DR. FIGARO SAYS: There's a great difference between good reasons and reasons that sound good.

Odessa Madre picked up on dope charges

Odessa M. Madre has been arrested on a charge of violating the Harrison Narcotics Act.

She was ordered held for grand jury action Wednesday after waiving a preliminary hearing in Municipal Court. Bond was set at $20,000.

• • •

FIVE NARCOTICS squad raiders confiscated suspected cocaine from the premises in the 4400 block 9th St., NW., conservatively estimated at legitimate market value as worth about $2500.

Detectives said the haul is considered a "big one," especially considering that cocaine is a rare commodity in the narcotics empire.

• • •

ARMED WITH a search warrant, raiders took one bottle containing an ounce of suspected cocaine; one containing 200 capsules of suspected cocaine and one with 83 capsules of suspected cocaine.

Miss Madre's occupation on police records was listed as "clerk." Originally, she was booked on the narcotics charge along with a charge of receiving stolen property. The stolen property charge was dropped.
