Carver seeks to keep unbeaten record intact

Having already clinched the B Division football title in the Maryland Scholastic Association, Carver High School is out to stretch its unbeaten record this afternoon (Friday).

The high rolling Trainers, just off a 16-0 triumph over McDonogh last Friday, take on the Southern High eleven.

Southern with a fifth-place 2-3 record in the B Division will be underdogs in the fray, but Carver cannot and is not, according to Coach Charley Robinson, taking the Southern eleven lightly.

• • •

WITH ONLY a non - conference clash remaining against Douglass, Carver has an excellent opportunity to go through the season undefeated. With this in mind, the Trainers have prepped for this afternoon's contest with the same zeal that has marked their previous preparations.

In another important B Division game, Mervo meets Edmondson, with the latter out to improve on its 2-3 record and finish with a .500 season.

Edmondson, off its 20-19 victory over Southern last week, and boasting a 3-2 mark can clinch second place with a win or settle for a tie for third place with a loss.

• • •

IN A DIVISION play, City, with a 5-0 record, meets Calvert Hall which is mired in sixth place with a 1-3 record. Notwithstanding the low standing of the Calvert Hall eleven, it presents a threat to the league - leading City eleven and an interesting battle is anticipated.

Dunbar, trying desperately for a .500 season, meets Poly, and Douglass, hoping to avoid slipping into the cellar position, takes on Patterson. Both of these A Division contests are regarded as crucial by the participating teams.

• • •

MEANWHILE THE individual scoring battle continues with Loyola's Henry Blaha holding a save margin in A Division, but with Norm Burkett, Forest Park's big fullback, breathing on his neck for MSA scoring crown.

Others who are in position to improve their rating in the scoring column and possibly make things tought for the leaders are Alvin Lee of City, Tom Duley of Douglass, and Ted Mumma, Carver's 200-pound end, all heavy scorers and in striking distance of the leaders.

After this week's play, only two teams play additional league games the following Friday with other MSA teams meeting out - of - conference competition. The MSA schedule will conclude on Thanksgiving Day (Nov. 23) at Municipal Stadium with the traditional holiday doubleheader, City vs Poly and Calvert Hall vs Loyola.

PEORIA, ILL. — Local 183 of the Carpenters Union last week lowered its color bar and admitted Joe McChriston, 32, to membership. The carpenter worked as a truck driver before getting into the union. He now earns $4.05½ hour.

2nd YMCA 'Carnival of Stars' to feature 17 pro, amateur acts

Seventeen professional and amateur acts will be featured on the Druid Hill Avenue Branch YMCA's second annual Carnival of Stars to be presented Thursday, Nov. 16 at 7:30 p.m. at Douglass High School, Gwynns Falls Pkwy. and Pulaski St.

Talent to be enjoyed includes:

Song stylist Ethel Ennis of the Red Fox, a hit in last year's show, backed by the Jimmy Wells Combo: The Tampicos, a Rock Roll group led by singer John Turner; the Hanlon Stompers, talented teen dancers organized at the Hanlon Recreation Center by Mrs. Tina W. Parker.

The famed Arena Players, directed by Samuel Wilson; the Chick Webb Memorial Center orchestra; the YMCA Tumblers featuring Ernest E. Furbur; Lovely Delores "Tee" Stokes, promising ballad singer; the exciting Gilmor, Majorettes, under direction of Miss Delores Watkins;

• • •

ERNESTINE EVERETT, dancer and gymnast who won fame with the internationally renowned Springfield College Exhibition Team; Magician George Peck, another holdover from last year's hit festival; lyric soprano Connie Kelly Johnson; Musical director Meredith H. Birche Jr. and the Cabanos, also back from last year; the well-known Greenmount Recreation Center's tap dancers; Bob McPherson and the YMCA Judo Stars;

The Westport Flaires, waltz specialists; the Lunds aerobatic team from Dundalk; the Coppin State College dancers, directed by Miss Jerlyn Manuel.

WEBB deejay Chuck Richards, show producer, also will serve again as master of ceremonies.

Deejays who will join Mr. Richards in presenting the various acts are Kelson Fisher, WSID program director, and Wiley Daniels, WEBB program director.

Organist Dave Ross will be heard throughout the show.

• • •

A RCA-VICTOR radio will be presented as a door prize.

The "Y" hopes, through this annual Carnival, to give recognition for, foster and encourage talent and activities in the community.

The show is being directed by Mrs. "Nikki" Randolph. Coordinator for the "Carnival of Stars" is Harold J. Jennifer, Jr. Samuel Wilson, stage manager, will be assisted by Bobby Lloyd, Russell Gwynn, W. Churchill Johnson, John Taylor and Harvey Denmark.

Tickets are on sale at the Druid Hill Avenue Branch YMCA, 1619 Druid Hill Ave.

AWOL Sweetwater Clifton suspended by Saperstein 5

CHICAGO — (ANP) — Owner Abe Saperstein of the Chicago Majors of the new American Basketball League is searching for outstanding player talent to replace suspended Nat (Sweetwater) Clifton and Ron "Sobiesczyk, who has been recalled to active army duty.

Saperstein revealed that the two men, both counted on heavily as the mainstays of his Majors in the new professional circuit, have not been available for any of the league games played thus far.

• • •

"IN FACT, we have not see Clifton since we announced his signing amidst much fanfare last September," Saperstein stated. "After receiving a sizeable advance on his salary, he requested a few additional days before reporting to our training camp at Delafield, Wis., in early October.

"This was granted but those few days have stretched into many weeks and we have neither seen him nor received any word. I am placing him under indefinite suspension.

In addition to owning the pro Majors, Saperstein is also commissioner of ABL.

Underdog Von Clay 'tops Billy Hunter

LOS ANGELES (ANP) — Von Clay, 163, a pre-fight underdog, upset the fistic applecart Saturday by stopping the heavier Billy Hunter, 195 of Detroit, in the eight round of a scheduled 10-rounder here.

Clay's sharper punching proved the difference in the bout between the two sluggers.

Fathers-sons to see Rens-Tapers

WASHINGTON

This Saturday afternoon, Nov. 11, has been designated father-son Day at Washington Coliseum, with the Pittsburgh Rens coming to town to play the Washington Tapers.

This will be the first Saturday afternoon game of the season.

While Dad pays the regular admission price — $3.00, $2.00 or $1.00 — his son (or sons) gets the same priced seat, right next to Pop, for only 50-cents.

Dad pays the regular price for his tickets, and all the sons pay just 50-cents each.

That's this Saturday — Pittsburgh Rens against the Washington Tapers — 2:30 in the afternoon . . . at Washington Coliseum, 3rd and M Sts., NE.

TUSKEGEE, ALA — John Baker Jr., admission officer, announced last week that Tuskegee Institute's freshman class "performed better" on national standardized freshman tests than any other freshman class since 1950. The class scored 269.9, compared with the national average of 280.4.

Jim Brown near all-time ground gaining record

Jim Brown, the National Football League's leading carrier, is only 86 yards away from another milestone in what might well be the most amazing gridiron career in the history of the game.

Still in only his fifth season with the pros, the Cleveland Brown's brilliant bulldozer needs only those 86 yards to pass Philadelphia's Steve Van Buren as the second best ground gainer of all time. Brown has plowed his way to 5,775 to date while the great Van Buren rolled up 5,860 in eight campaigns.

The all-time leader is fullback Joe Perry, who is currently toiling for Baltimore after totaling 7,246 yards in 11 seasons with San Francisco.

• • •

BY AN ODD twist of fate, Brown's first good shot at Van Buren's mark comes against the Washington Redskins, a team that's held him to his lowest single game total when he set the one-season ground gaining mark in 1958.

A stubborn Redskin defense keyed on Brown that day and stopped him with an even dozen yards for his most frustrating afternoon as a pro. Again this fall, in the earlier Washington-Cleveland game, Brown could grind out only 24 yards his lowest total of the season.

But on both occasions the Skins attentiveness to Brown opened things up for Bobby Mitchell and passer Milt Plum who wound up with field days and paced the Browns to handy victories.

BROWN IS presently locked in a see-saw struggle with Green Bay's Jim Taylor for the 1961 rushing crown which would make it an unprecedented five years in a row if he can do it. The steel-muscled former Syracuse star edged into the lead again Sunday as he boosted his season total to 720 yards, nine more than Taylor.

Quiet by nature, Brown has inspired by performance rather than words in past years. This fall he's beginning to add a new dimension to his value by taking an active part in encouraging and teaching the newcomers on the team.

But his one big disappointment has been the failure to win a championship. The Browns managed the Eastern Division title in 1957 his rookie year, but lost the big one. Now he's on a one-man campaign to correct that this fall.

Chamberlain still paces NBA

NEW YORK—Despite the fact that Bill Russell of Boston held him to a season "low" of 28 points, Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia continued this past week to pace the NBA scorers with 342 points, a 48.8 average for seven contests.

Los Angeles' Elgin Baylor, his closest challenger, picked up 1.1 points per game average in three tilts to trail the leader by 35 points, 342-307, for a 34.1 average. Jerry West of the Lakers continues in third place with 284 points for a 31.5 average.

Rookie Walt Bellamy of the Chicago Packers leaped to the fore in the field goal percentage department, while Paul Arizin of Philadelphia took over as the most accurate foul shooter. The giant Warrior pivot ace, Chamberlain, still leads the rebounders and Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals continues to head the playmakers.

2 jockeys named to Pimlico shrine

PIMLICO, Md.—The 1961 election for the National Jockeys Hall of Fame produced such a close race between two of the five candidates that both were declared winners Tuesday by the shrine's permanent nominating committee.

Thus, Linus (Pony) McAtee, who received 297 votes in the nation-wide balloting among sportswriters, and Joe Notter, who got six less votes at 291, will become the seventeenth and eighteenth members respectively of the Hall of Fame at Pimlico Race Course here.

Runnersup in the election were Charles (Flying Dutchman) Kurtsinger, 156, Fred Taral, 95, and Albert Johnson, 40.
