Ghana couple speaks at Delta luncheon

By STEVE W. DUNCAN

A couple from Ghana, which became a republic last July 1, celebrated their country's independence Day here Saturday by outlining the impressive progress made since the former British Colony first gained freedom in 1957.

They were Mr. and Mrs. Moses Awoonor - Williams, speakers at a luncheon of the eastern regional conference of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority at the Robert Treat Hotel.

Mr. Williams is Ghana community development officer in the ministry of Social Welfare and Commonwealth Development. His wife, Mrs. Juliana Williams, is organizing secretary of the Ghana Red Cross Society.

They are winding up a year's study of social science and politics at the New School for Social Research in New York on a List Fellowship.

* * *

MR. WILLIAMS told sorors and guests attending the International Luncheon that America was the inspiration for the former Gold Coast Colony to work toward independence.

He said that while the British Empire was more tolerant than other colonial powers, his countrymen were still exploited.

Since becoming a partner in the British Commonwealth and later assuming the status of a republic, Mr. Williams said the people of Ghana have made more progress than they did under colonial rule.

* * *

UNDER a program to teach Ghana's 7 million people at least to read and write in their native dialect, the former educator said the country has recently produced a quarter million new literates.

He also told of a program in rural areas aimed at teaching Ghanaians to raise their standard of living through self-help.

In the past, he said, his countrymen had to look to white men if they needed new schools, roads, clinics or other such facilities. Now, he added, they are building them themselves.

"They are no more relying on somebody to bring them what to do," Mr. Williams said.

Stressing the importance of interdependence, Mr. Williams stated, "Mankind cannot live with the whites separated and the blacks separated."

MR. WILLIAMS blamed the strife in the Congo on the white man's success in dividing the people.

In spite of the diversities of the different tribes and other groups, he pointed out, the Congolese people came together and elected Joseph Kasavubu and the late Patrice Lumumba.

It was Lumumba, he reminded listeners, who invited the United Nations forces to the Congo.

"Freedom From the Ghanaian Woman's Point of View" was discussed by Mrs. Williams.

The women of Ghana, she said, enjoy the same "privileges as our men." Mrs. Williams noted that they are active on all levels and that ten seats in Parliament are reserved for women.

DR. JEANNE L. NOBLE, national president of the 30,000 - member sorority, stated that colored Americans have strong ties with Africans and support their struggle for independence.

Dr. Noble, New York University assistant professor, also noted that nowhite Americans are also dedicated to the struggle for first class citizenship in this country.

"We believe that we as American Negroes have a fight for freedom on this frontier," she declared.

The guest speakers were introduced by Mrs. Vivian E. Washington, national treasurer of Delta Sigma Theta.

Mrs. M. Elizabeth Carnegie presided at the luncheon.

Music was provided by Miss Jane Goode, soloist, a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Goode of 48 Gould Ave. She was accompanied by Miss Arthur Lee McCloud.

The Rev. David Gockley of St. John's Methodist Church gave the invocation, and the benediction was by the Rev. John W. P. Collier Jr., pastor of Israel Memorial AME Church.

Deltas from Boston to Washington attended the two - day regional conference, which opened Saturday.

3 groups petition to end bus jim crow

COLUMBUS, Ga. — Leaders of three local organizations last week filed a petition with the Columbus City Commission and the Columbus Transit Co. seeking desegregation of city buses.

The petition called on the transit system to integrate its buses in accordance with the law, because it deals an interstate commerce by crossing the Chattahoochee River into neighboring Phenix City, Ala.
