Gadabouting In Baltimore
Swags go through day full of high fun with Lula Jones Garrett

The Swags (whose reputation for party - giving has been established for years) held forth at their annual July picnic on Sunday... this year at Chambers Farm.

The picnic drew guests from five cities, and some of the chiefest chicks that could up the eye - level of any affair. It also had all the making that a day in the open could provide.

The hosts included Theodore Brown, William I. Gosnell, Edgar M. Ewing, Dr. Louis E. Harmon, Talmadge Hill, Charles R. Law, Elmer Patterson, Dr. Theodore D. Phifer;

Also William A. Stanford, Dr. Ulysses G. Bourne of Frederick, Dr. James L. Johnson, Thomas Clayton and Dr. Vam Thompson of Frederick...

They were assisted, of course, by their wives, and four other hostesses, wives of deceased members. The latter included Gertrude Urquhart, Maude Woodland, Elizabeth Stewart and Olga Chambers.

The picnic (catered) began at noon, when the hosts opened their bar for any drink that the guests' imagination could conjure up . . . along with the grill which offered the usual hamburgers, hot dogs, crab cakes, shrimp, etc.

There were facilities for cards (some parked at table and didn't shift until dinner was served at five), for dancing (with the Rivers Chambers Combo providing the music) for lazing, for chatting...

After dinner (from its fruit bank to its roast beef, corn-on-the cob, to mention a few items) there wasn't the strength left for little but moving towards cars and starting homeward... but the hosts did sandwich in some group singing...some picture making ere the long drives.

Among the guests were:

Messrs. and Mesdames Claude Urquhart Jr., John McGuire, Alonzo Lancaster, Jesse Fears, James Murphy, Dallas Nicholas, Milton Dugger, Patrick Walker;

Messrs. and Mesdames Philip Dixon, John Rich, Harold Kent, James H. Murphy, James H. Butler, William L. Adams, James E. Nix, Walter Edmonds, Leonard Roey, Clarence Montgomery;

Drs. and Mesdames Thomas Fraser, Julius Taylor, I. Bradshaw Higgins, Clarence Monroe, Maurice Adams, Albert Burwell, Nathan Pitts, Lonnie Green;

Mesdames Elizabeth Crudup, Lula Patterson, Gwendolyn S. Lewis; all of Baltimore.

Out-of-town guests include Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hicks of Frederick, Md. and her sister, Mrs. Rhetta Hurdd of Los Angeles, Calif.; Dr. and Mrs. Purvis Williams of Washington;

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Tinnen of Washington, Dr. and Mrs. Mitchell Capps of Philadelphia, who have been house guests of the Bill Stanfords; Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Jones of Washington, and Mrs. Yvonne Hansborough of the same city;

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Harison, Mr. and Mrs. John Lee, Mr. and Mrs. George Dredden, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shadrack, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond James of Frederick;

Dr. and Mrs. Allen West, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Murray, and Dr. and Mrs. Allen West of Philadelphia; Dr. and Mrs. Orville Walls of Kennet Square, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Palmer of Coatesville, Pa.

CHARLES AND MARIE HICKS' party, in the picture-pretty setting of their Ballenger Creek Road place in Frederick, Saturday, was a perfect blend of the casual and the elegant...and also great fun.

So much fun, in fact, that edging up towards midnight, guests, who had moved from the lawn and patio into the swank recreation room, were showing little interest in going home.

The party honored Mrs. Hicks' sister, Mrs. Rhetta Hurdd of Los Angeles, Calif., who was visiting her sister and family.
