MR. MARSHALL has for 25 years been associated with the legal work of the NAACP and has been director-counsel since 1950.

He was preceded in the handling of the organization's legal work by a number of outstanding attorneys Clarence Darrow and Charles H. Houston. Mr. Houston served as chief counsel for many years before his death in the late forties while the other two served in special cases for the NAACP. Mr. Darrow gaining nationwide publicity in the 1924 case with the "Sweet Case."

Mrs. Motley, long - time staff lawyer with the NAACP has been prominent in the school cases and recently represented the children in the successful effort to end school segregation in Atlanta Georgia.

Mr. Greenberg is a native New Yorker, a graduate of Columbia College and the Columbia University Law School, who has devoted all but one year of his professional legal career to the work of the Fund. During his 12 years on the Fund staff, he has worked on virtually every major civil rights case in which it has participated.

He helped to prepare the Legal Defense Fund brief in the School Segregation Cases of 1954-1955 and argued in those cases before the Supreme Court. He will argue the defense of students convicted in sit-in demonstrations in Baton Rouge, La., before the Supreme Court on Oct. 18, 1961, the first sit in case which the Supreme Court will hear.

MR. GREENBERG is the author of Race Relations and American Law, a book which is considered the authority in the field.

He is now conducting a study, under the auspices of the Columbia University Council for Research in Social Science of Civil Liberties in 17 countries.

He has been described as "a man who worships the law."

He is married to the former Sema Ann Tanzer of Wilmington, Del. The Greenbergs who live in Great Neck L.I., are the parents of four children.

land has no knowledge of the qualifications of students from Morgan State College who have been accepted or given assistance at such institutions as Harvard or Princeton.

"Acceptance for these (graduate) assistantships will continue to be based mainly on academic achievement, and all other things being equal, preference will continue to be given to Maryland candidates."

IN ITS SURVEY, the AFRO found that there is a gap in minimum salaries paid instructors at the University and at Maryland State.

Salaries for instructors at the University begin at $5,000 and at Princess Anne, $4,800; assistant professors at the University start at $6,000, at Princess Anne, $5,500; associate professors at the University, $7,500, and at Princess Anne, $7,000; full professors at the University get $9,500 to start, and at Princess Anne, $8,000.

The difference has been explained by University officials as preferable to the presence of a graduate school and a medical school at the University.

The story behind this is that higher salaries are necessary to attract personnel to staff these schools.

CRITICS OF THE salary differential have pointed out that teachers at both the University and Princess Anne should be paid on their achievements, regardless to which school they are affiliated.

On the question of athletes at Maryland, it was pointed out that one youth had tried out for the football team.

The youth later quit the the team in disgust, saying that he had been the victim of prejudice.

The student who was bypassed when it came time to select the managing editor of the Diamondback, is now employed as a reporter.

When he was at the University,he was one of the five sub-editors and the only male.

Traditionally, he was supposed to move up to the top post but a white girl was selected and he left the staff.

In commenting on the point, the University told the AFRO late Thursday that it "would stand on" its record.

SEVERAL weeks ago in another development on the college front, students at The Johns Hopkins University, issued a statement calling for the college to take more positive action toward integration in the matter of admittance, housing and other areas.

It called on the school administration to issue a statement backing up this plea, but so far the administration has been silent.

Along the same line faculty members at Goucher College called recently or integration in the Towson area.

bled eggs, toast and coffee she asked if I was taking it out.

"I said quite innocently, 'Oh no, I want to eat here.'

She said, "You can't eat here" and walked away before I could say another word.

"I had not realized what it was all about so I called back asking her why I couldn't eat in the restaurant. There was no reply.

"After sometime when she saw that I was persistent on being served, she came back and told me that she couldn't serve me because, 'Colored are not allowed to eat in here.'

"WHEN IT DAWNED on me what she meant a chill ran through my bones.

"When I recovered and asked to see the manager she ignored me.

"When I repeated my demand, a man who was also serving in the restaurant came up and asked what it was all about.

"I told him that I wanted to see the manager because the lady had refused to serve me breakfast.

"He told me pointedly that there was no question about seeing the manager because, 'Colored don't eat here.'

"At that stage I was compelled to tell him that I was a Nigrian. He retorted, 'It doesn't matter.'

"I told him that I was Nigerian not because I wanted to be treated differently from an American colored man, but in order to make sure that he would not plead ignorance of my identity.

"It was sometime before I recovered enough to leave the restaurant," Mr. Nwanya declared.

MR. BIDA described his experience at the Cottage Inn as "terrible and most annoying," especially since President Kennedy had asked Route 40 restaurants to serve everyone.

Mr. Bida stated that when he entered the restaurant with his wife, Bafwa; and their two sons Isa, 3, and Ahmed, 1, he was told that the restaurant did not serve colored people.

"I pulled out my identification card to prove that I was a diplomat but the man still refused.

"He gave me his business card to prove he meant what he said" Mr. Bida stated.

After leaving the Cottage Inn, Mr. Bida drove to the S and E Restaurant on Pulaski Highway at Allender Rd. He and his family were served in the "colored section."

The trip along Route 40 was the second for Mr. Bida. He was assigned to the New York consulate last July.

The diplomat had been to Washington to attend a celebration of Nigeria's first independence anniversary.

Mr. Bida told newsmen that he intended to report the incident to the State Department through his ambassador, Julius M. Udochi.

CLARENCE ROSIER, proprietor of the Cottage Inn told reporters that he offered to give the diplomat and his family "something to take out."

Mr. Rosier added that the fact that Mr. Bida was a diplomat made no difference because "They don't pay our bills."

Raymond Leicht, proprietor of the S and E said his restaurant is segregated because most of his customers are from the South.

Denial of service to Mr. Bida was the latest in a series of similiar incidents involving foreign diplomats along Route 40.

PEDRO A. SANJAUN, assistant chief of protocol for the State Department reported that on a tour of nine restaurants along Route 40 Wednesday, he found some restaurant owners willing to serve everyone providing all do it at the same time.

Mr. Sanjuan said he made the tour in order to make a first hand appraisal of the owners' attitudes.

He also praised the stand the governor, with Thomas B. Finan, attorney general, and Louis L. Goldstein, comptroller.

Here is the text of his statement to the AFRO on the need for public accommodation legislation:

"THE RECENT denial of service to a Nigerian diplomat, his wife and two small children at a Maryland restaurant has once again focused attention on the problem of segregated public facilities in our state.

"I share President's Kennedy's distress and concern over the continuing series of incidents of racial discrimination in restaurants along Maryland highways.

"These incidents can no longer be considered local or isolated. Their effect is too far reaching.

"Every time a foreign dignitary or an American citizen is denied access to a public facility solely because of his racial origin it provides more grist for the communist propaganda mill.

"Since World War II we have spent billions of dollars in taxpayers' money in an effort to win friends among the uncommitted nations and expand the frontiers of freedom throughout the world.

"WE HAVE GIVEN our full support to the United Nations. Its permanent headquarters are located here, which I believe gives us a decided advantage.

"Thousands of United Nations delegates have visited our country and have gone home with a better understanding of our country and its people.

"As host nation to this world forum we can ill afford to allow the insults and affronts to United Nations and other foreign diplomats to continue.

"Throughout our diplomatic history, one of the most popular and successful concepts has been our 'good neighbor policy.'

"We are now striving to re-establish this basic policy in Africa, Asia as well as in Latin America. It surely can not succeed unless we are good neighbors at home as well as abroad.

"In recent weeks, representatives of federal and state government, labor, business and interstate groups have met in an effort to secure a voluntary end to discrimination in restaurants and other places of public accommodation in Maryland.

"The voluntary approach is certainly to be preferred, but unfortunately, these efforts and persuasion have at best met only with partial success.

"I certainly recognize and approve the right of an owner of a public facility to establish and enforce objective standards governing the mode of dress and the social conduct of his patrons.

"Most of us regulate guests in our homes in much the same manner but if a man who is licensed by the public chooses to serve the public, then he should do just that.

"And if he refuses to do so voluntarily then the public, through its elected representatives must secure legislation to guarantee that all of the public shall be treated equally.

"To do less makes a mockery of the principles of freedom and equality on which our democracy is based and which we are striving to establish throughout the rest of the world."

Harry Belafonte leaves hospital

NEW YORK — Harry Belafonte, admitted to Doctors Hospital last Tuesday (Sept. 26th) for a respiratory ailment, was sufficiently recovered to leave the hospital early this week.

While confined to Doctors, the actor - singer underwent treatment for a lingering cold and an inflamed throat.

taken by Gov. J. Millard Tawes who early this week indicated that he would support legislation in the next session of the General Assembly to end segregation in restaurants and hotels.

Finally one police capt. for D.C.?

WASHINGTON

LT. OWEN B. DAVIS, of the Second Precinct, just could be Washington, D.C.'s first colored police captain.

The pleasant and very popular police official received a 95 efficiency rating. He'll take the police promotion exams on Oct. 21. Since the rating counts 60 percent vis - a - vis 40 percent for the exams, Lt. Davis' chances for promotion are excellent.

Capt. James E. Stargil who now heads up the 2nd Precinct (and who incidentally has been doing a remarkably fine job in that area) is reported slated for a post at main headquarters.

Should Lt. Davis win his promotion, he then would be a likely candidate to step in and continue Capt. Stargil's good work in the 2nd Precinct.

So, Lt. Davis is spending his evenings studying — in fact that's all he's doing evenings.

The promotion would do more to elevate the nation's capital police force internationally and nationally as a symbol of fair play than any other step that could be taken. Everybody but everybody watches Washington.

Let's all pull for the able Lt. Davis on this one.

ON OTHER police fronts, Virgil Hood, narcotics policeman who was exonerated of charges against him, received a 91 efficiency rating and likewise stands a good chance of promotion. Pvt. Ted Harris who was also exonerated of charges recently received a 79 efficiency rating.

Mrs. Parham gets bulk of estate

The bulk of the $13,987.50 estate of Mrs. Lillian E. Brown, including her home in Morgan Park, will go to her longtime protege, Mrs. Alice Parham.

Mrs. Brown, the widow of Dr. E. B. Brown, necessity of the Morgan State College faculty, died on August 26. Her will, drawn on March 10, 1960, listed only five other small bequests.

THE BEQUESTS included $100 to Miss Sylvia Pennock; $450 to Dr. I. B. Higgins; $50 to Walter T. Armstrong; and $200 to Clark University, Worcester, in memory of her husband.

Mrs. Brown had also willed $200 to the late Mrs. Vashti Murphy, but under the document, that bequest lapsed with Mrs. Murphy's death and became a part of the residue.

IN THE WILL Mrs. Brown, in listing the above bequests, added that she wished "the balance to go to my faithful friend, Mrs. Alice Parham. It is my wish that she retain the house and furnishings intact if she so desires. It is my wish that she occupy the premises immediately upon my death to the end that she may have full enjoyment thereof."

She named Mrs. Parham's husband, Clarence Parham, executor. The will was witnessed by Dr. Irene Diggs and Dr. Frederic A. Jackson.

Zoning halts planned gas station near church

An appeal to allow the construction of a gasoline service station at 2201-05 Madison Ave. was rejected Tuesday by the Board of Municipal and Zoning Appeals.

The proposed location of the service station there was protested by the Rev. C. H. Churn, pastor, and officials of the Union Temple Baptist Church, nearby at North and Madison Aves.

The Rev. Mr. Churcn told the board members that activities at the church draw many members every evening of the week, as well as on Sundays, and the traffic resulting from a service station nearby would create a menace.

THE BOARD also rejected an appeal to allow the use of the basement at 502 N. Calhoun St. for storage space.

A hearing on the request to establish a day nursery and one dwelling unit at 4136 Forest Park Ave. was postponed until Oct. 24.

No hearings are scheduled for the coming Tuesday.

On Oct. 17, however, among the cases to be heard are appeals to permit a rooming house at 4012 Maine Ave., a basement storeage at 620 N. Gilmor St., and to allow the enclosing of a front porch at 1811 N. Bentalou St.
