ANNAPOLIS DOINGS

BY ELOISE RICHARDSON

The Frontiers Club of Annapolis, as an annual gesture, held a special dinner honoring two members of the graduating class of Bates High School on Tuesday.

The young men, Ambrose Jerald and Thomas Gerald Green were given the awards for their outstanding "leadership potentialities."

Speaker was the Rev. Clarence Davis, minister of the Eastport Methodist Church.

William H. Richardson, past president, made the presentation of the program and the certificate awards.

Others who attended the dinner were Herbert S. Hilliard, principal of Bates High School, and Mrs. William H. Richardson, as special guests, Mrs. Ida S. Mills, Carroll Hynson, Francis E. Noel, James D. Taylor, J. Everett Waule, Everett Pettigrew, Henry Holland, George Phelps Jr., Joseph A. Wiseman and Thomas Baden.

THE WILLIAM H. RICHARDSON had as house guests recently, the J. Wallace Halls Albertha of Indianapolis, Ind.

The Halls were enroute to New York City from where they embarked for Europe on the S. S. Bremmen. The couple will have a two-month's stay abroad, and while there will visit England, Austria, France, Germany and Italy.

Their entire trip will be built around the European musical festivals such as the Mozart festivals in Salzberg, Austria, operas at the LaScala Opera House in Milan, Italy, the opera at Vienna, there at Rome and the Wagnerian festivals at Bayreuth, Germany. Also in Berlin they will attend the Berlin Symphony concerts.

In England, they will attend the London Philharmonic Symphony concerts at Albert Hall and covert Gardens.

The Halls, who are always delightful guests, although their stay was a short one, were extended social courtesies, other than their hosts, by the Nimrod Dodsions and Mrs. Elizabeth Oliver of Baltimore, and the J. Everett Wauls of Highland Beach.

Plans for their travels are made their first trip to Europe and the Christmas before, went on a cruise in the Caribbean.

While at Colgate, George was editor-in-chief of the school literary magazine, Caliper, and participated in athletics, track and basketball.

Since his graduation he has been offered a fellowship for Brandeis University in Massachusetts and the University of Pittsburgh, and an assistantship in teaching at University of Illinois. He has not decided which to accept.

A MIGHLIGHT of the social season for this time of the year out in the county was the swanky bridge party Anita thomas hosted when she entertained the Blue Top and other guests at her lovely country home at Pasadena on Saturday.

Of much attraction was the well-arranged flower beds which were so greatly admired by everyone, and the delightful occasion brought together another round for the Bon Tons who have been together for more than 30 years.

Perhaps the prizes are usally the focal point of most card parties, but whenever guests look forward to visiting "the A. Jack Thomases," Anita and Saturday was no different.

The two "conversation pieces" were her stuffed breast of chicken and strawberry cheese pie. . . (don't ask how she did it.)

Prizes went to:

SOVIETS ACCUSED OF CIRCULATING FAKE DOCUMENTS

By LOUIS LAUTIER

WASHINGTON (NNPA)—The Soviet Union is forging documents concerning treatment of colored people in the United States and designed to influence Asians and Africans against the American Government, according to the testimony of a Central Intelligence Agency official released Friday.

In testimony before a closed session of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, Richard Helms, assistant director of CIA, said the Soviet block hopes to fan English and French distrust of American intentions towards former colonial areas by assertions of American ambitions to dominate the Middle East and Africa.

• • •

THE FIRST BLOC forgery of an American Government document, circulated in Africa, appeared last August in the guise of a letter from the State Department to Clare H. Timberlake, United States Ambassador to the Congo Leopoldville.

It represented Premier Moise Tshombe as a paid and probably reliable agent of the United States Government.

Mr. Helms testified that a forged Governor Rockefeller letter was conceted to buttress the No. 1 theme that imperialistic Uncle Sam means to rule the world. He said this line was intended to arouse anger and fear in smaller countries as well as distrust in present or former colonial powers.

• • •

THE CHARGE was repeated some months later in a "secret Nixon report," supported without support of forgery a few months after the Rockefeller letter.

• • •

A CURRENT PHANTOM is a leaflet headed "To Our Dear Friends." Mr. Helms said: "This poisonous little racist tract is a headache for our diplomatic missions in Africa.

Authorship is attributed to a group of colored Americans, dubbed "African Friends Association." The pamphlet is full of horror pictures and atrocity stories about the treatment of colored people in the United States.

"Truth, distortion and unalloyed falsehood are intermingled in both the photographs and the narratives," Mr. Helms said.

The leaflet first appeared in Africa last November, and it is still being circulated there. Thus far, it has turned up in 16 African countries.

A French edition is making the rounds in the French speaking areas. "But the bilingual 'African Friends Association' is another ghost," Mr. Helms testified. "It does not exist."

Technical analysis of the pamphlet has shown that it was printed in Eastern Europe, probably in East Germany, he added.

UNDER COMMUNIST treatment, the Northwest study became "Nothing less than the outline of a U.S. plan to take over Africa," Mr. Helms said.

Some months later there appeared a forged British Cabinet paper which quoted extensively from the bloc propaganda about the study.

The function of the later hoax, Mr. Helms said, was "to provide spurious proof that the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions was really a tool used controlled by the British and American Governments to gain control of the newborn African states.

"This forgery was also designed to show that a widely publicized quarrel within the international confederation was merely the surface reflection of a British-American struggle for lordship over Africa.

"Its third goal was to discredit various American, European, Asian and African labor leaders as agents western intelligence services."

"nervous and upset."

According to police, Mrs. Ethel Watford said she noticed nothing wrong with her seven children until Otis became ill around 5 a.m.

"If I had known that the rat poison was out there it wouldn't have happened," a sobbing Mrs. Watford told the AFRO Thursday as she greeted relatives and friends at the Elliott Funeral Home.

Mrs. Watford said she and her husband had no insurance on the children and had been all the way to New Jersey in a vain effort to borrow money to supplement the salary advances Mr. Watford had been able to get on his job.

• • •

POLICE STATED that in the course of their investigation, they were told by 73-year-old Mrs. Minnie Wiegand, a neighbor, that she had spread rat poison on bread, and placed it in her kitchen on Monday.

Later while cleaning the kitchen, Mrs. Weigand is reported to have disposed of the poisoned bread in a trash container in her back yard.

Police said Mrs. Watford told them she was aware that Mrs. Weigand had used poison, but did not know if her children had found the bread and eaten it.

A tube of rat poison was also found in the Watford home.

Sergeant Arthur Cook reported that he learned that after Otis Jr. was aken to the hospital, Mrs. Watford talked with Diane Marie and discovered that the girl and her two brothers had been playing in Mrs. Wiegand's yard.

The two row houses are separated by a four - foot high wire fence.

The girl is alleged to have told her mother that she removed bread from a garbage an and divided it with her brothers.

• • •

AFTER THE children became ill the area was inspected by officers R. Edwin Carter and Carroll Dent.

Then "nuisance notices" were then issued.

A city cleaning crew was also sent into the area to clean up alleys and streets in the immediate area.

Sergeant Herbert Brazier also requested that a sanitation officer be sent to one of the homes.

In his report, Sgt. Brazier described the home as "filthy dirty, rats infested and inadequate conditions."

Funeral services for Otis Jr. were held at 10 a.m. Friday (Friday) at a Caroline St. funeral home.

THE DEATH of young Watford was proceeded by that of Jerome F. Banks, 15 of 1609 N. Aisquith St.

The Banks youth drowned Monday while swimming with two companions in Jones Falls under the 29th St. bridge.

The boy was pronounced dead on arrival at Maryland General Hospital at 2 p.m.

Police and firemen dragged the water for a half hour before the body was recovered.

NAACP asks Powell

NEW YORK—The NAACP last week asked Congressman Adam Clayton Powell for a written statement "of your reason for whatever position you are taking" on the Federal school aid bill now before the Congress.

At the same time the association urged the other three colored members of Congress to vote for the "Amendment to withhold funds from states which have have refused to desegregate their public schools."

It also urged the three, Congressman Dawson, Nix and Diggs, to "Vote against the school aid bill" should the anti - bias amendment fail.

IN QUERYING Congressman Powell, who is chairman of the House Committee on Labor and Education, concerning his intended action on the bill, NAACP Secretary Roy Wilkins said the NAACP board feels strongly that:

"Conditions have not changed materially from the time you sponsored and fought for Powell Amendment and that the present administration has produced nothing on this issue which would warrant withdrawing of withholding proposal.

"If amendment is not pressed it will be a victory for political expediency, but a bitter defeat for 2,500,000 colored children still under the yoke of second-class segrated education, which will be further entrenched by Federal funds."
