Also Judge William H. Hastie of the United States Court of Appeals, Third Circuit; Manhattan Borough President Edward R. Dudley, and former Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy.

Before administering the oath of office, Chief Judge J. Edward Lumbard praised Judge Marshall for his record in the civil liberties field.

JUDGE LUMBARD called "fortunate" the Kennedy appointment of such an "eminent and knowledgeable a member of the bar as Mr. Thurgood Marshall."

tion is based upon compromising away the rights of a single colored citizen of Maryland."

Referring to a letter from Blair Lee III, Montgomery County delegate to the General Assembly and candidate for U.S. Senator, which he said contained a "threat to withdraw his support of equal accommodation legislation," Mr. Hobson said:

"He talks about freedom in Maryland, but he apparently is talking about freedom for the white man because the colored Marylander is not represented in the legislature and do not enjoy full citizenship in the state."

"Mr. Lee," the CORE official continued, "claims that Maryland will not yield to outside pressure, but at the same time he asks colored citizens in the U.S. to yield to outside pressure by giving up full citizenship in the name of international relations."

MR. LEE'S letter, also sent to the Baltimore CORE chapter, should be "regarded as a friendly warning and not as a hostile threat," the legislator said.

If the "freedom ride" is carried out, he warned: "I predict it will be recorded as one of the most foolish and self-defeating episodes in the history of civil rights.

"It could lead to an indefinite delay in the passage of a public accommodations bill," Mr. Lee declared.

Marylanders, Mr. Lee told CORE, ... "have developed" an intense aversion to outside pressure on our domestic affairs," and added:

... "I'm fully prepared to support the bill during the remainder of my term at Annapolis — but only if I can do so as a free and independent Marylander, without the fact or the appearance of yielding to outside pressure."

WILLIAM C. ROGERS, chairman, Maryland Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations, also appealed to Mr. Hobson to drop the Route 40 excursion and invited CORE to meet with his group at its convention.

"It is the unanimous opinion of this commission that the proposed 'freedom ride' on Route 40 will have a disastrous effect on the cause for which we all are working," Mr. Rogers said.

Voicing optimism that the Legislative Council will introduce a statewide public accommodations bill having the backing of the governor at the next session, the commission chairman told CORE:

"... Any demonstration at this time will disturb this approving climate. We share your impatience at ending discrimination," Mr. Rogers declared, "but your proposed action will inevitably prolong this struggle — perhaps for years.

"Our commission stands ready to confer with you at your convenience to map strategy for achieving our common goals," Mr. Rogers concluded.

MR. HOBSON said the invitation will be discussed at the national CORE meeting in New York Saturday and a decision will be made at that time.

Any possible discussion between the groups, the director said, must include the Baltimore Chapter chairman and Mrs. Juanita J. Mitchell, NAACP's Legal Redress Committee secretary.

Mrs. Mitchell should be included, Mr. Hobson stated, "because if any one can speak for colored citizens of Maryland, it is Mrs. Mitchell."

The NAACP told CORE officials it stands "ready to assist in every way your proposed Freedom Ride on Route 40."

Heads of the state have failed to put public accommodations measures into law for the pass 10 years, the NAACP said.

Calling discrimination in the "Free State" a national and international disgrace, the NAACP declared:

"The long-suffering colored citizens of this state welcome your adventure and you may depend on our full and complete cooperation."

SOLOMON RAYLOR, treasurer of the local CORE chapter said his group endorses the plan wholeheartedly.

LAST WEEK Governor Tawes asked "all interested in ending discrimination and concerned with the American position abroad to refrain from any undertakings which may negate Federal and state programs of moral suasion."

Saying he understands the anxiety to end these unfortunate incidents (refusing colored persons service), the governor advised against "rash action which will hinder rather than assist" in solving the problem.

Last week, Maryland restaurant owners called on Governor Tawes to convene a special session of the General Assembly to pass public accommodations legislation. They contended restaurant and hotel segregation is not a regional but statewide problem.

A committee of Route 40 restaurant owners, formed to work with the State Department in wiping out segregation, disbanded. They, too, said it can only be solved by the General Assembly.

The executive branch of the Federal government entered the controversy when it became alarmed by insults to several African diplomats who sought service at the Route 40 eating establishments.

Maryland and America have been condemned abroad for the practice.

which he read to me...

"We sought you at Ivy Avenue address to serve you the papers attendant upon divorce, but could not locate you there or elsewhere in Baltimore. The only alternative left was to advertise.

"Our attempts to discover the owner of 2336 Ivy Avenue was also futile. All we found was that the taxes were being paid by one Nellie Hare. Are you aware of this?

"How did Miss or Mrs. Nellie Hare become taxpayer? How do you hope to claim the property without my signature?

"After over twenty years of separation, you still do not want me to have a divorce! Why?"

IN TESTIMONY, Father Croll said that he and Mrs. Croll were married on August 21, 1924, and that the marriage ended in May, 1934.

"I left my wife because at that time she actually locked me out. I returned to the house and talked with her about a week after to get my clothes. At that time, she indicated that she was through, and that separation was agreeable to her."

Wilfred J. Capee of 1113 Edmondson Ave., who said that he has known Father Croll for more than 30 years, was witness.

He told the Master that the clergyman came to his home and stayed. He said that he felt that Mrs. Croll had agreed to a separation.

The divorce was granted on the grounds of voluntary separation. G. Wallace Colburn and Niles-Barton-Gaus and Markell were attorneys for Father Croll.

Woman Power to formally launch its drive to build new Provident Hospital

Some months ago, AFRO Columnist Max Johnson challenged the Baltimore citizenry to do more than talk about the need for a new hospital in Northwest Baltimore.

Subsequently, Dr. Delores Hunt specifically challenged WOMAN POWER to use its large following of women to do something about this important need. And WOMAN POWER did something about it!

Early in the spring, following conferences with officials of Provident Hospital, important community groups and prominent individuals, the WOMAN POWER plan of individual sacrificial giving from women was evolved.

Thus, on Sunday, Nov. 5 at 12:30 p.m. at the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel, the Fourth ANNUAL WOMAN POWER LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE AND LUNCHEON will formally open a drive for funds for a new hospital in Northwest Baltimore.

Women have and are signing pledges to give $120 at $10 per month for one year to provide the nucleus of a building fund for a new hospital facility.

Many, many women are not only giving of their funds, but also of their time, talent and energy to make this drive an overwhelming success.

November's luncheon will supply facts pointing up the drastic need for such an institution with a discussion leader drawn from the ranks of doctors, nurses, and concerned lay personnel.

UNDER THE leadership of Mrs. James Murphy and Mrs. William Gosnell, 115 interested women have pledged themselves to this effort.

Our ambitious goal is 1000 women dedicating this year—November 1961 to November 1962 — to realize the dream in the mind of Max Johnson and Dr. Delores Hunt, when they separately challenged the Baltimore public to "do something about a New Provident Hospital."

Benjamin King of King-Reynolds accounting firm volunteered the services of his office to set up and supervise the handling of all monies.

Earl Koger and Sons, Inc. have secured bonds and insurance to cover the persons charged with the finances for this project.

Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips of the AFRO-AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS heads the publicity department, assisted by Mrs. Willamae Valentine, Mrs. Elizabeth Oliver and Mrs. Lula Patterson.

Among other women who are devoting this year to the hospital are Mrs. Marguerite Harmon, treasurer, assisted by Mr. Gertrude Venable; Mrs. Bernice White, secretary; Dr. Delores Hunt, honorary chairman; Mrs. Lydia Mussenden, luncheon chairman; Mrs. Verniece Reynolds, chairman of speakers' bureau; Mrs. Elinor Burton, chairman of communications.

THE BALTIMORE Chapter of Girl Friends has chosen this project in the community interest for their debutantes, assigning these young women to the detailed duties involved in such a project.

Miss Susie Strother, a newcomer to Baltimore, who has a morning program over WEBB sponsored by Food Fair Co., has not only given her pledge, but also has arranged radio interviews over her 10:15 a.m. program on Monday, Oct. 30th.

Of the $120 given by each woman, $100 will be deposited in Advance Savings and Loan Asso., earmarked for the building fund; $10 will be used for the expense of underwriting this project; $3.50 for Woman Power dues for 1961 and 1962; $6.50 for the VICTORY LUNCHEON in November 1962.

Thus each woman will automatically be contributing to the building fund, helping to make such a fund possible by sharing the cost of operation, becoming a member of Woman Power through 1962, and receiving her ticket for the VICTORY LUNCHEON at the culmination of the drive in 1962.

PRECEDING the "kick-off" luncheon on November 5th have been a series of "Inspirational Insight" meetings.

Dr. Delores Hunt at the first of these told you of the need to "grow up" in the area of civic responsibility. Mrs. Samuel Rochberg, wife of Sinai Hospital's Anaesthesia Department Head, at a Sunday brunch at Wilson's Restaurant, emphasized the great work that women can and must do if the community health is to be protected.

Mrs. Agnes Williams and Mrs. Mildred Hughes were participants from Provident Staff.

Among the plans for the year's activities will be more of these meetings with important speakers from all areas of the city. Organizations and club groups are invited to ask for speakers to give project details to their memberships. All women are urged and invited to sacrifice this year for a NEW PROVIDENT HOSPITAL.

Mrs. Victorine Adams and Mrs. Ethel Rich are executive director and executive secretary, respectively, of Woman Power.

Provident will help raise funds

The Provident Hospital board of trustees has announced that if and when the State and city provides funds for the construction of a new hospital, the trustees will conduct a fund raising campaign.

This campaign, the trustees said, will raise the public's share of the funds which will be needed to build a new hospital.

Under the present plans, the city and the state are to each provide $2,400,000 for the hospital, and the community is to raise $800,000.

However, no action can be taken until the General Assembly passes legislation authorizing both the city and the state to float bonds to secure the funds.

Once this is done, the city will be able to submit the bond issue to the public.

In its statement, the trustees asked that a special session of the General Assembly be called to pass the necessary legislation.
