Gadabouting In Baltimore

Club groups control the party business

withL ula Jones Garrett

Baltimore party makers run in packs . . . club packs. So, if one skips the aggregation affairs, half the fun skips right out through the window.

Take the club affairs, the past week, for instance.

ON SATURDAY afternoon, the Girl Friends were being entertained by Bernice Chatman and the B.O.Y's by Mildred Seaborne in adjacent rooms in Wilson's Restaurant.

At times it was difficult to say who belonged where, what with the visiting back and forth.

When Ethel Henry of the B.O.Y's laid down a dummy hand at bridge, she was over in the room with the Girl Friends trying to carry a few hot numbers at the piano . . . and when Bernice was ready to have her delicious luncheon served she had to garner Girl Friends Vera Williams and Irma Roy who were cocktailing with the B.O.Y.'s.

In fact, Hostess Seaborne popped in next door for a few steps and a bit of chatter; and when the G.F.'s were amid a pause of transacting business for their Christmas cotillion, Hostess Chatman's nose war stuck through the folding doors in conversation with B.O.Y. Audrey Butler.

It was great fun.

Mrs. Seaborne had as guests Ethel Hedges, Elizabeth Henderson, Ethel Payne, Lillian Murphy, Ethel Hecles, Dellaphine Warrington, Viola Wright, Juanita Young, Mamie Woodford and Alma Parker. Mesdames Hedges, Henderson and Hecles took the bridge prizes.

Club members attending included Ida Berry, Pauline Bond, Audrey Butler, Mabel Fribby, Eunice Hart, Ethel Henry, Gladys Randolph, Emily Wharton, Hermione Wharton, Flossie Wright, Connie Jackson. Mesdames Jackson and Wright garnered pinochle prizes; and Mrs. Berry the bridge prize.

Mrs. Chatman was hostess to G.F.'s Mae Williams, Elizabeth Stewart, Catherine Law, Anita Wheatley, Olga Parker, Elsie Deteen, Ellen Robinson, the chapter president.

Also Irma Roy, Laura Jones, Agnes Patterson, Gwendolyn Lewis, Gaynelle Spaulding, Vera Williams, Lula Patterson, Georgeanna Chester and Catherine Wilson.

MORE THAN 100 members of the Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity welcomed their new national head Saturday night at a special meeting and reception held at the Kappa House, 1307 Eutaw Place.

The new grand polemarch is Richard E. Billingsley, Esq., lawyer of Opelousas, La., long active on the board of directors of the fraternity. He was accompanied by the senior vice - grand polemarch, Thomas Bradley, Esq., a lieutenant on the Los Angeles Police Department and a lawyer by training.

In addition to the local Kappanoes, others came from the Washington Alumni Chapter, lead by Robert Fair, vice - polemarch; from Xi Chapter of Howard University, and from the Petersburg Alumni Chapter. The local members included both alumni and members of the undergraduate Alpha Iota Chapter at Morgan State College.

Douglass class at 20th anniversary

The 20th anniversary reunion of the Douglass High School June 1941 graduating class was observed Friday night at a dinner dance in Wilson's Restaurant.

The guest speakers were Miss Nellie Buchanan and Mr. and Mrs. "Duck" Gibson.

The theme of the program was "It was said and done in '41!" Mrs. Jacqueline Johnson Owens brought back memories with a solo "Mean to Me," while Franklin L. Wilson, a member of the '41 Quartet, gave his rendition of the spiritual "I Stood on the River Jordan."

A gift of a plaque was presented to the school from the Class.

From 10 until 2, the "41ers" reminisced, ate, danced.

ON SUNDAY, the Class of '41 worshipped at Union Baptist Church, where the Rev. Vernon Dobson, a classmate, and assistant pastor, delivered the address.

His theme "Who Am I? What do I Want? and How do I get it?" gave inspiration and thought to all his former classmates. After the sermon, the class of '41 presented a $25 check to the Rev. Dobson for the Harvey Johnson Youth Center.

At 2 p.m. a family picnic was held at "The Forrest" and classmates brought their children along to enjoy the festivities.

There was badminton, horseshoes, baseball, dancing and dining.

CLASSMATES joining in the weekend festivities were:

Mesdames Maslyes Addison, Irene Alexander, Mary W. Barnes, Mary Bevins, Viola Clanton, Reza Brailsford, Amelia Brooks,
