2,192 Witnesses at Sunday meeting to hear F. W. Filson

"Bible prophecy has been proved right 100 per cent of the time and is a perfect guide for this twentieth-century generation," Jehovah's Witnesses were told Sunday at the Coliseum by their district overseer, F. W. Filson.

Mr. Filson, speaking on "The Twentieth Century in Bible Prophecy," declared that the Bible prophesied the events of the last five decades accurately and has also foretold events still in the future.

Calling Jehovah's Witnesses "God's true prophets of today," he cited their world-wide evangelizing and encouraged his listeners to study with them and join them in preaching to others.

George Cheeks, congregation overseer of the Gwynns Falls Park Congregation in Baltimore also spoke earlier on "Government of the Early Congregation."

He drew comparisons between apostolic times and the modern organization of Jehovah's Witnesses which now carries on teaching work in 127 lands.

ANNAPOLIS DOING'S

BY ELOISE RICHARDSON

Mrs. Sylvia McMillan, a resident in the county, has been appointed as our first home demonstration agent, and will work with J. Edward Bullock, assistant county agent for the county.

Mrs. McMillan is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, having earned her B.S. degree there. Prior to becoming a resident here, she had done home demonstration work in Missouri and Virginia.

Since living in this county, Mrs. McMillan has been a member of the day and night faculties of the Bates High School as a home economics teacher, and she also served as a vocational home economics teacher in the rehabilitation department of Crownsville State Hospital.

Her husband, Caldwell McMillan, is a graduate of Cornell University, where he received a B.S. degree in animal husbandry. He is engaged in farming and specializes in egg and tobacco production.

The McMillans are now developing a restricted and recorded sub-division called Sylmac.

Mrs. McMillan will work throughout the county with women and 4-H Club girls. Further information concerning her work may be obtained by calling the office, located at 1799 West St., at COlonial 8-1439.

RESIDENTS OF the seven na Park area are exceedingly proud of one of their most lovable young citizens, who is graduating from nursing school this month.

Miss Eleanor Catherine Mack, daughter of Mr. and Mary Harry L. Mack of Severna Park, graduates from Franklin square Hospital in Baltimore.

A graduate of Bates High School here, Miss Mack entered the U.S. Air Force and served four years, emerging as a staff sergeant.

She also served for three years in Hawaii, working as a Communications Center specialist supervisor.

After her discharge from the service in 1956, Miss Mack worked as a hospital attendant at Crownsville State Hospital while waiting to further her training.

Now that she has realized her ambition to become a nurse, which she has had since she was 13 years old, she plans to do further study in her field and become a missionary nurse in Africa.

Miss Mack's graduation will take place at S. Luke Church, Dayton and Carey Sts., Baltimore, on Sept. 19 at 8 p.m.

ARUNDEL-ON-THE-BAY residents and their guests enjoyed a lovely concert, held on the spacious lawn of Dr. and Mrs. Merrill Curtis on Labor Day.

Miss Josephine Pollard, soprano, a student of Warner Lawson at Howard University, was presented by the Property Owners Association of the community.

Joyce Picot McManus, contralto, who has studied extensively and recently at the Peabody Conservatory of Music, and who has done credible concert work, praised the young singer's voice.

Members of the committee responsible for the concert were Mesdames Archie Cooke, Anis Gazaway and Todd Duncan, Dr. Curtis, Dr. H. F. Davis, Dr. W. H. Watts, Aris T. Allen, Dr. John T. Phillips and William J. Taylor, Herbert S. Hilliard, Douglas S. King, and J. Morley.

Miss Adele Phelps, a member of the well-known Phelps family here, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Phelps of Parole, became the bride of John Brown Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown Sr., of Parole in a quiet ceremony on August 21.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Leroy Bowman, minister of the First Baptist Church, at the parsonage in the presence of Mrs. Bowman and the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Yvonne Phelps.

Mrs. Brown is a graduate of Maryland State Teachers College and has done further study at the University of Maryland. She is a teacher at the Sunny Acre School for Retarded Children. She formerly taught at Ralph Bunche School and in Ponce Georges County.

The bridegroom is a musician and is a member of the Van Dykes, a dance orchestra. The couple is at home to friends at 23 Parole St.

SORRY YOUR columnist has not been able to acknowledge correspondence sent to her before now. This was due to her vacationing out in Indiana, and what a vacation!

Victorine Adams wrote that she was having an exciting journey on the S.S. Yarmouth, visiting the Caribbean Sea Ports of Call including Port Antonio and Kingston, Jamaica, Port-au-Prince, Trujillo, Dominican Republic; San Juan, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. You can be sure Victorine is bubbling over with "COOL AS IN FASHION."

The Sydney Pinkneys of Clinton, Md., posted a card telling about their restful vacation up and around Cape Cod at Cotuit, Mass., spent in fishing, bathing and boating.

Eliza S. McDaniel, popular AFRO-AMERICAN columnist and visiting teacher in the Baltimore County public schools, sent greetings from Europe. She had been visiting in Portugal, Spain, France, Italy, Austria, Germany, Switzerland, Belgium, England and Scotland. She also went to Canada.

Lilyan Burrell, teacher here in the public schools, sent a card from Atlantic City and noted that she was having a lovely time on the beach and the boardwalk.

The Herbert S. Hilliards of Arundel-on-the-Bay had as house guest, his sister, Miss Gloria E. Hillard of Chicago. Miss Hilliard is a teacher in the Chicago public schools.

The Willie Q. McManuses of Arundel - on-the-Bay recently entertained house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Hamlin and daughters, Laurie and Connie of Binghamton, N.Y.

Mrs. Hamlin, who was a classmate of Mrs. McManus at Bennett College, is godmother to young Marchela McManus.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT KELLER recently celebrated her sister, Mrs. James A. Rogers and son Charles Winifred, of St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. Keller, accompanied by her granddaughter, Carolyn, motored her guests to Atlantic City for a weekend and took them on tour in Washington and Baltimore.

In Washington, after visiting the White House, the visitors were drawn-were thrilled at the Senate Building.

Mrs. Dorothy Robinson was honored with a lovely surprise birthday party on Wednesday evening, August 23, by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Self at her home, 1914 Drew St., in Parole.

A delicious buffet supper was served by Mrs. Louise Forrester, mother of the host and Mrs. Self.

Others who came to honor Mrs. Robinson were Messrs. and Mesdames Henry Gunn, Tom Duvall, Mesdames Priscilla Johnson, Annie Grandison, Lillian Johnson, Dorothy Noel, Edna Carithorne, Mary Sims and Agnes Stevens. Mrs. Robinson's husband, LSD1 Leroy Robinson, is attached to the USS Intrepid in foreign waters.

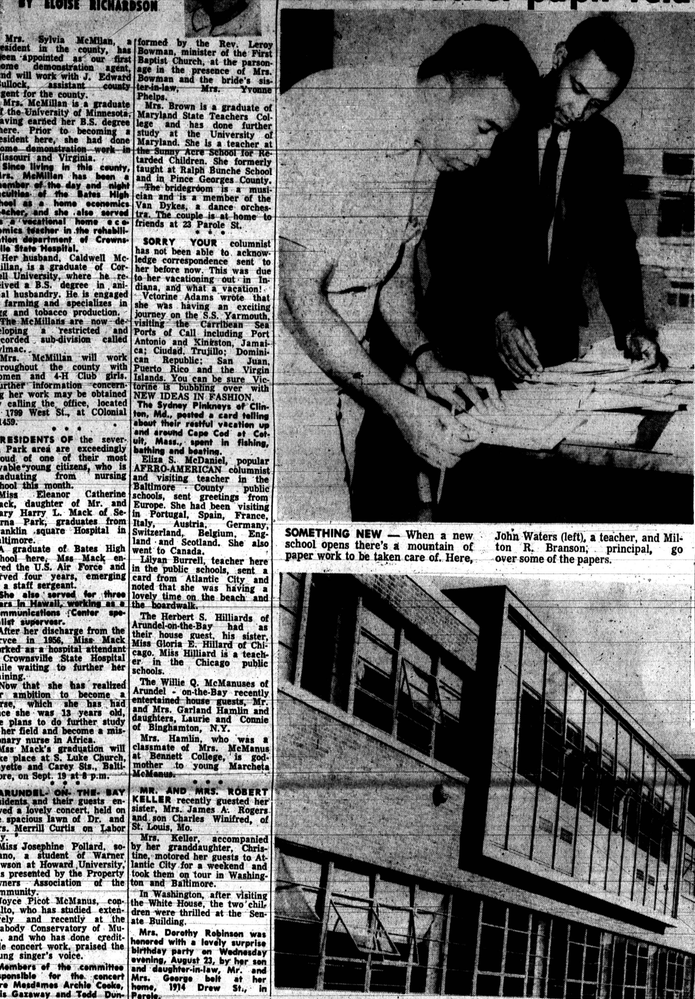
New Lombard School provides better teacher-pupil relations



SOMETHING NEW — When a new school opens there's a mountain of paper work to be taken care of. Here, John Waters (left), a teacher, and Milton R. Branson, principal, go over some of the papers.

EXTERIOR VIEW — This is the outside of the new Lombard Junior High School at Lombard and Caroline Sts. The school was built at a cost of $2,700,000 and will accomodate 1,800 pupils. It opened with an enrollment of 820 seventh graders. An eighth grade will be added in 1962 and a ninth grade in 1963.

By dividing one school into three small units, educators are seeking to avoid undesirable effects resulting from today's large schools.

The impersonal relationships that exist at large schools and the inability of teachers to give pupils individual attention, are virtually eliminated at the new Lombard Junior High School by subdivision.

Milton Branson, the new principal of Lombard, says, in big schools "children lose their identity and are not able to get individual attention they need" because of different backgrounds.

"We avoid that by restricting them to one floor, where they work with the same unit head and counselor for three years," Mr. Branson explains.

In that way they get to know the teachers, the teachers get to know them and their problems, and they are better able to work together, he explains.

* * *

"WHAT WE have here, says Mr. Branson, is three separate schools stacked on top of the other, each with the same number of pupils."

On each floor are slow, basic and regular or average pupils. For much of their three years, all pupils study English, reading, writing, mathematics, social studies, economics and industrial arts.

The balance of their time is spent in the main building adjoining the three units where they share common facilities the cafeteria, auditoriums, gymnasium, library and the music room.

In effect, Lombard has combined the best features of both the big and small school for a unique experience in education.

"It would cost quite a bit of money," the principal explains, "to supply each of the units with the facilities located in the main building."

The principal's office and the health center are also found in the main building.

OPERATING with a staff of 38 teachers, the school has 850 integrated pupils of all backgrounds.

The seventh grade occupies the building, this fall, but the eighth will be added in the fall of 1962, and the ninth will follow in 1963.

A vice - principal, head counselor and department heads will also be appointed next fall, says the principal.

After being in operation for a week, Mr. Branson foresees good things for the program.

"We're very optimistic about it. There is no question that it should be successful," he says.

Mr. Branson was former principal of Carrollton Junior High School.

* * *

"SCHOOL WITHIN School" programs began this year, with the Herring Run Junior High School in the 5000 block Sinclair Lane.

Fairfield High School, Connecticutt, tried in 1955, as the first attempt at such programs. From an old building it was later moved to a specially designed one.

The $4 million specially - designed "U" shaped Lombard school still has the smell of newness in its halls. Some equipment remains wrapped.

Street Church lecture room, Saturday the NAACP is seeking to get 1,000 volunteer workers for its annual membership campaign to be conducted Oct. 3 through Nov. 14.

'Watch those Africans,' daily reporters warn

"Watch out for those Africans. . . they may be from the AFRO!"

This warning was issued by daily newspaper reporters, this week as they recorded the doings of the Twentieth International Navigational Congress, in session here until Tuesday.

Among the 700 delegates representing 52 countries are three from African Republics, Liberia and the Congo.

The warning refers to an AFRO — perpetrated hoax which ridiculed Maryland restaurant segregated service policies August 22.

Three AFRO reporters, posing as African diplomats, were served in restaurants which otherwise would have barred them.

Man mangled by train reported to be improving

WASHINGTON

Randolph Jones, 45, of 2929 Cofer Rd., Chesterfield County was reported improving but still in a critical condition at St. Phillips Hospital this week.

ON THE Eastside

By CHARLOTTE W. DOWNIE

Neighbors, the faculty of the Dunbar Evening Center is anxious to round up former graduates for two reasons, to renew the alumni association, which was very active at one time, and to form a choral group.

Especially are they anxious to contact persons who sang solo parts during former graduation exercises. Now hear this; Neighbors if you are the person, make it a must to contact the principal, Henry Horsey, as soon as possible.

Also don't miss this treat, the Chapel Choir of the Knighton Ave. Baptist Church of Camden, N.J., will render a song feast Sunday, Sept. 17 at 3 p.m., at the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church.

Sponsors of the group are members of the Senior Choir No. 2 of Mt. Lebanon. Mrs. Lillie Brown is president, Mrs. Lydia Brown, secretary, and the Rev. Hiram E. Smith, pastor. See ya there. . .

The officers and members of the Zone No. 13 Neighborhood Improvement Association recently entertained at their first annual tea.

The affair was held at the home of the president, the Rev. IDIA Moyd, 1638 N. Milton Ave.

Highlight of the lovely affair was the address given by Dr. Alexander Walker, professor of political science at Morgan State College. Attorney Paul J. Cockrell introduced the speaker and also presented Atty. Jack Butts to the group.

Among those attending were Messrs. and Mesdames Christopher Moyd, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, Mesdames Alberta McCray and Olethia Cook.

Lewis Jennings, Christopher Price, Oakley Saunders, Joe Burroughs, Joseph Honeybear, the Rev. Arthur Singleton, Elder James H. Jackson.

Official hostess, Edward Burnett and serving as hostesses were: Mesdames Dorothy Jennings, Eva Cook, Lessie Williams, Bernice Burnett and Marie Moyd.

The first meeting of the fall season was held by officers and members of the North Baltimore Civic and Home Improvement Association recently.

The meeting was held at the Greenmount Recreation Center which was first established by the organization several years ago.

Plans were made for the coming year and committees were organized. Mrs. Bertie Brown is president. Others attending were Mesdames Ada Spencer, Sarah Baldwin, Ruth Mann, Mattie Gwaltney, Anna Jackson and Mildred Thornton.

THE WOMEN of Temple Baptist Church are making elaborate plans for their coming Women's Day, to be held on the second Sunday in November. Mrs. Margaret Hill is chairman of Women's Day and Mrs. Elizabeth Lucas is secretary.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Christ Methodist Church held the second annual fellowship tea last Sunday. Chairman of the lovely affair was Mrs. Elizabeth Spicer with Mrs. Ruth Brown as her co-chairman. Mrs. Laura Bouldin is president.

The groups which participated in the tea included: The Lettia Sewing Club, Mrs. Helen Keene, chairman; the V.A.G.'s, Mr. Mary Brewington, chairman; the Chauffeurettes, Mrs. Octavia Braxton, chairman; the Squab's (baby pigeons) Miss Evangeline Spicer, chairman; and the WSCS, Mrs. Laura Bouldin, president.

Neighbors of the clubs each decorated a table for their guests. . . and such beautiful tables they were . . . Prizes (Cash) were given to the most beautiful table (won by V.A.G.'s) and the most unique table won by the LETTIA's.

Judges were Mesdames Henrietta Holliman, Gladys Keene and Thelma Ennals.

Nice gesture was made by the V.A.G.'s who donated their prize to the W.S.C.S. Organization (Incidentally neighbors the V.A.G.'s are that group who formed their club as a memorial to that late dynamic civic leader, Mrs. Vivian Garth Alleyne).

LOVELY PERSON I met this week is Miss Gertrude Gorman. If the National office of the NAACP, Miss Gorman is here to conduct the Fall Campaign for this year, much for her to do and it would be good if you all would volunteer some of your time and help make Baltimore branch go over the top this year. . . Pick up your phone and call LA. 3-8305 for information and also visit the office, 1234 Druid Hill Ave., and meet Miss Gorman. Do It Today. . . .

Eastsiders, I am counting on you to get these memberships on our Eastside. Support your NAACP today. We Want Freedom Now. Dr. Lillie M. Jackson is president of the Baltimore
