NCNW elects 6 reg. directors

WASHINGTON

The National Council of Negro Women at the recent 26th Annual Convention held in Washington, D.C. elected the following women as Regional Directors for 1961 - 1963: Miss Marietta Canty — Region I, Hartford, Connecticut, Mrs. Sadie Doles Wyche — Region II, Suffolk, Virginia, Miss Louise M. Latham — Region III, Durham, North Carolina, Mrs. Sara W. Dickerson—Region IV, Mobile, Alabama, Miss Bessie B. Garvin — Region V, East St. Louis, Illinois, Mrs. Farrol Bobo Starks — Region VII, Los Angeles, California.

During the year Senior and Junior Councils and local representatives of National Affiliates meet regularly in various local communities throughout the United States. They convene in the spring at regional meetings under the direction of these National Council Regional Directors to deliberate on program and policies and objectives.

The immediate concern of all council women now is Founder's Day. On this day in 1935 the National Council of Negro Women in New York City was organized by Mary McLeod Bethune and a group of distinguished women leaders. Dec. 5 is of special significance in 1961, because the National Council of Negro Women is engaged in a major project to complete fund raising for the Mary McLeod Bethune Memorial and the Bethune Educational Center to be erected in Washington, D.C.

Famed jewels on display

Three hundred million dollars worth of the world's most famous jewels—in regalia — will be unveiled at local Sears, Roebuck and Co. retail stores in conjunction with their Diamond Jubilee 75th Anniversary celebration.

Featured in the display will be majestic Crown Jewels of England.

Used by Queen Elizabeth II during rehearsals for her coronation in 1953, the collection includes the Imperial State Crown, the Crown of India, Queen Mary's Crown and the Orb.

Equally exciting, the second half of the exhibit is made up of replicas of the world's mot famous diamonds; the Blue Hope, the Cullinan and the Koh-I-Noor, are just a few of the fabled gems on display.

The exhibit will open at the Mondawmin Sears store on Monday, Dec. 11 and remain there through Wednesday, Dec. 13, then move on for three days to the North Ave. store.

PHILADELPHIA — A West Philadelphia native who always wanted to be a policeman, Jerome Harris, last week became the first of his race to be named a fireboat engineer.
