Guardsmen prove prowess as hosts

with Lula Jones Garrett

It has been fun joshing some Guardsmen on the point that they just may not give the bossiest parties of any group in town . . . but after Friday night I haven't a leg to stand on.

Any group that can neatly absorb 50 unexpected guests at a seated party without the flicker of a lash . . . as they did at their elegant affair in the Blue Crest, takes the medal.

The overflow was of invited guests who had neglected to respond, and who, probably, decided to come for the Saturday affair. Not that the Saturday affairs weren't worth getting to if one possibly could!

For instance, that long leisurely cruise down the Chesapeake and back, the interval filled with musical entertainment, with dinner, with drinks . . . and with a business session for the Guardsmen. The four - hour cruise also allowed for some recuperation from a long fun - filled evening when the group had danced past dawn in the Alenzar and gay early morn festivities.

OKAY, SO it's the Guardsmen who score on party-giving, but it's their feminine contingent which contributes the party air . . . and quite an air the ladies lent!

Joan Hayes Scott, on Friday night, wore a soft pink satin affair, the skirt slightly ballooned at top hip, tapered, and slit from toe tip to there . . . a glitter pill box atop her coiffure.

Helena Edmonds, who wore red chiffon on Friday night (draped and with a hood) switched to white on Saturday night, the sheath embroidered with crystal beads. Etta Phifer wore a little Carnegie number (black, paved in sequins) on Friday night, and on Saturday eve was chic in a Dynasty costume ensemble of green brocade.

Most elegant lady about was petit Gwen Seaborne, her white Grecian draped chiffon on Friday night eye-catching enough, but that long red velvet sheath, with intriguing detail and panel at the low - cut back positively breath - taking. With both costumes she wore long earrings that threatened to touch her shoulders.

Helen Bu:well was exotic in purple satin, a flanged-drape at the bodice top, and lifted from the 8th from there down on Saturday night.

Agnes Reeves' practically perfect figure was encased in a simple green sheath with slender rhinestone straps, demonstrating her fashion sense . . . and Mabel Driver almost dittoed on Saturday night, when her chic frock was scrolled at the bodice with rhinestone.

Mae Dyson chose blue-gray taffeta, lace enhanced, and the cute Mrs. Spencer Edmonds' choice was a squared - at - the neckline frock in black to be chic in on Saturday night.

Cutest twisters thereabout were the young John Chissells . . . her frock a wide-skirted under - pinned lace affair, Edith Davidson wore white, with a dip of red velvet vee-ing the front bodice and echoed in a sash that was rose tipped.

Millie Hall, had celebrated a birthday on Friday, had marked the occasion with a new hair do . . . cut, banged, blonded and silver tipped. On her it was better than good.

Georgeanna Chester wore a gold satin, tightly carved in the bodice, the skirt full with unpressed pleats on Saturday night.

Ivy Harris wore a brocaded sheath to the Friday night dance, and Mae Williams' black tulle had the neckline enhanced in sequins. That elegant evening coat worn by Eliza Robinson was her own creation. Doris Cole's ensemble for the first party had an overblouse of sequins, a skirt of silk, both in white.

Wilhelmina Garner's off one - shoulder number had a back shawl in chiffon . . . and this could go on for some two or more hundred descriptions.

Mrs. Garner, by the way, was house hostess to the really elaborate breakfast, at which the hosts, their wives, etc. and out - of-town guests ended the Friday night activity. Top man on the Totem Pole, entertainment - planning speaking, was Box Harris.

Capping the affair on Saturday night was the awarding of plaques to key Guardsmen.

The handsome plaques for outstanding service to the organization went to Harold Jennifer and Cliff Murray, past national president and secretary, of this city, respectively; to Frankie Bizzell and Robert Brown, outgoing president and secretary, of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Introduced were the 1962 national officers: Danny Burrows, president, and Elbert Strothers, secretary, of Natalie Phelps; seated: Mesdames Susie Moore, the honoree, Geneva Dyson, Leona Felton, Helen Williams, and Viola Randolph.

MRS. WILLIAM LEE, the former Alverta Smith, center, above, was showered by Bonne Coeurs Club members, last week. Left to right, standing are Mesdames Charlotte Johnson, Susie Graham,

Mrs. Freddie Walker

Miss Coby Byrd wed to Freddie Walker

Miss Coby E. Byrd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Byrd was married to Freddie Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Walker of Savannah, Ga., here, recently.

The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Marion C. Bascom at the Douglas Memorial Community Church.

In the bridal party were Mrs. Gloria Knighton, cousin of the bride, matron of honor. Mrs. Faye Colbert and Mrs. Delores Galloway, also cousins of the bride; and Miss Deloris Sharp were bridesmaids.

BEST MAN for his brother was Harry Walker. The ushers were Curtis Byrd, brother of the bride; Melvin Jackson, and S. Stewart.

Ringbearer was Roland Knighton and flower girl was Antoinette Allen.

A reception followed the wedding ceremony in the church school auditorium.

MISS BYRD, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown in diamond white peau paree with pearl and crystal sprays of leaves and flowers embroidering the front of the bodice and shirt.

A pleated sash encircled the waistline with pearl and crystal embroidered bow at the top of the chapel length train.

Her bouffant veil of silk illusion fell from a miniature crown of Chantilly lace. She carried a prayer book covered with an orchid and lilies of the valley.

MISS BYRD is an alumna of Hampton Institute and is currently employed by the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency.

Mr. Walker attended Savannah State College and is employed by the Esther Loring Richards Children center, Owings Mills, Md. as recreation leader.

Book-A-Month Club hears Mrs. Mary Cushing Niles

BALTIMORE

The Book - A - Month Club entertained a few friends, some of their guest discussants with their spouses in the Baltimore Room at the Sheraton - Baltimore Inn, Friday evening.

Mrs. Mary Cushing Niles, president of the United Nations Association of Maryland, was the guest speaker.

Mrs. Niles, who is a world traveler, having visited most of the countries of which she speaks, as well as a specialist in business management and human relations, brings both her skills and her experience to bear on her work with the UN.

SHE POINTED to the significance of the election of U. Thant, who is both non-white and non-Christian, as the successor to Secretary General Dag Hammerschold. U Thant, as a Buddhist, is particularly dedicated to peace.

She mentioned that Christians have not let their his tory move in great strides of peace. She paid tribute to President Kennedy and to Adlai Stevenson for their handling of the perilous crises in Burma, Katanga and the Congo.

SOME OF the pressing problems now facing the UN are lack of education and training in many newly emerging nations, financing UN activities, representation of China, technical assistance and raising standards.

She urged that Americans, who are more fortunate than most nations, should show a greater participation in peaceful solutions to these problems.

Club guests were:

Dr. and Mrs. Nathan Pitts, the Rev. and Mrs. E. Rudolph Obey, Dr. and Mrs. Mrs. Richard I. McKinney, Mrs. James DeShields and Miss Helen Harris.

Other guests were:

Mesdames Eva S. Blake, Emma G. Bright, Goldia A. Ford, Mary B. Newton, Bertha Proctor, Camilla Sherard, LeRay Stokes, Loretta Carr and Geraldine Smith.

THE PRESIDENT, Mrs. Sareta Greene, presided, and Mrs. Lois J. Carter gave background information on the club and introduced the speaker.

Other members are Mesdames Ethel J. Day, Lillian Lottier, Blanche McDonald, Jennie P. Robinson, Lillian S. Watty, Dr. Robert T. Ford, Misses Jessye Bennett and Margaret Johnson. The club will celebrate its 35th anniversary in 1962.

ON SUNDAY, December 10th at 3:30 p.m. the Ira Aldridge Players will perform in an award winning play, written by Prof. A. C. Lamb, at the Carl Murphy Fine Arts Center.

The play, "Mistake Into Miracle" is based on the life of George Washington Carver.

Many groups and individuals have responded enthusiastically to support this affair which combines two good causes. It gives recognition to a local artist directing campus talent; and financial support for the Ira Aldridge Players and Fellowship House.

Ticket distribution got off on a good start when the Morgan Wives requested 300 tickets and other groups varying numbers.

Among the individuals handling tickets are:

Mesdames Mary Carter Smith, Jean Newman, Martha Allen, Margaret Buddin, Frances Gardner, Lillian Holt, Gwendolyn Howard;

Mesdames Adah Jenkins, Sedonia Merritt, Odell Payne, Lillian Green, Joan Haag, Carolyn Fleischmann, Sonia Bismuth;

Mesdames Emma Mitchell, Loretta Watty, Mildred Forehand, Ann Moment, Jane Pellam, Carol Kimball, Eva Dinowitz and Cecelia Bass;

THELMA RUFFIN entertained the "We Moms" on Saturday evening, when the group discussed plans for a charity cabaret party in January. Funds from the affair will aid Provident hospital and the NAACP.

As a Christmas project, the Moms will visit Bar-Wil-Ba Convalescent Home, carry gifts for inmates and render a program.

Other plans include a Christmas party with the exchange of gifts, at the December meeting in the home of the president, Minerva Williams. At the November meeting were Ruth Sampson, Pauline Armstrong, Mrs. Williams, Marguerite Wilkins, Mae Cornish, Neonta Corbin, Marian Ampfrey, Lena Ferrell and Jeannette Smith.

Hostesses were Mrs. Rufin, Vinessa Porter and Marie Coles.

WHEN GAMMA Chapter of the National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa met at the YWCA on Saturday, committee reports were heard and discussed. Dr. Delores C. Hunt, originator of the sacrificial effort of women for the new Provident Hospital, urged sorors to participate. A sample kit was shown. Twenty - five such kits will go to a Veteran's Hospital as gifts. Officers for '61 and '62 were nominated.

The highlight of the evening was a fashion show presented by Soror Victorine Adams of the Charm Centre. Fashions for cocktails, dress wear, lounging and sports were modelled by Sorors Elmira Collins, Bernice White, Cathryn Parker, and Ethel Brewington.

Dinner followed.

Sorors attending were:

Ethel Brewington, Rebecca Brown, Evelyn Burton, Vera Carrington, Alice Cochlin, Elmira Collins, Bertha Cross, Emma Davis, Orangie Epps, Alice Ford, Alice Hazzard, Roselle Hunt, Delores C. THE CREOLES met last Saturday at the home of Mrs. Norman Ford. There was much "buzzing" over plans for a Christmas party and a spring affair.

Henrietta Thoms was showered with birthday cards and gifts, and secret pals remembered their pals with token gifts. Hostess Elizabeth Ford served a delectable repast at which time the husbands joined the girls.

The new slate of officers for the year 1961 - '62 includes:

Mesdames Romaine Taylor, president; Catherine Young, vice president; Elizabeth Ford, recording secretary; Rosita Uncles, financial secretary; Margaret Durham, treasurer; Alease Jones, business manager; Margaret Austin, president ex - officio; members: Margaret Hawkins, Henrietta Thomas and Willie Valentine.

THE LAWYERS' WIVES were hosted by Shirley Hargrove, Lorraine Hayes and Gwen Howard at the latter's Fairmount Park home. Business included plans to spread cheer at the Christmas holiday — to the needy through the AFRO's Mrs. Santa and to the children's ward at Provident Hospital.

After sharing with others, they plan a night of holiday fun for themselves and the town's attorneys — their mates.

Participating in the plans were the hostesses, president Shirley Pinkett, Audrey Sexton, Anna Williams, Marcella Compton, Ann McAllister, Catherine Greene, Rosa Murray, Daisy Josey and Margaret Koger.
