Record financial aid granted at Morgan State College

Student loans totaling $365,000 have been granted to more than 700 students at Morgan State College since the beginning of the National Defense Education Act in 1959, according to J. Percy Bond, director of admissions and placement at Morgan State.

Over 300 eligible students currently enrolled have received loans approximating $108,000 for the fall semester, Mr. Bond indicated. Loan grants and other forms of financial assistance to the 679 entering freshmen this year amount to $128,200, and represent the largest amount for student training ever awarded in the history of the college.

OF THESE awards, $104,000 resulted from funds provided through student loans by the National Defense Education Act and by the State of Maryland through free tuition in the form of teacher training grants. Additional opportunities for financial assistance for entering freshmen at Morgan State came from trustee scholarships, grants-in-aid, student campus employment, workships and senatorial scholarships.

Other scholarship aid received from private groups and foundations as well as amounts from federal and state sources has made it possible for many more students with ability to obtain resources for a college education.

All qualified graduates of Maryland high schools. Regardless of race and creed, are eligible and welcome to apply for admission to the college and for the various kinds of financial assistance operated through and by Morgan State. Inquiries should be directed to J. Percy Bond, director of admissions and Placement, Morgan State College, Baltimore 12, Md.

Dr. Kelsey speaks at Morgan State

"We want a peace which will allow us to preserve our mates and prejudices," declared Dr. George D. Kelsey—professor of Christian Ethics at Drew University, in an address before the Morgan State College Assembly, on Wednesday morning in the Murphy Fine Arts Auditorium.

He spoke at the 8th annual Religion in Life program.

"The New Testament," Dr. Kelsey asserted, "Does not have a blueprint for democracy because all of man's ideas are pointed to self interest." "Even the disciples had trouble with this," the theologian indicated. "When we say freedom, we want a freedom which allows for the expression of free enterprise — which often means free enterprise monopoly."

DR. KELSEY pointed out that the people who lived in the world which gave birth to Christianity felt alone, disturbed and insecure, and that save Christianity, the contending religions were deeply concerned with improvement of life. "There is a difference," he explained, "between mere improvement of life and new life."

Speaking of the topic, "The New Life in Christ," the ethics professor called for a "transvaluation of values," and suggested that "the Christian life involves a break with the continuity of history. The Christian brings a mind of Christ to life situations and does not elaborate points of view from a given situation."

Funds sought for care of retarded

The Greater Baltimore Chapter, Inc., Maryland Society for Mentally Retarded Children will seek $65,000 as its goal in its annual Fund Drive. These funds are urgently needed, according to Charles E. Abel to continue and expand the Chapter's activities in aiding retarded youth and young adults.

A program of education, recreation and rehabilitation is offered those retardants who are not acceptable in the public school system and who require special training and supervision. The Fund Drive will be conducted from Nov. 12 through 23.

Prayer carries us half-way to God, fasting brings us to the door of His palace, and alms-giving procures us admission.

STAMP OF GRATITUDE

There is no sight more pitiful than the sight of a blind person groping along the street, begging for help, often friendless, homeless, and hungry. The loss of sight is a great handicap. The task of readjustment is a difficult one — without sight the ability to earn a livelihood is almost nil.

Thanks to the generosity of so many people like you, 12 blind and handicapped persons who reside at the Anna Mae Hunter Home for the Blind are well housed, clothed and fed.

To maintain this home on high standards is quite a financial problem because of the rising costs of living and high standards of safety and health codes set by our city.

TO MAINTAIN OUR STANDARDS
$5,000 IS NEEDED
