On the TOWN

As you look carefully through this issue of your AFRO, you'll note that there is not a single picture in it of Ray Charles and Jackie Wilson who played a concert here last Sunday night....

Don't bother to ask any of the editors why not—they'll only shrug their shoulders. So I'll let you in on the big secret.

• • •

THE CRAWLERS were on the scene for the concert, armed with trusty camera, sharp pencils and a half-ream of paper.

Arriving for the second show, got there just as the Ray Charles band was taking the stand.

Checking with some of the promoters of the concert, discovered that Jackie Wilson had not appeared for the first show, but was on hand for the second.

Went immediately to Jackie's dressing room, intent on getting an exclusive story of wha happen!

Found him stretched out on a table sans clothing getting a rubdown by his masseur.

Couldn't help noticing the wicked looking scars left when surgeons operated to remove the bullets from his body after the recent shooting.

Surreptitiously took a picture without using the flash. Talked to Jackie for a bit, discovered that he didn't leave Philadelphia until 8:15 that evening. He wouldn't explain at all why he didn't make the first show.

• • •

ON STAGE, Ray Charles was turning the crowd on with "Georgia On My Mind." Mounted the stairs to the stage and took three full face pictures of Ray going through his paces.

Spotted the Raelets getting ready to make their entrance — trotted over and persuaded them to pose prettily for the AFRO readers.

They did obligingly, gave me their names, where they are from — three of them are New Yorkers — and have been with the Charles organization for four years.

• • •

BACKSTAGE again to Jackie Wilson's dressing room, where his valet was helping him into his clothes —he spurns wearing underwear of any type. Took some more pictures. Jackie smilingly posing for me in his $165 silk suit.

The show meanwhile was was really generating enthusiasm. A couple of fans got carried away and started doing the shimmy in the bleachers. Rushed over and took pictures again.

I tell you, this was going to be one swell illustrated story of a concert.

A fan came over to me and implored me to get Jackie's autograph for her two teenage daughters.

Had to decline since Wilson had already told me he would have another rub down after the performance and wouldn't feel like talking to anyone.

This particular fan, however, was undaunted. She stationed herself right in front of the dressing room and as Jackie came offstage under police escort said hello to him.

He didn't say a word —just leaned over and kissed her flush on the lips. She walked around on cloud nine the rest of the evening. Took a picture of the kiss.

• • •

CONCERT OVER, put a new roll of film in the camera, carefully putting the exposed roll in my coatpocket. Checked over my notes and mentally started planning the picture story of the concert.

Drove home, put the camera away, reached in my pocket for the precious exposed film — and encountered nothingness. A quick search revealed a hole in the pocket — the film was irretrievably lost.

And that's why there's no picture of the concert in this issue.

DESPITE WHAT you might have heard, take it from the Pub Crawlers that all is peace and harmony with the Pyramids, Inc.

There was a reorganization meeting this past Monday night where everything was patched up.

The new slate of officers shows Charles T. Brown, pres.; Kanzler Randall, vice pres.; Robert Lee, sec.; James McLean, treas., and Elmer McLean, bus. mgr.

• • •

THE BIG B is really swinging on the night beat scene these days. Getting so you have to plan in advance the type of entertainment you're looking for.

If it's music—then you've got to make it over to the Club Casino where the Max Roach group is really whaling. This cat is really a master of the skins, and let's face it — the whole set SWINGS!

• • •

MORE MUSIC on tap at the North End Lounge where Gary Bartz et al are putting down the coolest of sounds. More sounds available at the Red Fox where Miss Jazz, Ruby Glover, is really a soothing sensational.

Waverly Edmonds holds down the organ forte weekends at Maceo's Lounge. Get him to play the Crawler's theme song "Sweet Lorraine" — an absolute gasser.

Watty still claims that the Lucky Number has the tops in music, and well he might boast since Cornell Muldrow is flailing on the keyboard. Phil's has the Jazz Trio plus One, featuring Donald Best on xylophone.

The Phenomenals are at Cabana Club, Leroy and the Jazztones at Mel's Hideaway. Flink Johnson still setting the pace at Chick's, but like, the name of the club is what's happening there, and lovely ones to boot. Ray Adams and the Houserockers top the bill at the Spot.

LIKE, IF it's good drinks and real folks with good conversation, then you'll have to make it to Jones Cocktail Lounge, where Dusty behind the bar keeps things humming.

Walter Thomas, plus Alice Shirlee, Greta and Jerri, are on hand to make your visit to the Kleeco Club a pleasant one—and you know what—this is just about one of the friendliest spots in town. Nobody remains a stranger long there.

You just might want to get out of town for a bit, so keep the Oakland Park Country Club in mind. Funny thing, hardly anyone knows the club by that name, but just remember Randallstown that's where it is at.

Incidentally, that barbecue they had over the Fourth was an absolute smash. 'twas SRO the Crawlers learned. There'll be another the last weekend this month.

For the benefit of those who might get lost trying to find the place, that old barn —landmark for years, burned down a couple of weeks ago — so check the directions here in the AFRO.

• • •

DOTSON'S out Glen Burnie way has the Claude Grant Trio on tap weekends with Sammy Jay handling the emcee chores. Might mention that the Maryland fried chicken available there is "something else."

Thursdays are Continental Nights. Sammy and the gang are on tap to teach the Continental Walk — there's barbecue there too.

Carr's Beach has the big band of Lionel Hampton set to blast this Sunday, Saturday night, Jimmy Jones will be rocking pretty for the people.

Like we say — you've got to plan your evening — so check with the Pub Crawlers and MAKE IT.

HELD OVER AT THE ROYAL — Sidney Poitier is currently in his fourth week as star of the film, "A Raisin In the Sun," at the Royal Theatre. Movie version of Lorraine Hansberry's prize-winning Broadway play also features Claudia McNeil, Ruby Dee and Diana Sands.

BLESSED EVENT FOR THEM — Sammy Davis Jr., and blonde wife May Britt became parents of 7-pound, 15-ounce daughter at Hollywood's Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, Wednesday. Davis, 34, left set of movie he's making with Frank Sinatra to be at bedside of 24-year-old Swedish actress he wed last November. Newcomer is named Tracy Hillary.

The Week In Records

By ALBERT ANDERSON FOR ANP

BIG BARGAINS IN LPs

Some of the biggest bargains in long playing records, including a great entry by blues queen Dinah Washington and pianist Erroll Garner's first album release in three years, are featured in the record column this week. Including music of several shades and variety, the fare follows:

"(MUSIC) FOR LONELY LOVERS" — Mercury Records featuring Dinah Washington with unidentified musical backing.

Tunes: "You've Got Me Crying Again," "The Sun Forgot to Shine This Morning," "I Don't Know Whether to Laugh or to Cry Over You," "Hurt," "Out of Sight, Out of Mind," "Don't Let the Sun Catch You Crying." Side 2: "Don't Go to Strangers," "Stardust," "You Taught Me," "It Shouldn't Happen to A Dream," "Harbor Lights," and "I Wish I Didn't Love You So."

• • •

THIS RECORD represents as fine a performance as Dinah has ever given on record...The striking beauty of the cover illustration, romantically depicting a harbor scene ("Harbor Lights"), is matched by the delight of Miss Washington's singing, accentuated by the finest of background music.

Just to hear Dinah sing "Harbor Lights" or "Stardust," with her great faculty for projecting both emotion and feeling, is worth the cost of the disk. The entire fare is rewarding, however, and the producer (s) is to be commended on the selection of songs.

Louis Armstrong set for film soundtrack

HOLLY — Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong is producer Frank Ross' choice to do the off-screen trumpeting in his new film, "Mister Moses."

The story is from a novel of present-day adventures in Africa. Ross, who grossed a fortune from his first cinemescope film, "The Robe," will film on a $6,500,000 budget.

ANNAPOLIS DOINGS

BY ELOISE RICHARDSON

L. Richardson for they are enjoying a visit from their first grandchild, little Cynthia Diane, seven months old, and her mother, their only daughter, Mrs. Maurice E. Clark (Elsie) who now lives out in San Diego, Calif.

It was about two years ago in June that Elsie became the bride of Maurice Clark, one of the biggest weddings to take place in the U.S. Naval Academy Chapel.

It also was two years ago in June when Elsie graduated from Syracuse University and Maurice finished the U.S. Naval Academy.

The last few days have been a reunion period in the Richardson household for all of Elsie's wedding attendants have joined her there since her arrival here a few weeks ago.

Those who are guests are Miss Gale Dennis, Newark, N.J.; Miss Joyce Gaines, Paulsboro, N.J.; Miss Betty Ravenell, Boston; and Miss Sylvia King, Pittsburgh. Also Robert Dennis, a student at Howard University, has been a guest.

Mrs. Cynthia will remain with her parents through the wedding anniversary celebration of her husband to join them before they return home.

KINGSTON, JAMAICA B.W.I. claimed one of Maryland's fine young women on June 24, when Miss Catherine Tyler, the lovely daughter of Mrs. Martha Tyler on West St. became the bride of Vincent Thompson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson of the Islands.

The double - ring ceremony was performed during an early morning nuptial mass at the St. Elizabeth Catholic Church on the island.

The bride was attired in white silk organza fashioned with a full dress of ballerina length, her gown had a [illegible] neckline, short cap sleeves with a tight-fitting bodice appliqued in a lacy design and tiny pearls.

She wore tiny pearl jewelry and short white gloves. Her illusion veil was shoulder length attached to a head piece of white silk organza with scattered pearls in a leaf design. Her slippers were white satin.

She carried a unique bouquet; a cascade, made up of sweet peas with an orchid buried in the center and white satin ribbons and net.

The bride had as her attendants, the bridegroom's sister, Miss Violet Thompson, maid of honor, and the bridegroom's sister - in - law, Mrs. Simon Thompson, her only other attendant.

A reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, when some 200 guests were received. The traditional wedding cake, made of rum and fruit was served.

• • •

THE BRIDE, a graduate of Bates High School, did further study at the Lyons Medical Institute in Newark, N.J., where she finished her training as an X-ray technician in February.

It was while she was attending this school that she met her husband, through his sister, who was one of her classmates.

The bridegroom, who is from one of the best families on the island, is a civil engineer at Kingston, and is connected with the Omnibus Motor Construction Co.

At present, the bride is home visiting her family at 827 West St. Her husband is expected to join her in a week.

• • •

ANNAPOLIS WAS the scene for a quiet ceremony, joining together one of the local sons and a young lady of Stony Point, N.C. on June 17.

Miss Sarah Mary Parker, a dental hygienist of Crownsville State Hospital, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parker Sr. of Stony Point, became the bride of Lemuel O'Neil Pulley, the son of Mrs. Selma Pettaway and the late Stanley Pulley, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Davis, 1191 Reidville St.

The double - ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Isaac E. Berry, minister of the Asbury Methodist Church.

The bride, who was given away by Dr. Vernon Soarks, was lovely in a white silk organza gown of ballerina length. The light - fitting bodice had a jewel neckline and bracelet length sleeves. The wide circular skirt was appliqued sparingly with satin flowers which also adorned the bodice below the neckline.

Her illusion veil was shoulder length and was caught by a tiara of seed pearls, sequins and rhinestones. She wore short white gloves. Her jewelry which she forgot to wear, consisted of tiny pearls.

She wore white satin slippers and carried a cascade of white roses with satin ribbons and net.

The bride had as her only attendant, her sister, Miss Betty Parker of Hackensack, N.J. who was maid of honor.

The bridegroom had as his best man, Fentress Shepherd.

A reception followed the ceremony when Mrs. Frederick Davis, assisted by her husband, Mrs. Charles Davis and Mrs. Elmira Parker, served as hostesses.

The bride's book was kept by the sister of the bridegroom, Miss Carol Pulley, a student at Morgan State College. Gifts were received by Mrs. Donald Ellis, Mrs. Wilbur Johnson and Mrs. Reuben Banks.

The bride, who has been employed at the hospital for three years, is a graduate of Howard University.

The bridegroom, who attended Maryland State College at Princess Anne, is a musician with the Jumping Jacks, dance orchestra.

The couple are at home to friends in their beautiful new apartment at 25 Lafayette Ave.

• • •

AMONG THOSE seen at the reception were:

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. E. White of Severna Park, Md., and Mrs. Walter, Severna Park, Md. and Mrs. Merlon C. E. Brooks, Mrs. Lucy Mills, Brooklyn, N.Y., Mrs. Ruth Madison, Miss Hilda Parker and Alex V. Warren. All of Washington, D.C.

Also Mrs. Irene Cooley and John Turner of Baltimore; Mrs. Margery S. James, of Spartansburg, S.C.; Miss Mildred Cartwright and Henry Bristol of Norfolk, Va.; Miss Emily Poque and Edward E. Pogue of Baltimore.

Also Mrs. Lillian V. Johnson of Miami, Fla., Miss Marie A. Watkins of Baltimore, Samuel T. Cooper, Baltimore, Md. and Mrs. Earl Shorter, Crownsville, Md., Miss Sarah Wiley, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne N. Nutter, Gambrills, Md.;

Also Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Casper and Mr. and Mrs. Kelvin Johnson of Severna Park; Mrs. Mary Bland, Rehoboth Beach, Del.; Mrs. Elmira Parker, Wilmington, Del., Dr. Ray Jones of Washington, D.C., Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Sparks of Crownsville, Md., David Terrell, Crownsville;

Also Dr. Horace D. Ferguson of Crownsville; Mr. and Mrs. George Burgess, Mrs. Mayme Nutter, Mr. and Mrs. Willmer Johnson, all of Annapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Johnson, Mrs. Thomas Jackson and children, Carol and Glenn Edward and Mrs. Johnnie Allen and son Ira of Oakland, Calif., nieces of Mrs. Keller.

During their stay in this part of the country they spent a weekend in Jersey and toured Washington, D.C. They left for Oakland last Sunday night.

• • •

Mrs. Hattie Pierce, popular matron here, a past grand worthy counselor of the Grand Court of Calanthe for the Jurisdiction of Maryland Prince Hall Jurisdiction, among those honored recently by Shebe Tent No. 1 at Bethel AME Church, Baltimore.

Others honored were Mrs. Elizabeth McLaren, past secretary and past grand worthy counsellor, Mrs. Anna W. Taylor of Patapsco Park.

Mrs. McLaren also entertained friends at luncheon recently when Mrs. Pierce was among guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Burton (Louise) of Arundel-on-the-Bay left on Monday by rail for California, where they will visit Cecil's father and friends. On their way, they will spend a few days in Chicago. The burtons were cocktail dinner guests of the William H. Richardson on Saturday evening.

Fighter Archie joins jazz field

NEW YORK (ANP) — Archie Moore, the eloquent veteran of fistiana and current light - heavyweight champion, has added another title to his list.

At a news conference with a jazz background, the San Diego fist fighter revealed that he has entered the publishing field. He is the publisher of Jazz Day, a new music magazine.

As Moore spoke of the new enterprise, he got in a few licks on a pair of bongo drums and later cut in on a session on the bass fiddle. He was backed up musically by Horace Parlan and the Playhouse Four.

The conference was held at the Village Gate, a jazz center, and a good crowd was on hand, just as Archie wanted it to be. He spoke freely and spontaneously of the future, as he saw it, in this new jazz world beyond the prize ring.
