Macedonia Bapt. Church cites five long-service men, women

Macedonia Baptist Church honored five long-time members, one in memoriam, at a testimonial in the church, Tuesday evening.

Cited were John E. Satterfield, who, this year, is retiring as director of the Senior Choir after two decades in that post; Mrs. Lucy Imes, chairman of the Female Ushers; Miss Delina Wiley and Deacon George G. Holmes.

• • •

ALSO HONORED was the late William W. Russell, retired postal employee, whose life had been spent in the church. Mr. Russell began serving as a small boy when he pumped the old pipe organ.

He later served in posts of secretary of finance, treasurer and superintendent of the church school. He died on June 16 at the age of 67. His citatation was received by his widow.

• • •

A PROGRAM in the church auditorium was presided over by Mrs. Cornelia Ringgold, and participated in by the church choirs, Deacon Charles Morris, Mrs. Rosie Holley and Miss Dorothy Tunstall.

Following this the honorees, participants and guests went to the lower church auditorium for refreshments and a program presided over by Mrs. Orangie Epps.

Participants were Mrs. Naomi Evans, who paid the tribute to the honorees, Dr. Louis Johnson, Herman Handy, Mrs. Beatrice Lancaster, Mrs. Edna Dunton, Mrs. Ruth Brown and Mrs. L. Olivia Bates, who told of the church careers of the honorees; Mrs. Ida Belle Evans, Miss Joyce Jones, soloists; and Mrs. Margaret McRae and Mrs. Rosa Mebane, duet.

• • •

DR. W. L. CLAYTON, pastor of the church, who also spoke, made presentations of checks from the church; and the gifts that came from friends were presented by Mrs. Mercedia Arrington.

Mrs. Viola Gundy and Jesse Williams were co-chairmen of the project. Mrs. Emma Tratt served as secretary.

Other members were:

Finance: Herman Handy, John G. McNair, Daniel Ringgold, Mrs. Emma Dorsey, Mrs. Carlene Gundy;

Courtesy: Mesdames Charlotte Williams, Ella Howe, Florence Simpson, Vivian Stanfield, Helen Saunders; Misses Mary Payne, Ernestine Allen, Carolyn Camphor, Audrey McNair, Katherine Knox;

Dinning room: Mesdames Evelyn Clayton, Lillian Cole, Katherine Hanks, Willie Mae Perry;

Program: Mesdames Orangie W. Epps, Cornelia Ringgold; Herman Pettigrew, George H. Tunstall, William Hope;

Decorations: Mesdames Pearl Pindle, Jeanette Washington, Rosa Shelton, Ann Swindler and Miss Ernestine Allen;

Dining room: James Hanks, Allen Lashby, Daniel Ringgold, Eugene Bavour, Joseph Davis and Miss Sabra Johnson;

Registration: Mesdames Laurene Handy, Mary Bond and Georgette Frazier; and Miss Marian Washington;

Publicity: Mesdames Velvo G. Ingram and Dorothy Joyner.

Mrs. Viola Howard

Funeral services were held Thursday at Waters AME Church for Mrs. Viola Howard, 68, 1249 Orleans St.

Mrs. Howard died last Saturday at the Church Home Hospital. She was the niece of the late Josiah Diggs, owner of the Dunbar Theatre.

The Nutter Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

A native of Baltimore, she was the daughter of the late Mrs. Marcellina Jones of the city.

After graduation from the Baltimore Public School, she began work as a beautician. She worked until several years ago when she retired.

Mrs. Howard was a life time member of the Waters Church, a member of Faithful Workers, and the New Membership Club of that church.

Survivors include two cousins, Mrs. Bessie McAvoy, Royal Oak, Md., and Mrs. Adela Carr, Baltimore.

Minister says JFK has anti-progress advisors

A Washington minister charged that President Kennedy has "surrounded himself with advisors who constitute a committee for the prevention of progress."

The charge was made by the Rev. Andrew Fowler, president of the Baptist Convention of D.C., and vicinity, in a series of sermons that he began last Sunday before his congregation at Capitol View Baptist Church.

The series has juvenile delinquency as its main theme, calling upon churches and their members to take action that "will bring us closer to each other" as Christians and neighbors.

• • •

REFERENCE was made to Presidential advisors in an attack upon studies devoted to crime and delinquency.

"It makes no difference how many studies we make or committees we appoint, there must be moral regeneration in our society if old fashioned decency and honor are to reign again," the Rev. Mr. Fowler said.

"Infidelity in the home, selfishness in work, shallowness in education, indifference to the church would all disappear if we gave less attention to secularism."

He said, "There are times when a committee may do more harm than good. For instance, the President of the United States has surrounded himself with advisors who constitute a committee for the prevention of progress."

John W. Tyler

Funeral services were held Thursday at Gillis Memorial Community Church for John W. Tyler, of 1619 Warwick Ave.

Mr. Tyler died Monday at Provident Hospital. He was 68.

A native of Gloster County, Va., he was son of the late Ellen and Moses Tyler of that county.

He came to Baltimore 50 years ago, working first as a longshoreman. Later he was employed by a local sugar refinery, working there until retirement three years ago.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler; two sons, William and Melvin Tyler; a step-son, Melvin A. Mason; a brother, the Rev. Albert A. Tyler, Patterson, N.J.; a sister, Mrs. Eleanor Edward, Philadelphia, and seven grandchildren.

500 attend rites for Mrs. Jane Foreman

"She was a servant of God, a Christian woman, mother and friend. She will be greatly missed in the community and the church."

The Rev. Alphonsos Thompson, pastor of Mt. Olive Methodist Church, Catonsville, spoke the above words Wednesday at funeral services for Mrs. Jane Foreman.

Mrs. Foreman, longtime resident of the Catonsville area and civic, community and church worker died at her home on Saturday.

More than 500 persons crowded the church and stood outside during the 1 p.m. services. Among them were representatives of community organizations and prominent citizens. A Red Cross station wagon transported residents of the Anna Mae Hunter Home for the Blind from Baltimore for the occasion.

Mrs. Foreman was a benefactor of the home and an ardent worker in many other groups.

Mrs. Foreman was the wife of Milton Foreman. They were married 49 years.

They opened their home at 6114 Rich Ave., for 25 years to children assigned there and Mrs. Foreman served as foster mother to more than 25 children during that time.

A native of Carroll County, she came to Catonsville to live 30 years ago. She is buried in the Western Star Cemetery.

Surviving are her husband, an adopted daughter, Mrs. Mary Dorsey, Cooksville, Md.; nephews, nieces, great nephews and nieces and great, great nephews and nieces.

AFRO VISITORS, left to right, the Rev. and Mrs. Clinton Coleman, Milton Buford and the Rev. and Mrs. K. L. Buford, Tuskegee, Ala. The Rev. Mr. Coleman is pastor of Pennsylvania Avenue AMEZ Church, guest speaker there Sunday. He is Baltimore. The Rev. Mr. Buford was pastor of Tuskegee's Butler Chapel AME Zion Church, known as the birthplace of Tuskegee Institute. Rev. Mr. Buford is vice-president of the civic organization which has spearheaded action for full citizenship in the Alabama city.

Rev. G. Dewey Robinson off to Europe, So. Africa

WASHINGTON

Rev. Dr. G. Dewey Robinson, pastor of Metropolitan AME Church, Washington, D.C., left Sunday July 30 to attend the World Council of Methodism which meets in Oslo, Norway, Aug. 16-25.

Dr. Robinson will visit historic places in France, Germany, Sweden and Italy.

At the close of the meeting, he will visit South Africa and attend the Young Peoples' Meetings and Annual Conference in the Johannesburgh area, where Bishop Herman E. Gow is the presiding bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal Church.

An invitation to attend these meetings and conferences was extended to Dr. Robinson by Bishop Gow.

MAKES HONOR ROLL. — A fourth prize winner in last year's campaign, 2700 block Winchester St., captained by Nora Pinn, by its spotless appearance indicates that it will be in the running again this year for top honors. The block was placed on the Honor Roll this week.

Clean Block Honor Roll Climbs To 41

Prize Fund inches up to $730.20

Apparently the childish appeals for help which Radio Station WEBB began broadcasting Friday evening and continued through the day this week are beginning to pay off.

The Clean Block Prize Fund, which had become an almost forgotten part of this year's Clean Block Campaign, suddenly began to take on new life.

A total of $27 was received from five contributors in the last two days, boosting the total thus far collected to a substantial $730.20.

• • •

HEARD DURING appropriate spots between WEBB broadcasts are the recorded voices of Clean Blockers Camille Gaskins, 800 Appleton St.; Ralph Tyler, 2600 Grogan Ave.; Debbie Randall, 2100 Division St.; Crystal Archable, 2700 Rayner Ave., Rosalyn Burch, 2100 Walbrook Ave., and Anthony Thompson, 1600 Balmor Ct.

Arrangement for the broadcasts were made by Wiley Daniels, program director of the station.

• • •

A CONTRIBUTION of $2 came from Mrs. Miriam Winborne, who two years ago wrote a column for the Clean Block page.

Five dollar donations were received from Dr. and Mrs. Roger K. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Ellihu Q. Norris and William Sessom, the restaurateur.

Through its president, Bernard Nachlas, the Pennsylvania — Lafayette Market Association forwarded its check for $10.

15 more captains qualified

Fifteen more AFRO Clean Block Captains by sheer perserverance and hard work climbed up to the Honor Roll this week.

They brought to 41 the number of blocks which have achieved Honor Roll status thus far in the 27th annual award-winning AFRO Clean Block Campaign.

Each week additional blocks will be added to the Honor Roll as weekly inspection tours of registered blocks continue, Clean Block Director M. Francis Mackay announced.

• • •

MANY OF THE blocks seen this week, she said, would easily have made the Honor Roll, but for some reason the captain and workers had neglected to sweep.

This is an important part of Clean Block work, she said. After sweeping, it is necessary that all accumulations of trash be picked up.

Again it was stressed only those blocks which make the Honor Roll will be eligible to share in the Clean Block Prize Fund.

Many captains will have to step up their pace as time is running short. Only three more Honor Rolls will be announced for this year's drive.

Distinguishing this week's Honor Roll is the fact that ten of the 15 blocks listed are in housing projects, while only five are city blocks.

• • •

THE LIST OF new Honor Roll blocks and their captains are as follows:

400 Cummings Ct., Captain Linda Wharton;
2700 block Winchester St., Captain Nora Pinn;
1100 Tiffany Ct., Captain Melvin Brown;
400 Watty Ct., Captain Doris McLead;
1600 Balmor Ct., Captain Janice Ruffin
1600 Booker Ct., Captain Linda Hall;
200 Bethel Ct., Captain Frances Broidy;
200 Bethel Ct., Captain Beverly Smith;
200 Bethel Ct., Captain Janice Jenkins;
200 Dallas Ct., Captain Karon Alford;
1700 W. Franklin St., Captain Robert Browner;
1400 Oak Hill Ave., Captain Frances Burney;
1700 Bond St., Captain Leon Stephens;
1300 Ashland Ave., Captain Jacqueline Sherman;
1200 Short Ct., Captain Carolyn Blount.

CLEAN BLOCK Sidelights

By M. FRANCIS MACKAY
AFRO Clean Block Director

The Biblical admonition, "Be ye also ready" was being adopted by enterprising AFRO Clean Block captains this week after many of them were caught napping when I arrived on inspection tour.

Embrassed by the fact they had failed to sweep or pick up piles of trash from the gutter, the less alert captains pledged to have their blocks in shape by time for the next inspection tour.

The first three tours revealed that East Baltimore blocks are lagging way behind last year's record. West Baltimore, Northwest and South Baltimore are also not setting the example they have in the past.

The reason could be that many adults are not giving their children the support they need for best results. It is a shame that there are so many people who won't cooperate with a group of youngsters who are doing their part to beautify their neighborhoods.

• • •

A SIX - POINT program for Clean Block Captains to follow:

1. Be sure your painting is completed by August 15.

2. Sweep your block every day.

3. Clean Blockers should be polite at all times.

4. Be very careful to stay out of the street when you are cleaning your block, especially if you live where there is heavy traffic.

5. Do not whitewash curbs or treet.

6. Attend all meetings on Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the McCulloh Homes.

• • •

CAPTAIN CAMILLA GASKINS held her flag raising ceremony on Sunday afternoon. There was quite a turnout and it was a very impressive affair.

Onions to that mean policeman who ordered Captain Billie Roberts to take her Honor Flag down. The group had worked hard to earn the Honor Flag only to have it displayed ten minutes before being ordered to take it down.

Captain Roberts of the 2000 block Walbrook Ave. has been in the campaign four years and this is her first flag.

She has our symphy and we are doing all we can to get your flag up again.

• • •

ORCHIDS TO Mrs. Dorothy S. Granger, Public relations director of the Baltimore Bureau of Sanitation, who aired our campaign on her Clean City Program, heard every Sunday night at 7:05 over WITH radio station.

Also orchids go to Wiley Daniels and WEBB radio station for carrying Clean Block spot announcements every day through August 26.

From a pamphlet called "Hold His Hand," Mrs. Helen Tullis says, "You can prevent a traffic accident to your youngster by —

1. Holding his hand in yours.

2. Holding it all the way across the street.

3. Crossing streets at corners.

4. Watching out for turning cars.

5. Setting limits to his play area.

6. Following these rules of safe walking and setting good example.

CAPTAIN SHEILA TAYLOR of 200 block Beale Ct., would have had a perfect block if it had not been for the paper on Millkin Ct. at the end of the block.

Captain Doreen Lindsay reports that she has only eight workers in her block, the 1200 Nolan Ct. However, when the court was visited Wednesday there were thirty or more children screaming at the top of their voices. Captain Lindsay, Lynda Perry and two other workers did their best to clean up the court.

Clean Blockers send a get well card to E. Garrett Dotson who is ill at Ft. Howard Hospital.

Captain Carolyn Blount and Mrs. Mary F. Smith of the 1200 Short Ct. have their block looking very good. Flowers are in pots on the window sills and steps. Furniture is painted green and white and the block was found to be very clean when visited Wednesday.

Captain Ernest Horne has his block looking good, but might find himself in hot water if the reports I am getting are true. You and I should have a meeting real soon.

Captain Carlton Bell of 2100 block Herbert St., needs to sweep his block.

Captain Robert Browner of 1700 block W. Franklin St., would have had a perfect block in appearance if it had not been for the curtains flying out of the second floor window.

Captain Christine Solomon of the 2000 block Harlem Ave., had her block very neat and clean on Monday.

Onions to Captain Nora Pinn of the 2700 Winchester St., for not placing her block on the first Honor Roll. It was an error on the part of my office.

When the block was tour-ed Monday, it was very neat, clean and grass trimmed neatly, children playing quietly. This block deserves the preferred listing.

Captain Roberta Goldeman needs to work a little harder. You can do it to get the group together and give them a pep talk.

Captain Carolyn Matthews, you had better watch the gutters. They were not so clean on Monday evening.

Captain Ann Scott of 400 block E. 21st St., is lagging far behind. Get busy so you can make the Honor Roll.

Captain Frances Burney of 1900 Oakhill Ave., is coming up fast, but the people are said to put their flowers out. Someone in the area is stealing them.

The flowers in the three blocks of Bethel Ct. are simply beautiful.

Captain Clarice Hart needs to stop playing ball and get to work. I almost got a flat tire going into her block.

Tickets for the movies will be passed out August 11. See you next Friday

Five new blocks list all workers

Five new blocks completed registration in the 27th annual AFRO Clean Block campaign by Wednesday of this week.

Present indications are the total enrollment of blocks this year will be considerably above the 200 mark which will be shy of last year's registration.

Why the decrease? Children in the housing project this year have not registered as they have in the past.

There are no blocks registered in Poe Homes, Fairfield Homes and Cherry Hill. We have only heard from one block in Lexington Homes, two in Somerset Homes, one in Lafayette, two in Gilmore, five in Douglass, nine in McCulloh Homes, and three in Perkins Homes.

There are still many blocks registered, but can not qualify until they have initiated the required form. These blocks can not be officially registered until the information is in the Clean Block office.

THE NEW BLOCKS and captains are:

Captain Reginald Hux
1000 Tiffany Ct.

Cynthia Outlaw, co - captain; Pauline Brown, advisor; Mrs. Sarah E. Curtis, Mrs. Annie M. Grigg, Natalie Chambers, Ralph Chambers, Gregory Outlaw, Carolyn E. Hux, Garland Hux, Mrs. Bertha Hux, and Mrs. Rose Anderson.

Captain Robert Ford
400 Oxford Ct.

Darryl Barnes, co - captain; Rosa Barnes, advisor; Sherrod Barnes, Benjamin Madden, Joan Madden, Mrs. Marlene Chase, Gloria Johnson, Freida Coleman, Gregory Coleman, Jeffrey Coleman, Robert Conway, Paul Hord, Frederick Johnson, John Johnson;

Also Dennis Johnson; Marcia Garret, Dennis Garret, Arnold Garret, Paulette Gregory, Ernest Calton, Victor Gregory, Rodney Gregory, Vondusa Booze, Teresa Barnes, Veida Barnes, Melvin Freeland, Theresa Freeland, and Mrs. Catherine Taylor.

Captain Sylvia Moore
1800 W. Fayette St.

Alice Cartwright, co -captain; Mrs. Ruth Kornegay, advisor; Jessie Freeman, Patricia Freeman, Joyce Davis, Otis Geiger, Patricia Stradford, Bobby Frazier, Rita Cartwright, Connie Davis, Garland Davis, Jeanette Lowery, Linda Green and Paul Grant.

Captain Valaria McLellan
2000 Ridgehill Ave.

Hortiney House, Alfred Ross, LeDand McLellan, Delores McLellan, Gwendolyn Harris, Herman Jones, Carol Ann Jones, Warren Williams, Elsie Williams, William Clarke, Antonette Norman, Charles Norman;

Also Harry Williams, Anne Jennings, Sylvia Jennings, Edward Carroll, Ronald Carroll, Orvall Carroll, Alice Carmichael, Cynthia McLellan, Faye Latta, Bruce Latta, and Mrs. Adgie McLellan, advisor;

Captain Lorraine Carvens
2100 Ridgehill Ave.

Margaret Jackson, co-captain; Mrs. Mary Ray, Mrs. Shirley Harris, advisors; Nadine Evans, Rosalyn Harris, Eileen Harris, Trumain Harris, Carolyn Moore, Ricky Moore, Morris Williams, Gwendolyn Williams, Angela Dawson, Thomas Dawson, Robert Franklin, Rene Franklin, Mary Franklin, Kenneth Ray and Jeanette Ray.

Youths win trip to New York City

Thomas Delroy Gillard, 904 S. Hanover St., a 16-year-old Southern High School 11th grade student, and Marvin T. Brown, 17, 5 West Hill St., a Douglass High School freshman, are spending the week-end in New York.

The all-expense paid trip is the first prize Mr. Gillard was when the new Trailway Bus Terminal was opened in July.

Included in the trip in addition to the two round-trip fares on the Trailway Bus, are hotel expenses, meals, a boatride down the Hudson, a tour of the city, visit to shows, the theatre and points of interest.

Also on the two youth's agenda is a visit to Abyssinia Baptist Church.

Mr. Gillard was awarded the first prize when his slip was drawn in a raffle at a savings and loan booth during the opening celebration of the new bus terminal.

He invited Mr. Brown to go along since two roundtrip tickets were included.

Mr. Gillard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gillard. His father was worked at the Western Maryland Railroad 15 years.

Be sure to mail in Victory Reports

Clean Block Victory Reports are due now.

Each captain registered in the 27th annual award-winning AFRO Clean Block Campaign must turn in a report of just what has been done thus far in his block.

Adult advisors in each block are urged to help the captains and co-captains fill in the following:

BIG EVENTS of the schedule include today's (Friday's) talent show on the playground and the Saturday County playground track and field meet at the Catonsville Recreation Center.

Everyone is welcome to the playground party Monday, August 7.

Theodore Ferguson was grand prize winner in the hidden treasure hunt sponsored as part of the grand picnic held by the Bragg Elementary School Playground in Sparrows Point.

The final week of the playground season will feature an exhibit of arts and crafts.

The boys at the Fleming Elementary School tried beating the girls at their own game — jacks — last week.

All parents are being invited to attend the playground beach party to be held at Turners Beach.
