Gambrill

asked the Mayor to schedule a second hearing or conduct his own investigation.

The Fire Board contended that the Commission did not call all of their witnesses at the first hearing.

7. The Civil Service Commission granted a preliminary hearing.

8. At the preliminary hearing, the Fire Board claimed that it had sufficient reason to feel that Gambrill "is a person of questionable veracity".

It charged that on his application for appointment to the Department, he claimed that he resigned from a job with the Post Office to collect his retirement pay to settle some debts.

Mr. Lacy said that he had information that Gambrill was discharged from the Post Office for violations of rules.

Should that fact have been known in advance, Gambrill would not have been accepted by the Department, the Fire Board president declared.

The Civil Service Commission was told that the information on Gambrill was obtained from a post office employee and was not official.

ON WEDNESDAY the Commission denied a Fire Board request that it obtain Gambrill's personnel records from the Post Office.

Chairman Francis B. Burch said the Commission felt that the records had no bearings on the case.

The Fire Board is scheduled to meet on Tuesday at which time it is believed it will rule on the case.

THE CIVIL SERVICE Commission explained why it denied the request for a hearing in a 12 - page opinion.

This in part is what the opinion said:

"It has been admitted by all, that the discontent in the Fire Department originated with the disclosure that in January, Mr. Gambrill had shown a positive Wasserman when applying for appointment Baltimore City Police Department.

"When this was brought to light he was examined by a Fire Department doctor who notified the Department that the test was not conclusive, and particularly that he was not infectious.

"Indeed, Dr. Moore the medical examiner for the Department appeared before the full complement of Engine House No. 13, (at Fremont and Myrtle Aves.) explained in detail the nature of the Wasserman test, and specifically assured the members that Mr. Gambrill was free of infection and there was no cause whatsoever for concern.

"He even pointed out that a person without disease could show a positive Wasserman simply because one of his ancestors may have at one time or another been infected.

"Notwithstanding this, however, Mr. Gambrill was asked to resign from the service. He refused to do so, stating that Dr. Moore had told him there was no reason why he should.

"This was not disputed.

"FOLLOWING HIS refusal to resign, charges were then advanced by several members of his company that some months before (going back as far as March of 1960) he (Gambrill) had been guilty of certain objectionable habits.

"These charges were specified in the statement of several witnesses who appeared against him at the hearing before the Fire Board on March 28, 1961.

"It should be noted that at this hearing Mr. Gambrill was without counsel, was not afforded the right to cross-examine his accusers and, indeed, was denied the right to even argue on at least one occasion as to the charges made against him.

At the hearing before this Commission it was undisputed that charges had never been placed against Mr. Gambrill by his superiors, or indeed by his fellow firemen, prior to the disclosure of the results of his Wasserman test.

"In fact, the written records of the Fire Department indicate that, though Gambrill was marked late on two occasions, he was never reprimanded during his entire service in the Department.

"Furthermore, the efficiency ratings filed by Gambrill's superior officers (including at least one who testified against him before the Fire Board and this Commission) disclosed that Gambrill received the highest rating he had ever received during the entire period of his service which began in May of 1957.

"As a matter of fact, the second highest mark (80 per cent) of all his qualities related to his personal habits and manner, the very qualities which were the alleged grounds for discharge.

IT IS WORTHY OF note that it has been brought to the attention of this Commission that in recent weeks, a number of telephone calls have been made to certain City officials by relatives of members of the Fire Department, charging that Mr. Gambrill has a medical condition which the firemen admittedly have been advised does not in fact exist.

"These latest occurrences indicate the pressures which are being brought to bear and the extremes to which the firemen and their representatives are willing to go to accomplish their purpose.

"We want it clearly understood that the rights of an individual employee in the Civil Service of the City of Baltimore who is not at fault, will be protected by this Commission no matter how great the pressure by any employee, group of employees or others to deprive him of his rights.

"We think it interesting to also note that the records will show that some few weeks before Mr. Gambrill was discharged, the Fire Board agreed with this Commission that it would permanently abandon its claim that a Wasserman should be given as a pre-employment test, it being specifically reorganized by the Board that the results of the test are meaningless.

"Certainly if a Wasserman test is an invalid pre-employment test, under no circumstances should it be considered as a ground for the discharge of an employee who has years of service.

Of course, as noted above, the record shows that Mr. Gambrill is not diseased.

"WE WOULD FINALLY state that if Mr. Gambrill was guilty of the things with which he was charged, they could and should have been included in his record and reflected in the efficiency ratings which his superiors gave him.

"We want it to be clearly understood that on an appeal by any employee in the Civil Service this Commission will lend great weight to the efficiency rating given by his superiors.

"Understandably we should not and cannot be expected to lend much weight to an argument on an appeal that these ratings, made in the quiet of the day and when controversy is raging, are meaningless.

"No good purpose would be served by ordering a further hearing in this matter."

TB group will vote to shun Ocean City

The executive committee of the Maryland Conference of Tuberculosis is scheduled to vote on a resolution that would prohibit the holding of any future meeting at any place where discrimination is practiced.

The vote will come during the fall meeting of the Conference at Harrison Hall, Ocean City, Sept. 14-15.

A spokesman indicated on Thursday that the resolution would be approved.

He explained that the question of racial discrimination had come before the group several years ago.

At that time it was decided to move the fall meeting from Ocean City, where it had been held in the past, because of racial segregation in hotels, restaurants and other places of public accomodation.

LAST YEAR the TB group held its meeting in Baltimore. This year it returned to Ocean City because of a lack of funds.

The spokesman explained that the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty is holding its meeting in Ocean City at the same time, and the TB group was able to obtain speakers at no cost.

However, he said, this is probably the last year that the meeting will be held in segregated Ocean City.

In another development on the Ocean City front this week, the Maryland Press Association announced that Sherley Ewing, director of the Maryland Civil Defense Agency, would be its speaker at its meeting this weekend.

Mr. Ewing is a replacement for Pierre Salinger, President Kennedy's press secretary, who refused to appear at the meeting when he learned of the jim crow in Ocean City.

Mr. Ewing told the AFRO that he did not want to become involved in a racial controversy.
