Attorney General Kennedy said. "They are unable to. Court orders are being circumvented and nullified. Therefore, we have brought

2 killed in auto accident

Two persons were killed and two others seriously injured in a head-on automobile smash-up on the Baltimore - Washington Expressway last night. (Thursday).

The dead are William Davey Womack, 35, 2900 block Arunah Ave., and Franklin Elison McMillan, 40, of Norfolk, Va.

Admitted to Prince Georges County Hospital with multiple injuries were Willie James Foster, 26, 1600 block Patterson Park Ave., and Elijah Williams, 28, 100 block N. Fulton Ave.

Both of the injured men were passengers in the car driven by Mr. Womack, police said.

THE ACCIDENT occurred midway between Baltimore and Washington at approximately 8:30 p.m., Thursday.

National Park Police reported that Mr. Womack's car was traveling in the south bound lane.

It was said that Mr. Ellison's car had apparently been traveling in the north bound lane, when it crossed the grass median strip, and slammed head-on into the other vehicle.

The strip at this point is approximately 40 feet wide, police reported.

* * *

BOTH OF the victims were pronounced dead at the hospital. The 55 DeSoto driven by Mr. Womack, and the 60 Chevrolet driven by Mr. McMillan, were demolished.

The force of the impact was so great, police reported, that the steering wheels were driven through the roofs of the cars.

The only person whose condition permitted questioning by police was Mr. Foster.

He reportedly told them that all he knew was that one moment he was riding in the car, and the next moment he was being pulled

THEY WERE HAPPIER THEN — Lee Martin, left, and coach Eddie Hurt of Morgan State College were a happy pair when this picture was taken in February. The Bears had just won national indoor mile relay title. Martin on Wednesday was dropped from the Morgan track team. The crack half-mile star and relay anchorman admitted to Hurt that he attended a New York junior college prior to his enrollment at Morgan, therefore was ineligible to compete the past three years.

U. S. agency gets formal complaint

Two Baltimore congressmen Thursday sharply criticized Local 42 of the National Association of Postal Supervisors for its refusal to admit colored postal supervisors.

Congressman Samuel N. Friedel (D., 7th Cong. Dist.) termed the rejection "discrimination of the worst kind" and George H. Fallon (D., 4th Cong. Dist.) said flatly, "I think they are wrong."

From Washington, Cong. Friedel told the AFRO:

"I resent this action. I have let them (Local 42) know how I feel. I let them know that I'm against discrimination of all kinds. I'm waiting to hear from them.

"This is discrimination of the worst kind."

* * *

CONGRESSMAN Fallon, reached at his Baltimore home, said:

"I think they are wrong. I haven't talked to the group that refused to admit them (the colored supervisors) but I will tomorrow (Friday).

"I think it is wrong. I don't see why they can't organize together and work together for the benefit of all."

Earlier Thursday these two Baltimore congressmen, along with Edward A. Garmatz (D., 3rd Cong. Dist.); President John F. Kennedy; Postmaster General J. Edward Day, Congressman Adam Clayton Powell of New York and the Civil Service were sent telegrams concerning the matter.

John W. White, president of the local chapter of the National Alliance of Postal Employees, sent them telegrams asking that they "determine if such an organization which is made up of federal employees may be allowed to continue its existence while practicing racial discrimination."

The AFRO was unable reach Congressman Garmatz.

The Civil Service Commission sent a telegram to the Alliance saying that it had requested the matter to the President's Commission on Equal Employment Opportunities.

THIS NEW round in the long fight by colored postal employees, to crack the racial barrier in postal ranks was prompted by the rejection on Tuesday night of 11 colored supervisors who had applied for membership.

Colored personnel in the Baltimore Postal Office, of which William F. Lankford is postmaster, represent approximately 15,000 of the 4,200 employees and about 20 of the 220 supervisors.

They have long maintained that white supervisors who refuse to admit colored su-

Morgan's hopes dim with Martin ouster

By SAM LACY

Morgan State College suffered the most stunning blow its track history has known this week when Lee Martin, the ace half - miler, admitted he is not eligible to compete in the Penn Relays.

Martin was dropped by coach Eddie Hurt on the eve the squad's departure for Philadelphia.

It was learned that Hurt took the action in his dual capacity as athletic director and coaching of track and field.

He said the move was dictated by confirmation of a report that Martin had attended a junior college prior to his 1957 enrollment at Morgan.

Although Hurt refrained from saying as much, it was ascertained by the AFRO that he did not pull Martin off the team until the athlete himself had confessed to his previous college matriculation.

THE REMOVAL of the 6-foot-4 senior deals a severe blow to Morgan's hopes of capturing two coveted titles in the relay series of the American championships being held in Franklin Field today (Friday) and Saturday.

Martin had been the anchorman on both the sprint medley and mile relay teams which have given the Golden Bears their brightest spring in many years. He held down the half - mile leg on the medley foursome and ran the fourth position on the fleet mile quartet.

* * *

AS A HALF - MILER, Lee ranks with the best collegians in the country. His 1:53.4 clocking is more than five seconds faster than Bob Ridley, his nearest rival in the CIAA — and the man who would have to replace him should Hurt elect to go on the sprint medley at Penn.

Additionally, Martin has developed into a top contender

JFK urges Md. to treat diplomats with respect

President John F. Kennedy has asked Gov. J. Millard Tawes' cooperation to assure friendly and dignified respect for diplomatic representatives of foreign countries who may come to Maryland.

Gov. Tawes, in reply, has promised the President his full cooperation in this respect.

In a recent letter to Gov. Tawes, President Kennedy said in part:

"The presence of a large contingent of diplomatic representatives in this country, especially in the Washington and New York areas, makes the success of our day to day relations with them the responsibility not just of the President and the Federal government, but State authorities and individuals as well.

"The rapid increase in missions from new African nations calls for special support at this time.

"African nations have either recently established embassies in the nation's capital, or are in the process of doing so now.

"SEVEN NEW rebuilds will be establishing missions in Washington during the coming months.

"With each of these come a large number of staff members who have daily contact with a wide range of acquaintances with our people, recreational facilities, places of business and other places, extend throughout our community.

"Unfortunately, there have been incidents which have brought complaints to the Department of State and received adverse attention in the world press.

"Although most of these incidents have not been the subject of formal protests, they understandably still rankle and are a disservice

Nabrit says 'race firsts' need 'seconds and thirds'

By EDWARD PEEKS

If all racial barriers fell immediately in the United States, "it would be 50 years at least before the crippling effects of the segregated system could be entirely alleviated, declared Dr. James Nabrit Jr.

He made the observation Wednesday in a speech during his inauguration as the 14th president of Howard University.

Other speakers were Abra ham Bibicoff, secretary of health, education and welfare, and Dean Erwin N. Griswold of the Harvard Law School.

DR. NABRIT said "The institution of segregation has been severely weakened but it has not been destroyed; the practice of discrimination has been restricted but it has not been eliminated.

"...if racial discrimination ceased completely and immediately, it would be 50 years at least before the crippling effects of the segregated system could be entirely alleviated as far as colored people are concerned.
