Gourmet Clubs fad newest to hit country

Cooking clubs—with gourmet aspirations — are springing up all over the country to the delight of the young men and women who are their informal members.

They offer something for everyone: the women find that it's more fun to cook with a man than without one. The men discover that they have considerable flair for food; and both are enjoying the universal pleasures of good foods, good wines and the time to enjoy them.

Usually the group consists of three or four young couples who take turns as hosts in their own homes. Sometimes the host couple prepares all the food. More often the dinner menu is divided up and each couple prepares a course, in either case the menu has been planned and discussed in detail, sometimes after considerable research.

• • •

AS GOOD FOOD becomes a hobby with these young people, they turn, more often than not, to the classic cuisine, discovering the pleasure of flavoring their dishes with wine, herbs and spices.

While the women research the recipes, the men study the wines — the types, the origin and the brands for each course. Early in their gourmet adventures, they discover that an aperitif of wine — dry Sherry, Vermouth, a mixed wine cocktail or Champagne — leads most pleasantly to a enjoyment of the meal to follow.

• • •

THESE ARE THE PEOPLE who revel in the lore of wine — in contrast to many Americans who have discovered for themselves which wines they enjoy most and continue to serve them with a variety of foods. Wine hobbyists delve more deeply into the classes of wine and their affinities with food. Their study is easier than they might have expected because all the wines of the world are divided into one of five categories:

Aperitif Wine — before — meal or cocktail use, California Sherry and Vermouth are two of the most popular; each ranges from dry to sweet.

Red Dinner Wine—usually dry with a rich hearty flavor to accompany red meats, spaghetti, and highly seasoned foods.

White Dinner Wine — varies from extremely dry and tart to sweet and full-bodied with a delicate flavor that blends well with white meats, fowl and seafoods.

Dessert Wine—sweet, full-bodied wines served with desserts and as refreshments in the afternoon or evening.

Sparkling Wine — dinner wines (enjoyed also with appetizers or desserts, or without food) which have been made naturally effervescent by a second fermentation within closed containers.

• • •

IT ISN'T NECESSARY to study the involved tables of vintage and non-vintage years in order to enjoy wine. In California where 85 percent of our country's wines are produced, there is always enough sunshine to mature the grapes properly. Although there are slight yearly differences in wine, they are not important, because the wine produced is of a uniform quality. Just as a matter of interest, some California vintners indicate on their labels the year in which the wine is produced.

Although there are traditional food combinations with each of these classes, there are also many interesting departures from the usual pairings. The time-tested combinations which seem to please most tastes are these:

Aperitif Wines — Hors d'oeuvres or snacks

Red Dinner Wines—Steaks, roasts, chops, cheese, or spaghetti.

White Dinner Wines—Seafoods, chicken, omelets or other light dishes.

Dessert Wines — Fruits, cookies, nuts, or cheeses

Sparkling Wines — Appetizers, the main course or desserts

• • •

IN THESE NEW GOURMET clubs, each of the men takes turns as sommelier or wine steward. He makes certain that the wines to be served chilled are actually refrigerated or iced in time; he uncorks the bottles, pours the wine and refills the glasses as necessary.

One nicety he observes is the custom of pouring a small amount of wine into the host's glass first. He waits while the host tastes it, and nods his approval, then proceeds to fill the other glasses. Like most wine customs, this has a practical background.

Any bits of cork that may have fallen into the wine are poured into the host's glass; and in the unlikely event that a defective cork or improper storage has caused the wine to oxidize, the host would detect it before it was served to all the diners.

These young people usually use an all-purpose wine glass of generous proportions — about 8 or 9 ounces—and fill it about half full when serving dinner wines, less full when serving appetizer or dessert wines.

• • •

HERE IS THE DINNER MENU and accompanying wines served recently by a group of six who have been meeting for dinner once a month for more than a year.

Broiled Oysters
California Brut Champagne
Boned Leg of Lamb
Mint Stuffing
Browned Potatoes
Green Beans Amandine
California Cabernet
Sauvignon
Celery Victor Sauterne
Sherried Creme Brulee
Coffee
California Port

The division of work went like this: The host couple prepared and served the roast and vegetables; another couple handled oysters and salad; the third couple prepared the dessert at home.

After a leisurely dinner and pleasant conversation over coffee and Port, everybody helped with the dishes.

Here are some of the recipes used in the dinner menu:

• • •

WINE LAMB BASTE is made with 1 cup California Rose wine, ¼ cup soy sauce, ½ teaspoon dried rosemary, and ½ teaspoon dried oregano

Simmer wine, soy sauce and herbs together a few minutes before using as baste.

Beans Aztec

"Beans Aztec" combines refried beans, ripe olive wedges, Parmesan cheese and zippy seasonings in a casserole with a taste appeal all its own. Garnish with tomato slices, more cheese and whole ripe olives — and roll the olives in salad or olive oil to accent their handsome dark color.

• • •

BEANS AZTEC are made with ½ cup ripe olives, 1 (1 lb.) can refried beans, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon instant minced onion, 2 tablespoons finely-chopped green chilies, ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese, ripe olives, Parmesan cheese and tomato slices for garnish.

Cut olives into wedges. Combine with beans, mustard, onion, chilies and Parmesan cheese. Turn into casserole. Cover and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 20 minutes. Garnish with additional ripe olives, Parmesan cheese and tomato slices.

Makes about 4 servings.

Women who love their families set a Tip-Top table!

Mrs. Prince Claiborne (right) is a lecturer, clubwoman, hostess, homemaker and mother. She is shown demonstrating the whipping qualities of Carnation to Vivian Sutton, Director of Young Women's Activities at Carver House in St. Louis.

Little Michael Claiborne loves Carnation. Mixed with an equal amount of water, it's still as rich as state standards for whole milk.

Vivacious Jean Claiborne, St. Louis, Missouri

The career girl who makes life easier for 50 thousand homemakers

Jean Claiborne has been a Market Consultant for the Carnation Company for the past ten years.

She conducts cooking classes, talks at PTA and club meetings, appears on television, and shows young mothers how to prepare infant formulas with Carnation Evaporated Milk.

"I had plenty of extra practice with my own 3-year-old, Michael. His doctor recommended Carnation for his formula, of course."

Mrs. Claiborne conducts dozens of cooking demonstrations every year.

"I love to show the smoothness of puddings made with Carnation," she says. (See recipe at right.)

Carnation is the milk that looks, pours and even whips like golden country cream—at ½ the cost!

RECIPE:

Carnation
DOUBLE-QUICK BANANA PUDDING
(Makes 6 to 8 servings)

24 to 28 vanilla wafers
1 package vanilla pudding and pie filling mix
1 cup undiluted CARNATION EVAPORATED MILK
1 cup water
1 to 2 sliced bananas

Line a 1-quart casserole with vanilla wafers. Mix the pudding mix, Carnation and water in a saucepan. Cook according to package directions. Pour half of pudding mixture into lined casserole. Top with banana slices. Place remaining wafers on top of pudding. Cover with remaining pudding mixture. Chill before serving.

Carnation in the red and white can is the world's favorite brand

Flying Eagles in Reindeer Parade

By CHARLOTTE W. DOWNIE

The members of the popular Flying Eagles Motorcycle Club of Baltimore, participated in the order of the Reindeer's Parade in Atlantic City on Sept. 17.

After the festivities the members enjoyed the delicious breakfast served at the home of Mrs. Bessie Baldwin. Just too good looking were the monogrammed white shirts, black pants, white helmets and shining boots.

Members attending included John W. Harris, president, Norman Collins, vice president, Delois E. Speed, secretary, Bernard R. Robinson, treasurer, Marshall Duvall, leader and Charles Robinson, road captain.

Also Willie Gibson, business manager; Jesse Brown, Andrew Hall, Henry Coley, Estelle Collins and Elsie Robinson. Others were Emmy Duvall, financial secretary" Gerthina Gibson, Marbelle Brown and Mary Coley.

NOW THAT the fall season is here neighbors, many of our clubs are making plans for their many "little season" socials. Come Saturday Oct. 14, the Sunbeam Assembly No. 13 is having a record hop at the Popular Grove Democratic Club. Then the Modern-Etes Social Club invite you to attend their Rathaqueller Food Festival at 511 Brooks Lane. The doings begin at 6 p.m. Mrs. Mary Johnson is chairman; Mrs. Dorothy Robinson, co-chairman, Mrs. Bernice Williams, secretary, Mrs. June Cooper, treasurer.

Don't forget to swing with the Sporting Knights Social Club. Their dance is to be held at the Famous Ballroom on Sunday, Oct. 12 from 8-3. Russell Cooper is president and Raymond Alston, business manager.

A must see, is the program being given by the Rev Scott Trout and Cub Pack No. 808 to be held at School No. 66, McMechen and John Street in the auditorium. George Smith is Scout Master and Mrs. June D. Cooper is secretary.

On Monday October 2 the PTA of School No. 61 is having a general PTA meeting. Guest speaker will be Miss Ester Lazarus, Director of the Department of Welfare. Mrs. Lydia Wagner, president, John B. Graybill, principal, Mrs. J. D. Cooper, secretary.

Mrs. Audrey Epps is director, Mrs. Bertha Crews, assistant director, Mrs. Jeanette S. Revels, chairman and Rev. Hiram E. Smith, pastor. The annual Baby Show is sponsored by The Fulton Baptist Church, promises to be a grand affair.

What with dynamic Miss Pattie Holloway as superintendent of the Sunday School, it has to be a success. Dr. B. F. Jackson is pastor. Remember the date is Sunday October 1 at 4 p.m. The church is located at North Ave. and Retreat St.

A FEW WEEKS BACK the Baltimore chapter of Nafads, showed their best in designs at their national convention held in our nations capital.

Coming home with top awards in accessories was Ethel A. Clarke, receiving a silver loving cup and a gold medal for her beautiful set of hand made jewlery. Mr. Lynde Jordon received a bronze medal for his unusual African styled earrings of ebony and gold. In his absence his award was accepted by the chapter president, Nell Sheridan.

Two white crocheted outfits shown were by Gwendal S. Lewis and were chosen by the famed model Dorthea Towles, for her show held in D.C. The jet black sequin evening coat modeled by Hilda Kelson was designed by Hilly Wilkins. The black crepe spiral dress was designed and modeled by Miss Gwendolyn E. Biddle. It was an eyecatcher.

Francina Bean, who heads the junior chapter modeled three of her best ensembles from her fall collection at a luncheon. Nancy McNair Scruggs fashion illustrations, were admired so much.

Melinee Yarrell was on hand to model for Baltimore and D.C. chapters.

POT-POURRI. It's going to be a fabulous fall...beginning with that most interesting of offerings, the Morgan College Chamber Music Festival on the sixth. Among the artists presented will be the college's Carol Blanton Diggs pianist, and whose concert just may be followed by a reception planned chiefly by Gay Northeasterners.

THE ARENA PLAYERS will begin their Ninth Drama Season of dramatic productions at the Arena Playhouse Downtown, at the foot of Madison Avenue on Orchard Street.

Work is being done daily by working crews in order to transform this sturdy, historic building into a playhouse. Target date is set for November 16.

If all goes well the Ninth Drama Season opening will be November 16 thru 19, 1961.

Tentative Playbill includes Three One Act Plays by Albee, Parker and Milne in November; "Silent Night, Lonely Night" in December; Three One Act Plays by Noel Coward in February; "The Night Is My Enemy" in April; and Three One Act Plays in June.

Rhetta Hurd pens back from Los Angeles, Calif. of her fond memories of her visit in Baltimore...though she is still perturbed because a gift of perfume, and another of white and rose pin and earrings bore no card and she doesn't know the donors.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lansey and sponsored by the Baltimore chapter of Phi Delpa Kappa Sorority, who will also be presented at the holiday collition.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Monumental City Medical Society will hold its first fall session with Mrs. William Garner of Coldspring Lane at noon on Oct. 7.

After the business session the group will have fellowship over cards. Mrs. Eric White is president.

BACKACHE
Caused by Sluggish Kidneys
DeWitt's Pills help flush kidneys to relieve backache, body or joint pain, stiffness, irritation, nervousness and restlessness. DeWitt's Pills use direct diuretic action for improved kidney activity, and a mild analgesic for fast pain relief. Double-action DeWitt's Pills, often mean a more active life.
