Baltimoreans revert to Pilgrim board "Thanks"

By LULA JONES GARRETT

This was Thanksgiving in Baltimore.

Dawn broke with a promise of a visiting sun, but not too sure that her errant brother, rain, might not tag along too.

And while townsfolk were trekking to early mass, still by the light of stars, venerable Mrs. Martha Brown quietly slipped away to personally express her thanks to the Great Creator for a full, fruitful and love - filled life.

She had celebrated her 91st birthday on Saturday before her death at six a.m. Thursday morning. Was the beloved grandmother of Calvin and Letitia Ashe, with whom she had lived for nearly a half of her life.

• • •

TOWN HOSTESSES were turning over for a second nap ere preparing for a full day.

Things were astir in the Morgan State College presidential manse . . . what with the Morgan - Virginia State Classic being one of the hubs of the day's doings.

Dr. Robert Daniel, president of Virginia State and Mrs. Daniel, had phoned that they had been unavoidably detained, but the Jenkinses were heading for other guests at their after game dinner.

From Arundel . . . on the Bay were Dr. and Mrs. Avis Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas King, Mr. and Mrs. Carol Hynson and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hilliard; and from this city Dr. and Mrs. Dwight Holmes.

• • •

COACH AND Mrs. Talmadge Hill hosted Dr. and Mrs. Purvis Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bell of Washington.

Ther daughter Freddie, was home from Maryland State College, where she is teaching, and a friend, Payne Lucas, who is working on a Ph. D at American University. Washington joined the group for the game and dinner.

• • •

COACH EARL BANKS' guests were purely stag . . . he having as guests at the game Baltimore Colts Leon Lyles and Bob Harrison along with Buddy Young and Howard (Brutus) Wilson and Ralph Jones, scout of the President of Grambling College.

At Buddy's House, Mrs. Young was gleefully taking it easy for the first holiday in eons . . . He was frying the dinner chicken and readying to see son claude, Jr. play in a city game.

AT THE HURTS' (Eddie) household, this was a purely family day/. . . . with Mrs. Hurt's father, William Reid, Sr. down from East Orange, N.J., and Roy and Billy Cragway and their children: Hainor Hurt, Mr. and Mrs. John Hurt and Mrs. Appye Morse to share the turkey after game time.

• • •

BUT THERE were lots of in - town affairs perking.

Dr. and Mrs. Ted Phifer had as week - end guests the president of Johnson C Smith College, Dr. Patrick Perry and Mrs. Perry, and their young daughter, Pat. And joining them for the day were Mrs. Perry's son, Dr. Smallwood Ackiss, now of the Provident Hospital dental staff, who is preparing to go into private practice here; and Albert Burwell Jr.

• • •

GUESTING WITH Dr. and Mrs. Walter Davidson were his brother and sister - in - law, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Davidson of Hartford, Conn., and their children, Arthur, Ronnie, Michael and Cathy.

The other brother, Dr. James S. Davidson, and the parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Davidson, were holding forth at a family party at the former's elegant Cedric Road home. Other guests were family at dinner were Drs. and Mesdames C. R. and W. T. Davidson and the children.

Later for cocktails, Dr. Davidson had any number of folks in, among them Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jackson, Dr. and Mrs. Ted Phifer, and their guests, the Perrys of Charlotte, N.C.

MR. AND MRS. MEDFORD REYNOLDS' family party was a bit upset (but pleasantly so) by the interference of Sir Stork.

Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Russell of Washington became parents of an eight-pound, son Mr. and Mrs. J. Fenwick also of Washington, welcomed a six-pound daughter. That took toll on the cousins.

But about were Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Smith of Norwalk, Conn., Miss Louberta Smith and James Smith, aunt and uncle; and Mrs. Rosemarie Mosley, Mrs. Reynold's mother, all of South Norwalk, Conn.; and Mr. and Mrs. William Matthews and Mrs. Lula Patterson of this town.

THAT OLE Debbie Cold tucked in relatives of Mrs. Susie Clark's, so that her annual family gathering had fewer members Thursday. Mrs. Claire Hackney, her sister, and Dr. and Mrs. Wilson Dickerson, nephew and niece, and grandniece, Gwenith, were about.

Dr. and Mrs. Julius Tay lor had with them her sister, Odessa Spaulding from Philadelphia.

Jiffy choco-peanut drops ideal for young cooks' holiday chore

During the wonderful holidays it's important to keep the cooky jar well-stocked with nourishing treats.

And here's an easy way to do it — prepare a batch of delicious, nourishing Jiffy Choco-Peanut Drops.

Crunchy and satisfying, these sweet treats are made of cocoa, sugar, and evaporated milk with peanut butter and rolled oats folded in.

• • •

BUT BEST of all, they're so easy even the children can make them in minutes. They require no baking. Just cook together the sugar, cocoa, and Pet Milk, then stir in the crunchy peanut butter and rolled oats. Pet blends the ingredients as thin milk could never do, gives the cookies a rich, delicious flavor.

Just drop spoonfuls of the mixture onto waxed paper, allow to cool — and fill up the cooky jar. The children will love them.

• • •

JIFFY Choco-Peanut Drop require one cup sugar, one tablespoon cocoa, one-fourth cup butter or margarine, one-third cup evaporated milk, one-fourth cup crunch-style peanut butter, one-half teaspoon vanilla, and one cup quick-cooking rolled oats, uncooked.

In a heavy 2-quart saucepan mix sugar, cocoa, butter and Pet Milk. Cook and stir to a full, all-over boil. Boil and stir over medium heat 2 minutes more. Take off heat. Stir in peanut butter until melted. Stir in vanilla and rolled oats.

With 2 teaspoons, drop mixture onto waxed paper. Let stand at room temperature until set. Makes about 2 dozen.

TIP: Cookies get firm as soon as they cool, so work quickly while dropping them.

Cabbage, potatoes top budget list items

By VIRGINIA L. McLUCKIE
Food Economist

Between holidays is still a good time to talk turkey, especially this year when the prices are remaining favorable.

Other items on the economy list this week include cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, potatoes, cranberries and apples.

Today turkey is a modern bird. It comes in both smaller and larger sizes, than its prized ancestors. It is meatier, more tender, plumper and more compact and has a larger proportion of breast meat.

• • •

FROZEN, ready to cook turkey is the most popular way to buy turkey with many shoppers. The larger size birds yield more meat-in-proportion to bone. When home over-turkey meat is desired, the larger turkey may be the wisest choice.

Young turkeys of any size may be roasted. True roasting is slow cooking by dry heat in an oven, on a rack, in an open shallow pan. A slow roasting temperature assures excellent drippings, rich in color and flavor for gravy, not burned or dried in the pan. Turkey may or may not be stuffed for roasting. When no stuffing is added to the bird it may be cooked separately in a casserole or suitable baking pan.

• • •

FOLLOWING ARE DIRECTIONS for dry roasting turkey correctly.

1. Brush skin of bird thoroughly with cooking fat.

2. Place bird, breast up, on a rack at least ½ inch high in a shallow open pan. If a meat thermometer is used, insert it so that the bulb rests in the center of the inside thigh muscle adjacent to the body cavity. If a V-rack is used, place turkey breast down.

3. Take a piece of aluminum foil 4 to 5 inches longer than the turkey. Lay it over bird. Pinch the foil at the drumstick and breast ends, pressing it lightly at those ends to anchor it. Leave the cap loose over top and at the sides.

Or, the turkey may be covered with fat-moistened cheesecloth, large enough to cover the top and drape down on all sides. Do not wrap bird in the cloth. Aluminum foil or cloth helps in uniform browning. Basting is unnecessary.

4. Place in preheated slow oven (325 degree F.). Do not sear. Do not add water. Do not cover. When the turkey is about 2/3 done, according to the timetable, cut the cord of or the band of skin, holding the drumstick ends to the tail, to release the legs. This permits the heat to reach the inside thigh to assure thorough cooking.

5. If cheesecloth dries during cooking, moisten with drippings in the bottom of the pan.

• • •

ABOUT 20 MINUTES before the turkey is done according to the approximate total time prescribed in the timetable, or if a meat thermometer is used it should register 190 degree F., apply these physical tests for doneness:

(a) Press the fleshy part of the drumstick between the fingers, protected with paper or cloth. Meat should feel very soft.

(b) Move the drumstick up and down, the drumstick should move readily or twist out of the joint.

When turkey is done, remove from oven. Keep turkey hot while preparing gravy with the drippings in the roasting pan.

The best buy list includes cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, mushrooms, sweet and white potatoes, cooking greens, cranberries, apples and small size juice oranges. Tangerines are available. The new crop of nuts is on the market for holiday cooking. Grade A Medium size eggs offer the best value in eggs.

• • •

CRANBERRY Buffe Molds are made with one can cranberry sauce, one fourth cup mincemeat, one-half cup chopped apple, one-fourth cup chopped walnuts, one envelope unflavored gelatine, and one-fourth cup cold water.

Crush jellied cranberry sauce with a fork. Stir in the mincemeat and walnuts. Soften gelatine in water; dissolve over hot water. Add to cranberry mixture. Chill in individual molds.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Winter grogs for the family

When the bone - biting chill of a winter's wind shivers your timbers, what do you do?

If you're like some people, you shut your eye - peeps tight, huddle a bit deeper in your muffler and attempt to recall the placid charm of a Currier and Ives winter scene.

A more practical way for the entire family to weather the wintry gales can be found in the pleasant company of a variety of warming drinks —all of them easy to prepare.

For the kiddies we suggest: HOT CHOCOLATE SUPREME.

1 cup hot chocolate
1 stick cinnamon
1 teaspoon sweet raisins
¼ teaspoon grated orange peel

Prepare the hot chocolate as usual, sprinkle the grated orange peel on top, add raisins and cinnamon stick.

CIDER 'N' CANDY

1 cup hot apple cider (or juice)
1½ tablespoons rock candy
1 cinnamon stick
½ teaspoon grated nutmeg

Place rock candy on bottom of cup, pour cider over, add cinnamon stick and sprinkle with nutmeg.

HOT MILK PUNCH

1 cup hot milk
½ teaspoon honey
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 marachino cherry

Stir honey into hot milk, add cherry, sprinkle cinnamon evenly on top.

For those of us who can recall how to do the "Lindy Hop," here are three cold weather drinks that will keep you as warm as your memories.

MILK TODDY

1½ ounces Cognac
1½ ounces hot milk

Stir Cognac with hot milk in a highball glass. Grate nutmeg over top. Serve hot.

TEA TODDY

1 cup strong tea
1 ounce Cognac
½ stick cinnamon
½ orange peel grated
½ teaspoon grated nutmeg
½ teaspoon sugar

Pour Cognac into hot tea, add cinnamon stick, orange peel, sugar and stir. Gently sprinkle top with nutmeg and serve.

ALHAMBRA ROYAL

3/4 ounces Cognac
1 cup hot chocolate
1 slice lemon

Stir Cognac into hot chocolate, add lemon and serve.
