Sign Of The Times—Teaching Via TV

By GARY REYNOLDS

Should you switch on your television set early in the morning, about 6:15 to 6:45, a tall scholarly, grey haired man with a heavy grey moustache might stare back at you.

The man is Dr. Waters Turpin, associate professor of English at Morgan State College.

The program is "Modern Drama," presented Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 6:15 to 6:45 a.m., over WJZ-TV.

Scheduled to run 15 weeks, the program explores the world of drama and the people who write it.

Against a backdrop of bookfilled shelves, a blackboard and stage models of bygone days, Dr. Turpin discusses the past and present drama trends and personalities.

Sample:....."In our initial discussion we attempted to arrive at a definition of drama which would embrace the term conceptually. That is to capture the many facets of drama through association of cores of ideas."

You might not understand all of what he says but students taking the course for credit, will want to get every word of it.

Beginning with the turn of the century, the program will discuss plays and writers who have contributed to the main stream of drama all over the world.

* * *

IT DOES not show entire plays instead; Dr. Turpin discusses those plays assigned to be read by students taking the course for credit.

In addition to viewing the program, students, to get credit, must also attend a one hour lecture, either Wednesday, 6:30 p.m., or Saturday, 10:-11:30 a.m.

A set of index cards explaining details of the plays read, must also be kept by students.

An outline of the plays to be read, and other studies for the course, is available to students and others, at the college office.

Today, Friday, is the last day to register for the course.

* * *

DR. TURPIN at the request of the station, taped the program three lessons in advance.

Says Dr. Turpin: "I would estimate it takes between 16-20 hours in research and preparation for one good half hour show."

The station publicity man, Ed Friers, agrees with the amount of work required by Dr. Turpin to give the program the perfection desired.

When that many hours of television work, it leaves Dr. Turpin little time for other courses. He does, however, manage to teach another hour course in dramatic literature three times a week.

TO HIS role as narrator and so far, the only person on the show, the professor brings the experience of long years of teaching, studying and writing drama.

A graduate of Morgan State with a masters and doctorate in English from Columbia University, he has taught at Storer College and Lincoln University in Missouri.

He has written three plays himself: "Let Them Perish," a drama of the depression; "St. Michael's Dawn", dealing with Frederick Douglass, and "Libreto." The last one, he hopes, will be done professionally some day.

All have been performed on the Morgan campus by the Ira Aldridge Players.

His close associaton with drama for more years than he cared to mention, has made Dr. Turpin acutely aware of the emergence of the colored actor in the dramatic arts.

* * *

DR. TURPIN sees "the social and economic resurgence of African nations and the new image of the colored man," as making quite an imprint on whatever today's playwrights do, as a whole.

"The old colored man is gone by the boards. We must now begin to look at him as a human being within this culture."

Then too, "says Dr. Turpin" the "colored man is taking a new look at life and acquiring new techniques with which to express his true self."

"Seven Times Monday," and "A Man is Ten Feet Tall," both presented on television, are examples of the colored man in his new role, says Dr. Turpin.

"A Raisin in the Sun" is another good example, says Dr. Turpin, but "great plays have yet to be written that deal with the colored man in his new role."

TV MODERN DRAMA — Dr. Waters Turpin, examines a stage model of several centuries ago during his "Modern Drama" television show, Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 6:15-6:45 a.m. over WJZ-TV. Dr. Turpin discusses the world of drama since the turn of the century.

CAMPUS NOTES

'Miss Contests' Hold Interest

By LAVANIA RICE And ROBERT WATTS

Now that everyone has made their "Welcome Backs" "How was your summer", and "It's good to see you again", things have again reached a normal pace.

For those of you who worked this summer and didn't quite reach your goals, financially, there is a recently organized club on Morgan's Campus that is looking for new investors to cash in on the jewelry business next summer.

The business has proven to be quite profitable considering there were more than 10 marriages this summer on Morgan's Campus. WILL THIS MADNESS EVER STOP.

New Faces On Campus

Among the new faces on Morgan's campus this semester includes Michael May, a transfer student from Maryland; Bourne Thornton, Howard U.; Bernard Payne, Central State; and Arthur Williams, a graduate of Baltimore Junior College. Both Annie P. Irby and Carolyn B. Ricks are now attending Coppin State Teachers College.

The Miss ??? Contests

The students at Coppin State Teachers are looking forward to crowning their new Miss Coppin. Those in the contest are Marjorie Rawlings, Lillian Street and Sandra Oliver.

On Morgan's campus the candidates are focused on the Homecoming Queen contest. Those competing for this title are: Mary A. Gilbert, Lois Chinnery, Jerilyn Murray, Barbara Clanton and that's all.

THE IRA ALDRIDGE Players of Morgan State College are currently working on a play entitled "The Brick and the Rose" for Religion and Life Week.

Plans for this year include trips to New York, Virginia, and Florida A and M.

The group is under the direction of A. C. Lamb and Waters Turpin. On W.J.Z.TV, each morning at 6:15, Dr. Turpin is giving lectures on drama, so why don't you lend an ear?

At present the C.I.G. is represented in all colleges and high schools around the city, yet the membership goal has yet to be reached. Perhaps it may be working along with "The Governors Commission on Interracial Problems and Affairs."

The advisors of this group are Dr. August Meier, and Rev. Fraser. The president of the group is Mr. Clarence Logan.

If you have a little spare time and you are looking for something worth-while to devote your time to, why not become an active member of this very worthy organization. The representatives are: Lou Williams Coppin State Teachers; Dave Going, Towson State; and Corrine Becker, Goucher College.

Inquiring Reporter

Question: What do you think of the State Department's sudden concern for African diplomats?

SHEILA C. FRASER '!! feel that the concern is a good one."

CHARLES WATTS, "The situation on a whole is contrary to Democratic ideas and basic freedom. The rights of people as citizens should be respected, not because they are Diplomats, but because they are human beings."

MILSTON GRADY "I think that the whole idea is absurd, and represents clouded thinking, and a definite lack of foresight.

The Personality of the Week: This week's dashing personality is Miss Joan L. Queen. Although she might easily be mistaken at sit on of the "Ebony Fashion Fair Models", she is a junior at Morgan State College and is preparing for a future in the field of secondary education.

Joanie is a graduate of Western High School, where she was very active in the tennis club and the art and musical appreciation clubs.

On Morgan's campus these interest have continued.

Among Joan's hobbies are swimming, reading and traveling the latter which she fulfilled this summer.

Joan's future plans are remaining 2 happy years at Morgan and then to work.

Rowan speaks Nov. 15 at Morgan State College

Carl T. Rowan, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State and former correspondent for the Minneapolis Tribune, will be the Founder's Day speaker at Morgan State College on Wednesday, Nov. 15.

Mr. Rowan is the only journalist in the U.S. to have won three successive annual medallions from Sigma Delta Chi, the nation's leading organization of professional newspapermen.

He was named as one of "America's ten outstanding young men of 1953" by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce and in 1954 was asked by the State Department to help interpret America to Asians by lecturing on "The Role of the Newspaper in Social Change."

The first of his four books, South of Freedom (1953), The Pitiful and the Proud (1956), Go South to Sorrow (1957), and Wait 'Till Next Year (1960), a biography of (1957), and Wait Till Next Year (1960), a biography of Jackie Robinson, were named to the American Library Association's annual list of "best books of the year."

Morgan State has record enrollment

Morgan State College enrollment figures for the 1961-62 academic year has reached a record 2,601 students, according to figures released this week by Edward N. Wilson, registrar.

An unprecedented number of entering freshmen, totaling 679, upped the regular college freshman class figure to 1194.

There are 531 sophomores, 365 juniors, 272 seniors, 73 special and 4 unclassified students.

The registrants in the evening college number 252 students who have not yet been computed by classification.

THE OUT-OF-STATE student representation, controlled by regulation limiting it to 20 per cent of the total, stands at 306.

The total regular college enrollment is 2,349 students, including 33 transfer and 38 special students.

Morgan State's regular college enrollment this time last year, also record-breaking, was 2,186.

It has been indicated by some trend spotters and predictors that Morgan State's enrollment will double within the decade as a result of the surge of interest in college training throughout the nation.

Of the 2,349 students registered in the college during day sessions, 1,195 are male and 1,154 female, giving the men a margin of 31.

SRO crowd hears McKeldin

There was standing room only at School 144 Wednesday evening when formen Gov. Theodore McKeldin addressed the first PTA meeting of the year.

Mr. McKeldin spoke of parent responsibility, particularly the need for parents to set a good example for their children.

"It shows in your face. You can put on all the show you want and do all the talking you want, but the true meaning of what you are shows in your face," he said.

He explained that many times children will do what is right if parents set the right example.

Mrs. Mary N. Brooks is principal. Joe Newton is PTA president.

SENIOR DAY SMILES at Western High School come from, seated, Miss Josie Goodwin and Miss Theresa Francis; and standing, same order; Misses Peggy Jones, Gertrude Hughes and Regina Monrague.

FASCINATED — The life of fish in an aquarium holds a stong fascination for Glenn McCallister who is a kindergarten pupil at the Beale Elliott School No. 108, Gilmor and Presstman Sts.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain
New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.
Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinkage) took place.
And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months.
In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among those sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of medicines, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.
This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.
