Day of decision arrives for Carver and Collegians

Both Carver and McDonogh face twofold threats from the opposition when they take the field against each other in what promises to be the climactic game of the MSA Division B football race today (Friday) at McDonogh.

The Trainers will have to stop fullback George Thomas, a bruising runner who figured prominently in the defeat of Southern last weekend.

And they'll do well to keep their eyes on Andy Beach, McDonogh's long - limbed end who snares passes with the best schoolboys in the area and who is equally adept at smearing enemy offenses.

McDONOGH, on the other hand, may have her hands full containing Carver's Ted Manning.

The big, 6-4, 200 - pound end is fifth among MSA scorers and is the favorite target of quarterback Eddie Goldor.

Halfback Clyde Milner also could prove a troublesome fellow for the Dons.

Milner's speedy slants off tackle and around the wings have caused many headaches for Trainer foes who concentrated on stopping the up-the middle thrusts of Milt Brown.

IN THE MEANTIME, Douglass' hard-put defensive unit goes up against a real tartar in taking the field against City in a crucial A Division contest.

The Ducks will have Tom Duley — the Collegians' top scorer and fourth in the conference — running at them.

Duley has registered 45 points, four behind Alvin Lee one of several players integrating the Poly lineup, who is in third place in the conference scoring race.

NORM BURKETT, who became a star at Forest Park shortly after desegregation became effective at the far Northwest school, is in second place in point-getting.

The MSA sprint champion is runner-up in this department to Loyola's Henry Blaha, who leads Burkett by the margin of a 2-point conversion, 62-60.

Eagles nix 'Skins bid for JC tilt

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., — The world champion Philadelphia Eagles revealed on Thursday that they have turned thumbs down on an invitation by the Washington Redskins to participate in a pre-season football game at Norfolk, Va., next fall.

Redskins president George Preston Marshall early this week sent the Eagles a contract offering an exhibition booking in Norfolk's Foreman Field on Sept. 1, 1962. On Wednesday, the bid was returned to the Washington club unsigned.

GENERAL MANAGER Vince McNally said the Eagles felt obligated to decline the invitation in deference to their colored players — fullback Clarence Peaks and halfbacks Ted Dean, Tom Brown and Irv Cross.

The four athletes, answering a query by the front office, said they preferred not to play before a segregated audience such as Virginia laws require. McNally said further consideration of the Redskin invitation was immediately dropped.

FOREMAN FIELD, where the proposed game was to have been played, was the scene of a Redskins—Baltimore Colts exhibition on August 26.

Seven members of the Baltimore team took the field for that contest with assurances from owner Carroll Rosenbloom and National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle that they would not again be asked to play under jim-crow conditions.

Bears homecoming guests of Panthers

RICHMOND, Va. — The Virginia Union University Panthers will meet the Morgan State College Bears, Saturday at Hovey Field in Richmond.

This will be Union's Homecoming and Coach Thomas Harris of the Panthers is concentrating on his backfield as an insurance measure in his attempt to lick the Bears before what is expected to be a capacity crowd.

The game will mark the twenty-second encounter with the Bears in the past 31 years.

In the first game of this series, Union came out on top, but during the period 1932-1936, the Panthers were unable to score on the Bears, who tallied a total of 68 points against them.

In the twenty-two games from 1930 to 1961, Union was able to taste victory on but four occasions, while compromising with three ties and suffering fourteen defeats.

As the record stands the Panthers have a lot to recover and a lot to fight for in this Homecoming Classic.

Elaborate plans are being made for the 1961 homecoming. Advance tickets may be secured through the Business Office after Oct. 20, for $2, but after Oct., they will sell for $2.50.

within a week. Last Saturday afternoon, Robinson's charges took on Forest Park, which then was in second place, and knocked her off, 34-20, at Kirk Field.

The victory over the Foresters and McDonogh's 15-6 conquest of Southern enabled the Dons to move into second place and take over the chase of Carver.

ALTHOUGH past performance is not to be relied upon in any class of gridiron competition, Carver rates favoritism over McDonogh based on its record against the common opponent, Forest Park.

The Foresters dealt McDonogh her only defeat of the MSA campaign, 18-12, on Oct. 6.

But when Forest PPark opposed the Trainers last Saturday, she was subdued by 14 points.

MEANWHILE, in A Division, Douglass is in a position to salvage some respectability from a season this is only 1-4 to date.

Coach Mack Payne and his ambitious Ducks entertain unbeaten City in a game that could be every bit as important to the Collegians as the McDonogh tiff is to Carver.

Should City, now 4-0, pick up another win over Douglass, she might very well be out of reach of her chief rivals. City's nex opponent is Calvert Hall, a club that has considerable trouble jelling into a serious threat.

The Ducks do not ifuger to stop the Collegians, yet coach George Young realizes he cannot take too lightly a Douglass eleven which last week tallied 20 points against a rugged Loyola team.

The latter won, 28-20, but the margin of difference was small enough to give underdog Douglass a big morale lift for today.

DUNBAR HIGH seeks to solidify its hold on fourth place in the A grouping when the Poets tangle with Patterson Park at Kirk Field.

This, plus a winning season, would be assured coach Sugar Cain's every if it develops that Dunbar can contain coach Bill Mueller's Pats.

Held to a scoreless tie last week by winless Mt. St. Joe, the Bards figure to rebound today. At the moment, they are 2-2-1, while Patterson is 2-3.—SAM LACY.

Willie Wood, D.C. athlete pleasant Packer surprise

Willie Wood, though a mere 5-10 and 185 pounds, is a big man in the scheme of things for the talent-laden Green Bay Packers.

The Packers, leading the Western Conference of the National Football League, invade Memorial Stadium Sunday for an appointment with the Baltimore Colts. And Wood, a product of Washington's (DC) Armstrong High School figures to be an important factor in what takes place.

WILLIE went to Southern upon graduation from Armstrong and immediately became newsworthy as one of the first athletes to integrate the major football powers.

He called signals for the famed Trojans and graduated with honors. Because of his size, however, he was ignored in the NFL draft three years ago. Only after intervention by a Washington Police Boys Club counselor and coach Don Clark at USC, was Wood picked up as a free agent by the Packers.

He made good immediately as a defensive back, moved the veteran Emlen Tunnell to the sidelines and took over as the ace of Green Bay's punt and kickoff receiving teams.

TODAY, he is referred to by conservative coach Vince Lombardi as "one of the league's most exciting players."

Last Sunday, In Miwaukee, Wood proved his versatility by stepping into the role of kickoff man following injury to great Paul Hornung. He proved as adept at that assignment as he had in each of the other roles that have been given him the past two seasons.

THE COLTS have a mighty task confronting them in the Packers.

The Green Bay juggernaut hasn't been extended by any foe since the season-opening 17-13 defeat by Detroit. Fullback Jim Taylor and halfback Hornung, who rushed for a combined 153 yards in the first 1961 clash with the Colts, have continued to supply the one-two sting in the Packers' attack, while quarterback Bart Starr has directed the onslaught with deadly efficiency.

The underrated Starr can also pick up any slack with his accurate aerials to such towering and talented receivers as Max McGee, 6-3, 205; Boyd Dowler, 6-5, 225; and Ron Kramer, 6-3, 230.

And the Packers' defense, as the Hosses discovered in being limited to a single score in Green Bay, has been virtually impregnable.

BOWLING IS FOR FUN

Bowling is a family sport that Mom and the kids will enjoy every bit as much as dad does. Might beat him at his game, too.

On our lanes, the bowling's fast and exciting, but in a relaxed atmosphere that permits easy conversation, Bring the family in for a challenging, friendly evening.

It's Fun To Play DUCKPINS

Fun is the order of the day when you play duckpins at our light and pleasant modern lanes. Plenty of excitement, too. Duckpins is a game you'll like, and so will your friends. Play today.
