school is open to all."

SINAI HOSPITAL, a woman who identified herself as associate director of nurse education said:

"No, we don't have any colored students at the present. We have never had any. However, we have quite a few colored nurses on our staff. We are now reviewing candidates for the coming year."

When asked her name, she referred the reporter to a Miss Hanover, the director of nurse education, who said:

"Your questions will have to be put in writing and sent to Dr. Beatrice Miller, director of nursing. We give no information over the phone."

SOUTH BALTIMORE GENERAL HOSPITAL, — Miss Hurt, director of nursing education, said:

"No, there are no colored nurses in training at the present. We had one in last year's class however. The school is open to all who qualify."

UNION MEMORIAL HOSPITAL, Mrs. Frances Thompkins, director of Nursing, said:

"We have none in training at present. We have had only one application from a girl in Virginia and her grades did not measure up.

"We have a policy, a new policy, to admit all qualified applicants. I'm new here as director — since last January. The board unanimously passed a motion to accept all without regard to color. This will be taken care of in our next brochure and our recruitment literature. No public announcement was made."

MERCY HOSPITAL — Miss Louise Hohener, associate director of nurse training, said:

"Yes, we have colored student nurses. Our school is open to all qualified applicants."

UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL — Beth Wilson of the University public relations office, explained that the nursing school is open to all. She said several colored students are now enrolled, but "we just don't keep records based on race and can't tell just how many.

CHURCH HOME AND HOSPITAL, — Miss Florence McGee, secretary to the director of nursing education, said:

"No colored students are now enrolled, We have never had any. However, they have the same opportunity that any other American or any other foreign student has.

"We send out applications on request. They are tested by a psychologist, given a battery of tests, a personal interview; the student's record, including his transcript is then submitted to the board of admission."

PROVIDENT HOSPITAL, Theodore D. Perkins, administrator, said:

"We've never had a white applicant, but I am pretty sure we would give them consideration if they would apply."

MARYLAND GENERAL HOSPITAL — Mrs. Lois Marriott, director of nurse education, said:

"We don't have any colored students in the school now, but we have one in the pre-nursing group.

"I have been here for ten years and we haven't had any in the school during that time, none that I know of.

"Yes, the school is open to all."

JOHNS HOPKINS HOSPITAL — Mrs. Carol Sparks, secretary to the associate director, School of Nursing, said:

"No, we don't have any colored students enrolled at present. We have had some in the past. The last one graduated in 1959. The school is open to all who meet entrance requirements."

ST. AGNES HOSPITAL Sister Victoria, director of the School of Nursing, said:

"We have two enrolled now, and they are doing fine. A colored student was graduated four years ago. Our school is open to all who meet our requirements."

LUTHERAN HOSPITAL Mrs. Mary Elizabeth McDowell, a medical - surgical instructor, said:

"At present we have three colored students — one in each class. We accept applicants who meet the requirements."

BON SECOURS HOSPITAL — Sister Urban, director of the Nursing School, answered:

"Right now we have one freshman enrolled. We have had two graduates and we have two applicants being considered for the 1962 class."

She said the nursing school is open to all qualified applicants.

GOP state seat

A recently announced candidate for the Republican nomination for Maryland congressman-at-large, Newton I. Steers Jr., of Montgomery County, will file today, Steers Jr., of Monday (Friday).

Mr. Steers is a stepbrother-in-law to President John F. Kennedy.

Student sitdowners ask D'Alesandro's help

Baltimore and Washington student sit-down leaders have called on former Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr., to use his influence to assure safety of demonstrators in his home neighborhood.

Mr. D'Alesandro, for 12 years mayor of the city, is now with a review board of the Federal Housing Administration.

The plea to the former mayor was made in a telegram Thursday night by Clarence Logan, president of the Civic Interest Group, composed of college students in the Baltimore area.

"Our young lady decided to enter the competition for "Miss City College" on the urging of a friend.

Actually, she came very close to not entering at all. At first she said no to the idea, then she changed her mind.

Along with about 30 other girls, Miss White submitted her picture and an application to a committee of ten student leaders.

The list was reduced to 11 and after two interviews with the committee, Miss White emerged with the top prize.

COME THANKSGIVING, Miss White will be sitting in a special box at the game between Poly and City, at the Stadium reserved for the president of the student government and his official party.

After the dance, Miss White, or should we say "Miss City College," will be crowned at the "Victory Hop" in the City gymnasium.

Not only is Miss White "Miss City College," she was also elected representative for the State of Maryland to the World Fellowship Service at the National Cathedral in Washington.

She is president of the Pandora Club and is vice-president of all Y-Teen Clubs in Baltimore. She is also vice-president of her senior class.

Under the heading hobbies, Miss White lists such pastimes as swimming, basketball and bowling.

BORN IN Newport News, Va., Miss White has lived in Baltimore since the age of three months. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Leo White.

A brother, Renaud, 19, is connected with the Army in Okinawa — a soldier that is — and was recently featured in an Okinawa publication which spotlighted his singing abilities.

Currently, Miss White has a bandage on her right hand, the result of a broken glass encountered when she was washing dishes.

But that won't stop her from being crowned next Thursday night as "Miss City College."

Personally, we don't blame the fellows for selecting Miss White. She's charming, pretty and efficient.

black and orange bedroom, so Miss White showed him the black and orange bedroom.

"Well," said the reporter, "I wouldn't have believed it ...The colors do go together."

One wall is done in solid black with a painting of a football player on it, done in orange.

MISS WHITE copied the player from a City pennant.

In fact, Miss White is quite talented in the art field, and has completed several paintings.

This brings us to the question of what Miss White plans to do in the future.

"I'll probably go to Morgan and become a teacher. But I don't want to be a teacher all my life and I want to go overseas to study art."

Miss White is a senior at Eastern High School where she is enrolled in the academic course.

'Uncle Willie' jailed for pandering

"Is Uncle Willie in?"

"Yeah."

"Is anything shaking?"

"Come on in."

This exchange between a vice squad plainclothesman and an unemployed factory worker resulted in the latter being convicted of pandering in Criminal Court Tuesday.

Judge Joseph L. Carter sentenced William (Uncle Willie) Knight, 54, 600 block W. Lafayette Ave., to three years in the House of Correction.

John W. Sause, prosecutor, produced evidence which showed "Uncle Willie" was hiring out two teenage girls for immoral purposes.

CHERRY HILL NOTES

Council asks new Club for bags

By ELMA OGLESBY

Hear the Morris Queen Chorale in concert on Sunday, Nov. 26, at 6 p.m. in the Community Building, 2700 St. Lyman Rd.

The concert is being sponsored by The Cherry Hill Community Presbyterian Church, benefit of the building fund.

Belated birthday wishes to Mrs. Connie McCree who celebrated Nov. 8 and to her daughter Sylvia who celebrated her 10th birthday on the 12th, and also my daughter, Lorraine, who celebrated her 13th birthday on the 13th.

TO HELP MEET the needs of our growing youth problems the Co-ordinating Council has asked the Red Shield Boys' Club executives to consider Cherry Hill for the development of a boys' club.

Brigadier Douglas Eldridge, executive director of the Red Shield's Boys' Clubs, spoke to the Council at its November meeting Monday night (the 13th) at the First Baptist Church, 327 Cherry Hill Rd.

Harold Holmes, director of Red Shield Boys' Club in West Baltimore, invited the Council to visit his club at 215 N. Calhoun St.

The Council's last order of business concerned "petitions" for a traffic light at Cherry Hill Rd. and Waterview Ave.

The Zona Gale Social and Civic Club of Cherry Hill is sponsoring a Pre-Thanksgiving Dinner on Saturday, Nov. 18, from 6 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Elks Home, 912 S. Sharp St. The proceeds go to distribute baskets to the needy in Cherry Hill. Mrs. Elaine Brown is the president and Mrs. Mary Beal is the chairman. Tickets are $1.

The Cherry Hill Mothers and Homemakers Club is sponsoring a Thanksgiving Movie on Saturday, Nov. 25 at the Hill Theatre at 10 a.m. The Movie is "The Enchanted Island." Admission is 25 cents to all.

Job openings for secretaries

Secretaries, stenographers and clerks to fill posts at embassies and consulates throughout the world, are being sought by the Department of State.

Applicants representing all nationalities are being asked to apply for the jobs in order to make the foreign service more representative of the American population.

Beginners on the Foreign Service staff start at salaries ranging from $4,019 to $4,485 plus overseas allowances and transportation expenses.

Some of the jobs are available in Washington in the $3,760-$4,495 salary range.

An applicant must be 21 years of age, single, without dependants, a U. S. citizen for at least five years, a high school graduate and in excellent health.

Applicants are subject to background investigation and must be able to pass qualifying tests.

APPLICATION FORMS may be obtained by writing for one to the U. S. Department of State, Employment Division, Washington, D. C.

Applications are not available at local post offices.

In the Philadelphia area, interviews are conducted daily at the Pennsylvania State Employment Service office, 1216 Chestnut St. from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Wednesdays until 7 p.m. and Saturday, Nov. 18 only, from 9 a.m. to noon.

IN A FURTHER effort to change the State Department's image in a world two thirds colored, applicants are also being asked to apply for the position of Foreign Service officers.

Foreign service officers work as economic, consular, administrative, intelligence, political and public affairs attaches.

The State Department recently asked a number of college residents to urge colored students to seek posts in the Foreign Service.

BURHA activities questioned

"Something is wrong in Urban Renewal somewhere down the line. They think they can tear down everything, and build up nothing.

They are creating a grand state of confusion up in the extension project of the Mt. Royal-Fremont Urban Renewal Area.

"There are a lot of unanswered questions the residents up there want to know."

Councilman Walter T. Dixon (4th D.) was speaking before the City Council Monday evening, calling attention to the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency's budget hearing before the Council at 2 p.m. today (Friday).

Mr. Dixon pointed out that this occasion should be used also to determine from BURHA some concrete plans for the area, including quick payment for properties to be taken.

Councilman Maurice J. Soypher (4th D.), who voted against the original Project One in the area, arose to agree with Mr. Dixon.

He termed BURHA's operations "demolition without rehabilitation."

* * *

MR. DIXON'S remarks came after the City Council had adopted a resolution he presented, commending the State Department of Mental Hygiene and its commissioner, Dr. Isadore Tuerk, for its study to integrate all mental institutions in the state.

The resolution pointed out that Spring Grove, Springfield, Eastern Shore State Hospital and Crownsville remain segregated.

Integrated mental institutions are Rosewood Training School for mentally retarded, Clifton T. Perkins Hospital for criminally insane, and the Esther Loring Richards and Jacob Finesinger Centers for emotionally disturbed children.

In other Council action, Mayor J. Harold Grady sent the nomination up of Jerome M. Kennedy, his administrative secretary, as a member of the Board of Municipal and Zoning Appeals.

Mr. Kennedy was nominated for a new four - year term, filling the unexpired term of Frank W. Guccia, who was nominated for a new four-year term.

Flim flamers take $300 from shoppers

An eastside housewife went for the "pigeon drop" game Thursday and lost $300, according to police.

Eastern District Police reported that Mrs. Nannie Jones, 48, of the 1200 block N. Broadway turned over the money to two women she met near a supermarket in the 2100 block of McElderry St.

THE WOMEN claimed they had found $6,000 and promised to share their new found wealth with Mrs. Jones providing she put up $300.

After giving up the money, Mrs. Jones was told to go to an address in the 500 block N. Chester St., where everything would be divided up.

Mrs. Jones went to the address but the women were not there.

Housing inspectors merger hearing set

The controversial ordinance, proposing the transfer of all housing inspection and code enforcement responsibilities to the city's Bureau of Building Inspection, is scheduled for a public hearing 2 p.m. Monday, before the City Council's Housing Committee.

The ordinance, No. 1572, would dissolve the building inspection department of the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency, and centralize all such work under the Building Inspection office.

This proposal has been under sharp criticisms by the Citizens Planning and Housing Association, the Greater Baltimore League of Women Voters and BURHA officials.

Mayor J. Harold Grady has announced his support of the ordinance.

Meanwhile, controversy on another front arose this week in the Bureau of Building Inspection and BURHA housing inspection division.

THE BUILDING Inspection office announced a promotional examination for its inspectors, and provided that no BURHA inspectors would be eligible for the exams.

This immediately brought protests from BURHA officials, who raised the questions:

1. Why schedule an exclusive Bureau of Building Inspection examination at this time, when an ordinance to transfer BURHA's inspectors to this office is pending before the City Council?

2. Is this a move to exclude the near future possibilities of colored inspectors being promoted to supervisory positions with the Building Inspection office, should the transferring ordinance be passed?

On this latter point it was recalled that the Building Inspection office had approximately 100 inspectors, of whom just one is colored.

BURHA however, has a staff or nearly 30 inspectors, most of whom are colored.

DISCUSSING THE pending examination with the AFRO Wednesday, Russell Ehle, classification supervisor, Civil Service Commission, stated:

"We would have gone ahead with this promotional examination, whether there was a move to merge the two divisions or not."

The examination in question is for principal inspector, buildings, at $5,850 a year, and carries annual salary increases to a top of $7,452 a year.

Open to all qualified Bureau of Building Inspectors, deadline for filing applications is Nov. 24.
